CHALK-MARKS OF MILITANCY.

Suffragettes in Washington May Shortly Add to Wilson's Woes.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Suffragist sympathizers swooped down on historic Lafayette Park and the vicinity of the White House and state, war and navy offices before daylight today, armed with quantities of chalk and covered sidewalks and street pavements with "Votes for women." One immense legend in front of the White House said: "Come to Sunday's meeting—Inez Milholland, speaker." It was the nearest approach to militancy the national capital has seen in the suffrage campaign.

FLEE FROM FIRE.

Northwestern University in Chicago in Flames, but the Precautions Taken Prevent Loss of Life.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Between four and five hundred men, women and children fled by fire escapes here this afternoon when fire attacked the Old Tremont house, now the Northwestern University building at Lake and Dearborn streets.

That there was no loss of life was due to precautions taken when the historic old six-story hostelry was converted into an office building with quarters for the law and dental departments of the university.

Three hundred dentist students and 130 patients, mostly women and children, were on the sixth floor when one of the woman-patients, seeing smoke rolling through an open transom, cried "Fire." Some of the patients were under the influence of gas. Restoratives were administered and the patients were assisted to the escapes.

The money loss by the fire will not be large as the blaze was confined to a quantity of oakum stored in the basement.

It was on the site of this building that one of the most famous of the Lincoln-Douglas debates took place.

MAKES PLEA FOR ARMY.

Secretary of War to the Lotus Club.

Situated as We Are, He Says, We Certainly Need the Military.

Work of the Soldiers in Peace and War Receives Its Merited Praise.

Achievements in the Panama Canal Zone Are the Pride of the Nation.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Secretary of War Garrison, at a dinner given in his honor at the Lotus Club tonight, said that the people of the United States, as a whole, did not feel toward the army as they should.

"For one thing," he said, "I think the people fail to discriminate between their hatred of bloodshed and war and the function of the army in respect thereto. For the firemen, physician, engineer and for the clergyman, none of us has words other than of praise and encouragement. And yet for the soldier, whose very presence is a protection against others attempting to use force and whose efforts in our behalf, when force is used against us, are essential to our defense, the people have either a negligent attitude or very often one of disapproval. I cannot, on any reasonable ground, account for this. The army, both officers and men, never had a higher tone than today, nor as high, in my opinion.

"No sane man can think that a nation situated as the United States with respect to the world could do without an army. It is essential for any nation today to maintain sufficient force to secure the carrying out of its decrees."

Secretary Garrison cited as convincing proofs of the highly-efficient character of the army the numerous instances in which it has been effectively used in times of peace. The relief work at San Francisco, Omaha, during floods in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, in California forest fires, the administration of executive functions in the Philippines and Cuba, Porto Rico and Santo Domingo, the building of the Panama Canal, he pointed out as such instances.

"In view of all this," Mr. Garrison concluded, "I am sure I will not be accused of lack of modesty in repeating that I am whole-heartedly proud of the army of the United States and of what it has done and what it is capable of doing."

HALL OF FAME FOR "IMMORTALS."

WOMEN WILL BE BARRED BY LITERARY COTERIE.

American Academy of Arts and Literature Is Planning Building in New York in Which to Hang Their Own Portraits—Augustus Thomas, Dramatist, Presented Gold Medal.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—America's "immortals" are planning a Hall of Fame in New York in which their portraits will be preserved and where they can hold future meetings.

Hamlin Garland of Chicago said tonight that the proposed building had been discussed at an executive meeting of members of the National Institute of Arts and Letters and the American Academy of Arts and Literature.

It is improbable that women will have any place in the proposed "Mount Olympus," as Dr. Brander Matthews, president of the institute, today advised feminine notables to start an "immortals" group of their own.

The "immortals" will meet next year in Paris.

The gold medal of the academy was presented at today's session of the academy and institute here to Augustus Thomas as a dramatist. Mr. Thomas said he would go to St. Louis to show the medal to his 81-year-old mother. "She will not be as overcome as I am," he said. "She will wonder what has occasioned the long delay of my recognition."

Prof. Thomas R. Lounsburry of Yale University, Meredith Nicholson and George Whitefield Chadwick delivered addresses.

Col. Portillo of the Juarez Volunteer Troops Is Shot at Noon, Together With Customs Officer, Capt. Lopez, and Commander Buenevides—Soldiers Will Be Pardoned if They Join the Rebel Army.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Nov. 15.—Executions of Federal prisoners captured by Gen. Pancho Villa's rebel troops today at Juarez, have begun. The order for the execution of many of the prisoners was issued directly by Gen. Villa, and at different periods during the day the firing squad took out men and shot them.

Col. Enrique Portillo, commander of the Federal volunteer troops in the Juarez battle, was executed at noon today by a firing squad commanded by Maj. Cornu. Portillo was brought before Villa and sentenced to death, after which he was taken to the rear of the barracks and shot.

Among others who were executed during the day were Enrique Ziaga, a customs officer; Capt. Lopez of the Federal army, and Commander Buenevides of the fiscal guards.

All officers of the Federal army will be put to death, Maj. Cornu of Villa's staff announced tonight. The soldiers, he said, would be pardoned and given an opportunity to join the rebel army.

The provisional State government of Chihuahua will be established in Juarez within the next few days and the provisional capital will be located there until the rebels can take Chihuahua. Col. Medina, chief of staff to Villa, will be named as provisional Governor of the State, it was said.

DECLARES LOW TARIFF INCREASES YELLOW PERIL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Nov. 15.—The recent tariff legislation has opened the way for a "commercial yellow peril," Gov. Pothier said in a speech today before the New England Textile Club.

"The new tariff," the Governor continued, "will result in the lowering of wages of textile mill operatives and will deprive American manufacturers of their home market. That there may be a "yellow peril" commercially no thoughtful man will deny. The races of the Orient are progressing steadily, and it is only a question of time when they will enter the markets of the world with products which will come into competition with those of advanced nations. We shall have to protect our labor and the products of our labor against the extremely low wages of the Orient if these nations enter the industrial field.

"If it is considered proper to open our American markets to the Europeans by means of a low tariff containing no reciprocaal clause, how can we close them to the Asiatic?"

GATES WILL FILED.

Mother of the Young Millionaire, Who Died at Cody, Wyo., Is Named Administratrix.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BEAUMONT (Tex.) Nov. 15.—The will of Charles G. Gates, who died at Cody, Wyo., October 28, was filed here today for probate. His mother, Mrs. Dellora R. Gates, was named as administratrix, according to a request in the will. After bequests, largely to relatives, amounting to $320,000, the estate is divided equally between Mr. Gates's mother and his widow.

Provision is made in the will to carry out the wish of Mr. Gates's father, John W. Gates, who created a trust fund of $3,000,000 for the erection of "The Gates Old People's Home" at West Chicago, Ind.

"I SHALL NOT QUIT," GEN. HUERTA DECLARES

Mexico City Traces to Lind a Threat to Land Marines in Vera Cruz.

Undaunted by the Loss of the City of Juarez, the Provisional President Declares He Will Do All He Can to Protect Americans in the Capital and Elsewhere in Case of an Uprising.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 15.—President Huerta was unable to bring his new Congress fully to life today. The Chamber of Deputies met today and effected temporary organization, but the Senate proved reactionary and the lack of a quorum prevented organization.

Gen. Huerta and his friends, however, profess to believe the greater part of their work is done, because the newly-created lower house has met formally, and in their opinion legally. The Senate, they think, can be induced to move into the line by Monday, when the Senators are summoned to meet again.

Long after the hour fixed for the Senate to convene today the roll call showed only twenty-one Senators present, nearly all of those being generals in the army. Twenty-nine are necessary for a quorum.

None of the Catholic Senators was present. This is understood to have been due to an agreement among them that the party should not participate in the Senatorial session. These Senators are regarded as influential and their refusal or failure to attend is regarded as indicative of the attitude of the church party.

Reports from Vera Cruz of impending action on the part of the United States continue to be received here. To Mr. Lind, President Wilson's personal representative, was attributed the statement that the American Embassy would be withdrawn on Monday, and the possibility that marines would be landed at Vera Cruz.

HUERTA DETERMINED.

Regardless of rumors and notwithstanding the insistence of farseeing [illegible], Huerta appeared more determined tonight than at any time during the week to retain the Presidency and carry out his plans of installing the substitute Congress.

Huerta reiterated today that he continued to be head of the Mexican government and the fact that he took no steps towards preventing the inauguration of the new Congress, as demanded by the United States, was construed as indicative of what might be expected in the future. The representatives of a majority of the foreign governments appeared to believe that Huerta has brought affairs to such a point that drastic action might be necessary.

"Oh, no, I shall not quit," Gen. Huerta said tonight. "I shall continue, just as I have been doing, to put forth my best efforts to bring about the pacification of the country, and thus fulfill the promise I made on taking office."

It was suggested to the President that conditions might become such that foreigners, particularly Americans, would be in imminent danger. He agreed that this might be so, adding:

"In that case, I shall do all I can to protect them."

"True, the rabble of the city might rise, but I would not hesitate to apply the severest methods in my power to restore order and punish the guilty. At any rate, I am resolved to continue in the attempt to carry out my programme of pacification."

The meeting of the new House of Deputies today reflected the chaotic conditions brought about by the dissolution of the old Congress. The Minister of the Interior, Manuel Garza Aldape, was expected to officiate at the opening, but opposition developed among the newly-chosen lawmakers and Gonzalo Zuniga, Senor Aldape's secretary and himself a Deputy, appeared in his stead. Nominally, for a few minutes, he presided; but there was little of parliamentary form observed in what followed. One group called for one man and another group for another man to act as chairman.

In vain Senor Zuniga called on the Deputies for order, insisting that they observe legal procedure.

"Don't talk to us of law," cried Salvador Diaz Miron, editor of Imparcial, and an ardent supporter of Gen. Huerta. "What have we to do with law? We are greater than the law. The country is in a delicate position and it is our duty to proceed in the most expeditious manner."

The controversy was ended by the appointment, without balloting, of Enrique Paz as president of the body to serve until the formal inauguration on November 20. Secretaries and a committee to examine credentials were then appointed and the Senate adjourned at 6 o'clock.

The roll of Deputies included all members of President Huerta's staff, the chief aide of the Minister of War, the private secretary of the President, the private secretary of the Minister of War, a large number of men more or less closely identified with other government officials and many detectives who had been employed in the capital.

No disorders attended the preliminary session of the Deputies. No troops were to be seen in the streets, nor were any stationed in the building. There were few spectators, but policemen and "plain clothes men" were everywhere in evidence.

Except for the fact that the Washington administration had said the Congress must not meet, the action of the chamber ordinarily would have aroused no interest.

Early today the seriousness of the situation appeared to be realized both by the officials at the palace and the people in the streets.

Certain of Gen. Huerta's friends, with due circumspection, continued their efforts to persuade him to give in, but there was another group which was more open in its advice. These men urged the President, in effect, to defy the United States.

The Cabinet was by no means agreed upon the course which Huerta should follow. Those who favored his yielding were none too insistent upon their point of view, as the President has established a reputation for not receiving in the most friendly spirit advice contrary to his own opinion.

It was argued by many that Huerta was not so averse to abandoning his office as he was to leave the Presidency without a clean bill of health. It was pointed out that should he resign without Congress being duly installed, so that it might ratify the acts of his administration, particularly since the dissolution of the last Congress, he would place himself practically in the position of a fugitive from justice.

Certain acts of the President, if not ratified by some law-making body, it is said, were of such a nature that they might bring upon legal prosecution at some future time. This, it is set forth by Huerta's friends, is his reason for opposing the method for his elimination proposed by the United States.

TONE OF THE PRESS.

The tone of the press of the capital indicates that all Mexico desires to see Gen. Huerta remain at the head of the government, and editorially and in the news columns the United States is bitterly criticised. Among the people, generally, however, there is lacking evidence of violent outbursts of an anti-American character. A feeling of apathy characterizes the attitude of the Mexican people.

The American Charge d'Affaires, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, showed depression, and an air of pessimism prevailed at the Embassy here. Up to this evening the Charge had received no intimation from the Mexican government that Huerta was willing to avert complications by acceding to President Wilson's demand.

Infant Mortality.

FAVOR NATIONAL SOCIETY TO PROMOTE EUGENICS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—A national society for the promotion of practical eugenics was suggested by Mrs. John Hays Hammond at today's meeting of the eugenics section of the American Association for the Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality. As a result of her suggestion, a committee was appointed, on motion of Prof. Roswell Johnson of the University of Pittsburgh, to meet the eugenics committee of the American Breeders' Association to discuss the question.

Mrs. Hammond said that with an organization such as she proposed, "individual and governmental action would be secured which within a generation would reduce infant mortality to a minimum."

That the sentiment and romance of marriage was not destroyed by eugenics, was asserted by Dr. Evangeline W. Young of Boston, who said she had seen just as true romance as she would wish to find in young couples seeking eugenic marriage. The boy, as much as the girl, she said, needs instruction in the spiritual significance of marriage.

The double standard of marriages, she averred, makes it a hypocrisy which the twentieth century [illegible] will not stand.

Hope.

WILSON POLICY CHIEFLY HOPE.

Hopes Huerta Will Soon Fade Far Away.

Hopes Carranza Isn't Mad at Envoy Hale.

Hopes that Defiance Is Really Not a Rebuff.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—While official information from Mexico City today was meager, the Washington government maintained tonight its confidence that provisional President Huerta soon would be eliminated from the situation.

The steady pressure through diplomatic channels, the financial blockade and the practical certainty that the embargo on arms will be lifted unless Huerta yields, are expected to force retirement of the provisional President. How soon this would occur no official would predict.

Neither at the White House nor at the State Department was there any disposition to regard seriously the statement issued from the National Palace at Mexico City, declaring that "in view of Venustiano Carranza's repudiation of any form of mediation by or alliance with the United States, provisional President Huerta can do no less than join him in his expression of patriotic sentiment and maintain unaltered, his dignified attitude toward Washington."

While, on the surface, this statement gave the impression that the United States had met a rebuff in the diplomatic camps of both Mexican factions, administration officials conversant with details of the inner situation construed it merely as an attempt to meet, temporarily, the arguments of expediency being urged upon Huerta by close friends. The declaration, first from Carranza that he would not accept mediation by the United States, and reiterated by Huerta, caused no concern here, for the Washington government maintains it never has offered to mediate. Carranza's utterances was not misunderstood by the Washington government, for, inasmuch as he had appealed to the United States to lift the embargo on arms and a special envoy had gone to his headquarters to discuss the situation, the necessity of showing his followers that he does not intend to surrender the sovereignty of his country by negotiation with any foreign government, was taken into full consideration here.

The American government, likewise realizes that Carranza will not enter into any compromise arrangements or negotiations with Huerta or any of the group surrounding him. For this reason, chiefly, has President Wilson insisted throughout, on the elimination of the Huerta coterie as a necessary first step to peace, though he has always contended, too, that the Mexicans must, of course, actually compose the situation themselves. Huerta's expression, on the heels of Carranza's utterance, was regarded by high officials here, as an effort to show patriotism equal to that of the Constitutionalist chief at this time.

The Washington administration does not construe its activities in the situation as included in the terms "interference" or "mediation."

The Washington viewpoint is that the United States has the right to state exactly on what conditions it will recognize any government.

As to the Constitutionalists, the United States also has refrained from direct interference, according to the Washington view, for the parleys between William Bayard Hale and Gen. Carranza have been confined, it is understood, to inquiries as to what protection to foreigners and their properties could be expected.

This step is regarded here merely as in line with the policy of seeking information about the purposes of a faction with which the extension of succession ultimately might be involved.

Cruiser Denver Finds Few Hundred Tons Where She Had Expected to Find Thousands.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 15.—The cruiser Denver arrived this afternoon from Corinto. On her way up the coast, she stopped at Pichilinque, Lower California, to take up coal at the United States station there and found that instead of several thousand tons, the usual quantity kept at the place, there were only about 1200, the greater part of the supply having been destroyed by fire supposed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion.

The German cruiser Nuremburg was at Pichilinque for coal last Tuesday while en route for Mazatlan.

Ensign W. L. L. Lind, son of John Lind, President Wilson's representative in Mexico, is on board the Denver.

was more pronounced today, trains being run in sections.

The managers of Lord Cowdray's oil company received orders to send all the women and children, and as many men as desired to go, as well as the more important part of the company's archives, to Vera Cruz. These instructions were based upon information gathered at Vera Cruz. Reports that the rebels were threatening an attack on Orizaba added to the anxiety. Orizaba is a station on the main line of the Mexican Railway and the capture of this town by the rebels would almost certainly mean interruption of traffic by this road to the coast.

On the Interoceanic Railway, the only other line to the port, the rebels have already begun robbing trains and, to the fear of possible drastic action by the United States, is added that of isolation of the capital.

REBEL ATTACK ON VICTORIA.

THE CUSTOMS PATROL.
NO RELAXATION.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NOGALES (Ariz.) Nov. 15.—Investigation here today failed to disclose any foundation for the reports from Mexico City that large quantities of arms and ammunition have been allowed to cross the border in this city. There was no relaxation of the customs patrol, which is still drawn so close that it would be impossible to smuggle field pieces or even small arms and cartridges in any considerable quantity.

MEXICO CITY, (Mex.) Nov. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Southern Tamaulpias was the scene of severe fighting yesterday morning, between a strong rebel band and a Federal detachment commanded by Capt. Simon Bustillos of the Twentieth Infantry, according to information given out at the War Department last night. Government reports sent by Gen. Antonio Rabago, Governor of Tamaulipas said the military authorities in Victoria, the State capital, were informed that a band of rebels was coming from Matamoros bringing a large quantity of arms and ammunition that were smuggled through Port Matamoros, consigned to rebels that are operating in the Huasteca region, and the states of San Luis Potosi, Hidalgo and Vera Cruz. Upon learning this, Gen. Rabago ordered Capt. REBEL STOCK TAKES JUMP SINCE VICTORY AT JUAREZ.

Carranza Declares He Will Hold No Communication Whatever With Huerta and Reiterates He Will Accept No Interference from Any Foreign Government. Huerta Congratulates Insurgent Leader on Stand.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NOGALES (Sonora) Nov. 15.—Gen. Venustiano Carranza will not consider any means of accomplishing peace in Mexico not predicated upon the absolute elimination of Huerta. The Constitutionalists' political and military leader issued the following announcement in characteristic brevity and directness:

"We will recognize nobody who succeeds Huerta by the power which he has usurped."

This statement was occasioned by various suggestions reaching here through the press and semi-official channels that certain persons might be acceptable to both Huerta and Carranza as President ad interim. No name yet suggested to Carranza has brought an encouraging reply.

Military successes of the revolutionists reported today added greatly to the already cheerful attitude of officials here, attending the negotiations conducted with Washington through William Bayard Hale as representative of President Wilson. It was asserted today that at present the hitherto unrecognized revolutionists had more direct and friendly relations with Washington while it was believed that Provisional President Huerta had none.

The taking today of Juarez port, on the Texas-Chihuahua border, by Villa's forces; the capture yesterday of Culiacan, capital of Sinaloa, and the attack today on Victoria, capital of Tamaulipas, on the Gulf of Mexico, it was asserted generally, would affect materially the international status of the revolutionary movement. It was believed that the revolution had doubled in importance internationally within the last week.

The suspense incident to the pending diplomatic relations with the United States was lightened today by the message in which Gen. Huerta congratulated Gen. Carranza upon his stand in regard to mediation by any foreign nation. On all sides the matter was taken lightly. It was received with amusement and was considered likely to affect the attitude of the Mexican people in general toward the United States.

CARRANZA EXPLAINS.

Pressed for a detailed explanation of his announcement yesterday that the Constitutionalists would accept "no interference by any foreign government in the internal affairs of Mexico," Gen. Carranza merely reiterated his previous statement and added:

"I will have no dealings with Huerta."

There was much discussion, it was said, over the translation of his carefully chosen words, the Spanish word "intervention" being rendered into the English "interference," for which there is no Spanish equivalent. This, it was pointed out, might refer to either forceful intervention or intervention by suggestion or mediation.

Carranza still declined to make any direct comment upon the negotiations carried on between him and the Washington administration by Envoy Hale, but it was believed his voluntary reference to "interference" as the Spanish word for "intervention" was translated, might have some bearing upon his exchanges with the United States.

RAIN DELAYS CONFERENCE.

"Conference called off on account of rain," was the way Mexican officers who have played baseball expressed the situation here today.

It poured until the unpaved streets of the twin border towns were deep with mud. Gen. Carranza remained in his headquarters all day and Mr. Hale divided his time between his hotel in Nogales, Ariz., and the American consulate here.

Still, while there was no formal conference between Carranza and Hale, it was learned continual relations were maintained between the American envoy and Francisco Escudero, Minister of Exterior Relations in the Carranza Cabinet. Each transmitted to his superior the results of their informal negotiations. It was believed nothing had occurred to warrant breaking off the negotiations between Washington and Nogales before they reach their natural conclusion.

The taking of Juarez by the Constitutionalists will make no difference in the location of Gen. Carranza's capital, it was stated tonight. For the present, the insurgent provisional capital will be here or at Hermosillo, the State capital of Sonora.

It was intimated at Constitutionalist headquarters that the insurgent attack upon Juarez was made at the same time with an assault on the Chihuahua City capital of the border State. The news of the fall of Juarez was received here early today and celebrated by Gen. Carranza and his officers.

The Constitutionalist commander told callers yesterday he hoped to be able to announce today the fall of two more cities, Culiacan, capital of Sinaloa, having been taken yesterday. Little attention was paid the remark until today, when it was believed that Juarez and Chihuahua City had been referred to. Gen. Pancho Villa was said to have been delaying his assault on the State capital while a column advanced against Juarez.

It was announced here today that Gen. Pablo Gonzales was marching with all haste against Victoria, capital of Tamaulipas.

WITHDRAWS CAVALRY.

Maj.-Gen. Murray Sends Orders to Soldiers Sent to Guard Dam at Calexico.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Maj.-Gen. Arthur Murray issued orders today withdrawing Troop I, First Cavalry, now at Calexico, Cal., guarding the dam and other property of the Imperial irrigation project. It is believed there is no more need of guards to be stationed there.

The guards were sent south in September, when it was feared that guerillas might cause damage.

FEW LIVES WERE LOST AT JUAREZ.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Consul Edwards reported to the State Department from Juarez today that the actual loss of life in the taking of the city by the Constitutionalists would not exceed thirty or forty. Though two Americans were reported killed, Consul Edwards was able to substantiate the report in regard to only one, a chauffeur, whose death, he reported, probably was accidental.

The Consul stated that quiet was being restored in Juarez, guards having been placed over all business houses and that there was no looting.

Advices to the War Department from Gen. Smith who was in command of the American troops at El Paso, on the opposite side of the river, stated that Juarez had been taken by the Constitutionalists early in the day, that a few shots had fallen on the American side of the river, but that no one there had been injured.

It was announced at the department that Gen. Bliss would permit refugees to cross into Texas, but that he would disarm and hold them if they were government troops escaping from the enemy.

SHARP SKIRMISH NEAR MEXICALI.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICALI (Mex.) Nov. 15.—Word was received here tonight of a sharp skirmish yesterday about forty miles from Mexicali, between Rodolfo Gallego's rebel band and a scouting party of Federals under Maj. Cantu. The Federal losses were given as forty killed and many wounded, but the rebel casualties were not given.

It was estimated that 300 rebels and 150 Federals participated in the skirmish.

Federal soldiers here are said to be deserting in large numbers.

NEW PROPOSAL GOES TO WILSON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 15.—Charge O'Shaughnessy sent to Washington today, at the request of one of the Cabinet members, a new proposal to serve as a basis for the reopening of the negotiations. The exact character of the proposal is not known, but it is certain that it does not contain anything sufficiently definite to be in line with Washington's previous declarations.

A message was received yesterday from President Wilson by Mr. O'Shaughnessy which, in effect, constituted a refusal to consider anything short of compliance with the demands already made and already rejected by Huerta.

The new proposition, it is said, goes by no means this far. Mr. O'Shaughnessy had received no instructions regarding the withdrawal of the embassy or any radical action by the United States on Monday, as attributed to Mr. Lind.

Strategy.

TAKE JUAREZ BY CLEVER RUSE.

Villa's Men Surround City While Federals Sleep.

Pandemonium Reigns When Trick Is Discovered.

Many Stray Shots Fly Over Line Into El Paso.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

JUAREZ (Mex.) Nov. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By the execution of a strategic coup unparalleled in recent Mexican military history the Constitutionalist army of Chihuahua under the command of Gen. Francisco Villa, recaptured the city of Juarez before daylight this morning with a loss of only six killed and thirty wounded.

In absolute ignorance of the proposed movement, the Federals were taken off their guard and the Constitutionalists were able to entirely surround the sleeping city before the first shot was fired.

Lacking leaders at the critical moment, the Federals opposed a half-hearted resistance until, overwhelmed by force of numbers, part of the garrison fled to the hills, leaving the rest of the command to face the alternative of surrender or death.

About forty Federals, were killed before the white flag was raised at 5 o'clock and the survivors were quickly surrounded by the Constitutionalists and driven to the main cuartel, where they were made prisoners of war.

Gen. Francisco Castro, the Federal commander, disappeared early in the fight and is believed to have escaped to the American side.

Upon obtaining complete possession of the town, Gen. Villa gave orders that there should be no looting and order was restored within a few hours.

Charles Seggerson, an American chauffeur, was killed while standing by his machine in front of a keno joint awaiting a fare. The body was left lying in the street until after the battle, when friends removed it to his home in El Paso.

Scores of bullets fell on the American side and while a large number of narrow escapes were reported, only one boy is known to have been injured.

AGREE ON SECRET PLAN.

The plan to attack Juarez was decided upon by the Constitutionalist leaders nearly a week ago and a few friends of the cause were given the tip that an attempt would be made to take the city by strategy, but the details of the movement were kept closely guarded.

On Friday morning a freight train loaded with supplies was captured by Villa's men a few miles north of Chihuahua, and after unloading the cars the train was prepared for the journey north, in three sections into each of which were loaded about 1000 men, together with a few machine guns and a small field piece recently captured at Torreon. The trip northward was without incident, and the train arrived within striking distance of Juarez at 1 o'clock.

The plan of campaign called for the division of the army into three distinct forces, under the commands of Gen. Villa, Gen. Maclovio Herrera and Col. C. Ortega.

In strict silence the corps commanded by Villa in person deployed to the west side of the city, with Ortega's forces occupying the east and Herrera in the center.

As the latter passed the railroad roundhouse, a sleepy sentry tried to challenge, but was struck down before he could give an alarm.

All of the gambling houses were running wide open, as well as the resorts along the Avenida del Diablo, and no one in the city suspected that the Constitutionalists were within 100 miles of the place. As Ortega's men crept past the race track, where scores of American horses were quartered, pending the inauguration of the midwinter meet, a negro caught sight of the Carransistas and cried out "where 'bouts you all going?" but he was cautioned to keep quiet.

FIRING BEGINS.

At exactly 2:10 o'clock American time, several Federal soldiers coming out of the bull ring discovered that something was wrong and when their challenges were unheeded two shots were fired, neither of which found a mark. The noise of the firing aroused the garrison, composed of nearly 500 well-armed men but nearly two minutes elapsed before the firing became general.

The battle between Herrera's forces and the garrison had been started less than ten minutes when the right and left flanks came into action, pressing the outlying guards slowly back towards the center of the town. By this time pandemonium had broken loose and those uncontrolled by military discipline started for the American side. Women with babies and dressed only in night clothing flew down the two main streets leading to the river with bullets flying in every direction but as far as known no woman or child suffered injury.

Acting under orders of the commander, a small company of Carransistas crept along the water front and took possession of the bridge entrances during the first half hour but they made no attempt to stop those who wanted to go to El Paso except in the cases of suspected Federals.

At 4 o'clock the entire city was in the hands of the attacking forces, except the barracks, where about 200 Federal volunteers still kept battering away with two small cannons and a machine gun. They were told that continued resistance would end in their slaughter but the fight was kept up half an hour longer when Gen. Villa ordered a charge but later ascertained that the birds had flown to the surrounding hills.

Some of them subsequently were captured during the morning by scouting parties sent to round them up to obtain their arms.

At 4:30 the heavy firing ceased but there was a casual rifle fire until long after daybreak.

FEDERAL OFFICERS.

que Portillo, a Federal rly under the command er, was caught with a number of his men in a blind alley near the center of the gambling dis- trict, and Capt. Torres, a Federal volunteer officer; also was taken a prisoner during the last few minutes of the engagement. Both of these men were tried at noon by court-martial and it is reported that both were executed at the barracks.

Several minor prisoners who persisted in crying "Viva Huerta" met the same fate but it is believed that the rest of the garrison which fell into the hands of the invaders will be given an opportunity of becoming good Constitutionalists.

About 8 o'clock Gen. Villa called a council of his principal officers and it was decided to take stern measures to prevent looting. Reports that the Federals would make an attempt to regain the city were laughed at, in view of the fact that the two cannon and five machine guns already had been captured by Villa, together with most of the rifles held by the garrison. Among the munitions captured were 35,000 rounds of Mauser cartridges and a large supply of food.

During the entire morning a few shots were exchanged, but at noon the city became quiet. The bodies of several civilians killed by accident were then removed and steps were taken with a view of reopening the business houses. During the day every store and dwelling-house was kept tightly closed and no one was permitted to enter or leave without a passport. Americans, however, were exempted, and at noon Mayor Kelly called upon Gen. Villa and held a conference regarding the protection of foreigners and their property.

It was found that little real damage had resulted from the engagement, despite the fact that more than [illegible] 000 shots were fired.

VILLA IS FRIENDLY.

Gen. Villa asserted that he would do everything in his power to aid Americans and intimated that they would be welcome to come and go as they pleased. The victorious commander was anxious to learn what effect his achievement would have on the pending diplomatic negotiations. He said he was anxious to have the embargo on arms removed and promised to take Mexico City within [illegible] months if given all the supplies his men could use.

He declined to state what his plans were for the future, but said he had left one-half of his army in the vicinity of Chihuahua to keep up a pretense of siege, while he and the rest of his men came north.

Most of the railroad south of this point has been destroyed, he said, and he doubted if the Federal would ever try to regain Juarez, which changed hands today for the sixth time since the outbreak of the revolution in 1910.

According to Gen. Villa, more than 8000 Constitutionalists under the command of Gen. Rosalio Hernandez are expected to arrive in Juarez tomorrow night. This army has [illegible] Villa Ahumada and may be [illegible] sweeping the Federals from the northern border.

COMMISSIONERS SEE BATTLE.

Several commissioners from the south, en route to join Gen. Carranza, witnessed the battle this morning and expect to leave tomorrow or [illegible] for Nogales, where they will attend a general council of war.

There is a report in sporting circles tonight that the new commander in Juarez will refuse to permit the race meet and that in addition, all gambling houses will be stopped, owing to Gen. Carranza's aversion to these forms of amusements. The report could not be confirmed, as Gen. Villa said it was too early to decide the question of policy.

Everything is quiet in Juarez tonight, but only a few Americans have crossed the bridge.

Large numbers of American troops are on guard at the international bridges and along the border.

JAP ENVOY VISITS MOHENO.

Informs Mexican Minister [illegible] Mission of Mikado's Warship Is Entirely Friendly.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Japanese Minister Adatci called on Lic Querido Moheno, Minister of foreign affairs, to inform him that the Japanese cruiser Izumo will sail on November 20 from Yokohama to the west coast of Mexico. Minister Adatci told Foreign Minister Moheno that the Izumo is coming to this country on a friendly visit. The warship will arrive in Salina Cruz during the first week of December. Minister Adatci told Lic Moheno the visit will contribute to strengthen the friendly relations existing between Mexico and the eastern nation. After many weeks of undisputed possession the rebel forces of [illegible] Garcia, were driven out of the important town of Tacambaro. Tacambaro was the last town of any size in the State of Michoacan which was occupied by the rebels and the whole State now may be said practically to be in power of the government authorities.

The Federals who routed the rebels at Tacambaro were volunteers of the Costa Grande region of Guerrero under the command of Col. Pablo [illegible], a veteran of several revolutionary campaigns in the South. Forty rebels were killed in the [illegible] which lasted for several hours [illegible] several times that number [illegible] wounded. Some prisoners [illegible] taken.

Many refugees have arrived at Vera Cruz and various Americans have arrived here seeking refuge from possible coming events in the interior of the republic. Many refugees arrived tonight from Tuxpan and report that serious conditions exist there. This report is confirmed by advices which have been received from Rear Admiral Fletcher from the United States warships which are at Tuxpan. The Mexican gunboat Zaragoza sailed for Tuxpan at daybreak today with a force of 800 Federal troops on board. The governments of Portugal and Bulgaria have formally recognized President Huerta's government, according to information furnished last night by Foreign Minister Moheno. With the arrival of the Chester, the total number of American warships in Mexican waters is fifteen, nine at Vera Cruz and six others at Porto Mamtia, [illegible] Manzanillo, Salina Cruz and [illegible] Mexico. On board these ships are about 14,000 marines that attract unusual attention in the ports. It is reported many war correspondents have arrived at Vera Cruz, among whom are representatives of the New York American, the Times, New York Herald, Associated Press and the [illegible]. The inhabitants of Vera Cruz regard the fact of the presence of correspondents of the leading American papers as indicative of strained relations between the American and Mexican governments. These correspondents refused to be interviewed by the local press.

LONG DISTANCE TOLLS REDUCED.

[illegible] Commission Cuts Twenty-one Per Cent.

[illegible] Time Allowed for All Conversations.

[illegible] Rates of Pacific Company Are Too High.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Reductions on all California long-distance telephone calls were announced today by the State Railroad Commission averaging 21 per cent. and aggregating $726,000 annually. The commission finds that the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company's income from long-distance averages 14 per cent. Nine per cent., the commission thinks, is sufficient, and made its reductions accordingly.

The principal points in the commission's long finding follow: [illegible] minutes are allowed for conversation, as against one minute allowed by the company. Thirty per cent. of the long-distance tolls [illegible] credited to city exchanges instead of 15 per cent., the present [illegible].

[illegible] State is divided into blocks [illegible] following postal route [illegible]. New rates will go into effect [illegible] 16, 1914.

[illegible] two-minute conversation the [illegible] will be one-half a cent per [illegible] mile, with a 50 per cent. increase for each additional minute or [illegible] thereof.

[illegible] rates were fixed upon the company's own valuation of $7,497,000 [illegible] long-distance plant and lines. [illegible] commission reserves a right [illegible] its rates, if it should become necessary to modify the company's valuation.

[illegible] investigation on which the [illegible] rates altered began in March, [illegible] and included a scrutiny of 64,- [illegible] messages, and the conditions under which they were transmitted.

[illegible] the specific reductions made [illegible] San Francisco and California points are: [illegible], from $1.50 to $1.25; [illegible] $1.10 to 80c; Los Angeles, [illegible] $1.80; Sacramento, 55 to [illegible]; San Bernardino, $2.50 to $1.80; [illegible] $1.50 to $2.35; San Jose, [illegible]; Stockton, 55 to 30c.; Ven- [illegible] to $1.50.

TRACHOMA IS SUSPECTED.

State Board of Health May Be Obliged to Deport Japanese School Children.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 15.—The State Board of Health, in connection with the Federal authorities, will investigate the alleged presence of trachoma, a dangerous oriental eye disease, reported to be present among the Japanese school children of Elk Grove.

Many of the Japanese school children are afflicted with eye trouble which Dr. Beattie, county health officer, suspects to be trachoma. Dr. W. F. Snow, secretary of the State Board of Health, will send an investigator to Elk Grove to confirm the report. Should trachoma be found among Japanese who have not been in this country for three years the infected persons will be deported back to Japan, under the Federal immigration laws.

PARENTS ASSERT RIGHTS.

Mothers Who Object to Supervision of Children in Schools Form an Organization.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Having for its object active resistance to the usurpation of parental rights by governments, an organization of determined women, known as "The Parents' Rights League of America," has been formed in San Francisco. It promises to become nation-wide in its scope.

Chief among the encroachments on parental rights, which the organization will oppose in a manner bordering on the spirit of '76, are medical inspection in the schools and the teaching of sex hygiene.

To have the city establish centers where those who are unable to pay may obtain free medical and dental attention, without being considered objects of charity, is another object of the league.

It will also advocate the establishment of classes for the blind, the deaf, the dumb and the feeble-minded.

WIFE SUES LLOYD OSBOURNE.

Stepson of Robert Louis Stevenson Is Accused in San Francisco of Desertion.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Lloyd Osbourne, stepson of Robert Louis Stevenson was made the defendant today in an action for divorce brought in the Superior Court by Katharine D. Osbourne, charging desertion, and asking custody of their two minor children.

A property settlement, alleged to have been agreed between the two out of court, is embodied in the complaint, and the plaintiff asks that it become a part of the decree of divorce. According to this agreement, Osbourne has promised to pay his wife $100 a month for the remainder of her life providing she does not remarry.

Mrs. Osbourne was Miss Katharine Durham before her marriage in Honolulu, April 26, 1896. She alleges that she and her husband have lived apart since October, 1901, when she says he deserted her. She has made her home in San Francisco for the last six years.

SLINGSBY CASE SHIFTS.

Testimony in Alleged Baby Substitution to be Taken in Sacramento This Week.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—The Slingsby baby substitution case, growing out of efforts of English members of the Slingsby family to prove that the alleged son of Lieut. and Mrs. C. H. B. Slingsby is a changeling, and therefore not entitled to inherit the million-dollar Yorkshire estate, will change its scene to Sacramento next Friday.

British Vice-Consul Young, who, as Commissioner of the High Court of Chancery, has been holding an investigation in this city, was authorized by telegram today from England to go to the State capital, to have certain records of the State Board of Health read into the record of the case. This is the result of an opinion of Attorney-General Webb that Dr. W. F. Snow, Secretary of the board, could not be subpoenaed to bring his official documents to this city.

END INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, GAS, SOUR STOMACH—PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Time it! In Five Minutes Your Upset Stomach Will Feel Fine.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; it's harmless; its certain, unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomach. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large 50-cent case from any drug store, and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach, all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

NATIONAL DEBTS

Report Shows that the Countries of the World Are Going Deeper into the Mire.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Saddled with debt, the nations of the world are feeling no less than individuals the pressure of the "high cost of living."

This is clearly set forth in a report issued by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce dealing with the national debts of the principal governments. The aggregate debt is upward of forty-two billions of dollars, an increase of 20 per cent. in the last decade and double what it was forty years ago. The debt of France is the heaviest of any single government. Then comes Russia, the United Kingdom, Italy, Spain, British India, Japan, Germany and the United States in the order named. The debt of this country grew a little more than one hundred million dollars in the last ten years.

The rates of interest on this vast volume of indebtedness are a source of especial comment in the report and range from 2 to 10 per cent

URGE "SHIN PLASTER" COINAGE.

Meeting at Cooper Institute Declares This Would Reduce High Cost of Living.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Revival of the "shin plaster" coinage of 2½ cent, 3 cent and 12½ cent pieces as means toward reducing the high cost of living, are advocated in resolutions adopted last night at the Cooper Union meeting under the auspices of the People's Institute. The resolutions urge that the facilities now extended by the parcel post will be widened as rapidly as possibly and in this connection 25 cent and 50 cent bills be issued for the payment of small amounts through the mail, now paid by stamps or money orders. The issue of the new odd amount denominations of coin is urged as likely to reduce materially the cost of many articles.

REFINERIES' GREAT GROWTH.

Census Reports Their Oil Products Increased Nearly Double in a Decade.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov 14.—Refining of petroleum is rapidly being centralized in the hands of corporations, according to the Census Bureau, which today published its final statistics on the petroleum industry of the United States during 1909.

The industry made rapid strides in the decade ending with that year, the products nearly doubling in value and reaching approximately $237,000,000.

In 1909 New Jersey led the States with the greatest output of refined oil, with Pennsylvania and New York following in the order named. The greatest source of supply was found in the Mid-Continent field, in Kansas and Oklahoma, while the Illinois field was next in importance, followed by the Appalachian and California fields.

BANDITS ROB AMERICAN.

Mexicans Posing as Constitutionalists Relieve Pedestrian of Large Sum on Sonora Border.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DOUGLASS (Ariz.) Nov. 15.—After having been robbed of $1000 in gold dust and silver bullion by Mexican bandits who posed as Constitutionalists, Oliver Newborough ended here today a 300-mile walk from Mulatos, on the Sonora-Chihuahua border, where he was employed in a mine.

Newborough said he fled from Mulatos because of the numerous crimes committed by robbers who pretended to be followers of Gen. Carranza. He said that Chinese had been the prinicpal victims among the foreigners.

MRS. WILSON AS AN ARTIST.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Of five pictures by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the President, at the exhibition of the Association of Woman Painters and Sculptors, one was sold yesterday. So far as is known the sale was the first on record of a painting by a President's wife. The work is entitled "Autumn Fields."

Do You Pay For It Afterward?

If You Do, Just Carry a Little Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet in Your Vest Pocket and a Big Meal Will Be Easily Laid Away.

Get away from the foreboding that every time you enjoy yourself heartily and eat a full meal that you will pay for it afterward. There is no sense in your not enjoying every meal to the utmost. And you can do so without danger from a protesting stomach if you take the precaution always to have Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with you. Then if you overeat, or eat something that disagrees with you, as the most careful person will sometimes, one or two of these tablets will restore normal conditions in your stomach in a very few minutes.

"I Am Going to Enjoy This Meal, for I Have a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet in My Vest Pocket."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are nothing more than a concentrated form of the natural secretions which the stomach employs in digesting food. And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets merely step in when the stomach is too tired or too sluggish to perform its functions properly and supply a sufficient quantity of these digestive ferments to digest completely all food under either acid or alkaline conditions, in the stomach.

It has long been known that the various digestive ferments could be produced as perfectly in the laboratory as in the stomach, but Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the first attempt outside of certain hospitals to utilize these discoveries for the benefit of sufferers from indigestion and kindred complaints.

The perfect freedom to eat what you please and as much as you please which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give has won it thousands of friends who make it a constant vest-pocket companion. Join today the vast army of people who have declared their independence of stomach worries. You can get a 50-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from any druggist. —[Advertisement.

PURE FOOD LAW IS CRITICISED.

State Officials Declare the Statute Inadequate.

Will Request Congress to Enact a New Measure.

Use of Guarantee Label Is Said to Be Abused.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—A conference between State pure-food commissioners and officials of the Department of Agriculture here today decided that the Federal pure-food law was inadequate; that it should be repealed and another statute substituted immediately. The chief point of attack was the section which permits the use of a guarantee label by manufacturers. This was declared misleading to the public and made it appear that the products were guaranteed by the government.

After the discussion a committee was appointed to urge Congress to pass a new measure and also to provide a law to fix standards for all foods and drugs. Another committee will confer with a committee from the American Bar Association looking to the uniformity of Federal and State laws for the enforcement of pure-food laws.

That section of the Federal pure-food law regarding the use of coloring matter and harmless extracts also was condemned.

A clearinghouse in the Department of Agriculture for information regarding the enforcement of the pure-food and drugs acts was decided upon.

SOUSES WOMEN SHOPPERS.

Powerful Hydrant Is Severed and Water Spout Twenty Feet High Floods Basements.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—While San Francisco's shopping center was crowded with women today a powerful hydrant at Post and Kearny streets was severed near the top when an automobile truck crashed into it, and a water spout more than twenty feet high, and of terrific force, showered the vicinity, causing consternation and ruining the clothes of shoppers. Traffic was tied up for more than half an hour and basements of three of the largest business houses in the city, containing thousands of dollars' worth of goods, were flooded.

Post street became a torrent, with the water two feet deep. Street-car service was demoralized and the whole vicinity isolated, as the only escape from the flood was obtained by entering buildings and securing higher elevation.

The truck had not been damaged and the driver sped away.

Cold Storage Is Blamed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Production of eggs in the United States increased steadily in the last fourteen years. The price of eggs also has moved steadily upwards. Department of Agriculture officials declare that cold storage is responsible.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Department of Justice today filed its brief in the United States Supreme Court in the "California switching cases."

Out of 10,000 cities and towns in the United States where railroad companies make spur track deliveries of carload freight, San Francisco and Los Angeles are the only ones where a charge of $2.50 per car is made for spur track delivery in addition to the line haul freight charge.

The Interstate Commerce Commission found that in making deliveries on the spurs in the cities named, the Southern Pacific and Atchison companies performed the same service as when making deliveries on the team tracks. It also found that they rendered no additional service for the extra charge, which was deemed unreasonable. It found that the charge resulted in a discrimination against the two cities. The Commerce Court found that the railroads rendered a special and separate service, for which they were entitled to make the charge.

The government contends that the Commerce Court erred in substituting its judgment for that of the commission.

It also contends that the spurs are terminal facilities. The brief says: "Without the use of the spurs as terminal facilities, all of the enormous carload tonnage into or out of Greater New York must be handled on a common team track or in a common depot. The same situation would obtain at Chicago, Pittsburgh, and all other points. We would have the livestock, ore, coal, oil, grain and other carload freight being driven or teamed through the streets of the city."

The case is of vital interest to the shippers and people of California. The brief was signed by Solicitor-General Davis and Blackburn Esterline, special assistant to the Attorney-General.

Physicians in Convention in Chicago Favor Drastic Law Which Will Prevent Inexperienced Men from Wielding Knife in Dangerous or Difficult Operations.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—War against "legalized murder" by inexperienced surgeons, who are commissioned to wield the knife before they have been sufficiently trained, was declared at the closing session of the clinical congress here today.

To prevent "criminal malpractice" so far as possible the congress appointed a committee to visit the State Legislatures of this country and the province of Canada to urge enactment of the following into law:

Require physicians to have five years' experience in general medical practice before permitting them to practice surgery; ordering that two years of their practice be passed in active hospital work or under the direction of a surgeon generally recognized as of the highest attainments; requiring medical colleges to give full clinical advantages as part of their courses in medicine.

With these words, Abraham Chaplain, a penniless actor, created a panic in Roos Brothers big store at Stockton and Market streets in the heart of the fashionable shopping district, this morning, when he accosted George Roos, one of the proprietors, on the main floor.

He fled after making his threat, but was captured by the police.

Seedy and threadbare, his face pinched with hunger, a wild gleam in his eye, Chaplain attracted considerable attention as he wandered the downtown district looking in shop windows.

Finally he walked in the Roos establishment and roughly asked to see

King George Henpecked.

bers of the royal establishment are all now so familiar with the reply, "I think you had better consult the Queen," when they seek King George's directions about any matter in connection with the management of the household, that they frequently do so without consulting His Majesty at all. It saves time.

The predominating influence in bringing up the royal children has, of course, been that of their mother, whose decision in all matters is simply echoed by the father. It was Queen Mary who decided that the Prince of Wales should go to Oxford. It was the Queen who selected the Collingwood as the ship on which Prince Albert should make his debut as a middy. It was Her Majesty who sent Prince Henry to Eton and Prince George to St. Peter's Court at Broadstairs.

King George is apparently quite unconscious of being what one member of the royal entourage has called him, one of the most henpecked men in his kingdom. Anyway, if His Majesty be aware of it, he accepts the fact with complacent indifference, and possibly rather congratulates himself that, so far as the conduct of the affairs at court is concerned, his consort relieves him of the performance of duties in which he takes not the least interest.

However, if King George is willing to let the Queen be King, there are those about him who are not at all disposed to do so, and of late His Majesty has received one or two rather pointed reminders of the fact.

The Queen is, in fact, attempting to do what Lord Knollys warned her, after King George came to the throne, not to try to do—boss the court.

"Outside your private apartments let King George be King," was the old courtier's advice to Her Majesty.

It is said that she has never forgiven him for offering it, and has never showed any signs of following it. Even those who most resent the Queen ruling the royal roost admit that King George not only bears up well under her domestic tyranny, but actually seems to like it.

REALTY FOR GOLD NOTES.

Los Angeles Investment Directorate Considering Such a Proposition to the Holders.

It is learned that the new directorate of the Los Angeles Investment Company is considering a proposition to holders of gold notes whereby these notes may be converted into realty. There is $2,000,000 outstanding in gold notes, and many of them are now coming due. The directorate is expected to take action tomorrow to offer holders the privilege of buying houses and lots of the company at the scheduled prices fixed some time ago, and paying for the same, in whole or in part, with gold notes; or to buy vacant lands or lots on the same terms. The company has about 200 new houses, never occupied, worth from $2000 to $4000 each, together with the lots. This offer, if made, will give gold-note holders, who prefer to do so, an opportunity to invest in real estate that is enhancing in value.

The directorate's experts are not making the progress that had been anticipated on the books because the government's experts investigating the affairs of the old board necessarily have first call on the books.

NOVEMBER VS. JUNE.

Convention of Which Gompers Is the Presiding Officer Prefers the Month of Oysters.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 15.—At the close of the first week of the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, it is difficult to predict what action will be taken on the questions pending.

The executive council suffered a reverse when the convention refused to adopt the council's recommendation that the annual meeting time be changed from November to June. So generally had it been accepted as settled that the month would be changed and the 1914 convention omitted, as recommended by the council, that only one city, Ft. Worth, Tex., sought the 1914 convention. It now appears that a convention will be held next year, as usual, and Ft. Worth has an advantage in the choice.

Although the executive council was overruled on this point, the debate was friendly. On all other issues that came before the convention, the council was sustained.

The Socialist delegates to the convention will address a mass meeting tomorrow night at which, it is expected, a plan of opposition to the Gompers-Duncan policies will be outlined.

A feature of the convention has been the veneration with which Samuel Gompers is treated. Having undergone a severe surgical operation, he is in delicate health and although he has presided at every session and has attended a public luncheon each noon and made a banquet speech each night, his closest friends say that a fight in the convention might cause his physical breakdown. The general impression seems to be that Gompers will be re-elected president without serious opposition.

FEAR STRIKE MAY SPREAD.

But South Hopes It May Soon Be Ended.

Mediator Fails to Arrive at Scene of Trouble.

Situation on Sunset Route of Southern Pacific.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Nov. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Belief that a speedy settlement of the strike clash between the Southern Pacific railroad and its workmen will come and with it the immediate resumption of traffic on every part of the 2400 miles of track now tied up is strong in many quarters tonight. This belief is warranted by late developments.

In New Orleans great hope is held out that Federal Mediator G. W. W. Hanger, sent to the scene of trouble by President Wilson, will bring the Southern Pacific management and the workers together on a mutually agreeable basis. There is strong disposition on both sides to listen to the mediator's proposals and business interests in both States most concerned are uniting to help him put through a compromise. The tremendous damage to innocent business interests that is sure to follow a prolonged tie-up as an outcome of the strike situation appears to be comprehended by both sides. It increases the eagerness to settle the controversy.

Mediator Hanger failed to arrive tonight and it was stated that he had been detained in Washington to adjust differences on another railroad system. It is feared that the absence of a Federal officer may have a serious effect upon negotiations for peace, although local business men continue hopeful.

Danger of the strike spreading to other Louisiana and Texas roads was brought out this afternoon at a meeting of union representatives from six other rail lines, who conferred with the strike captains in Houston. They declared that as yet no attempt had been made to divert Southern Pacific business to their lines.

There is strong talk of other unions walking out should any attempt be made by outside lines to assist the Southern Pacific.

AS A WARNING.

The Federated Committee issued a statement from headquarters at Houston that the present strike is the most complete tie up in all history. It is pointed out as a warning of what a joining of forces by the unions can accomplish.

The strikers say they have a fund of $4,000,000 in their "war chest."

The company issued a statement this afternoon saying that more trains were being moved than on the first day of the strike and promising that service would improve daily.

In Washington the Federal Board of Arbitration and Mediation went into an all-day conference on the strike. Before the men walked out they refused to place their grievances in the hands of the board, declaring the matter to be outside the jurisdiction.

The strike threatens to become so disastrous to the State of Louisiana that the constitutional convention now in session in Baton Rouge passed a resolution this morning urging both the unions and the company to bring the labor war to an immediate end.

The resolution points out that the real sufferer is the public. Copies of the resolution were sent to headquarters of both sides in the industrial war that has paralyzed 2400 miles of track.

MORE VIOLENCE.

More violence to strike-breakers was reported last night. It came from La Fayette, La., where an unidentified engineman was terribly beaten and kicked.

J. C. Simino, assistant division superintendent at La Fayette, saved the man's life by driving off the mob with a revolver. The injured man will recover.

Simino took the Sunset Limited through to La Fayette Friday. The trip was an ovation from end to end. With the millions of dollars worth of cane threatened with total loss as a result of the strike, the patrons along the line are anxious for the trains to run. At every station crowds gathered to cheer the lone train. Flowers were thrown into the cab window and dinners handed in to the train crew.

The crack train pulled out at 11:30 o'clock Saturday morning. It was accompanied by armed guards, who will stay with the train. A tourist coach was attached to the end of the limited, where the crew and guards will live. Crews of the two trains will go all the way through from New Orleans to El Paso.

The Southport Cotton Meal mill here today shut down on account of the strike. It could not obtain cars to carry on its business. The Southern Pacific company has promised that it will handle twelve trains tomorrow, and serious trouble all along the line is feared. Many more strike-breakers reached here today and were sent west. The men quartered in New Orleans are heavily guarded.

REJECT OFFER OF KRUTTSCHNITT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HOUSTON (Tex.) Nov. 15.—One of two peace proposals to settle the Southern Pacific Railroad strike was refused today by labor leaders here. They rejected Julius Kruttschnitt's offer to confer with the federated union board, asserting that it was an evasion. President Wilson's move for mediation remained as the only apparent hope for speedy settlement. The statement by the federated board on Mr. Kruttschnitt's offer read:

"Once more the Southern Pacific officials are evading the issue. Mr. Kruttschnitt proposed the formulation of some plan to adjust future grievances, without any regard to those existing. Such being the case, we can, as matters stand, have no reply."

Mr. Kruttschnitt's offer was to discuss with a representative committee of the four labor organizations on strike the question of inaugurating a system of dealing with controversies through a joint committe representing all four organizations.

Except for a few passenger trains, the entire Sunset Central system was completely tied up. The Southern Pacific Railroad expected to operate fourteen passenger trains today, manning them mostly with its own officials. Among these are the east and west-bound daily transcontinental expresses, requiring eight trains for each way to maintain their schedule.

Dunsmuir Maid Sues a Druggist Who, She Says, Implicated Her in a Finger-Ring Mystery.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

REDDING, Nov. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] G. A. Hutaff, proprietor of Dunsmuir's largest drug concern, has been made defendant in a $10,000 action in Siskiyou county by Miss Della Clark of Dunsmuir. The suit is the result of charges made against Miss Clark following the disappearance of several diamond rings at a reception given by Mrs. Hutaff, wife of the defendant, on August 27. Miss Clark assisted Mrs. Hutaff in receiving her guests.

Miss Clark states that following the discovery of the loss of the jewels, Hutaff openly accused her in the presence of a large number of guests. She further asserts that she was later forced to go to Hutaff's home, where she was detained and compelled, in the presence of several persons, to make impressions of her fingers and to submit to a false outburst by Hutaff.

LAND OWNERS MEET.

EL CENTRO, Nov. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Land Owners, Water Users' League of Water Company No. 1 met in El Centro today and announced the names of those who were appointed to the different committees last week by President Joseph Simmons. About twenty-five members of the league were present, including three of the irrigation district officials and it was decided that the league, which is composed in a large part of disgruntled water users of water company No. 1, should give the irrigation district all the support in its ower, as long as the aims of the district were in accordance with their views. Another meeting of the league will be called December 6 to which a committee representing the district will be invited and given an opportunity to place before the people of the valley a concise statement of its aims and accomplishments.

The committees appointed, the most important of which is a committee to investigate the feasibility of an all-American canal from the Colorado River to Imperial Valley, will give a general report at this meeting.

Mortified By Pimply Face

Stuart's Calcium Wafers Will Restore Good Looks and a Clear Complexion to Your Face.

There is no humiliation so intense as the knowledge that people are constantly noticing the pimply condition of your face. Women, especially, realizing the attraction of personal beauty and longing as every woman does, for admiration and love, find them the source of the greatest unhappiness and misery. They know that even to their own families their pimples are annoying, and they imagine they are the laughing stock of every stranger.

Don't Be Ashamed to Show Your Face. Stuart's Calcium Wafers Will Drive Away All Pimples and Skin Eruptions.

We have a message of hope for every sufferer from those annoying eruptions—today—at once—you may see the beginning of the end of this humiliating experience. Tomorrow when you look in the glass, you will begin to see a difference and before a week has gone by, every pimple will know its master.

Pimples, rashes, blackheads, liver spots and other skin eruptions are caused by impurities in the blood. Stuart's Calcium Wafers cure these by cleansing the blood of all impurities. These little wafers assimilated into the blood go right to the spot until every drop of blood in your body has been purified. And with a pure blood supply, your skin will become clear and beautiful with a rapidity that would hardly seem creditable, had it not been so often tested.

Nature intended that every woman should have a fine, soft skin with a beautiful, glowing complexion. Somehow your blood has become vitiated and full of impurities and your face has suffered for it. But with Stuart's Calcium Wafers, you can cleanse your blood and restore your face to its natural beauty. Get a 50c box of your druggist today and be one of the vast army of people who thank Stuart's Calcium Wafers daily for a beautiful complexion.—[Advertisement.

ALVEOLAR DENTISTRY

Trade Marked.

ELIMINATES PLATES AND BRIDGEWORK.

Indeed, it has often been said that "Truth" needs no ornament, and "that what she borrows from the pencil is deformity." The plain, unwrinkled tale of Alveolar Dentistry needs no adornment. A simple statement of what it is should suffice.

Briefly, the Alveolar method is this: If you have two or more teeth left in either jaw, we can supply all that you have lost with teeth as good, solid and sound as the best set of natural teeth ever grown in any human being's mouth, and a whole lot more beautiful than nature's best product, without resorting to such makeshifts as partial plates and the unsanitary bridgework. Alveolar Teeth are not only beautiful, but they are comfortable and durable. We guarantee them to last a lifetime, where the longevity of bridgework is seldom ever longer than 5 or 6 years and generally a good deal less. It is never guaranteed to last by any first-class dentist who is responsible and reliable, because all first-class dentists will tell you that bridgework at best is doubtful. It is a painful operation and gives trouble from the time it is put in the mouth until it has to be taken out. In many cases where bridgework is impossible, and all cases where it is possible, we can replace your missing teeth with perfect Alveolar Teeth. The pain incident to the work is practically none; the expense is the same as the best bridgework—but in satisfaction is no comparison between the two.

We have samples in our office to show at all times. Examinations and booklets on Alveolar dentistry are absolutely free.

Remember that in addition to our specialty, Alveolar Dentistry and curing Pyorrhea (loose teeth), we are experts in every branch of dentistry from the simple filling up.

DEAFNESS

From All Causes, Head Noises and Other Ear Troubles Easily and Permanently Relieved!

Thousands who were formerly deaf, now hear distinctly every sound—even whispers do not escape them. Their life of loneliness has ended and all is now joy and sunshine. The impaired or lacking portions of their ear drums have been reinforced by simple little devices, scientifically constructed for that special purpose.

Wilson Common-Sense Ear Drums

often called "Little Wireless Phones for the Ears" are restoring perfect hearing in every condition of deafness or defective hearing from causes such as Catarrhal Deafness, Relaxed or Sunken Drums, Thickened Drums, Roaring and Hissing Sounds, Perforated, Wholly or Partially Destroyed Drums, Discharge from Ears, etc. No matter what the case or how long standing it is, testimonials received show marvelous results. Common-Sense Drums strengthen the nerves of the ears and concentrate the sound waves on one point of the natural drums, thus successfully restoring perfect hearing where medical skill even fails to help. They are made of a soft, sensitized material, comfortable and safe to wear. They are easily adjusted by the wearer and out of sight when worn.

What has done so much for thousands of others will help you. Don't delay. Write today for our FREE 168-page Book on Deafness—giving you full particulars.

"You're Safe at Firth's"

The people have said it through the years—and they have never been disappointed. When a firm keeps right along in the old path, year after year, reputable and dependable, there's some justification for a little pride openly expressed.

You'd feel that way, too!

In times of financial stress or calm, peace or war, rain or shine, it's worth everything to the investing public—including yourself—to deal with a house that has been tried for many years and found true.

The time has come when the real estate firms that give the best service are being segregated and patronized by the public, just as is any other merchandising establishment.

The house of Firth is selling its own properties principally. It has been meeting every contract and moral obligation for years—that's worth everything to a buyer.

Many a willing purchaser has gone to Firth's and explained circumstances of ill health and misfortune and has secured extension of obligations until such time as the clouds have passed. And he or she has gone on with the payments and in the end become possessed of a deed to a home place accompanied by certificate of perfect title issued by a responsible abstract aid guaranty company. SECURITY IS THE FIRTH CONSIDERATION. DON'T GAMBLE. Why do people continue, year after year, spilling their money into wildcat propositions, where there is no real assurance that they will ever get it back? Many a man wishes that he had put his money into lots or lands, which steadily increase in value, instead of into such questionable propositions. Every year millions of dollars are wasted in that way. Don't do it.

If you buy real estate, you control your own investment.

Rebels Beaten.

tion. The rebels, evading the Federal troops, succeeded in coming to Southern Tamaulipas, within a few miles of Ciudad Victoria. For some days, Capt. Bustillos and his men closely followed the rebels, until yesterday morning.

FIERCE ENGAGEMENT.

They were overtaken and a fierce engagement lasting for nearly two hours took place. Although the Federals were outnumbered they succeeded in routing the revolutionists, killing many of them and taking a number of prisoners, as well as capturing 50,000 cartridges and four boxes of 30-30 rifles. Besides the rebels who were killed in battle, many others perished in attempting to cross the river to escape pursuit of the government forces. Among the rebels captured were one major and three other officers of the rebel army. These were court-martialed summarily and executed on the field of battle. The arms and ammunition captured were taken to Victoria, where they will be used to arm the volunteer forces that are being organized in that city.

The Department of War yesterday ordered that Capt. Bustillos be promoted to the rank of major in recompense for his services. That 400 rebels of the force of Lucio Bianco are ready to surrender to the government was reported. It was said that these rebels, who for some time have operated in the north Lampazos, have sent a message to Col. Arturo Alvarez, commander of the Federal garrison in Ciudad Porfirio Diaz stating their willingness to surrender. Col. Alvarez asked instruction from Gen. Joaquin Tellez, commander of the Bravo division of the army, before entering into negotiations with the revolutionists. Gen. Tellez instructed Col. Alvarez to accept the surrender of the rebels granting them full amnesty. The rebels also have offered to deliver to representatives of the government important documents concerning the plans of the rebels in northern Mexico. It is expected that these rebels will put down their arms in a few days as Col. Alvarez has left Ciudad Porfirio Diaz for the purpose of concluding peace arrangements.

REBEL A FORMER OFFICER.

Maj. Gustavo Garmendia, the rebel leader who is reported killed in the attack on Culiacan, Sinaloa, was a former officer of the Mexican army. He studied at the Chapultepec Military College in this city. Garmendia, after receiving his degree in Chapultepec College, entered the army with the rank of lieutenant. During the Madero administration he was one of the favorite officers of the late ex-President, who appointed him a member of the Presidential staff. Garmendia resigned his post on the Presidential staff to occupy his seat in the Chamber of Deputies. As he was elected to the lower house of Congress for the district of Texcoco, Mexico a few days before the downfall of the Madero government, Garmendia was promoted to the rank of major and appointed chief of police of the Federal district. He served in this place three days only during the bombardment of this city in February last.

The Ministry of Hacienda made the request yesterday of the Ministry of Gobernacion asking that department to frame a law against smelting or exporting Mexican silver coin, so that offenders may be punished. Under the Presidential decree, arrests for violations may be made and have been made, but legal experts have been able to cite no law which is directly applicable to such cases and which fixes the exact nature of punishment for offenders. The Presidential decree merely states that offenders will be punished. Minister Gobernacion Garza Aldape is studying to frame a law for the punishment of silver-coin melters and exporters, and it will be published in a few days. Meanwhile such offenders as have been imprisoned under the Presidential decree will remain behind bars until the law is published. Then they will be tried under its provisions.

Foreign Minister Querido Moheno declared last evening that he had received no information of the German government's purpose to order its subjects residing in Mexico to take to the coast towns, where they could be protected by German warships in case of emergency. Press cables to this effect were received Friday from Berlin.

Francisco Rincon Gallardo, a relative of ex-President Diaz and belonging to one of the wealthiest families of the State of Aguas Calientes, was murdered yesterday by bandits on his hacienda at San Vicente.

The Senate and Chamber of Deputies was temporarily organized today and the new members sworn in.

SUPPLIES SHIPPED TO U. S. TROOPS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Nov. 15.—Reliable reports here today indicate that heavy shipments of supplies, said to consist chiefly of ammunition and small arms, have been forwarded in the last few days to United States troops at El Paso and Eagle Pass, Texas, both points headquarters for Mexican border patrols.

It also was learned that the Second Cavalry, which had been ordered to Ft. Ethan Allen after several months' patrol duty, will remain in the Texas department for the present.

FEAR AMERICANS MUST FIGHT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NORFOLK (Va.) Nov. 15.—Wireless messages from American warships now in Mexican waters, according to reports received here, state that 500 Americans, unable to leave the district between Tuxpam and Tampico, where there is fierce fighting between the rebels and Federals, may have to fight to save their own lives.

The gunboat Wheeling is reported at anchor in Ponuco River and has on board several refugees from Tampico. The Aquila oil plant, employing about 500 people, located near Tampico, has been forced to close.

Berlin Is Told Huerta May Take Command of Army and Run Again in Six Months.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—The Mexican correspondent of the Frankfort Gazette cables that "a remarkable change for the better would occur and the Mexican problem probably could be solved without intervention or blockade," on the following lines:

The new Mexican Congress to meet provisionally and immediately order new elections; Gen. Huerta to resign at once and assume the post of commander-in-chief of the northern army; then in case Gen. Huerta is re-elected President after six months, the United States to agree to accept him.

TO BUILD BATTLESHIPS.

Mare Island Navy Yard to Submit Estimates for Slip Large Enough for Dreadnought.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VALLEJO, Nov. 15.—The officials of Mare Island Navy Yard have been asked to submit to the government estimates on the cost of constructing a building slip sufficiently large to permit of the construction of dreadnoughts. In the event of four battleships being authorized by the next Congress, officials believe Mare Island will be given the construction of one of them.

MARTIAL LAW THREAT.

Gov. West of Oregon Again Shows Friendship for Lawless Members of I.W.W.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 15.—Gov. West upon learning of the reported deportation of Industrial Workers of the World from Florence last night, made the following statement today:

"If through failure of local officials mob rule prevails in Florence, Or., the city will be put under martial law and kept so until I have assurance that the laws will be enforced and all citizens receive equal protection under them."

He said that "those who engage in such practices are trying to tear away the very vitals of established government and are paving the way for retaliation on the part of their victims and sympathizers."

The Governor is seeking to secure the exact facts before he takes action.

NEGRO BURGLARS WHIPPED.

Men Whose Cases Agitated Congress Receive a Second Dose of the Delaware Remedy.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WILMINGTON (Del.) Nov. 15.—William Reason and James Byard, negroes who were convicted of burglary, were whipped with twenty lashes each at the whipping post of the Newcastle county workhouse today. They had been sentenced to forty lashes and received twenty last Saturday.

The agitation in Congress over the cases of these two men attracted attention in today's whipping and the attendance of spectators was unusually large.

The two scarcely flinched as the "cat" was applied to their bare backs. Warden Crawford told inquirers he had never seen blood drawn since the whipping post had been established at the workhouse.

FROST PATROL SYSTEM.

Pomona Fruit Growers' Exchange Will Be Under a Unique System During the Coming Season.

POMONA, Nov. 15.—J. E. Adamson of the Pomona Fruit Growers' Exchange frost patrol system, states that during the coming winter all of the territory in Pomona Valley between San Dimas and the San Antonio wash on the north and Spadra and Narod on the south will be under a single extensively operated patrol system similar to the one operated by the Pomona Fruit Growers' Exchange last season under Mr. Adamson's direction.

Although the scope is considerably enlarged the system will be operated from the Park-avenue packing-house of the Pomona exchange in conjunction with the Home Telephone Company of this city. The following citrus associations have agreed to assist in maintaining this big patrol system: La Verne Orange Growers' Association, College Heights Association, Indian Hill Citrus Association, El Camino Association, Claremont Citrus Association, Mountain Slope Association, Walnut Fruit Growers' Association; West Ontario Fruit Association and Pomona Fruit Exchange.

Five or six motorcyclists will be engaged to take thermometrical readings at different points in Pomona Valley whenever there is any danger of low temperatures. Trips will be made at regular intervals during the night and the cyclists upon their return to the Park-avenue packing-house will report their findings of temperatures. Whenever Jack Frost slides too far down the mercurial ladder for the comfort of the citrus fruit, at any point, growers in the cold locality will immediately be notified by telephone so that smudging can be commenced and damage averted. It is estimated that there will be about 250,000 heaters available for use in Pomona Valley and if these are burned simultaneously whenever necessary, no damage will result to the fruit in the coldest weather, it is said.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The funeral of the late Henry Mock who died at his home on East Second street yesterday will be held from the Hanson Chapel on East Second street on Monday at ten o'clock a.m., and interment will be made in Pomona Cemetery. The deceased was 74 years old and had resided here since 1888. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. J. W. Joos of this city and Miss Nannie Mock who is a teacher in the Los Angeles schools.

Allen Nichols entertained at dinner last evening at his home on Preciado street some members of the Sigma Phi Fraternity residing in Southern California. An informal social evening followed the dinner in which an opportunity was given for fraternity reminiscences.

The members of the Women's Educational Club met at the public library this afternoon and continued the reading and discussion of the story "Kate Dorman, Worker." This story is said to be intensely interesting and the attendance at the club meetings is large.

Pomona Lodge F. and A. M. is arranging for a special meeting to be held at Masonic Temple on Tuesday the first session opening at two o'clock in the afternoon for the third degree. Then there will be an intermission for six o'clock dinner and the work will be continued in the evening.

PET DOG GOES ASTRAY.

Redondo Beach School Children Grieve, But Their Sorrow Is Soon Assuaged—News Briefs.

REDONDO BEACH, Nov. 15.—Bob, the pet dog of the children of the North grammar school, was returned to them today, after being lost for nearly a month, and the mourning of the North school has changed to joy. When City Clerk Anderson received a letter yesterday from Mrs. C. M. Dunn of No. 1439 West Forty-sixth street, Los Angeles, stating that a pet collie dog wearing a Redondo Beach license tag had come to her home and was staying there, he found by looking up the number of the tag that the stray dog was the deeply-mourned Bob, the pet of the North school. He notified Miss Marie Dickson, the principal, who today arranged for the return of Bob to his accustomed haunts.

Bob, who had been left at the beach last summer by a family that moved to Los Angeles, was adopted by the school children at the beginning of the school year and is cared for and fed by the youngsters as tenderly as any pet could be. When the class photographs were taken of the various classes, Bob was taken with the third grade, for Bob is an important member of the school.

Last month, however, misfortune came to Bob, for the cruel dog catcher saw him without a license tag and placed him in the pound.

A small-sized riot resulted among the school children, who literally mobbed the dog catcher at the pound and demanded the release of their pet. Quickly a sale of pencils, marbles and other valuables began and long-saved pennies were produced to add to the collection to pay the $2 fine imposed against Bob. Their zeal touched the heart of the man in charge, who gave them back 50 cents towards a license tag for Bob. Again a collection was taken among the children to buy Bob's license, and all was serene.

But since Halloween night Bob has been missing, and the children have hunted their playfellow in vain, and run down clews until all hope of his recovery had been given up. So when City Clerk Anderson's telephone message was received at the school that Bob had been located, it required all the patience that the small boys and girls could muster up to wait until today for his return. And if Bob were not a most unusual dog, he would be in danger of being spoiled by the coddling and petting he will receive now.

Thousands of mussels appeared on the beach this evening between Wharf No. 1 and the Pacific Light and Power Company's wharf and until late tonight crowds of people hunted the mussels, carrying them away in tubs and buckets. The tide was exceptionally low this evening and permitted the mussel hunters to wade far out in their search. Such quantities of the bivalves here is unprecedented.

Joe Dorsey, a fisherman, caught a large hammerhead shark today about a mile and a half out to sea with a set line. The hammerhead shark is rarely seen here, and is a peculiar fish with a long, bony attachment to its head, at either end of which are the eyes. This shark's hammer was two feet long, while the shark was about eight feet in length.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Mrs. Fred Selwyn Lang, a dramatic reader of Los Angeles, gave an interpretation of Maeterlinck's "Sister Beatrice" this afternoon in the parlors of the Hotel Redondo to a most appreciative audience. The reading was given under the auspices of the public library and under the particular direction of Mrs. F. R. Quintaval and Miss Lola Clegg. Mrs. Lang's interpretation of the beautiful Maeterlinck poem-play was delightful and the large audience scarcely moved during the reading of it, which was made the more impressive by the spirituality of the reader. The afternoon was the first of a series of similar high-class entertainments which those interested in drama hope to have here.

HERMOSA BEACH.

HERMOSA BEACH, Nov. 15.—George Correa, city building inspector, was absolved today of all charges of unfairness in his official duties as made by Councilman O. Foss, by the committee appointed by the City Council to investigate the charges. The committee was composed of City Councilmen J. P. Luxford and J. Kelterer and Ralph Bartlett. The committee further bore out Correa in his objections to the L. E. Hall residence now being erected by Contractor Foss as violating the building ordinance.

FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR ITCHY SCALP—25 CENT DANDERINE

Girls! Girls! Save Your Hair! Make it Grow Luxuriant and Beautiful.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually — why not now?—[Advertisement.

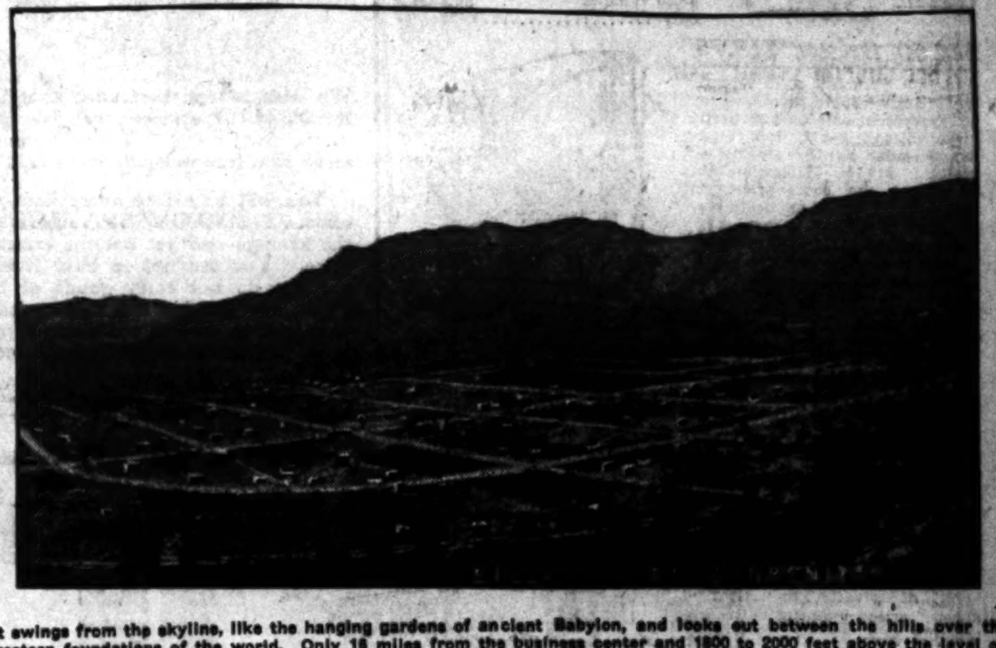
TWO STORES

The 'Real' Little Landers Mountain Village



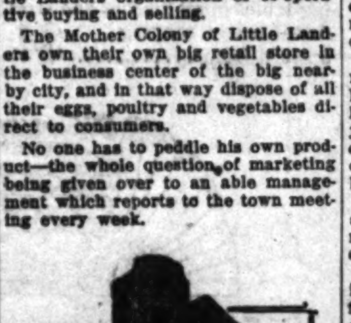
It swings from the skyline, like the hanging gardens of ancient Babylon, and looks out between the hills over the western foundations of the world. Only 16 miles from the business center and 1800 to 2000 feet above the level of the sea. Completely protected from ocean fog and damp night chill by two distinct ranges of mountains. Large 70-foot garden plots only $250. Full acre lots $450 to $1000, according to nearness of clubhouse, stores, etc.—on Very Easy Terms. Lecture Tomorrow morning.

AT LOS TERRENITOS (City of the Little Lands) there are now 140 families, totaling 360 population, of refined people who are founding the real Little Landers colony of Los Angeles, modeled on the famous San Diego colony and under the same leadership of Honorable William E. Smythe, founder of the National Irrigation Congress, author of Conquest of Arid America, etc.

At the Mother Colony the time test of five years has demonstrated beyond question that a family can make a good living from an acre of ground, or less, when combined with the Little Landers organization of co-operative buying and selling.

The Mother Colony of Little Landers own their own big retail store in the business center of the big near-by city, and in that way dispose of all their eggs, poultry and vegetables direct to consumers.

No one has to peddle his own product—the whole question of marketing being given over to an able management which reports to the town meeting every week.



Little Landers Clubhouse.

The Little Landers of Los Angeles was opened only last March.

Where this magnificent mountain village now stands there was not a road nor a structure seven months ago.

Today they have completed their store, which is jointly owned by the members of the colony.

They have completed the erection of a great stone clubhouse which is alive with social and business affairs during the week, and various religious services on Sunday.

The Little Landers of Los Angeles are only one hour away from the city and enjoy all city benefits plus all the joys of a village location unparalleled for natural charm in all the world.

The real Little Landers Colony is not made up of, and does not encourage the settlement of "Commuters," meaning those who hold employment in the city and come to the place to sleep, nor of speculators buying land to hold it out of use and fatten on the enterprise of others.

We recommend country life and gardening in the suburbs for every one, of course, and in this kindly climate all suburban garden homes will constantly become more valuable.

The man or woman who wants to make a sure living from an acre, or less, by means of cloth or glass hothouses, poultry, rabbits, etc., and enjoy the rich social and intellectual life of the Little Landers—essentially requires, however, that his or her neighbors be devoted to the same pursuit.

There should be a common purpose and plan or the proper public spirit cannot be kept aroused to the attention of co-operative selling and buying.

It is very easy to grow products, but it is a science to secure a good income from it, and the selling must be done direct to the consumers. One person can grow more than 10 people can eat —and that itself is better than a mere living on one acre—if it is marketed. But if you are alone you can't give it away, and refined people cannot be expected to peddle their own crops.

A whole community of refined Little Landers is the key to success and an affiliated chain of Little Landers communities makes assurance doubly sure.

The "Commuter" who is pleased to grow flowers or possibly a few vegetables, as a side line to his employment in the big city, is not likely to sustain interest in the serious public work of conducting retail markets down in the large city, upon which the success of the Little Landing so largely depends.

Mixed suburban communities have been the principal barrier to general success in making a living from an acre. They have been the basic cause for the doubt that exists as to whether it is feasible.

The "real" Little Landers of Los Angeles therefore selected a spot that one would choose for a home if they had unlimited wealth—and with transportation arrangements admirably fitted to their needs without providing for the needs of the daily "Commuter."

The Little Landers have the service of several auto trucks carrying their products from their garden gate to the consumers in the big near-by city at about half the usual trolley rates. They have five auto stages carrying them from their front door to the trolley terminus three miles away. A foretaste of the most luxury and elegance of rural life.

Whenever you feel that you'd like to go—where the bells don't ring—nor the whistles blow, just come on our auto excursion to the village beautiful.

FREE ILLUSTRATED LECTURES

At 10 o'clock tomorrow (Monday) morning, Hon. Wm. E. Smythe will lecture on the subject, "Can I Make a Living On An Acre or Less?" with stereopticon pictures of scores of homes of Little Landers who are doing it for five years past and reports from the families of how they actually do it, and the rich life of the Little Landers village. Admission free, at 929 South Figueroa street.

MID-DAY AUTO TRIP TODAY

Our autos leave (on week days not too stormy) at 11 a.m., immediately after the lecture. Round trip $1.00—through a land of marvelous beauty. Bring your lunch. No Sunday auto trips. Sunday visitors may take electric cars to Glendale and connect to Little Landers, 90 cents round trip. Ask for Mr. Buck, upon the grounds.

It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.—[Advertisement.

Musicians Tour Europe

Mr. and Mrs. Jean de Chauvenet, well-known musicians of our city, have recently returned from an extended tour of Europe and resumed their work at the Conservatory, 845 South Figueroa St. During their trip which was taken to musical investigation as well as recreation, they came in touch with a number of the best-known artists and instructors in London, Berlin and Paris, and while they were anxious listeners to all works of a high order, either in private or public, their own capabilities and musical attainments were not lost sight of, but were highly appreciated and graciously commented upon in many instances and at the close of their stay in Paris they received the distinction of being invited to act as judges at the annual contest of the National Conservatory of Music.—[Advertisement.

DELEGATES NAMED.

Architects Name Men to Represent Them at New Orleans Convention. Want Fair Year Meeting Here.

The regular monthly meeting of the Southern California Chapter of the American Institute of Architects was held last Tuesday night at the Hoffman Cafe. In the absence of the president, R. B. Young, who is ill, the meeting was presided over by the vice-president, Albert C. Martin.

The principal business of the meeting was the selection of delegates to the forty-seventh annual convention to be held December 1 to 3 inclusively in New Orleans. The following delegates and alternates were chosen to attend this convention, representing the Southern California chapter: Delegates, Octavius Morgan, A. F. Rosenheim, John C. Austin, A. C. Martin and Fernand Parmentier. Alternates, R. B. Young, J. P. Krempel, John Parkinson, F. D. Hudson and S. T. Norton.

The delegates have been instructed regarding certain propositions of professional interest which will come before the convention and have been enthusiastically urged to boost for the 1915 convention in Los Angeles. It is reasonably certain that they will receive the support of the other coast delegations.

Another item of importance reported to the meeting by J. E. Allison, was the sweeping opinion of the District Attorney regarding the law of 1872 requiring all public bodies to employ architectural services only through means of competition. The District Attorney has held that this law is no longer in effect and has advised the county superintendent of schools that any and all school boards within the county may select their architectural services without competition, as would a private individual. This opinion coincides with that of Atty.-Gen. Webb rendered some time ago.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

R. B. Young, recently elected president of the Southern California Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, has appointed the following standing committees to serve for the ensuing year: Committee on Membership, Frank D. Hudson, chairman; Frank Stiff, Julius W. Krause. Committee on Entertainment, John P. Krempel, chairman; Walter Erkes. A.I.A. Subcommittee on Public Information, Albert R. Walker, chairman; P. A. Eisen, C. F. Skilling. A.I.A. Subcommittee on Competition, J. E. Allison, chairman; A. F. Rosenheim, Myron Hunt. Permanent Committee on Legislation, J. J. Backus, chairman; Lyman Farwell, A. C. Martin. A.I.A. Subcommittee on Education, John C. Austin, chairman; H. F. Withey, J. T. Vawter, D. C. Allison, W. C. Pennell. Committee on Ethics and Practice, Theodore A. Eisen, chairman; Robert Orr, J. C. Hillman.

ADD DEPARTMENT.

The R. C. Mitchell Company has added a leasing department to its business equipment, and will handle downtown and business properties in this connection. The department is in charge of H. R. McKey. R. C. Mitchell of the firm has just made a purchase of a group of lots in the Wilshire district, which he will place on the market. In the house and lot department of the company A. C. Dezendorf reports the sale to I. J. Muma of the Aetna Life Insurance Company of a 60-foot lot on Oxford avenue, near Wilshire boulevard, for $4500. Muma expects to improve the property with a fine house. Williams and Conzelman, in the same department, report the sale for Mrs. Ella B. Squires to B. W. Kies of a new seven-room bungalow at No. 119 South Dillon street for $5000.

POMONA HIGH WINS.

POMONA, Nov. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By winning from the Redlands High School Rugby team by a score of 8-3 on the Pomona High School campus this afternoon, the local lads eliminated Redlands from the Citrus Belt League championship. The game was exciting, the first half ending 3-0 in favor of the visitors, and the Pomona lads placed on their mettle then buckled down and won the game. The Pomona team has been playing great football this season and soon, as champions of the Citrus Belt League, hopes to play Manual Arts of Los Angeles for the Southern California championship. This should be the best interscholastic game of the south, for the Pomona lads defeated the artisans in a practice game early in the season and Coach Evans hopes to do it again.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 15.—With the publication last night of the lease between the city of Long Beach and E. B. Campbell for a thirty-five-year occupancy of an amusement pier on the beach between Chestnut and Cedar ways and over the disputed Strand tide lands, it became generally known that the real factor behind Mr. Campbell is Charles I. D. Looff, amusement magnate, manufacturer of devices and promoter, who for several years has vainly tried to secure this very concession only to find at every turn of negotiations some opposing force that prevented success. Even now the real opposition is not known, but Mr. Looff, by a clever move is now able to go ahead with what he has long promised Long Beach—a million dollar amusement pier.

Mr. Looff will not admit that he is behind the present project, but his interest is admitted by others close to both himself and Mr. Campbell. Several years have elapsed since his first effort and it was only after he grew weary of opposition, ceased his personal efforts and went away from the city, that his purpose was accomplished.

Mr. Campbell first secured a franchise for a $47,000 pier at the foot of Chestnut avenue on which he planned to build a $100,000 theater. Then he sprung a surprise by securing an option from the Strand people on the 396-foot frontage whose ownership was disputed by the city and made a new application for a pier to cover the entire front, agreeing to do what the city desired—to establish a permanent tide line, he to have a lease of the land for thirty-five years at a rental of $1500 a year and 2 per cent. of the gross receipts. In return he deeded the city a twenty-foot walk on the north side. Council fell in with the proposition and passed the ordinance on November 4. It was signed by the Mayor November 12 and became a law by ordinance publication last night.

The fact that Mr. Looff has made no objections to the proceeding which places a pier in front of his own property holdings lends color to his ownership. He has always said he intended when he secured his pier to install a racing coaster as well as the latest modern amusement devices and that band concerts would be a daily feature. The pier will be open to the public except on certain special occasions.

WOMEN ARE BEATEN.

Mrs. E. H. Phister, aged 70, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. C. E. Phister, living on West Tenth street, were the victims last night of a brutal attack by two burglars who beat the elder woman to the floor with a club and then robbed her of $180 in cash. The two women were preparing to retire for the night and the elder woman had gone to her bedroom. The younger matron was sitting in the living-room when two masked men appeared before her suddenly and, at the point of a gun, cautioned her against any noise.

PASTOR RESIGNS.

At a called meeting of the trustees of the First Unitarian Church last night, for the best interests of the church it was decided to accept the resignation of Rev. Franklin Baker, the pastor, who had been given a sixty-day vacation a month ago following his arrest in Los Angeles on a vagrancy charge, of which the accused stoutly maintains his innocence.

Pending the selection of a permanent pastor the trustees have secured for a month the services of Rev. Francis Watry of Santa Ana, for years pastor of the Unitarian Church of that city. Dr. Watry will preach his opening sermons tomorrow in Ebell clubhouse, which the church has secured as a temporary meeting place.

FEARS FOR HIS FATE.

Wife of Ship Master Believes He Went Down in Heavy Storm on Great Lakes.

Among the victims of the violent storms that swept the Great Lakes during the past week is believed to be Capt. Jack Lowe, well known in Los Angeles. Wreckage of the freighter Hydrus, of which he had command, has been cast ashore near Port Huron, Mich., and it is thought that he and the entire crew of twenty perished.

Lowe and his wife, who is at present ill of worriment at the home of friends at No. 3024 Seventh street, have spent several winters in this city. Mrs. Lowe received a letter Friday, written by her husband on Sunday last as the Hydrus was pulling into Lake Huron. During the heavy storms that raged on the lakes more than thirty ships and 400 men were lost.

Capt. Lowe was 40 years old and was born in Cleveland where he has many friends. He was regarded as a highly capable ship officer with a thorough knowledge of the lakes on which he had sailed for many years.

CUT BY WINDSHIELD.

Mother and Baby Thrown Forward as Auto Strikes Street Car and Painfully Injured.

Mrs. George Belsat experienced what is called the first law of nature yesterday. She did not attempt to preserve herself. With her husband, a doctor of Corona, and her young baby, she was riding in an automobile on North Main street when the doctor became confused in a street car traffic and bored into a street car.

Instead of attempting to save herself, Mrs. Belsat seized the baby and sat tight. She and the child were thrown though the windshield of the machine and dangerously cut. Both were taken to the Receiving Hospital for treatment.

Riverside.

MANY SITES ARE OFFERED.

Riverside Citizens Arrange for Speakers of Note.

Hundreds of Fruit Men Applaud Their Statements.

G. Harold Powell Was One of the Speakers Engaged.

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 15.—One of the interesting statements made today at the first annual conference of fruit growers held at the State Citrus Experiment Station here at the behest of Dr. Herbert J. Webber, head of the experimental work of the State Agricultural College, was to the effect that between sixty and seventy sites had been offered for the proposed new school for which the last Legislature appropriated a generous sum.

There were hundreds of fruit men present from all parts of Southern California, and many hoped to hear from Dr. Webber some hint of information concerning the likely location of the new school. He could only repeat what he had often been quoted as saying before, namely, that he did not know when a decision would be made.

The conference was called to order at 10 o'clock, Dr. Webber welcoming the guests and explaining the purpose of the gathering. Dean T. F. Hunt, head of the College of Agriculture of the University of California, presided over the morning session.

Among the speakers was R. S. Woglum of the United States Department of Agriculture, now located at Whittier, where he has been doing some special work in improving the methods of fumigating. He has concluded, as a result of his experiments, that the art of fumigating, with proper apparatus, may be conducted on an absolutely sure and scientific basis.

In introducing Ethan A. Chase, president of the National Orange Company, a pioneer citrus fruit grower, Dr. Webber took occasion to pay a high tribute to this well-known octogenarian orange grower. The love [illegible] on the part of [illegible] by paying his respects to Mr. Chase, to whom, more than any one man, he declared, is due the work that is now under way for the betterment of citrus conditions in the State, and also the interest the Department of Agriculture and the University of California are taking in it.

One of the speakers of the afternoon session was G. Harold Powell, manager of the California Fruit Exchange, and a number of investigators connected with the work being carried on under the auspices of the State Agricultural College.

BESIDE THE FIRESIDES.

Music First Subject on which Public School Children Will Receive Credit for Home Work.

Credits for work done at home by public school children were decided upon in a meeting held in the Superintendent of Schools' office yesterday morning, when musicians gathered with the school authorities and members of the music faculty to discuss a method by which school children may be given credit at school for work done in music with private instructors.

This is the first of a series of subjects, including art, cooking, sewing, carpentry, gardening, nature study, etc., in which children will later be encouraged to do first-class home work by receiving recognition from their school.

Musicians explained that the standard of private instruction would be raised by such public recognition and pointed to Berlin and Munich as examples of cities in which the system already obtained.

A rather heated controversy arose as to who was qualified to pass on the merits of the pupils in relation to the giving of credits. Asst. Supt. Dozier's motion was finally adopted that the examination should be by members of the public school music staff, who should require a definite report from the private instructor of the pupil before passing judgment.

A committee, consisting of Misses Kathryn Stone, Ida Bach and Maud Boyle, Mrs. Gertrude Parsons and Hugo Kirchhofer, was appointed to develop a plan as a working basis on which credits may be given.

POSITION OF THE CITY.

Testimony of Officials Is Unofficial Before the State Railroad Commission.

Special Assistant City Attorney Houghton repudiated as unofficial any testimony offered by a city employee at the concluding session yesterday afternoon of the State Railroad Commission in the Southern Pacific depot and track-elevation cases.

"The city's attitude towards this improvement," said Houghton, "can only be expressed in the manner provided by the charter which expression has been forthcoming, I believe, to the satisfaction of all."

Houghton then went on to state that any opinions expressed by President McReynolds of the Board of Public Utilities, Engineer Mohler of that board, or by Councilmen or others were the expressions, merely, of taxpayers or private citizens.

The conclusion of the hearing was featured by the suggestion by Chief Engineer Earl of the commission that it might be well to give over Alameda street to the exclusive use of the Southern Pacific and to carry all intersecting streets under the tracks by subways. He qualified this statement, however, by stating that he was not offering this as a solution of the larger traffic problems of the city, merely as a better solution in the Southern Pacific's case than an elevated or a subway.

Mohler, who was on the stand for the third time at the suggestion, it was brought out in the testimony, of Martin Bekins, came out flatfooted for a union terminal and as against the sanctioning of the Southern Pacific's plans for its depot. He stated that some time in the future it would be found expedient to move the Southern Pacific to a new right-of-way, to open up the northern part of the city to greater traffic fluidity.

DOKKIES CELEBRATE.

Los Angeles "Dokkies" conducted ceremonials at Turnverein-Germania Hall, No. 321 South Main street, last evening. Votary Joseph Kolff was master of ceremonies and the banquet that followed was provided under the commissariat generalship of Votary E. O. Roth. From this date until February 19, 1914, the attention of the Knights of Pythias will be concentrated upon preparations for the celebration in Los Angeles of the golden jubilee of the order. The chairman of the Golden Jubilee Committee is Dr. F. H. Mitchell, and in conjunction with him Past President Robert G. Loucks will act.

DIES OF HEART TROUBLE.

The death of Mrs. Margaret Smith, 78 years old, occurred Friday evening at her home, No. 1332 East Eighteenth street, after a long illness of heart trouble. She had resided in this city for thirteen years. She was born in Ireland, and after coming to this country resided in Malone, N. Y., where she was married fifty years ago to Michael Smith. He died eleven years ago. The deceased was the mother of Mrs. F. D. Hall, Mrs. W. T. Dalton, T. J., H. L. and J. R. Smith of Los Angeles. The funeral will be held at the residence, Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment will be made in Evergreen Cemetery.

MAMMA, DADDY AND CHILDREN ALL LOVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Harmless "Fruit Laxative" Cleanses Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

A delicious cure for constipation, biliousness, sick headache, sour stomach, indigestion, coated tongue, sallowness—take "California Syrup of Figs." For the cause of all this distress lies in a torpid liver and sluggish bowels.

A tablespoonful tonight means all constipation, poison, waste matter, fermenting food and sour bile gently moved out of your system by morning without griping. Please don't think of "California Syrup of Figs" as a physic. Don't think you are drugging yourself or your children, because this delicious fruit laxative cannot cause injury. Even a delicate child can take it as safely as a robust man. It is the most harmless, effective stomach, liver and bowel regulator and tonic ever devised.

Your only difficulty may be in getting the genuine; so ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs." Say to your druggist, "I want only that made by the 'California Fig Syrup Company.'" This city has many counterfeit "fig syrups," so watch out.—[Advertisement.

Factory "Stuck" With $10,000.00 Worth OF Sweater Coats!

¶ Must Be Forced Out at Terrible Sacrifice in the Next Ten Days

Sale Doors Open Monday at 9 a.m.

The poor business all summer has left us with thousands of dollars' worth of MEN'S, WOMEN'S and CHILDREN'S SWEATERS on hand. We manufactured them expecting a big business year, but the retail merchants held up buying on account of slow business.

We Must Get Cash at Once

So we have taken a temporary location at 905 South Broadway and WILL SELL THIS STOCK TO THE PUBLIC AT FACTORY PRICES THIS WEEK.

This is the biggest Sweater Coat Sale in the history of Los Angeles.

All clean stock and the largest variety to choose from ever offered in Los Angeles. These sweaters are made of pure wool, hand-knit and perfect fitting. Remember, in offering you these sweaters at factory prices we make just as much money as if we had sold them here to the retail stores as we expected—but you make a cash saving equal to the retailers' profits.

COME EARLY TOMORROW, for you will find better Sweaters here than at any other store in the city—and made in Los Angeles for Southern California Climate.

Guenther Knitting Company

OPEN UNTIL EIGHT O'CLOCK EVERY EVENING. FACTORY, 3502-3506 SOUTH PARK AVENUE.

GIBRALTAR ACRES ARE MONEY GROWERS

Ten per cent down and $5.00 per acre per month secures you a planted orchard ready for occupancy and establishes the foundation of your financial independence. The deep, fertile, well irrigated soil of this proven fruit land offers an unexcelled chance for settlers to acquire a country home and a competence.

GIBRALTAR ACRES

Are located 52 miles East of Los Angeles and are in touch with schools, churches and all the other conveniences of modern suburban life. Railroad facilities, packing houses and olive mills are conveniently at hand. The easy graded boulevard to San Bernardino parallels the tract and the proposed route of the Ocean-to-Ocean highway bisects it for two miles.

GIBRALTAR'S EXHIBIT

At the Los Angeles Land Show, Nov. 20, will interest and prove instructive to prospective buyers of Southern California horticultural lands.

THE DOCTORS WHO CURE

DO NOT LOSE HOPE BECAUSE OTHERS FAIL. Even though you have treated a long time and received no benefit, Drs. Shores & Shores offer you the result of their Twenty Years' exclusive specialty practice—an honest opinion on your case FREE, and a cure, if the case is curable.

Dr. A. J. Shores.

OUR CURES STAY CURED

OFFICE HOURS: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Evenings, 7 to 8; Sundays, 10 to 12.

Asthma

No one but an asthmatic can appreciate the terrible distress of this disease. Gasping, smothering, panting for breath — suffocating feeling, sitting up in bed at night, are but a few of the terrible torments of an Asthmatic sufferer. If you are an Asthma victim, let not another day pass until you try our wonderful treatment—which gives almost immediate relief and lasting benefits. Call or write.

Catarrh of Head and Throat

This form of catarrh is most common — usually resulting from neglected colds. Successfully treated with little cost by Drs. Shores' treatment.

Is your nose stopped up?
Does your nose discharge?
Is your nose sore and tender?
Is there pain in front of the head?
Do you hawk and clear the throat?
Is your throat dry in the morning? Do you sleep with your mouth open?
Now is the time to be cured—don't let it run into complications.

OF THE EARS.

Catarrh often extends from the throat, along the Eustachian tubes into the ears, causing partial or complete deafness. Is your hearing failing?
Do your ears discharge? Do they ring?
Is the wax drying in your ears?
Do you hear better on some days?
Does a cold make your hearing worse?
Don't neglect this until your hearing is irreparably destroyed.

Eczema

This affliction often baffles the skill of the regular doctor—and tries the patience of the specialist—but our methods have proven successful in so many cases that no matter who has failed to cure you it is worth your time to consult us. We will gladly explain our method of treatment free of charge. Consultation always free.

The suit of William Ramsay against the Los Angeles Investment Company and the old board of directors for the appointment of a receiver, was continued indefinitely by Judge McCormick yesterday, on stipulation of Attorney Pratt, representing Ramsay; Attorney Spencer for the old board of directors, and Attorney O'Melveny, counsel for the company through the new directorate. Pratt stated that probably a new suit will be filed embracing other charges. The present suit, however, can be called up at any time on an order to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed. The hearing on the show-cause order was set for yesterday.

THE HOUSE AND THE SPIRIT.
(To Ellen Beach Yaw.)

Spinning all year at glimmering looms,
Arras of flowers are growing.
They hang on the walls of the spirit's rooms,
They wave when the wind is blowing.
There is gold and green and the transparent sheen
Of the robe for the spirit's adorning.
The gold of the sun when the day is begun,
And the poppy-fringed silk of the morning.

The strong oak, redwood old—
Are beams for the house of this rover.
Agate inlaid and marble and gold
Are 'neath the floor and over.
Scent of the cypress Monterey
Are loosed at the touch of sandal.
'Tis sapphire of sky and cobalt of bay
In place of a useless candle.
Azure of day and purple afar
Glow as the spirit passes
Through doorways ajar where the thresholds are Met by the waving grasses.
Mountains are walls, columns are falls
Fluted from bow of wide portico.
There are murmuring calls above the great halls
When gargoyles of snow pour water below
To gift the verdurous valleys

It is a green-girt, gladsome way,
Trod by this splendid spirit.
All in the house forget not to pray,
Know it is God who hath built it.
Joy of the mountains, joy of today,
Joy is she! Listen! O, hear it!
Joy is she, song is she! In work and in play—
Joy is California's spirit!

CLOSES GLOBE THEATER.

Largest Amusement House in Mission District of San Francisco Condemned by Police.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—The Globe Theater, the largest amusement house in the Mission district of San Francisco, was closed by order of Chief of Police D. A. White tonight after an audience had assembled. After the audience had been ordered from the house, policemen were stationed at the doors to inform the people that the theater had been closed.

The Globe was condemned by the Board of Public Works several days ago. It had been devoted to moving pictures.

JURISTS HONOR JUDGE CONREY.

HIS ELEVATION TO APPELLATE COURT APPROVED.

Two Hundred of the Personnel from Bench and Bar Gather at Banquet Board and Sing Praise of Superior Man of the Law. Prolonged Applause.

Nearly 200 associates and friends of Judge N. P. Conrey, recently sworn in as judge of the United States [illegible] Court of Appeals, gathered last night to pay their tribute of respect to the jurist, at a dinner given in his honor at the Hamburger Cafe.

The affair grew out of an attempt to have a small, informal dinner by the judge's friends, but it soon became apparent that a more inclusive gathering would be inevitable. There were present last night many of the judges of the Superior Court of Los [illegible] county who were associated with Judge Conrey when he sat in that court before his promotion; judges from San Diego and San Bernardino counties; a large representation from the bar, and many laymen. A large number of those present were accompanied by their wives.

Toasts were responded to by Hon. William D. Stephens, member of Congress from this district; Judge W. A. Sloane of San Diego, Judge [illegible] F. Bledsoe of San Bernardino and Hon. Russ Avery.

Marshall Stimson, chairman of the committee having the dinner in charge, introduced Judge McCormick as toastmaster, who, in accepting the honor, spoke of the love and esteem in which the guest of honor was held by the members of the Superior Court bench, and the sense of loss the latter felt when their colleague was called to a higher office. He said Judge Conrey exemplified the highest type of the American judge.

Judge Sloane, in responding to the toast, "The Law and the Lawyer," said that the delays in the law often meant denial of justice to the layman; that the convenience of lawyers [illegible] times is considered rather than that of litigants; that business methods should prevail in courts.

Congressman Stephens said that in honoring Judge Conrey he spoke from an acquaintance of [illegible] years, and that if the administration of the law were as satisfactory in all courts as in those of Los Angeles and adjoining counties, there would be little criticism of judicial [illegible]. He said that probably a new [illegible] judge would be appointed by this Congress, or at least before the end of the Sixty-third Congress.

Russ Avery spoke on "Progressive Tendencies of Juris-prudence," and said that lawyers are prone to look at precedent and not to the future [illegible] that Judge Conrey has a deep sense of justice which befits an occupant of the bench.

"The Non-partisan Judiciary" was the toast responded to by Judge Bledsoe, of San Bernardino, and in doing so he paid a high tribute to Judge Conrey, and also to his predecessor, the late Judge [illegible] Allen.

Judge Conrey, after a brief introduction by the toast-master, and prolonged applause by the diners, spoke with deep feeling of the [illegible] he had been called upon to [illegible]. Referring to the judges of Los Angeles, he said he never knew an instance in which one of them was not trying to make a good [illegible] himself. Answering his own question, "what should a judge aspire to be," he said, "a judge should be democratic in his feelings, [illegible] one of the people and a servant of the people; he should be progressive in spirit and thought, so that he [illegible] administer the law as a [illegible]; he should be a 'stand-patter' [illegible] 'stand pat' on the Constitution of the country, which he has sworn to uphold." He closed with an expression of appreciation of the kindness of his friends, and pledged himself to perform the duties of his office to the best of his ability.

Among those present, besides those mentioned as speakers, were [illegible] Frank [illegible] of San [illegible] Judges Grant Jackson, [illegible] born, John W. Shenk, [illegible] Frank Finlayson, Louis R. [illegible] Willis I. Morrison, Fred H. [illegible] former Judge Walter Bordwell.

ACIAL FIGHT INTENSIFIED.

Greeks and Negroes Are Aligned at Pasadena.

Society People Attend the First Dansant.

Proposed New Juvenile Court Suggested by Judge.

PASADENA, Nov. 15.—The triangular fight between George Bratsulia and George W. Glavis, Greeks, and [illegible], a negro, last Friday, in which [illegible] was cut on the cheek and the other two were arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace, had a [illegible] sequel yesterday. Both the defendants appeared before Justice of the Peace McDonald and [illegible] were set for the 25th inst., [illegible] they departed for the [illegible] settlement, at corner of South [illegible] avenue and Pico street, [illegible] trouble began.

[illegible] Perston, a brother-in-law of [illegible], took up the quarrel in [illegible] of his relative, and Peter [illegible], a brother of George Glavis, [illegible] the force of his argument on [illegible] side of the altercation. That [illegible] A free-for-all fight was soon [illegible] Perston brought it to a war-[illegible] when he drew an auto-[illegible] and opened fire.

[illegible] of Little Athens had assembled [illegible] this time and Perston, the [illegible] who was armed, drove all [illegible] before him, brandishing his [illegible] and every now and then punctuating his maledictions with a shot. [illegible] a crowd of about twenty [illegible] almost to the Simons [illegible], three-quarters of a mile [illegible]. By the time they reached [illegible] had exhausted his supply [illegible]. Nine shots were fired [illegible]. The bullets went wide, with [illegible] of one, which struck [illegible] of Peter Alex.

[illegible] the first of the shooting the [illegible] in pursuit of the flying [illegible]. Chief of Police Mc-[illegible] and Capt. O'Dell, followed by [illegible] and Patrolmen Mc-[illegible] and Bayes, succeeded in catching [illegible] with the combatants and at [illegible] order.

[illegible] made his escape and late [illegible] the police had not located [illegible]. Warrants for the arrest of the [illegible], charging them with disturbing the peace, were issued, and [illegible] arrested last night. Alex [illegible] in the Pasadena Hospital. [illegible] all started over George [illegible] having seen Bratsulia on the [illegible] with his wife.

DANSANT WELL ATTENDED.

[illegible] society people of Pasadena [illegible] Angeles yesterday afternoon [illegible] the first dansant of the season [illegible] Hotel Maryland. SEA HARNESSED, SAY PROMOTERS.

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 15.—The 1000 stockholders in the Molander tide engine have been invited to visit the Fraser pier Sunday afternoon to witness the trial trip of that wave motor. It has been in process of construction here during the past six months. The initial try-out was an occasion of moment yesterday afternoon, when the great steel floats were dropped into the water for the first time.

The facility with which these buoyant parts of the mechanism picked up the power of the rippling waves and by means of long arms, transmitted the force of the waters to the mechanical device situated on the floor of the pier filled beholders with enthusiasm.

The completed machine, representing one unit of a commercial plant, developed in excess of 100 horse power, and ran with a success that had not been accorded any of the several dozen wave motors constructed here during the past dozen years. The Molander people are still hoping that they have solved the mystery of harnessing the sea to do man's bidding.

PRESIDENT HAS CASABA PALATE.

COVINA PRODUCT COMPELS OFFICIALS TO SURRENDER.

Muskmelon "With a College Education" Makes Distinct Hit in the Nation's Capital—New Venture in Covina Valley Proves to Be a Great Money Maker—News Briefs.

COVINA, Nov. 15. — Definition: A Covina casaba is a muskmelon with a college education. That's one reason why President Wilson enjoyed the casabas that were brought to his table through the thoughtful attention of Guy Adams, superintendent of mails on the Rock Island road, who owns a fifteen-acre ranch in Covina.

A crate of the choicest pineapple casabas was sent by Adams to Postmaster-General Burleson, and the mail man's high chief wrote back that he had passed on a few casabas to the President, and that both President and Cabinet member had been discussing Southern California as the "haven of the harassed and the "home of the sigh of content."

Pineapple casabas are a new venture in the Covina Valley. Guy Adams planted them as an intermediate crop between his young orange trees, and the melons grew so prolifically that they crowded each other like puppies in a dry goods box. The melon keeps until Christmas—in fact, can be kept in fine condition until springtime, if properly handled. Adams sent complimentary crates to such friends at the national capital as W. W. Price, editor of the Washington Star; Hon. M. A. Smith, E. B. Smith, Thomas B. Littlepage, C. H. McBride, Sereno E. Payne, Peter Bisett, (the latter plant-introducer of the Department of Agriculture,) F. A. Wickersham and S. M. Gaines, superintendent of the mail service at Ft. Worth, Tex.

IMPRESSIVE MASONIC SERVICE.

Judge W. R. Hervey of the Superior Court will be in Covina next Tuesday night, when he will confer the second section of the third degree on a large class of candidates before the local lodge of Masons. Masons from all over the county will be present, and several of the near-by lodges will attend in a body.

FOR BALDWIN PARK.

The Baldwin Park Bulletin is a new newspaper just started in the thriving community on the Pacific Electric line near Covina. The editor is H. G. Comfort, a newspaper man who started the El Monte Gazette a number of years ago. The new paper is clean and well-written, and the Baldwin Park citizens and merchants are delighted that they have acquired such an able spokesman for the advantages of that section.

MUST CARRY LIGHTS.

Twenty-eight drivers of automobiles, delivery wagons, motorcycles and bicycles have been arrested by county boulevard officers near Covina during the past week, and all have paid fines of $5 before the Los Angeles courts for driving without lights, or for not having the required number of lights. After a long period, during which the county officers issued warnings, the making of arrests began, and the officers say that unless the county ordinance is complied with, the arrests will grow even more in number. The unlighted buggy or wagon is considered the greatest menace of any vehicle on the boulevards.

TWO VOICES ARE STILLED.

San Bernardino Twins Killed by Ptomaine Poison.

Projected Bond Issue Temporarily Postponed.

Vigorous Campaign for Road Bonds Is Proposed.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 15.—The cooing voices of two little baby girls were stilled forever almost at the same instant today from the effects of ptomaine poisoning and the shadow of death shrouds the happy home of Mr. and Mrs. Irvine D. Cushing where every thought was centered in the welfare of the 8-months-old twins. The babes were Elizabeth Ella Cushing and Margaret Myra Cushing and they passed as they were born, within a few moments of each other. Dr. F. M. Gardner, who attended the cases, found that the milk which the babies had been given the night before had contained ptomaine. A 3-year-old daughter is said to be in a critical condition, but will probably recover. Death occurred at the home of a grandmother, Mrs. W. Horan, at No. 1019 Fifth street.

PROPOSED BOND ISSUE.

Indefinite postponement of the proposed Polytechnic High School bond issue resulted in the meeting of the Board of Education, the failure to call the election, as scheduled, for December 17, resulting from the divergence of opinion in reference to sites on the part of the lobby which took possession of the meeting. Congestion exists in every one of the grade buildings and the Board of Education hoped by the erection of a Poly High School to use the present secondary building for the upper grades and thus relieve the crowded conditions temporarily.

ROAD BONDS.

Determined to make as strong a fight as possible for the road bond election on December 17, Chairman J. B. Gill of the Highway Commission has named an Executive Committee and other subcommittees in the interests of the election work. These are as follows:

Executive Committee—J. D. McGregor, Rialto; C. V. Lambrigger, Upland; Glenn D. Smith, Ontario; W. H. Frost, Etiwanda; J. J. Suess, M. W. H. Williams, A. C. Denman, Lyman M. King, and W. L. Frost, Redlands; O. G. Crawford, R. L. Riley, F. H. Owen, Colton; J. H. Stait, Mission; D. G. Alpin, W. M. Bristol, East Highland; B. F. Bent, Alta Loma; W. J. Kincaid, Cucamonga; James Cram, H. H. Linville, C. L. Frazer, Highland; R. E. Swing, S. F. Kelley, A. M. Ham, W. M. Parker, J. W. Curtis, San Bernardino.

Publicity—F. H. Owen, Colton; E. M. Boyd, Yucaipa; Lyman M. King, Redlands.

Ways and Means—J. J. Suess, Redlands; A. M. Ham, San Bernardino; Glenn D. Smith, Ontario.

Precinct Work—S. F. Kelley, San Bernardino; M. W. H. Williams, Redlands; O. G. Crawford, Colton.

JURY FAILS TO AGREE.

Socialist Millionaire at Ontario Weathers Second Judicial Inquiry With No Results.

ONTARIO, Nov. 15.—Had the jury trying Roswell R. Brownson, self-styled Socialist and reputed millionaire, brought in a verdict of guilty last night, it would have resulted in the arrest of Mayor W. A. Freemire and Motor Officer J. P. Brogan on charges of being accessories to and encouraging the crime, according to the statement of Attorney John Beardsley, for the defense, who made the statement that he himself would swear to the warrants.

As it was th jury, which was trying Brownson for the second time on a charge of violating the speed ordinance of the city, failed to reach an agreement and they hung, according to the announcement in the courtroom of one of the jurors, because of Mayor Freemire.

Shortly after motor police were employed by the city the Mayor, over his signature, published a statement to the effect that while the speed limit in the city, according to ordinance, is fifteen miles an hour, it was not the intention to molest motorists who did not exceed twenty-five miles an hour outside a restricted district. Brownson admitted on the stand that he was making twenty-four miles an hour, but denied emphatically that he was making over fifty miles an hour, as the officer testified.

The jury, after being out an hour and a half and after having taken six ballots, announced that they could not agree, and according to report stood eight to four for conviction. All admit that Freemire's statement was the cause of the disagreement. Interest in the Brownson case has been high here for weks. It was dismissed last night.

BOYS DISAPPEAR.

The parents of Lester Henry and Eugene Fuller, age 14, and Fred F. Rutherford, age 15, have enlisted the services of the local police to help them locate the boys, who disappeared from their respective homes Thursday and have not been heard from since. The boys, evidently seized with the wanderlust, are said to have left home armed with two rifles and a revolver and are thought to have started out with the idea of conquering the world.

Last night a report that they had been seen in the vicinity of Cucamango proved false and today boys answering their description are said to have been in the Lordsburg section and the officers have turned their attention in that direction. In the meantime their mothers are torn by anxiety for their safety.

NEWS BRIEFS.

A move is on foot to have Cental avenue to the west of this city extended north to connect with the Foothill boulevard connecting San Bernardino and Los Angeles. Central avenue runs south through Chino, connecting with the inland San Diego route and north to San Bernardino boulevard. The State Railroad Commission has been petitioned to order a crossing over the Santa Fe railroad in order that Central may be carried on to the Foothill boulevard. Chairman Eshelman is to be in Ontario next week for a special hearing in this city and will be asked to look into the Central avenue proposition at the same time.

ANGELENOS ARE HONORED AT BAKERSFIELD BANQUET.

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 15.—A banquet in honor of T. E. Gibbon and his Los Angeles associates, who are interested with him in the Tejon ranch, was given at the Southern Hotel last night. Five hundred were present and the occasion was notable in the social history of Bakersfield.

Fred H. Hall, vice-president of the 700,000 Boosters' Club, was toastmaster. Among the speakers were Mr. Gibbon, C. E. Cooper, president of the Bakersfield Realty Board; W. G. Hudlow, president of the Merchants' Association; Charles F. Johnson, president of the Board of Trade; Alfred Harrell, publisher of the Daily Californian, Bakersfield; Joseph Cuda, J. M. Bush, Kern County Supervisor, and L. E. Chenoweth, business manager of the Bakersfield Daily Echo.

The civic bodies of Bakersfield and the county, with the realty board as the chief instigator, arranged the affair as a get-together meeting to discuss the project of building an electric railroad to the Tejon ranch country and into Bakersfield. The project also includes the cutting up of the thousands of acres of the Tejon into good-sized ranches and putting them on the market.

At the conclusion of the banquet a resolution was adopted by the 300 present to the effect that a committee of nine members, composed of the various civic bodies, be instructed to confer with Tejon people at once with a view of making the road a reality.

T. E. Gibbon was the principal speaker of the evening. In his address he dwelt upon the wonderful possibilities for Kern county and Bakersfield in particular, should the proposed road be constructed and stated that if such should be the case this county would be the garden spot of California. He reiterated what had been done in Los Angeles county through the construction of interurban lines and so enthused the large assembly present that many times during his address his voice was drowned in a volume of cheers.

Mr. Gibbon was greeted with great enthusiasm and made a strong statement on the prospects for development of the Tejon, held to be one of the best farming districts in California.

"Prosperity follows the railroad," he said. "Without transportation we can do nothing. The Tejon ranch is one of the richest and most adaptable pieces of property in the State for agricultural purposes, and with the advent of a railroad through the land we will have the place settled up and flourishing with small farms within two years.

"Tejon has a larger citrus area than the combined Riverside and Redlands districts. There is plenty of water to develop the property. If the proposed railroad plan is carried out, Kern county will benefit beyond all predictions."

"GETS-IT" Nothing Like It for Corns

Easy As One, Two, Three; No Fuss, No Pain, by Using "GETS-IT."

Just take two seconds to put a little "GETS-IT" on that corn. That corn is "done for" as sure as the sun rises. The corn shrivels up, vanishes. That's the surprise you get by using this new-plan corn cure. There's nothing to stick to the stocking or sock; your corn pains stop. You've saved the bother of applying plasters that make the corn bulge out from the core. You've saved salves that eat into the healthy flesh and "pull;" no more fussing with bandages. You don't have to help by picking and dragging out your corns, or cutting with knives or razors.

"GETS-IT" is safe, painless, stops pain, never hurts healthy flesh. It is guaranteed. Try it on warts, callouses and bunions, too.

"GETS-IT" is sold at all druggists at 25 cents a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF.

Focus on Till.

Thieves entered the J. & J. drug store, No. 409 South Main street yesterday by climbing over a transom, and stole minor articles. They left the till open, showing where their intentions had focused. No money was kept there.

Pythian Sisters Bazaar.

The Thimble Club of Los Angeles Temple, Pythian Sisters, will hold a bazaar on next Saturday, in the lodge-room, No. 108 Spring street. Refreshments will be served both afternoon and evening, and they invite the patronage of the public.

Social Workers' Conference.

A conference of social workers of the city will be held in the Chamber of Commerce at 10:30 a.m., Tuesday. Mrs. O. C. Bryant, vice-president of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, will speak on the subject of the Seattle conference.

Women to Give Whist Party.

Poinsettia Circle, Women of Woodcraft, will give a whist party on Tuesday evening, in Lindley Hall, No. 1605 South Main street, and extend an invitation to all their friends to participate.

Thanksgiving Reception.

A Thanksgiving reception will be held by the Federation of State Societies at its hall on West Seventh street on Wednesday evening next. It is to be a function for everybody—residents, tourists and transients—regardless of affiliation with any State society, and all are invited to attend and be at home. The Reception Committee will consist of the officers of the eighty-five different societies in the federation and it should be easy for any visitor to find somebody "from home."

Credit Men's Banquet.

The second year's existence of the Associated Retail Credit Men's organization in Los Angeles will be ushered in with a banquet Tuesday evening at the Jonathan Club. The incoming president, A. J. Pickarts, of Harris & Frank, will preside, and matters of importance to credit men will be discussed. The club has more than doubled its membership in the past year and hopes to have a credit man from every big retail house in Los Angeles on its roster.

Drop in Unofficially.

F. M. Berkshire, Supervising Inspector of Immigration, with headquarters at El Paso, and Daniel J. Keefe, Commission of Immigration under President Taft, were callers yesterday at the office of Capt. Charles T. Connell, the local Immigration Inspector. Berkshire is en route to San Francisco, where he will meet Secretary Wilson of the Department of Labor. Keefe, accompanied by his wife, is taking a side trip to Los Angeles on his way to Hong Kong on pleasure and business.

To Tour the World.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dawson and Miss Mildred Dawson, John Dawson and Dr. and Mrs. Walter Steart and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Webb, who are to leave December 16 on a tour of the world, will probably be the first Angelenos to avail themselves of the new service which the North German Lloyd Steamship Company is to offer through the canal. Manager Robertson of the steamship department of the California Savings Bank, who returned from San Francisco yesterday brought the word that the German line is to offer around-the-world service through the canal within six months, and the party of Angelenos immediately booked themselves to return from Europe on the line.

Hose Too Short.

On its first workout the volunteer fire department in South Hollywood failed to be of any assistance early yesterday morning because the hose in the apparatus was 100 feet too short. The fire started in the residence of H. L. Sacks, No. 536 North Westmoreland avenue. The loss was estimated at $2500, only a few pieces of furniture having been saved. In the neighborhood of No. 4628 Harvard boulevard, women rushed out with buckets to fight the fire in the home of Mrs. Margaret Jaquay. They laid a garden hose from the hydrant and played the miniature stream over the flames. The damage was not great.

FULLERTON.

FULLERTON, Nov. 15.—Austin T. Moore, aged 61, a well-known resident of Olinda, died suddenly Friday afternoon from heart failure. He had just returned from a trip to Los Angeles, where he had some dental work done, and upon leaving the car when he reached home, complained of illness and asked that a physician be called. Death came at his doorway before the doctor arrived. Funeral service will be held at the home Monday forenoon, and the body will be taken to Inglewood Cemetery, Los Angeles, for burial.

FIFTY THOUSAND JOIN FLOWER SHOW FORCE.

They're School Children and They Will Grow Posies.

Mighty and Unique Movment Under Way to Help Make the Los Angeles Floral Exhibit in Nineteen Fifteen, When the World Will Move This Way, the Most Magnificent Ever Given.

FIFTY THOUSAND juvenile backs will bend and 50,000 pairs of eager childish hands will dig and hoe and rake and sprinkle to help make Los Angeles a dream of floral beauty when the world comes to see it in 1915.

Recognizing the kinship between children and flowers, the Board of Education devised a brilliant plan to enlist a mighty army of school children in raising posies for the mammoth flower show which is proposed for the exposition year. And the children have already gone to work. Clayton H. Palmer, supervisor of agriculture of the Los Angeles public schools, will direct the gardening efforts of the children. He is perfecting a comprehensive working organization which will involve a number of paid and volunteer assistants.

The flower campaign which is spreading rapidly will be carried not only in the public schools but into the homes of the children. This is the watchword:

"Let the children make the vacant lots and door yards yield a rich harvest of beauty for 1915."

The school children will be requested to carry home the glad news of the coming reign of the flowers in Los Angeles and to ask for the assistance of their parents in the work. "Children, on with the spade and the hoe and make Los Angeles a flower garden of waving blooms by the time that the multitude comes!" Supervisor Palmer has ordered.

THEY'RE AT IT.

Not all the children will begin planting flowers at once, of course. There is much preliminary work to be done. Vegetables will be grown in many of the vacant-lot gardens the coming season and sold to raise money for the flower fund. All the diversified work, however, will be directed toward the one great purpose of contributing choice offerings to the flower show which is to be made the most magnificent in the history of the world, and also to improving the general appearance of the city.

A number of bands of children started work yesterday in the interest of the movement. About thirty children reported at the Sixty-second avenue school. Pupils of the ungraded room of that school, under the direction of Miss Frances Conrad, the teacher, are making fine progress in gardening. Principal Good of this school is taking a keen interest in the efforts of the children and giving them strong encouragement.

The headquarters of the flower-planting movement are at the Olive-street school, from which place Palmer is distributing garden tools, seeds, bulbs and plants. He has recommended to the Board of Education that in view of the magnitude of the flower-planting campaign new headquarters be established away from the center of the city, but at some point within the 5-cent carfare zone where there could be obtained one to two acres for a comprehensive plant.

FOR PRACTICE PLANT.

Palmer suggests that the demonstration and practice station should embody the following features:

A model home of about five rooms, the employment of practical gardeners, the careful laying out of the grounds, the building of an office-laboratory and the construction of lath houses, glass houses, hotbeds and cold frames.

Palmer suggested that the model home could be planned by the domestic science department. It is proposed to conduct regular classes in domestic science in this building and to instruct visitors there in the essentials of home planting.

According to the plan the gardeners would be employed the year around and would look after the various interests at the plant. It appears that the services of practical gardeners are necessary to the present planting campaign.

The plotting of the grounds need not be expensive, Palmer points out, but should be effectively executed in a way that would serve as a proper example to be followed by others needing suggestions, and include ornamental features and model flower beds.

An office for the department and quarters for regular classes in agriculture would constitute the principal requirements of the proposed office-laboratory building.

An equipment of lath house, hothouses, glass houses and cold frames would be essential to the plan of having children go there from the different schools for instruction in the various phases of growing flowers. This instruction would extend from the elementary phases of flower-growing to the work of potting, grafting, boxing and various other considerations which are essential to the success of the flower-planting movement.

NUMBERS AND ENTHUSIASM.

"About 25,000 children in sixty schools did school gardening last year," Palmer said yesterday. "With the spread of the enthusiasm for the great flower show of 1915 it will be easy to interest twice that number in the work of preparing for the display. Of the 25,000 children I believe that 15,000 were interested in home gardens. When the parents co-operate with the teachers in teaching gardening better results can be obtained both in the school gardens and the home gardens.

"The enthusiasm of a great host of children will give stimulus to the work of planning for the mammoth flower show in 1915 and in improving the general appearance of the city for that occasion. There is plenty of enthusiasm among the children for the flower-planting movement and they are spreading it rapidly to all quarters.

"In directing the work of the children we will co-operate with all the organizations, professional and amateur horticulturists and flower lovers who are working for the flower show. There is no doubt that 50,000 children can contribute much to its success. It really seems proper that the children should be given an important part in this work. From present appearances I am certain that they can be depended upon for marvelous results.

GARDEN SOLDIERS.

"At present we are organizing our pupils into groups of 'City Garden Soldiers.' Each grade of the schools is given an opportunity of organizing under a recruiting officer of its own selection. Each recruit is directed to 'conquer a portion of the earth.'

"We need funds now to employ garden teachers to go from home to home and to give such advice on gardening as the conditions seem to warrant. We are hoping that many volunteers will enlist in this cause.

"I do not believe that the work of beautifying Los Angeles and preparing for the flower show can be brought about more effectively than by furnishing assistance to the school and home gardening movement already well under way. We need money for seeds, tools and fencing to protect vacant lots. We are hoping that an organization or a number of individuals may be found who would finance this feature of the work.

"The flower-planting movement is started. We need now to solidify the work, assemble our forces and work together with a common purpose. Here is a wonderful opportunity to make Los Angeles the most beautiful city in the world and to furnish material for the greatest flower show ever held."

For several years gardening was made a valuable part of the work of a number of the city schools, the movement receiving much of its impetus from the personal attention of Deputy Superintendent Moniux and others. Experiments demonstrated the value of this work and, accordingly, two years ago, the gardening work was given over to Mrs. George E. Larkey, who was assigned to the Seventh-street school. With the assistance of one special teacher and the support of loyal teachers and principals, gardening was soon placed on a strong basis.

The agricultural department of the public schools was organized a little less than a year ago with a Supervisor, assistant supervisor and three special teachers. The work of the department has been growing rapidly in importance.

SIXTY MILLION DOLLARS DUE.

Sixty Thousand Tourists to Bring It Here.

Estimates of the Experts on Coming Rush.

Rail and Steamship Lines All Preparing.

Hence ye, Stygian hosts of pessimism, for $60,000,000 is coming to Southern California the next few months to make prosperity even more apparent than it is now. True, the assortment of millions is coming in the pockets of 60,000 or so persons—winter-resorters if you will—but it is coming and will be spent here, for it is the annual tribute of easterners and northerners to the climatic charms of the land set over against the western seas.

Assistant Passenger Traffic Manager Byrne of the Santa Fe and General Passenger Agents Peck and Batturs of the Salt Lake and Southern Pacific, respectively, as well as the steamship men, are authority for the statement that 60,000 persons are coming, or 10,000 more than last year. They also estimate that average expenditures of the 60,000 while here will be at least $1000, for winter-resorters pay well for the privilege of spending the winter and early spring

Steinway

—the Piano that has received the Tributes of Monarchs

EVERY Crowned Head and Ruler in the world has paid tribute to the Steinway by accepting it as the exclusive Court Piano. Such world figures as Emperor William of Germany, Queen Victoria of England, King Edward VII of England, King George V of England, Czar Nicholas of Russia, King Alfonso of Spain, King Gustav of Sweden, King Umberto of Italy—and many others—have appointed Steinway & Sons exclusive Piano Manufacturers to the Crown.

Great Pianists, who choose an instrument solely from an artistic standpoint, use the Steinway exclusively. The commercial element has never been permitted to dominate the manufacture of Steinway pianos.

A Steinway piano 20 years old will bring more money than any other piano NEW. This is the most remarkable endorsement ever accorded any instrument in the musical history of the world. We, ourselves, will buy back any Steinway we have sold, at the end of a year, at almost its FULL PRICE.

These reasons, impossible of duplication in the case of any other Piano, furnish conclusive proof of the supremacy of the Steinway.

Steinway Vertegrands, $575 up
Steinway Grands, $800 up

You may have three years to pay for your Steinway Piano, making up the payments to suit your convenience. We are exclusive agents for Steinway & Sons for Los Angeles, and all territory south of the Tehachepi Mountains.

Health and Beauty Helps

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

Grace: Certainly that brittleness of hair and your dandruff are dangerous conditions and should be corrected quickly by a proper shampoo. Get some canthrox from your druggist and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water, then pour this mixture on the head slowly and rub well. This makes an abundance of rich, cleansing lather, and rinsing leaves the scalp and hair wonderfully sweet and clean. These shampoos are very soothing to tender, itchy scalps and so invigorate the hair roots that a growth of glossy, fluffy, even-colored hair results. Canthrox shampoos are invaluable to the finest growth of hair and prevent as well as overcome all scalp and hair difficulties.

Lotta M.: Here is a simple, inexpensive treatment for hairy growths: Mix a thick paste with some powdered delatone and water. Apply to hairs not wanted and in two or three minutes rub off and the skin will be smooth and hairless. Then wash the skin to remove the remaining delatone.

Gloria: I always use a crystos tonic for my eyes when they are weak, watery and inflamed, or use it as an eye wash when I am going to dinners or parties and wish to look especially nice. I buy an ounce of crystos from my druggist and put into one pint clear water, then place two or three drops in each eye a few times a day until they are strong again. This eye tonic is also very good for granulated lids and will give a sparkle and delightful expression to dull, expressionless eyes.

Dolly: Your itchy scalp can be relieved and cured, as well as the falling hair, by the use of a quinine tonic which at least a dozen of my personal friends are using and making at home from an ounce of quinzoin dissolved in a half-pint of alcohol, to which should be added a half-pint of water. They use this regularly by massaging into the roots of the hair and they claim the itching stops immediately, and the tonic improves the growth of the hair and helps nature make it beautiful and healthy.

Hortense: Indeed, you can easily cure that tired, depressed feeling which is accompanied with such a sallow condition of the face. They are caused by sluggish blood (very common in the fall and winter months,) which is not properly eliminating the poisons from the system. Try this blood purifier and tonic: Into one-half pint alcohol (whiskey must not be used,) pour one ounce kardene, then add one-half cupful sugar and hot water to make a full quart. Take one tablespoonful of this old-fashioned blood cleanser and tonic before each meal. This is splendid for that weak, worn feeling and restores the kidneys to normal action and the blood to a healthy condition. Its timely use will save much serious sickness.

Teacher: In your case the wrinkles and lines in your skin are probably caused by its extreme dryness. To remove them use this preparation which you can make for yourself, which will act rapidly and restore the softness and natural tone to the skin. Get an ounce of almozoin at the drug store and dissolve it in one-half pint cold water, adding two tablespoonfuls glycerine. Apply this before retiring and leave over night. This will remove wrinkles, prevent crow's feet and make your face soft and satiny. Since it has removed my crow's feet I use it to clear and whiten my skin.

Anna: No, don't make yourself miserable by unnecessary dieting or indulging in violent exercise to reduce fat. Make up and take this simple reducer and your weight will soon be just where you want it: Dissolve four ounces parnotis in one and one-half pints hot water; when it cools strain and take a tablespoonful before meals. This parnotis reducer acts gently, is quite harmless, and entirely satisfactory results are quickly attained.

Girlie: I have rejuvenated my complexion and again have the velvety rose-tint skin of my girlhood. I stopped using powder and now use this simple, inexpensive lotion: In one-half pint witch hazel or hot water dissolve four ounces spurmax, then add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. This lotion dries quickly after being applied and is invisible. Use it on the face, neck, arms and hands and it will impart to the skin that youthful purity and exquisite tint it is impossible to obtain any other way. It is excellent for chaps, cold sores and to protect against fall winds, and dispels the oily, sallow, rough condition in a very short time.

DEMANDS SCALP OF M'REYNOLDS?

Conference Held by Mayor and Utilities Head.

Rose Demanded Resignation, Is Well-Founded Report.

Fight in Council May Result from Refusal.

Mayor Rose yesterday asked O. O. McReynolds, president of the Board of Public Utilities, to resign and McReynolds refused to do so, according to an authoritative report at the City Hall, which neither the Mayor nor the head of the utilities board would confirm or deny.

It is known that the Mayor sent McReynolds a polite note Friday inviting him to hold a conference in executive chambers yesterday morning. In response to the note McReynolds visited the Mayor yesterday and was closeted with him for more than an hour.

At the close of the conference neither would discuss the matter.

"We had a very pleasant little chat," said the Mayor, a broad smile spreading over his face.

"We discussed various matters," said McReynolds.

Friends of the latter, and some officials close to the Mayor, yesterday said that there was no question that McReynolds was asked to resign from an office in which he ordinarily would have but six weeks to serve.

And to go even further than the mere statement that he was asked to resign, the friends of McReynolds and associates of the Mayor, asserted that McReynolds was given until Monday morning to prepare his answer, at which time he will flatly refuse to get from under.

Everything indicates that this is actually the condition, but neither the Mayor nor McReynolds will throw any light on the matter, both of them being content, apparently, with the inference drawn that there will be something doing Monday morning that will add a new angle to the McReynolds situation.

That there is really a "McReynolds situation" is not the fault of the president of the Board of Public Utilities. He is in no way responsible for it. The said "situation" consists of an attempt on the part of the Independent Civic League and others to have him recalled. A petition has been circulated for months, but instead of getting the necessary 11,000 signatures, the enemies of McReynolds obtained less than 1100 names.

Failing to demonstrate that there is any great number of persons willing that McReynolds should be recalled, his opponents went to the Mayor and demanded that McReynolds be removed. The Mayor is quoted as having said at about this time that he would not reappoint McReynolds at the end of the year when his term expires, and that he does not know of any good reason why he should.

Then came a delegation of the same persons, mostly representing the Independent Civic League, congratulating the Mayor on his veto of the "voteless election" ordinance. Political pressure of various kinds was brought to bear on the Mayor, it is said, and his office was the very center of a campaign for the decapitation of McReynolds.

In the event that McReynolds refuses to resign, which it is said on good authority he will do, the affair will go into the City Council. It will require five votes to sustain the Mayor's order of removal. Councilman Wheeler will not return from Seattle till later in the week and Councilman Reed is not expected to return at all, leaving only seven members of the Council, four of whom are said to be avowed friends and defenders of McReynolds.

These four men who are expected to block the McReynolds removal are Councilmen Betkouski, Conwell, Langdon and Snowden. In case the matter gets that far it is expected that a pretty fight will develop on the floor of the Council, making of what is now a two-sided affair, one with many angles and interesting twists.

FIRST THROUGH, SEA TO SEA.

STEAMSHIP SANTA CLARA ON CANAL PROGRAMME.

Freighter from Japan With Million Feet of Lumber and Other Merchandise Due Today or Tomorrow—Much Equipment Ordered for Exposition Year Travel.

The first vessel to pass through the Panama Canal on its way to this port will be the Santa Clara of the Atlantic and Pacific Steamship Company. This is certain if Col. Goethals's plans to throw open the canal to navigation in January do not go amiss.

The Santa Clara, which is one of four vessels built by the Atlantic and Pacific Steamship Company for canal service, is now on its way to New York around the Horn. It is scheduled to leave New York on the journey to the Pacific Coast January 20 and, according to W. R. Grace & Company, agents for the concern, will be sent through the canal if present plans do not miscarry.

Provided the vessel passes through the big ditch it will arrive here February 5, or sixteen days out from New York. Thereafter all the vessels of the new concern will be routed by the way of the canal instead of on the present lane around the Horn.

The fourth and last of the big freighters constructed by the Atlantic & Pacific Steamship Company for its New York-Los Angeles service is to leave New York the 28th inst., around the Horn. It is the Santa Cecilia, a $750,000 vessel, and a sister ship to the Santa Clara and Santa Catalina.

Bringing a Large Cargo.

With 1,000,000 feet of lumber and a large cargo of merchandise aboard for general distribution throughout the Southwest, the 9000-ton freighter Azumasan Maru, inbound from Otaru, Japan, is expected to stick its nose above the horizon either today or tomorrow on its way to anchorage at the docks of the Crescent Wharf & Warehouse Company.

The vessel is the property of the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha, one of the biggest mercantile companies of Japan, and its visit will be the first of a long series. In former days the boat was known as the Purley and is a Newcastle creation of 1900, 340 feet long, forty-eight-foot beam, and more than twenty feet in depth.

For Exposition Travel.

Some slight forecast of the intention of the railroads to augment service to this State during exposition year may be gathered from the announcement of the Santa Fe management that over $[illegible] worth of new passenger equipment has been ordered for delivery the coming year.

The list includes twenty-four chair cars, thirty smokers, ten baggage cars, fifteen diners, ten composite cars, ten parlor cars, thirty-five coaches and twenty other cars not classified. All these cars will be of all-steel construction.

This order supplements the order placed some months ago for fifty-eight all-steel Pullman sleepers and early in the year for 186 all-steel passenger cars.

Girder Rails Through Yards.

Announcement was made yesterday by the Southern Pacific that the relaying of new girder rails through the yards here, for which $[illegible] was appropriated, will be completed before the first of the year. Simultaneously, the Santa Fe announced that $17,[illegible] had been added to the large sums already appropriated for bridge work on the Los Angeles division and $[illegible] to the valley division's appropriations.

NEW BOOKS AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

This week's list of books at the Public Library will be of special interest to the many readers who are watching world-wide history as it is rapidly made. Recent developments in China, Japan, Germany and the Balkans are most interestingly treated in the first four books, while La Follette's autobiography tells of our own history from one man's point of view, and Morse's work attempts to interpret the causes which have made American history.

Other readers will be interested in the books on business, chess, travel and literature. Any book may be borrowed free from the Los Angeles Public Library:

HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION.

Pacific Coast Branch to Meet in This City and an Interesting Programme Offered.

The Pacific Coast branch of the American Historical Association will hold its annual meeting in this city on Friday and Saturday, November 28 and 29. The first session will be held in the College of Liberal Arts, U.S.C., at 2 o'clock, Friday afternoon, when Prof. Frank J. Klingberg of U.S.C., will speak on "The Anti-Slavery Movement in England;" Yamato Ichihashi of Stanford, "The Movement of Population in Feudal and Modern Japan;" Prof. Robert G. Cleland of Occidental, "The Relation of Slavery to the Early Sentiment for the Acquisition of California."

The annual dinner will be given at Christopher's at 6:30, Friday evening, at which Prof. Henry Morse Stephens will preside and President J. M. Guinn will deliver an address.

The Museum of History, Exposition Park, will be the place of holding a session at 9:30, Saturday morning. Addresses will be delivered by W. F. Bliss, dean of the San Diego Normal School; Prof. Francis H. White, Pomona College; Prof. Herbert E. Bolton, State University. A business session will follow and at 12:30 a complimentary luncheon will be served at U.S.C., President Bovard presiding.

Saturday afternoon, College of Liberal Arts, Prof. Rockwell D. Hunt presiding. Addresses by Prof. Joseph Schafer, University of Oregon; Prof. Emory S. Bogardus, U.S.C.; Prof. Edward McMahon, University of Washington. Discussions will be led by Miss Jane Harnett, Long Beach High School, and Miss Anna Stewart, Los Angeles High School.

here, far from the blizzards which infest nine-tenths of the country from three to five months of the year, depending on latitude.

Best of all, railroad men are backing up their predictions with preparations to handling more winter tourists than ever before. The Southern Pacific and Santa Fe are going to put on more trains; all of them are scheduling special cars, running on regular schedules, to handle the overflow from Winnipeg, St. Paul, Chicago, St. Louis, and so on, through a rather lengthy list which includes nearly all the big cities of the country and some in the Dominion of Canada.

STRAIGHT THROUGH.

This week for instance, special car service will be started by the Santa Fe and the Salt Lake-Union Pacific-Northwestern lines between Chicago and Los Angeles. Next week the Gould lines will commence to shuttle special cars from St. Louis on their ways to both this city and San Francisco. The following week Winnipeg will be vouchsafed its first through car connection with the Southland.

Even now the advance rush of the snow-birds is upon. The past week thirty-one from Winnipeg came in one party, also fifty-two from Sioux City, S. D. Secretary Parsons of the Federation of State and Provincial Organizations met both parties and the South Dakotans are to be guests at a reception at the federation building Wednesday night.

This week 200 persons in eight different parties are scheduled to arrive here. One lot of thirty or more will be the first Raymond & Whitcomb party of the season. This big touring company expects to reopen its offices here about December 1.

But the main invasion is expected to sweep down on the gates of the city in December. Spite of chilblains and blizzards, most folk like to spend Thanksgiving at home, therefore the traffic men do not recognize that the winter tourist season is open until a few days after the big turkey festival. But they prepare for it, nevertheless. The Southern Pacific's Sunset Limited is going to be run daily in December; the Santa Fe is going to get its de luxe service to working with an extra train thrown in for good measure. All the roads are already arranging to double-section many trains.

THOUSANDS BY BOAT.

Nor are the steamship companies out of the reckoning. The Congress, the Beaver, the Bear, the Yale, the Harvard, the President, and the boats of the West Coast Steamship Company, have all been carrying full loads from the North lately. They are going to bring more, too, for advance reservations are exceedingly heavy.

"I shouldn't be surprised if the steamship companies alone bring 10,000 from the Northwest," said District Passenger Agent Brittan of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company yesterday.

Neither are these advance predictions made without carefully feeling the pulse of travel intentions on the other side of the continent. District Passenger Agent McGinnis of the Southern Pacific and General Agent Byron of the passenger department of the New York Central lines got back last week from the East. They were emissaries of our traffic world to find out conditions in the East and they found that many thousands are looking longingly to California. They also found ample corroboration of the belief here that all the California literature for the East is not going into the hands of those who are not interested.

Therefore, say the railroad and the steamship men, prepare for a golden shower of prosperity early in December, for money, good money, is coming here to trickle into the tills of the hotel men, the shopkeepers, and also into your pocketbook; what is prosperity to your neighbor is also prosperity for you, for the great god, prosperity, has a habit of touching all impartially with his magic wand.

WINE INDUSTRY CLOSES.

Big Business Crowded Into Last Few Weeks, When Record for Production Is Established.

The sweet wine industry in California has closed and the figures indicate that the wine pressers made good progress in preparing for the Pomerene amendment to the tariff bill, proposing a tax of $1 a gallon on brandy used for fortifying purposes, by rushing work and pressing before the act went into effect. The Pomerene amendment was defeated in the last hours of the tariff debate, but meanwhile the sweet wine makers had hung up a new record for production.

The figures just available at the office of Collector John P. Carter indicate a gain of 397,881.45 gallons over last year for the season ending October 31, 1913. The total production to the close of October, 1913, was 2,076,647.59 gallons; for the corresponding period ending October, 1912, it was [illegible] gallons.

This record is all the more conspicuous when it is known that on account of the unseasonable cool weather, during the maturing season, the grapes did not ripen as well as usual, making necessary the throwing away of thousands of tons of the fruit, unfit for wine-making.

TEST OF PARCEL POST.

Holiday Season Rush Expected to Tax New System to the Utmost—Postmaster Ready.

The Postoffice Department has approved the suggestion of the postmaster that there be an independent depot established in this city for the handling of parcel post packages mailed during the holiday season. The selection of a place has not yet been made, but it will likely be somewhere on South Los Angeles street, close in. All the parcel post sacks will be made up there, as well as collections, and the railway mail service will have the place as a sort of temporary quarters. It is believed that there will be about 200 clerks employed there during the maximum of the holiday trade.

The coming gift season is looked upon by the postmaster as the supreme test of the efficacy and utility of the parcel post system, and every detail will be attended to in order to test it out thoroughly and completely. On account of the holiday rush the eight-hour law will be temporarily laid away in moth balls. This can be done under the regulation of the department without any special order of the Postmaster-General. Of course the employees get extra pay for the additional hours of work.

OUTFIT SEIZED.

An action libeling two horses, a bale of hay, harness and a broken-down wagon, used by Ramon Ruiz in bringing fifteen cans of smoking opium across the line at Campo, was filed in the United States District Court yesterday. The personal property will be sold.

GLENDALE FRANCHISE.

The Southern California Gas Company has asked the State Railroad Commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to exercise franchise rights in Glendale.

William and Mary Furniture

This beautiful Dining Room suite may be seen on our Fourth Floor, where a very extensive and magnificent collection of Living Room and Library furniture is also displayed,—reproductions from designs of the world's greatest designers, including some interesting and exceptional antiques.

The William and Mary, to which this design belongs, is notable for the great change made in the design, material, and construction of furniture, owing to the introduction of foreign ideas by the Dutch craftsmen who were brought over by the King. In this art, English craftsmen were compelled by the fashion to follow on similar lines, but the strong individuality of Sir Christopher Wren, who had already created a beautiful English Renaissance in architecture, developed under the patronage of the King, Queen and Great Nobles,—the essentially English style of Interior Decoration and furniture associated with the period.

It will be noticed that the legs of the sideboard are very similar to those so much attributed to Sheraton, more than half a century later, which shows how the Dutch and English styles blended to form a distinct type of its own and individualized in the hands of the great masters who lived during the latter half of the Eighteenth Century.

The William and Mary style is particularly favored in English homes, both in decoration and furnishing, and we are strongly advocating the style for homes in California.

the Cannon administration, many Republicans studiously remained away from the party caucuses. This was the beginning of the revolt against the Cannon organizations. This is better feeling among House Republicans now than there has been in many years.

It is not to be inferred that the Republicans interested in party rejuvenation are certain that their plans will carry. They have some misgivings, but they are hoping for the best. There is an element of danger in the meeting of the National Committee to be held in Washington next month. If that meeting, which is advertised as a "harmony gathering," should break up in a row, much harm would be done. Not all the leaders are in accord in the view that a special convention should be held next year.

CONFLICTING AMBITIONS.

Conflicting ambitions may interfere with this programme. Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin wants the Republican Presidential nomination in 1916. So does Senator Cummins. Senator Borah likewise has the bee buzzing in his bonnet. Herbert W. Hadley, former Governor of Missouri, began his campaign for the Presidential nomination many months ago. These candidates are all suspicious, notably Mr. LaFollette, who has held himself aloof from the reorganizers. If there happen to be some among the group named, or any others in the party who believe they are in a position to do effective work in garnering southern delegates, the proposal to reduce the South's representation in national conventions is in danger in proportion to the influence of the men concerned.

There is still another element of danger. When the time comes to perfect the plans of reorganization a platform of principles must be adopted. Whether it is possible for mortals to devise a political code that could be jointly signed by LaFollette and Cummins, and their followers, on the one hand, and Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania and Reed Smoot of Utah, and their associates, on the other, is a serious question.

In approaching the task of party reorganization the leaders interested took all the difficulties into consideration and decided to go ahead with their work.

GLIMPSES OF SAN FRANCISCO.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—This is not a dead town by any means, yet an undertaker was elected Supervisor by the highest vote. His kindly offices will be needed for the dead ones who failed to get on the city pay roll. Next to him, but in the rear over 1000 votes, was a valiant man of war, Col. Power by name. The undertaker, whose name is Suhr, thanks the people for allowing him to draw a salary and he promises to liven up things.

The municipal election was a surprise, also a disappointment. Less than 73,000 voted out of a registration of over 140,000. There were ten jobs and the union-labor party won seven. There will be a battle royal between the Conservatives and the Radicals two years hence, when Mayor Rolph opposes Supervisor Andrew J. Gallagher. The result will depend on what is done governmentally. Officials will be on their mettle to the benefit of the governed. Incidentally it is worthy of comment that only five drunks were jailed on Tuesday.

It never rains but it pours. This has nothing to do with the welcome downpour from above, but is a fluid reference to the future big pier into the big ocean. As soon as a company asked leave to erect a million-dollar one, certain men thought the city ought to build it. Now two additional companies are eager for the job. It might be a good plan to have four piers and see which is the best.

A $200,000 company, with Tom Dillon, an extra heavyweight merchant, as a director, will soon operate an airship ferry to Oakland. It ought to be profitable if the big man stays on the earth. The disadvantage of getting to Oakland quickly is offset by the fact that one can get away just as quickly.

Transportation matters are on the move. The airship ferry to Oakland will be supplemented by fast traveling on land and water. The Northern Electric is planning a two-hour timetable to Sacramento. The Great Northern is building two ocean greyhounds to cut four hours off the trip to Portland, and a forty-three-hour voyage from that city to Los Angeles. It makes us giddy to think of the fast coming crowds.

Sam Shortridge, of elongated frame and menacing forefinger, dares F. S. Glass to have him arrested for battery. The alleged offense consisted of burning the Glass nose with a lighted cigar. Oratorical Samuel grows hotly eloquently on the subject. He says that he will prove either an alibi or a lullaby. He affirms and alleges that Mr. Glass ought to have kept his nose away from the business end of a burning rope.

Employed by the city as a janitor, Isaac Baer spent most of his time lending money to other employees at high rates of interest. He is surprised that his superiors are taking steps to censure him. Probably his ability as a financier ought to be rewarded by promotion to the moneyed branches of the city government.

The ladies of the California Club have given their official approval to the Tango dance. By wireless from Oakland it is learned that the members of the Ebell Club do not disapprove of the lively stepping. Hereafter it cannot truthfully be said that Oakland is two-stepping behind us.

Rhys Thomas, who was once a professional tenor singer, but is now earning an honest living by selling paint, has introduced a new cocktail into the Bohemian Club. Others have tried this before, but the highball always managed to hold its own. The new concoction is rum and gum, with a fair sprinkling of lime and grenadine. Its popularity will depend on the extent of Mr. Thomas's inclination to buy.

Welcome is the news that there will be 40,000 carloads of oranges from Southern California this season. It reconciles us to the fact that our cracker people are going into a $20,000,000 syndicate operating from San Diego to Victoria. Lynching will be too good for any paragrapher saying that this will be a crackerjack trust.

In one day a stomach pump operated by muscular doctors in the emergency hospital saved three women from poison taken suicidally. It was efficacious, even if it was somewhat exhaustive.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Board of Public Works yesterday started plans to build a viaduct and bridge over railroad tracks and river at Macy street, connecting with Mission road.

The Harbor Commission's request that structural steel bids on a harbor shed be returned unopened to bidders was complied with, giving steel door makers a chance to enter into competition.

The City Council yesterday amended the liquor ordinance by opening Hill street to saloons without extending the present liquor zone.

A suit in the Superior Court involving the boundary of tideland of great value at Santa Monica calls for a scientific analysis of tides and many musty documents.

The fate of the Fraser "Million-dollar pier" depends on how the court decides a suit which is being tried to define the property rights of the city of Santa Monica and Fraser.

TO SPAN RIVER AND RAILROAD.

VIADUCT AND BRIDGE PLANNED BY CITY ENGINEER.

Grade Changes in Mission Road Paving Improvement Arranged to Conform to Elimination of Grade Crossing at Macy Street—Board of Public Works Approves Suggestion.

A viaduct-bridge over the Santa Fe and Salt Lake tracks and the river at Macy street, as a continuation of the Mission-road improvement, is planned all in one great structure that will not only eliminate grade crossings at the point but will give to that part of the city a permanent structure that will facilitate traffic and add to the popularity of Mission road as a traveled thoroughfare.

The plan to erect the viaduct-bridge near the junction of Macy street and Mission road was suggested yesterday to the Board of Public Works by the City Engineer as a part of his plans on the paving and regrading of the Mission road. The City Engineer says that an overhead crossing of the Santa Fe may be obtained by lowering the tracks seven feet, and lowering the Salt Lake tracks eight feet.

The proposed structure to bridge the river and abolish the grade crossings, says the City Engineer, would cost $120,000. The expense of lowering the levee tracks of the two railroads would be $14,300 and the damages to the adjoining property probably would be $50,000, thus making an improvement that would cost about $204,300.

The chief damage in constructing the viaduct would be to the Agricultural Chemical Works and Stern's winery. The proposed grade to the approaches of the viaduct is about 5 per cent.

In view of the likelihood of the construction of the viaduct-bridge as a part of the improvement, the City Engineer's request for instruction as to grades was referred by the Board of Public Works to the City Council yesterday with recommendation that his own recommendations be approved.

TO RETURN BIDS.

REVAMP BIG SHED PLANS.

Upon the request of the Harbor Commission, the Board of Public Works yesterday decided to return unopened the bids, to have been opened Monday, on the structural steel work for the big 1800-foot shed at the harbor. The action of the commission and the board was taken because of the complaints made that the plans, as drawn, shut out competition among manufacturers of steel doors, agents for steel roller doors making a complaint.

The plans will be revised, and bids will be advertised again on the revised work, and it is expected that the new plans will conform with the idea of letting all compete for steel door contracts. It was said that the original plans so overlapped the doors that it was impossible for steel-door manufacturers to offer bids. The re-advertisement for bids on new plans will retard the construction of the building, but it will demonstrate to the Harbor Commission and to the Board of Public Works which is the more economical plan.

FOR SALOONS.

SOUTH HILL OPENED.

The City Council yesterday amended the liquor ordinance so that the Hotel Clark on Hill street may conduct a bar. The action was taken on recommendation of the special Liquor Committee, and it was explained by Councilman Conwell that the action did not extend the liquor zone, although it opens South Hill street to saloons.

Contract Signed.

The Mayor yesterday signed the contract between the city and three electrical experts, who are now investigating the power problem. They are C. L. Corey, George Hoxie and C. W. Koiner, and in a fortnight they will have completed their work, reporting to the city on investment cost, operating expense and earnings of a municipal distributing system.

Congressman Speaks.

Congressman Stephens was the principal speaker before the City Club at the Union League yesterday, taking for his subject "The Better Trend in Legislation." Paying a compliment to President Wilson, House leaders and several Progressives, Congressman Stephens pointed to the adoption of "progressive" measures as emphasizing his point that there is a growing trend for betterment in legislation. Among other things he advocated monthly, instead of annual payment of taxes, the minimum wage law, and many other so-called reforms.

Money Saved by Making Your Cough Syrup at Home

Takes But a Few Moments, and Stops a Hard Cough in a Hurry.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add ½ pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. It keeps perfectly.

You will find it one of the best cough syrups you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually conquers an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and the taste is pleasant.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This plan for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. The plan has often been imitated but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

FRASER'S PIER'S IN THE BALANCE.

COURT WEIGHING TESTIMONY TO DECIDE SITE RIGHT.

Santa Monica Claims Title to What Is Considered Private Property. "Edge" of Pacific Ocean Must Be Clearly Defined — Barhydt Appraiser Is Merrill.

The suit of the city of Santa Monica against the Fraser Million Dollar Pier Company and A. R. Fraser, individually, now on trial before Judge Works, involves the boundary of a strip of considerable value, covers a research of many years through musty documents, and calls for a scientific analysis of tides.

The property in controversy lies between the center line of Pier avenue on the north, the southern line of Marine street on the south, the boardwalk on the east, and the Pacific Ocean on the west. The strip is one block long, covering the whole of Marine street and half of Pier avenue, with the entire block between from the boardwalk to the ocean.

The questions involved are whether the property line is along the ocean, and whether it is at mean tide or at ordinary high tide. The case involves the settlement of a question of law as to the location of the boundary, and experts will have to be examined as to the location of the various tide lines on the beach.

One of the deeds in the chain of title refers to the western boundary as being the edge of the Pacific Ocean. Another deed refers to it as the shoreline of Santa Monica Bay. There are various claims by both of the parties to the suit to different portions of the land. The claims are made that they have respectively acquired title to different portions through adverse possession as well as through formal conveyance.

Two cases came before the court, one covering the south half of Pier avenue between the ocean and the boardwalk, and the entire width of Marine street between the ocean and the boardwalk. The other involves the stretch of property between Pier avenue and Marine street and between the boardwalk and the ocean. Both cases are being tried on the same evidence.

If Fraser wins, he can proceed with the construction of his pier, work on which was held up by the suit. He claims it is private property. The city claims it belongs to the people.

The legal battery comprises Tanner, Odell, Odell & Taft, for the city of Santa Monica, and Mott & Dillon for other interests; Williams, Goudge & Chandler for Fraser and his company. It is a legal battle of great importance.

MERRILL APPOINTED.

TO APPRAISE ESTATE.

State Controller Chambers's request to the court yesterday to appoint an appraiser for the estate of Theodore W. Barhydt, who died last July leaving property in this State valued approximately at $750,000, resulted in Leonard Merrill being named. The suit is against the widow, Eleanor Barhydt, as administrator, and the heirs and trustees. The State is represented by John W. Carrigan, inheritance tax attorney. Hammack & Hammack are counsel for the administratrix. The trustees are Marsh W. Bailey, W. E. Blake, Theodore W. Barhydt, Jr., and Mrs. Eleanor Barhydt. The hearing before Merrill will start on Tuesday in his offices.

Barhydt, who was a retired capitalist, resided at No. 969 San Pasqual street, Pasadena. Before his death he transferred nearly all of his property to a board of trustees to be held in trust for the heirs and certain institutions.

The heirs include the widow, sisters, nephews and nieces. The Burlington Protestant Hospital Association of Burlington, Iowa, receives a bequest of $10,000. The Woman's Christian Association of Iowa is left $1000.

BROKEN WILL PATCHED.

COURT GRANTS NEW TRIAL.

Mrs. Nettie M. Fowler, who broke the will of her husband, Dr. Edwin Fowler, head of a boys' select school in New York, who gave his $30,000 estate to Mrs. Julia I. Tripp, a friend, must make the contest over again, Judge Houser granting a new trial yesterday. The court found that the evidence did not justify the verdict. Undue influence and insanity were alleged.

Fowler separated from his wife and resided with the Tripps. He sold out his boys' school, dividing the profits between himself and his wife. Mrs. Tripp's husband was a prominent New York lawyer and after his death Mrs. Tripp removed to Los Angeles and Dr. Fowler followed and again resided with the family.

Mrs. Fowler also came to this city and rented a house across the street from Mrs. Tripp, and the evidence in the trial of the suit showed that she kept tab on her husband with the aid of a spy-glass. Dr. Fowler died January 22 last, making Mrs. Tripp his heir and cutting out his wife.

SURELY A WINDFALL.

UNASKED ALIMONY GRANTED.

Sherrill Fechheimer, whose wife had sued him for divorce alleging desertion, received a jolt in Judge Taft's court yesterday. After hearing the wife's story, the court ordered Fechheimer to appear. He told the court he did not intend to live with his wife as he did not love her. They had not been happy he claimed.

"You will never live with her again?" queried the court.

"That's the contention," replied Fechheimer.

"Well, I will grant your wife a decree of divorce and order you to pay $25 a month for her support."

Mrs. Fechheimer had not asked for alimony, but her face lighted up with a smile.

TEN-YEAR SENTENCE.

A DOUBLE SLAYER.

Elijah Franklin Kiser, also known as Frank Kiser, was sentenced to ten years in San Quentin by Judge Willis yesterday. This is the lightest punishment that can be inflicted by a judge when a jury returns a verdict of murder in the second degree.

Earl Rogers, who entered the case following the trial, argued a motion for a new trial and it was denied. He will now appeal to the higher court.

Kiser killed his wife and her lover, Harry Sharpley, at his home on Wall street.

BITTER TOWARD SOCIETY.

Helping Hand Withheld When Really Needed, Philosophizes Judge in Police Court.

Society was condemned yesterday as without the instincts of practical charity by Police Judge White.

He was moved to philosophy by the plight of Miss Anna Bergman, a servant girl who represented herself as entitled to credit in a downtown store and purchased considerable goods, having them charged to a family with which she was acquainted.

"You may expect little help from society," said the court, as he inquired what the girl's plans were. "It is a beautiful illusion that people stretch out their hands to those in distress, but I have never known a person to come into court and say to a woman in trouble: 'I will take you into my home and assist you.'

"When put to that test the goodness of human kind perishes. Many are the slights, young woman, that you will bear for this misconduct. Society is still too crude to protect its own. Perhaps it would be better for you to leave the city. It is a romantic ideal that a person should live down here the stain of the misdeed. I would not advise you to follow such logic."

The girl faced the charge of larceny. It was brought through the Burns's detective agency. The jury suggested leniency. The girl related that the private detectives had unlawfully taken her to their offices at noon and held her there until after 5 o'clock, permitted a photographer to make pictures of her against her will and had otherwise mistreated her.

Judge White, after the lecture, sentenced the girl to sixty days in jail, suspended the sentence and released her in the care of her attorney, John Curtin.

DENIES IDENTITY.

Real Estate Man, Taken on Warrant from New York for Wife-Desertion, Says It's Mistake.

St. Claire von Woerdyke, a real estate man, No. 1014 Colton street, was arrested yesterday on a warrant from St. Johnsville, N. Y., charging bigamy and wife desertion. He pleads mistaken identity. According to the warrant, the man is charged with being Clarence H. Woertendyke, a real estate dealer of Ilion, N. Y.

In February, he was married in Boston to Miss Grace Snooks, and came west with his young bride. They secured a bungalow and the man at once secured work. According to telegrams from the East, his location was learned through some letters, and the warrant was forwarded to the local police. Extradition papers will be secured as quickly as possible.

PRACTICAL SYMPATHY.

Girl, Arrested for Larceny, Creates Interest by Her Tearful Story and Gets Cash Instead of Sentence.

Mrs. Maggie Dawson, who spent her last nickel for cream puffs, Friday, and then stole a waist that she might dress suitably to get a job, was released in Police Court yesterday. Her release carried the biggest feature that a criminal in Police Court has received for many months. She got a dollar.

Police Judge White made the donation. When the woman told tearfully of her poverty, and the Nick Harris detectives on the case confirmed her confession, the police judge told her to wait until Monday, and then see if she couldn't get work. And he gave her a dollar that she might eat over Sunday.

ONLY ONE TRAIN DAILY.

Southern Pacific Curtails Its Service Because of Strike on Eastern Division.

Beginning yesterday and effective until the strike on the Atlantic system of the Southern Pacific is over, the through passenger service of that road between New Orleans and this city and San Francisco will be restricted to one train a day in either direction. This announcement was made here Friday night by President Sproule of the Southern Pacific on receipt of information from President Scott of the roads composing the Atlantic system that it will be impossible to handle more than one through train daily.

As a result, the Sunset Limited trains are indefinitely annulled. Service will be via the Sunset Express trains Nos. 9 and 10. In order to give the best service possible, the eastbound train will temporarily leave here at 3:30 p.m., instead of 3 p.m. The train from New Orleans will continue to arrive here at noon, as at present.

The crippled service in nowise effects the local service of the Southern Pacific to El Paso, nor the service which the Southern Pacific maintains east in conection with the Rock Island and its Golden State Limited trains.

JEALOUSY.

We see that a San Francisco lady disagrees with Anna Held's ideas of beauty. This is probably due to the fact that she is not Anna Held.

READY FOR HIM.

A Pasadena man celebrated the eighty-sixth anniversary of his birth by walking to the summit of Mt. Wilson. He will do this about ten years more and then he will get his name in the papers about never having used anything but olive oil and grape juice.

THE ONE DRAWBACK.

We don't mind the rain. We like it and we share the country's joy in its gracious downpour and attendant blessings. No, the only resentment we feel is against the volume of bad verse which our poets seem compelled to let loose. The deluge of rain poetry gives us chills and fever, even in this incomparable climate.

A BAD ACTOR.

The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association has passed resolutions requesting Supervisor Norton to vote in harmony with other members of the Board on highway business. Los Angeles county has affairs of too much importance to permit them to be blocked by a dog in the manger. The taxpayers have a right to express themselves when an official misrepresents them in this manner.

A POSSIBILITY.

A rancher is experimenting with overhead irrigation for oranges. This would enable him to bring about a gradual thaw in case of frost and would have the breaking effect on the earth that rain has, thus preventing the ground from baking. This latter provision would be of especial value in cases of adobe. Many growers whose fruit was frozen last year were able to sell a two-thirds crop at a fancy price because the drizzling rains which followed the frost for two or three days saved much of the fruit.

KEEP THEM UP.

The advice of William Garland to the Real Estate Board as to keeping up county roads is the best in the world for this county at the present time. Our people have spent $3,600,000 to give Los Angeles and suburbs the finest roads in America. It would be folly indeed not to keep such a system in constant repair. The only way that the standard of roads can be maintained is to mend them as rapidly as they fail. England does this, and for 100 years has kept all of its roads as good as new. The initial expense then need never be repeated at any one time.

A GREAT SOUL.

In George Beban's playlet, "At the Sign of the Rose," the Italian laborer meets the man who has driven a machine over his only little daughter and killed her. When he is offered financial satisfaction he refuses to touch the money, but makes the one request that in the future this automobile owner, when he passes the children of the poor playing in the street, shall be a little careful. If all people only met life in that way this would become a tender, considerate and beautiful world. If all men who lose what is dearer than life to them could turn aside from bitterness and stifle pain so that their only thought would be to save pain to others this world would become as a Paradise.

DEVELOPING LIARS.

Is a divorced husband who pays his former wife by order of court $10,000 per annum alimony entitled to be relieved from the income tax to that amount as a necessary expense?

Must the lady pay tax on her alimony as income? If she pays taxes on it as income and the government refuses to allow him exemption from taxation on it, is not that $10,000 taxed twice?

But if he is allowed to deduct it from his income and she is not taxed on it as her income is that $10,000 taxed at all?

Whatever else the income tax law may do or fail to do it is going to develop a large number of liars.

WHEN WILL IT BE?

In advocating universal peace, Mr. Langdon Davies, the bright lecturer who has just visited Los Angeles, used one argument that is sound on the face of it. If every nation is building huge armaments and spending enormous sums of the public money simply for defensive purposes—as they all claim—and no nation has any intention of attacking its neighbors, then of what use is all this expensive defense preparation?

The truth is that no nation feels absolutely certain that every other nation is armed only for defensive purposes. When this conviction has been driven home, the era of disarmament will be brought about. This is the desired goal toward which peace lecturers should direct their efforts. And in the end perhaps it will be the perfection of the aeroplane and the dirigible as instruments of destruction, too hideous to contemplate, that will finally bring about the Utopia of universal peace.

Ex-President Taft says that Japan has kept faith with this country and that the unjust acts of thoughtless people in California and elsewhere ought to be restrained. In his view this nation cannot afford to deal unjustly with the Japanese. And the opinion is that of a man who knows what he is talking about.

DANGER ON THE BORDER.

It is to be feared that we may reap some of the fruits of President Wilson's obstinate, egotistical determination to make his own crude and unwarranted opinion of what international law ought to be the rule of action in dealing with Mexico, instead of conforming to the uniform usages of nations in dealing with each other.

Mr. Wilson is misinformed both as to Mexican purposes and the Mexican character and he will not accept either information or counsel from any source whatever.

It has been the general belief that Villa was conducting a rebellion, or rather a predatory campaign of his own without co-operation with any other leader. It turns out now that he recognizes Carranza as his chief. The feint of Villa on Chihuahua, followed by his rapid movement upon and capture of Juarez, was a strategic movement that exhibited a high order of military genius. The rich city of El Paso, with its millions of money and personal property, is today practically at the mercy of Villa, and he could loot it and return and intrench his army on Mexican soil before the United States could bring there a force adequate to cope with him.

Carranza is similarly situated with respect to Nogales, Calexico, El Centro, and Yuma; and San Diego, Douglas and Tucson are not free from danger.

That we could place in the field in a short time a force that would protect these towns, drive out the invaders and carry the war into Mexico, may be conceded. But in the meantime the mischief would be done; border cities and towns would be looted and left masses of ruins, rapine would have done its horrible work, and the invaders with their plunder would have retired and scattered into mountain fastnesses, where it would be difficult to reach them, and from which it would be impossible to dislodge them.

It is said that there is "hope of an amicable adjustment of the differences between Huerta and Carranza." It would more accurately describe the situation to say that there is fear of an amicable adjustment on the basis of a combination of their forces for an attack upon the United States border.

Mexico is torn, distracted, poverty-stricken and ruined. Her people are desperate and despairing. Some of them can be cohered by a prospect of the rich plunder to be obtained by a combined raid upon our border cities. There are indications that such a coherence is at hand. Carranza is a statesman as well as a soldier. He is fighting to secure the deposition of Huerta from power, but he means to secure that deposition without invoking or accepting the aid of the United States. Huerta hates and has cause to hate this nation bitterly. He would infinitely prefer to go so far as to elevate even Carranza to his place, rather than step down and out a humiliated man at the command of President Wilson.

Suppose that Huerta should declare war against the United States, give O'Shaughnessy and Lind their passports, turn the guns of San Juan de Ulua upon our ships at Vera Cruz, and then abdicate in favor of a provisional President named by or acceptable to Carranza? Does anybody familiar with the Mexican character fail to suppose that Carranza would or could precipitate his forces against ours? Is it conceivable that he would or could do anything except to co-operate with the nationals in a campaign against the "gringoes?"

At this crisis of affairs we need, Great God! how we need, a brave, strong, clear-headed man in the Presidential chair instead of an idealist pedagogue, mincing his moral platitudes, unconscious and uncaring of what may happen to his country, or his countrymen, so long as he has his own way!

BENEFITING FOREIGNERS.

The most extensive deep-sea fisheries in this hemisphere are off the coast of Newfoundland and Canada. The market for the catch of Canadian fishermen has been for fresh fish among the urban population of Canada east of Montreal, and for salt or canned fish in South America and Southern Europe. Dealers in those countries kept a vigilant eye on the extent of the catch, and invariably reduced their buying price when they learned that it was excessive.

The new tariff, permitting free entry into the United States of cod and other valuable fish, will enable the Canadian fishermen to hold up prices in the South American and South European markets, and to increase prices of fish sold in their local market and in the United States. The consumers of fish in the United States will not gain the slightest advantage from the new tariff. The Canadian fishermen will gain and the United States treasury will lose.

Years ago the eastern provinces of Canada had a very large trade in lumber and in lime with the United States. By the Dingley tariff duties were inflicted that reduced the importation of these articles, and Maine gained what the province of Quebec lost. Lumber under the new tariff is now on the free list and the duty on lime has been reduced so as to enable the Canadians to sell in the American markets.

One of the greatest indirect beneficiaries of the new tariff will be the Intercolonial Railroad "because it supplies," as stated by the New York Commercial, "transportation facilities for lumber, fish, hay, grain, cattle and other farm products to Canadians in the province of Quebec and the maritime provinces. The urban population of Canada east of Montreal is comparatively small and the fishermen and farmers are therefore forced to seek foreign markets for what they produce. Now that the great cities of our Atlantic seaboard are open to them on favorable terms an era of prosperity is likely to come which will make the eastern part of Canada as flourishing as are the western provinces today."

As time passes it becomes more and more apparent that the promise of a reduction in the cost of living, which President Wilson promised would be the result of his tariff, will not be fulfilled. The reduction in the tariff on citrus fruit, which will deprive the Federal Treasury of many millions and reduce the profits of the citrus orchardists of California to a very narrow margin, will go to the Sicilian planters and the Italian fruit importers in New York. The placing of sugar on the free list has not thus far, as housewives will testify, reduced the retail price of sugar, and it is safe to predict that it never will. The $60,000,000 of annual revenue which the United States will lose three years hence by free sugar (unless in the meantime the Republicans and Progressives get together and turn Democratic Congressmen and Senators neck and crop out of office) will not benefit consumers. It will be divided between the American Sugar Refineries Company and the New York holders of Cuban plantations. The builders of homes will not buy lumber any cheaper, except temporarily, for as soon as American sawmills are dismantled or removed over the British Columbia line, the price of imported lumber will be advanced, and its makers will pocket the profits while Uncle Sam pockets the losses.

"It needs no ghost come from the dead" to demonstrate that a lower tariff will not lower the cost of living. A lower tariff lessens and discourages production at home. Lessened home production makes necessary greater foreign importation. Greater demand for foreign goods increases their price. When American cotton, and woolen, and leather manufactories are closed, or running on half time, or paying reduced wages to their operatives, the people will pay as much as ever for their shirts, and gowns, and coats, and shoes, the government will lose many millions of revenue, American workers will lose many millions of wages, and European workers and European factory lords will divide what Americans will lose.

CHURCH AND STAGE.

One of the most hopeful signs of a general moral awakening can be found in the popular sermons preached nowadays compared with the dogmatic discourses dished up for the last generation. The general church attendance has increased accordingly. On the stage, also, the increased demand for instructive plays proves how strong is the present interest taken by all sorts and conditions of men in the search for higher moral standards.

The action and reaction between the church, the stage and the general public is the barometer to mark the spiritual and moral advance of a community. As the world becomes more practical, the appeal of religion is made from a more practical pulpit. At the same time as Sunday sermons have become more generally listened to, workaday life has been to that extent more spiritualized. By an extension of this happy process, business and religion will in time be brought to a common standard of mutual efficiency.

Ten or twelve years ago theater-goers would have felt aggrieved at the staging of a purely moral lesson in the shape of a drama. "Well," they would have remarked, "this is very clever, but it isn't a play. We come to the theater to be amused; we can go to a church to be preached to." Today the church and the stage are finding out that they may both be instruments for the same gospel.

No motion-picture show is complete without some morally instructive films, and the combination works admirably. The province of the church is to instruct and to elevate, and it uses amusement as a means. It must not overlook the social side. The purpose of a play is to amuse, and more than ever it is doing so by catering to the increased desire for light on moral and ethical subjects.

In all this readjustment of social relations, in the substitution of live topics for ancient dogmas as a text for modern sermons, in the efforts of the stage to instruct as well as to amuse, the influence of women is plainly discernible. Had women remained quiescent and acquiescent, certain great modern plays would have never been written. Because this is the age of woman's dominance vigorous popular preachers are taking up modern problems instead of dry-as-dust dogmas.

For many centuries the viewpoint of orthodox churches was strongly masculine. Today all this has been changed. One instance illustrates the absurdity of applying to modern marriages the doctrine preached by Paul the Apostle to the wives of ancient Ephesus under entirely different social conditions.

A local preacher once took for his text the words from the Epistle to the Ephesians: "As the church is subject unto Christ, so let wives be subject to their own husbands in everything." Some weeks afterward he hesitatingly rebuked a bright young married woman, one of his most staunch supporters, for not having attended service for three consecutive Sundays. Whereupon with a twinkle in her eye, she remarked: "Well, you said that wives should be subject to their husbands in everything. My husband likes to go fishing to Redondo Beach on Sundays and prefers me to go along with him. And you know you told me to 'be subject to my husband in everything.' I have had to spend the last three Sundays on Wharf No. 3."

Luckily for the advancement of our people, the preachers who preach the total submission of wives to their husbands, and the playgoers who object to being instructed as well as amused, are becoming few and far between.

DEFEAT OF THE CLOSED SHOP.

The United States District Court in New York has decided that the joint action of unions of carpenters and joiners in refusing to work with certain materials for the interior of buildings manufactured by a concern that employs non-union labor, constitutes unlawful combination or conspiracy in restraint of trade. The court made permanent a temporary injunction previously granted. The purpose of this combination was to force a particular concern in Massachusetts, manufacturing interior woodwork and "trim," to adopt the closed-shop principle and employ none but union workmen. The method of working against the concern was to list it as "unfair" and to induce contractors not to use its material, threatening strikes wherever it was used.

"The company which maintained the 'open shop' and suffered from this boycott," says the Journal of Commerce editorially, "brought the suit with the backing and financial support of the anti-boycott association. It has won the suit and obtained a permanent injunction, but it remains to be seen what the practical result will be. The injunction applies only to acts of the conspiracy, and there may be punishment for violating the order. There may be no strike orders, but carpenters cannot be compelled to work for employers who use the taboo material, and some contractors agree not to use it in order to save themselves from trouble with the unions. Thereby the manufacturers suffer injury for which they have no redress. There is no penalty for refusing to handle certain materials for whatever reason."

The logical effect of a complete triumph of labor unionism would be to establish a despotism of Gompers and his coadjutors more drastic than any ever exercised by the Czar of Russia. The mason will not lay a brick unless the mortar was made from lime burned in a union kiln, and the brick molded in a union brick yard. The brick yard hand will not fashion a brick unless the mold was made by a union carpenter with lumber sawed in a union sawmill, and nails made in a union nail factory, driven by a hammer fashioned in a union steel mill, and neither mason nor carpenter nor painter nor plasterer will do a day's work on a skyscraper unless its cellar was excavated by union diggers and every part of the material used in its construction from foundation stone to roof was made and put in place by union labor.

It would extend the operations of union laborism but a little further if a shoe shop were boycotted as unfair because although the shoes were made in a union factory, and hauled to their destination by a union teamster, yet the leather of which they were constructed was tanned in a non-union yard.

The Journal of Commerce truthfully says:

> "Organizations of capital cannot exist and exert the power of union without obtaining charters and assuming certain obligations, responsibilities and restraints, and being subject to penalties for violation of the terms of their charter. It is becoming a serious question whether labor organizations shall not be required to submit to such regulation and control as is necessary to safeguard the rights of others. Unless they are willing to do so, employers will find it necessary to make common cause for their own protection and refuse to be consenting parties to iniquitous practices of labor unions. If there should be as strong an affiliation of associations of employers as of unions of labor, they would be able to vindicate their right to the 'open shop' whenever they preferred it."

Foreigners for Husbands.

[Philadelphia Enquirer:] A young American singer who returns to this country after a successful career abroad, expecting to reap here high honors and much money, announces that she is a candidate for matrimony, but only American men need apply. Her verdict is that the Russian husband is cruel, the German selfish, the Frenchman untrue, the Italian "broke," the Spaniard jealous and lazy, and the Englishman domineering. These generalizations are undoubtedly too strong. There are as good husbands in each of the countries as anywhere, but the foreigner who deliberately hunts the American girl is apt to be an adventurer, and we hear of all the bad cases. We do not hear of the thousands of American women happily married and living in every country of Europe.

THE WINDING SHEET.

By T. Howard Wilson.

At best our little life is but a span
Hung 'twixt the shadows of two voiceless seas;
A puny gift of joy from man to man,
A dash of flame on some swift passing breeze;
And yet, ay me! O lady somber-hued,
With great brown eyes of luring coquetry,
You give your jeweled lives to senseless feud
And crown damned' war with tinseled majesty!

Torn by dissensions in your useless brawl,
Your fertile fields turned red to glut the maw
Of jesting Hate who scorns the noble call
That reason brings, to clamp the ass's JAW.
O Mexico, fair sister of the south,
What worth to you the bloated corpse that lies
With blood-stained curses wreathed about his mouth
While near and near the wheeling vulture flies?

The soft-voiced music from your halls has fled;
No ardent lover thrums his serenade;
But brother looks upon his brother dead
And lauds the havoc of his dripping blade.
Are there no deeds heroic to achieve
In building stairways up to lunar spheres,
No Eldorado castles you may leave,
No homely joys, no dreams for lonely seers?

Your mead is pain that shudders at the heart,
The vaunted boast on lips that passion stills,
The glaring monstrance of a fiendish art
That shapes a pharos gleam of hope—but kills.
And when your whirlwind fire has died away
Like sobbing soul-cries under winter eaves,
The cold, bleak ghosts of all your dead will stay
And sigh as shivers moan through aspen leaves.

YOU squander wealth on hellish sacraments
Where whistling bullets sing the last sad rites
Of youths who lose their lives in false defense
Of famished days and bitter, hopeless nights.
The weeks have grown to months, the months to years,
The ashes of your dead fall round your feet
Like leprous leaves in wilds of boding fears,
While haggard Strife weaves on its winding sheet.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

No wonder that Sir Walter Raleigh was filled with grief and melanchaleigh, as he sat in his cell; his country owed him for her glory, as you will know who read his story—he served her passing well. And yet his vain, besotted ruler took Walt and chucked him in the cooler, and fed him stale rye bread; James said he was a Meddling Matty, and kept him there till nearly batty, and then cut off his head. And who can think of old Jack Bunyan as he sat eating bread and onion, or paced the prison yard, without desiring, teeth a-grittin', to take a poke at heartless Britain, for scourging sage and bard? And Britain still is quite a dinger at persecuting sage and singer, as Harry Kemp avows; he traveled there for local color, and Britain, stupider and duller than any law allows, remarked: "For bards we have no uses, but we have divers calabooses, and heaps of stone to break." Then she removed the poet's sweater and fixed him with a rusty fetter and chained him to a stake. Oh, Britain, dour and stony-hearted, through all the years your bards have smarted beneath your iron fist; but when you cast your tyrant glances upon a hatless pote from Kansas, it's time for war, I wist!

THE POLITICAL WATCHTOWER

It isn't going to require extraordinary energy to push Gov. Johnson up against that Progressive fetich—the recall; and what is really more to the point is that Hiram is aware of it. The public is becoming [illegible] acquainted with the fact that [illegible] hasn't been any pressing of the [illegible] inaugurated some months ago [illegible] Secretary of State Jordan, [illegible] that Jordan is clamoring for the [illegible] of activities. Jordan intends [illegible] show plainly and effectively not [illegible] the falsity of the charges against [illegible] and the conduct of his office, but [illegible] the haphazard, extravagant and [illegible] manipulations that have [illegible] characteristic of so-called "progressive rule" in California. And [illegible] close to Secretary Jordan inform [illegible] that he is determined that the [illegible] shall go to the finish; that Gov. [illegible] must make good on the [illegible] that he is alleged to have in[illegible] against the Secretary of [illegible], or else face the invocation of [illegible] recall.

[illegible] is said to be frankly ad[illegible] to those sharing his confi[illegible] that he is beginning to believe [illegible] people of California do not ac[illegible] his cross-country trips, wasting [illegible] and months of the time that [illegible] are paying him for discharging [illegible] gubernatorial duties. [illegible] the implacable and case-hardened Al McCabe, his private secretary, has had the nerve to tell Hiram [illegible] he is bending a good thing to al[illegible] the breaking point. "Things [illegible] so easy as they wuz," is the way [illegible] sizes up the situation to his [illegible]; and the Governor is alleged to [illegible] entirely too shrewd a politician [illegible] to realize that there is even such [illegible] thing as too much self-esteem. A [illegible] of mine at the State Capitol [illegible] that Johnson is almost furious [illegible] the Senatorial situation, because [illegible] the imbecility of Chet Rowell in [illegible] letters to the wrong person, [illegible] Heney going about endeavoring [illegible] naturally so that the people [illegible] realize just what he really [illegible]. It may mean the ulti[illegible] elimination of both Heney and [illegible] from the race, for both men [illegible] reported to have disgusted the [illegible] Moose bosses by their asininity [illegible] the early stages of the campaign. [illegible] are murmurings that Marshall [illegible] would be much more accept[illegible] to the rank and file of the Pro[illegible] than either Heney or Row[illegible].

[illegible] the news that Sam Shortridge isn't so sure that he will enter [illegible] race for United States Senator, [illegible] may conclude to run for Con[illegible] in the Fifth District against [illegible] political accident, John I. Nolan, [illegible] agitator, who was elected last [illegible]. Shortridge is said to regard the [illegible] to Congress so much easier [illegible] as to make it appeal to him, [illegible] frankly he would prefer the [illegible]. So would Congressman [illegible] Knowland, however, and this fact [illegible] make a difference with the [illegible] programme.

[illegible] the Bourbons the Senator[illegible] will be sought by James D. Phe[illegible] of San Francisco, and ex-Assem[illegible] Thomas F. Griffin of Modesto, [illegible] already announced. Congressman [illegible] Baker would like very much to [illegible] Perkins's toga if there is a [illegible]; and there is no question that [illegible] Baker sees any hope of winning he [illegible] enter the race. In such event, the [illegible] will be clear out between Phelan [illegible] Baker, with the chances in such [illegible] three-cornered fight favoring Grif[illegible]. If Baker makes the race it may [illegible] counted upon as a certainty that [illegible] A. Bell will take the stump [illegible] Phelan; and if he does Phe[illegible] will hear more about himself than [illegible] will likely relish. Already many [illegible] Democrats are taking occa[illegible] to contradict the carefully-cir[illegible] report that President Wilson [illegible] the national administration are [illegible] Phelan's candidacy. These re[illegible] can be set down as fictitious. I [illegible] that there is just about as much [illegible] in these reports as there was in [illegible] that Phelan had declined the [illegible] ambassadorship to Austria, whereas, [illegible] he lost out when some [illegible] of his Irish friends in San Francisco [illegible] upon President Wilson's [illegible] Tumulty to present Secretary [illegible] with a bunch of protests.

[illegible] is some fire-eater, I am told. [illegible] is for every recall, referendum, [illegible] or what it may be [illegible] the howlers demand. He doesn't [illegible] what it is as long as it is "agin" [illegible]. As a labor agitator and a [illegible] of the "rights of th' peepul" [illegible] Thomas is in the front rank [illegible] the loudest and longest. He [illegible] a large quantity of mazuma, and [illegible] willing to pay the fiddler when[illegible] he does any dancing.

[illegible] satisfied with proving to their [illegible] satisfaction at least that Tim [illegible] couldn't talk about them be[illegible] their respective backs or in front [illegible] their respected faces without their [illegible] all about it and then some, [illegible] Democratic Committee of Thirty-[illegible] has been proceeding to help Tim [illegible] his accusation against them, [illegible], to wit, that most of them [illegible] know enough about the polit[illegible] situation in California to save [illegible] from doing exactly what [illegible] Hearst wishes them to do. Spel[illegible] friends declare that the trou[illegible] with the Cotton Executive Commit[illegible] is that, while the members in[illegible] are probably opposed to the [illegible] influence in the Democratic [illegible], they are so new and young in [illegible] that they fall for the Hearst [illegible] before they are aware of it, [illegible] they ever do awaken. The [illegible] regard the Cotton Com[illegible] as a bunch of kindergarteners [illegible] mean well but are being misled [illegible] by real wily politicians. [illegible] this characterization is de[illegible] as untrue and uncalled for [illegible] ladies and gentlemen compos[illegible] the committee, but it must be ad[illegible] that the Spellacy people con[illegible] to iterate and reiterate and per[illegible] in repeating charges along this [illegible] and to a disinterested observer [illegible] somewhat as if the Spellacy [illegible] had the best end of the argu[illegible].

[illegible] Handley might have forever [illegible] notice in this column if it [illegible] for the fact that there is a [illegible] on foot to put him in bad [illegible] Mayor Rose on the ground of his [illegible] pernicious political activity. [illegible] the Democratic organ[illegible] disgruntled at him, [illegible] of business men have [illegible] the advisability of [illegible] complaint with the Mayor on [illegible] same grounds. Handley is [illegible] and he has been listening [illegible] gubernatorial bee, or some[illegible] was buzzing so that he [illegible] it was about the Governor[illegible] and he even had the glad tid[illegible] sent to San Francisco in the [illegible] he would find encourage[illegible]. [illegible] he had an itinerant ambassador in the form of a Redlands mouthpiece visit Tom Fox, the big boss of San Francisco, in the hope of giving him a lift. But the buzzing in Handley's ear may prove to be more of an earache than a political preferment if his aroused enemies can put through their fight against him. Handley and Tom Fox would make a good team, provided Fox did the driving.

The appointment of Clark McLain as postmaster in Pasadena means the triumph of Walter Simons as the rejuvenated Bourbon boss of the Crown City. He had as his able lieutenant Doc Balaby, who rendered yeoman service to the cause. McLain secured the indorsement of every member of the Pasadena County Committee, and his supporters declare that the fight that was made upon him was not warranted. McLain professes to be an ardent Wilson supporter, although he has been found in bad political company in Pasadena. Delay in his appointment may be attributed to the indorsement of Congressman Charlie Bell, who has been getting his Democratic advice from Boss Simons, probably in return for the railroad ties and ducks that Walter sent through the streets to help Bell become a Democratic State Senator so that he might seek admittance to the Republican caucus. Oh, well, "reform" politics makes queer bedfellows.

Soon we are to be favored with an official visit from Signor Tony Caminetti, Commissioner-General of Immigration, thanks to his political pull and the ignorance of the Washington officials. The signor has been strutting high, hitting only the high places in official walks of life, since the report got out that he was the high cockalorum in the distribution of postoffice plums in California. It may be that Postmaster-General Burleson has empowered Cam with this important task, for Burleson hasn't been demonstrating a very high degree of judgment in his selection of California postmasters. But I have it that it will be a wise Caminetti that enjoys itself as much as possible, for one A. Caminetti isn't making much of a hit with high administration officials, no matter what dreams the said A. Caminetti and his henchman in this vicinity may be enjoying to the contrary.

John Clancy wants to be Registrar of the Land Office. Clancy makes about the fifteenth or fiftieth applicant for this important office. A Statue for Mulholland.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] William Mulholland says: "I have done nothing more than my duty. I have tried to live up to the trust and reliance placed in me." (His words are well worth framing as a motto to hang in every home.)

It is a proverb that "If any man's work abide, which he hath built, thereupon he shall receive a reward."

One of the greatest projects known to history has been accomplished. We have witnessed the rushing of the mighty waters that are to flow on and on through the ages for the benefit of all living creatures. Do we truly realize the magnitude and greatness of this wonderful work of men, bringing forth the melted snows from the eternal mountains of our majestic Sierras down to our blossoming valleys below—and all through the master mind of William Mulholland?

He feels repaid, no doubt, by the generous appreciation of his fellows. But it still remains that through his untiring efforts he has fought the fight and kept the faith, brought forth abundance of waters which is to end in a glorious and magnificent fountain where it is right and proper that there should be none the world over to equal it in grandeur and beauty.

Why should we wait, as so many countries and communities do, until Engineer Mulholland is dead before we erect some signal memorial of our appreciation? Let the people show their untold [illegible]ciation by placing a br[illegible] that greate[illegible] engi[illegible] in so that every [illegible] child may know [illegible] brave, honest leader of the [illegible] of faithful men who brought the mountain waters to Los Angeles has not gone unhonored. His statue will sometime be erected. Why wait?

Hotch-Potch Laws.

WHITTIER, Nov. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] "Hotch-potch of contradictions and inconsistencies, properly describes the laws of the State of California. In Ohio if a client asked you the law you could with little hesitation inform him. If he asked the probabilities of his winning a suit you could with some certainty tell him. The California Legislature has been composed of lawyers and laymen from every State and Territory in the Union and each has endeavored, as far as possible, to enact the laws of his native State into the statutes of California. The courts have been made up of attorneys from every State and each has been trained in the practice of his own State and this has tinctured his decisions, so that we have, if I can judge, a mass of law that needs to be all gone over and made consistent. One court overrules another. When a court of equal jurisdiction in the same county decides the law to be so and so, and the case is transferred to another department, that court is likely to reverse the other and if you get transferred often enough, you can remain in court indefinitely. Let us have the laws codified by experts in each branch of the law, clean up the rubbish of endless and contradictory decisions and make it so that when asked the law we can with some degree of certainty inform a client what the law is. Let there be a consistency and harmony running through the whole and not this mass of uncertainty.

The Elastic Dollar.

PACIFIC GROVE, Nov. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Did you ever try to stretch a dollar? How much stretch was there to it? When you tried it over the bargain counter, did it fly back by virtue of its elasticity, and hit you in the feelings when you found yourself fooled over your fancied bargain.

When you tried to stretch it by loaning it out to get back 3 per cent. more at the end of the year from the U.S.A., did you ever find it came back worth only 97 cents because of its decreased purchasing power? What sort of a dollar is "elastic" anyhow?

I went to hear a discussion at a San Francisco club dinner last week. The University of California professor asserted that gold was the only "good money," all else was more or less "bad." Gold was "elastic!" "Elastic in the highest degree!" The Stanford professor thought "gold" was not "elastic" just a little bit. A leading real live banker, a top-notcher from London, avowed that so much erudition put him out of his depth; but applauded the system in vogue in Britain of raising the rate of discount when the supply of gold was running low.

Of course the farmer was made a scapegoat. His demand for money for "moving the crops" was dwelt upon as one prime need for an "elastic" currency. Should not this obliquity attach to the buyer who requires cash to pay the farmer for the crops he wants to move out of the farmer's hands. And is not the farmer as a rule quite willing to accept a certified check on a solvent bank in payment for moving any quantity of crops? Does the farmer demand that actual gold coin be brought to his house to pay for his produce? For one such hard gold payment are there not a hundred payments by bank check or draft? Anybody who has a current credit at his banker's can draw a check which serves temporarily as currency. Then why is not the bank check more "elastic" than gold?

An "elastic" note currency has been proposed, secured by what is called "commercial paper"—bills or promissory notes—in place of the present national bank notes, secured by government bonds. This would virtually bring back the old unsatisfactory system of bank notes, eternally fluctuating in value, whereas the present notes are always redeemable at par. A much more secure basis for currency than merchant's paper would be warehouse receipts, and even these the frauds of the Eppingers recently showed could be tampered with. The fact is no banking system or currency (governmental promises to pay) system can stand against a universal panic. The essence of banking is that the bulk of funds banked must be loaned to persons competent to use them reproductively and pay interest therefor. In a moment of panic these funds cannot be rushed back into the bank's tills or government's vaults. Faith in our institutions is the prime foundation for an "elastic" currency, and this is perhaps best maintained by doing as little tinkering or monkeying with the currency as is possible.

One of the old troubles with last century's bank-note issues was they were entirely too "elastic." One had to consult the "Bank Note Register" to know if his dollar was worth five cents or a hundred. Heaven forefend more of such "elasticity!"

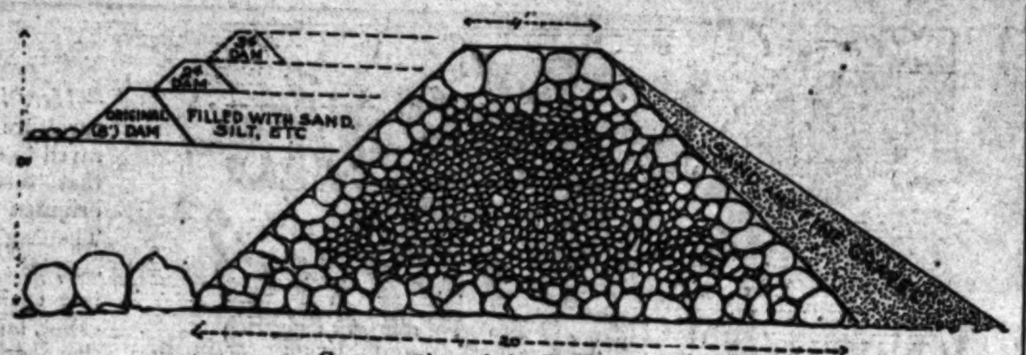
EARTH HARNESS FOR THE FLOOD.

Engineer Submits New Plans for San Gabriel Work.

Great Dam Across Wash to Spread, Absorb Water.

Would Cut Cost to Fortieth of Total, He Says.



Cross section of the Pedley dam,

Which the engineer suggests as an effective method of dealing with the flood problem of the San Gabriel River. Absorption of the flood waters through spreading them over a large territory by a dam across the wash 1200 feet in length is the essential feature of the scheme.

That the proposed expenditure of $2,000,000 by the government and Los Angeles county for diverting and impounding the flood waters of the San Gabriel can be reduced to an expense of approximately $50,000 is the contention of W. E. Pedley, C. E., who has prepared plans for the consideration of engineers in charge of the big project. During his sojourn in Southern California, Pedley has given considerable time and attention to the problem of flood waters of mountain streams and has evolved a plan which, in addition to the great saving, he believes will conserve the water, save thousands of dollars for dredging the silt from the harbor each year and will make fertile the present valueless wash lands.

"The proposed government and county plan of levees, excavating channels and other improvements is by no means a safe or final settlement of this difficult question," he said yesterday in discussing the different aspects of the problem. "There is no safety in the levee plan because the waters will eat through, overflow or break them, causing enormous damage to adjacent lands. Nor is their finality in the channels, because these will silt up and require continual dredging. Moreover, wherever the point of discharge into the sea occurs, the sand and silt deposit will have to be dredged, causing a continual, heavy expense.

INTO THE EARTH.

"Far better than following this plan would be absorption of the flood waters into the debris cone and wash of the river, thus making it available for the pumping plants of the valley and saving at least 2000 miners' inches of water, at a conservative estimate, for use in irrigating purposes.

"There is plenty of land for use in this absorption process, the actual wash of the San Gabriel covering more than 5000 acres, and there are that many more adjoining acres covered with nothing more than cactus, sage, sumach and other brush, uncultivated and uninhabited, mostly cut up by old river channels and filled with boulders. Kingsbury Sanborn, consulting engineer, found that one acre of wash at San Jacinto by actual measurement would continuously absorb a stream of five second-feet of water.

"According to the United States geological survey, the highest flood water for the San Gabriel on one day during the past twenty years has been 12,500 second-feet, which could have been absorbed by 2500 acres. The higest mean flow for one month was 2160 second-feet in March, 1906, and had this flow been evenly distributed, it could have been taken up by 432 acres.

"The spread and absorption should take place at an elevation of about 700 feet above sea, the water being then of much greater benefit than if allowed to percolate at 200 feet because water is much scarcer and more valuable at the higher elevation. The works designed to make effective such a plan should also retain a bulk of the sand and mud within a mile or two of where the river debouches from the hills, thus depositing new and valuable land over the boulders and gravel and making it as productive as the delta lands of the Nile, or closer home, of the Stockton and Sacramento rivers.

DAM ACROSS WASH.

"In order to accomplish all of these things, it would be necessary to construct a dam across the bed of the wash, one about eight feet in height and 1200 feet in length, which will back up the water about 600 feet and form a fair settling pool. A medium-sized flood would pour over this about six inches deep and 1200 feet wide, receiving equal distribution all over the wash instead of through a rushing torrent in a ten-foot channel.

"The cost of such a dam can be made very low. There are plenty of boulders exceeding eight inches in diameter right at hand. Secure heavy, galvanized wire netting, such as is used in the reinforcement of concrete floors, costing about 2 cents a square foot. Lay this wire on the bed of the wash and then pile on the boulders, the heavy ones forming the exterior layers and the interior being filled with small stones. When this has reached the desired height bring the wire over the sides, tightly lacing this, so that the whole forms a long net bag. Against the water face of the dam shovel light gravel and sand in order to prevent serious leakage. Each fifty feet of such a dam would weigh 250 tons and would be quite immovable by any San Gabriel Valley flood. Repairs could quickly and easily be made at any time.

"In order to prevent the flow of the entire river into one place, the channel could be split into some of the old channels the same as forking the furrows for irrigating. In the same manner that a farmer takes care of the water when it is turned into his furrows, so a crew of men—I should suggest the engineers and crews of the surveying parties of the city or companies interested in the project, who, during wet weather, are laid off—could readily take care of the course of the water and look after the levels of the dam if properly equipped.

PRACTICAL APPLICATION.

"Already the city of Monrovia is preparing to follow similar plans in spreading the flood waters of Sawpit Canyon over the wash and preventing additions to the San Gabriel flood waters from this source. A part of the San Gabriel water could be diverted through the Covina canal and the San Dimas Wash. The Santa Anita, Little Santa Anita, Eaton's Canyon, Dalton Creek and others could all be absorbed as high up as possible and thus maintain the pumping levels and reduce the water in the San Gabriel.

"When the first dam has been fully backed up by silt, a second and third can be constructed in similar manner, the third one eventually retaining 300,000 cubic yards of sand and silt, which, in the present matter of conditions, must be dredged from the harbor at San Pedro at a great expense. If the county does not care to take up this plan I would suggest the formation of a public utilities corporation which should purchase the wash lands, reclaim them and ultimately sell them.

"The cost of the work, according to its size, will range from $15,000 to $50,000, but from the standpoint of economy, as compared with the other plan, this would be insignificant. If the work is to be started this year, and is to bear any fruit at all, there is no time to lose in going ahead with it right away."

THE WIRELESS HER GUARDIAN.

SWISS GIRL'S ARRIVAL HERALDED FROM HONOLULU.

Solicitude of Her Friends that She Might Escape the Snares Secures Protection of Juvenile Court. Comes to Study English in Preparation for Teaching in Switzerland.

Alice Cuenaud, a comely Swiss girl 17 years of age, arrived in this city yesterday under unusual circumstances, indicating remarkable solicitude for her welfare.

Hugh C. Gibson, chief probation officer, received a wireless dispatch from Honolulu on Friday evening, from Judge Whitney of the Juvenile Court, warning him that the girl had boarded a vessel for Los Angeles and asking him to look out for her. This was followed by a second wireless dispatch from the captain of the vessel, as it neared this coast, asking that the girl be met at the Southern Pacific Station yesterday morning at 8 o'clock." She was met at the appointed time by a lady probation officer, and within a few hours was permanently located in the home of utter strangers to herself, earning $15 a month and her board.

She was in no sense a prisoner, and this is her story: She was employed in the home of an American in Switzerland, who, leaving for Honolulu, brought the girl with him as governess for his children and to teach them to speak French, which language she speaks fluently.

Her main object, however, was to learn to speak English and return to Switzerland as a teacher. In her position as governess she had to talk too much French to please her, so she paid her way and announced her intention of coming to about the only portion of America she had ever heard of—Los Angeles.

That she might be protected, her friends in Honolulu sought the interest of Judge Whitney and enlisted an equal interest on the part of the captain. The place secured for heer will enable her to devote as much time as she needs to the study of English and when satisfied, she will go back to Switzerland as a teacher.

FIFTY-DOLLAR DRIVE.

Phillip Harris, an ironworker, failed in an effort to have his automobile accepted as bail in Police Court yesterday, so changed his plea from not guilty to guilty of the charge of driving an automobile while in an intoxicated condition. Police Judge White fined him $50 or fifty days in jail. Harris paid the fine.

Catarrhal Trouble Ended--Use Hyomei

You Breathe It—No Stomach Dosing—Clears Stopped-Up Head.

Use nature's remedy for catarrh and troubles of the breathing organs, a treatment that is harmless yet quick and effective.

It is the healing oils and balsams of Hyomei which you breathe through a small pocket inhaler. This medicated air reaches the most remote air cells in the nose, throat and lungs, killing the catarrhal germs, and restoring health to the diseased mucous membrane.

In using Hyomei you are treating your catarrhal troubles with the natural remedy, for it gives a curative air bath to the nose, throat and bronchial organs. It has a powerful healing and antiseptic effect similar to the air in the mountains, where the forests give off the fragrant and healing balsams.

Hyomei has benefited so many sufferers of the worst cases of catarrh, with offensive breath, raising of mucous, frequent sneezing, droppings in the throat and spasmodic coughing that it is sold under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it. A complete Hyomei Outfit, containing inhaler and bottle of liquid, sells for only $1. Extra bottles of liquid, if later needed, 50 cents. Druggists everywhere sell Hyomei.—[Advertisement.

FOR WOMEN AND MEN.

Facts, Features and Fancies.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: A delightful new version of the ever-popular orange flower water, so constantly used by French women as a refreshing wash for the face, has recently been imported.

When in California it is a mistake not to send back East at Christmas time gifts which are genuinely characteristic of our locality. This has always been my belief. People are supremely interested in the products of California. If they have not visited here it is a land of constant surprise and if they have it is one of fond recollection. So, say I, "send California products as gifts to Eastern friends."

"But," you may expostulate, "it is such a bother to pack and there is so much uncertainty as to the cost of transportation!"

All these objections have been met by that large Broadway grocery firm, which has a wide reputation for handling the best of all fine eatables. Much time and earnest thought has been given to the packages for holiday use which solve most effectively the problem as to Eastern souvenirs.

There are in the list fifteen different combinations of California products, at as many different prices, all ready to ship and with no additional charge for packing or transportation. Each package is accompanied with an enveloped card expressive of the season's wishes and after you have turned in your list and paid the bill, as small or as large a one as you wish to make it, you have no further concern about your Eastern gifts.

By the use of these packages you add to the favor of your Christmas gift the magic of California, that land of wonder and speculation which fills the thoughts and arouses the imagination of friends "back there."

Until brought face to face with these holiday packages one had scarcely realized how much there was which would go to form a fine all-around Christmas box for holiday giving. Included in the collections are California layer figs, cluster raisins, budded walnuts, soft-shell almonds, ripe olives, olive oil, loganberry, fig, grape fruit, orange loquat and guava preserves and marmalades, Royal Ann cherries, evaporated golden apricots, and added to each package is a novelty called "Granada fig." The latter is a most interesting product—but as Kipling used to say, "That is another story."

In addition to the mixed packages there are small boxes of fine oranges, small sacks of finest walnuts, boxes of selected raisins, others containing crystallized California fruits, some filled wholly with ripe olives, and especially for gifts from men to men, cases of assorted California wines.

All are put up with greatest care and are better arranged for shipment as well as for beauty than could be managed in one's own home. Can you think of any better solution of the "back East" gift problem, then, than are these packages?

"I Love You California!"

This sentiment, worked upon pillow tops which are embroidered with California flowers, poinsettias, poppies and the branches of the pepper tree, are offered for sale in one of the Broadway stores for a very small price and many are embroidering them for Christmas gifts.

Adorable French Lingerie.

I was invited to inspect the newly arrived stock of French lingerie and negligees in that charming French corset shop which occupies delightful quarters in that "up-in-the-sky arcade" of which I have often spoken.

Truly it needed the French adjectives of madame and her attendants as well as all that I myself could muster to express a fraction of the charm of those Parisian confections.

There were entire sets composed of chiffon, lace, hand-made flowers and bearing the many original touches known only to the French; there were the new ankle-length bloomers for wear beneath street dress; and last and most interesting of all, because so very "shocking," the smoking negligees which are a present fad with fashionable women abroad. These delicious garments were in reality negligees, and made to wear over the new corset "fume," a corset especially designed for use while smoking in one's boudoir and accompanying them was the most fetching little fez. This "costume fume" is the first really enticing reason that I have ever seen which might lead a woman to smoke. The corset for negligee use is one so pliable as to amount in truth to "uncorseting." The bones are so few and the material throughout so moldable to the form as to give the effect of a suede glove upon the hand. In truth "suede" is the name given to the cloth of which the corset is composed. There is in the newly imported collection of French corsets shown in this genuinely French shop a corset for every possible occasion. Many corset the lower limbs rather than the upper part of the body, and thus lend the proper effect of natural slimness which every woman so ardently desires.

I thought, as I looked at the exquisite lingerie, in this little shop, what a fine opportunity for the man who wishes to give to his wife something which she would truly appreciate, to come here and in the seclusion of one of the delightful fitting boudoirs to select for her a set comprised of boudoir gown, cap, and slippers. There was one in the exact tint of a wild rose, embellished with a wild rose in ribbonry. Another in the blue of California's summer sky blossomed in a rosy shade and bore a cloud of filmy lace about the shoulders. A coral crepe had just a touch of King Edward blue at the throat and wrist and upon the drapery of the skirt. A smoking robe in the American beauty shade, was embroidered in tones of wisteria. In short, the color assemblages, throughout these charming creations were such as only French makers know how to bring together. Although it had seemed as though no new note could be sounded in the creation of boudoir et ceteras, a surprisingly novel one has been struck in the French Shop in the "sky arcade."

Novel Cape-Cap.

Rather is the cap a hood, attached to a shoulder cape fashioned from taupe-colored marabout set together with strips of chiffon in the same tone. For wear when motoring or when en route to or from the opera, this soft, fleecy garment would be delightful. It is accompanied with a flat, rounded muff, made from the same materials. I saw it in a big Broadway store, which has recently enlarged many of its departments and at the same time has equipped for even a wider range of usefulness and beauty than heretofore.

Thanksgiving Brilliance.

For the final note of brilliance upon the Thanksgiving table, what is more needed than at least one piece of fine cut glass?

With Thanksgiving in view, a big Broadway house has made an offering of large-sized bowls of excellent cut and surface, for about one-half the usual price of such dishes.

Roses and Pansies.

A big store, replete in every department for the supply of household and personal needs, has placed on sale, just at the best planting time, a large assortment of potted roses and pansies, at prices making it possible for every one who has a bit of ground, to raise something beautiful.

Free!

In the shoe department of one of the large stores on Broadway, every purchase of a pair of shoes will be accompanied with a free shoe horn, during the early part of the present week.

For Boys.

The boy who insists upon having his clothes purchased at a certain store on Broadway will receive a full year's subscription to a magazine dealing exclusively with subjects most interesting to boys—in fact, a regular boys' magazine.

More of 'Em.

Those who failed to secure as a gift from the household department of a certain Broadway store, the long-handled dustpan offered with the purchase of other goods, will have another opportunity this week to secure one of these useful articles upon the same liberal terms as offered before.

Fashion's Intimations.

There are three fashionable skirts—silhouettes, the full hip drapery, the tunic and a back drapery, prefiguring the bustle.

Black and white alone is destined to the back seat. We see black and white, but there is always somewhere a dash of color.

The high laced boot which the slashed skirt demands is fashioned of gray suede or finest kid, matching the tone of the gown.

The smartest head-dress for evening wear is decidedly oriental, resembling the elaborate turbans of the Sultans of Bagdad.

A dress should either be gay in color with no suspicion of darkness, or it must be black with touches of the most flagrant dye.

The French woman never slaps her hat on her head, but poses and adjusts it most carefully with the lines of her face and hair.

The frill of net or tulle has gained such importance that a gown dares not show itself without at least a fragment of this thin material.

Coats are fastened in a straight line to the neck and are topped off with some kind of high, loose collar which does not cling closely to the neck.

Sometimes a soft drapery will disclose two or more flounces at the foot-line, or a series of small frills will reveal a slit in the skirt, which has been modestly filled in.

Wife of Former Rector Makes Ready for Placing Cornerstone of Epiphany Church.

The laying of the cornerstone of the new Church of the Epiphany attracted a large crowd to the neighborhood of Altura and Sichel streets yesterday afternoon. Much satisfaction was felt at the presence of Bishop Johnson, as there had been a doubt as to his return from the East in time for the ceremonies, and everything went off as programmed.

There were about twenty-five clergymen in the procession, adding a spectacular effect to the proceedings, and a touch of youthful joyousness was added by the presence of the entire Sunday-school in line.

With the elaborate and impressive ritual of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the bishop led the ceremonial, unusual things being the spreading of the mortar for the stone by Mrs. Henderson Judd, wife of the first rector of the parish, and the placing of the box under the stone by Kenneth Nutt and Wallace Lathrop, two of the Sunday-school children. Rev. Henderson Judd and Dr. A. G. L. Trew—the latter also a former rector of the parish—took part in the ceremonies. Henry Brett, representing the trustees, delivered a short address, as did Rev. E. L. Howe, the present rector.

Man With Knock-out Drops in His Possession Is Being Investigated Meanwhile.

With enough chloral in his possession to kill 500 men, G. Traimo, an Italian, was arrested yesterday and sentenced to sixty days in jail on the charge of vagrancy. He was accused by George Horton of training him to put chloral drops in the glasses of saloon drunkards and then robbing them.

The boy confessed that Traimo had arranged to get a messenger boy for a railroad to steal $2000 of the company's funds while taking them to the bank, and with the loot the three proposed to go to Bakersfield.

Detectives Roberd and Rich arrested the man and secured the temporary conviction while they investigate his past. It is believed that he is a dangerous bunco man.

Another Mexican killing at Miami was that of Jose Jaime, shot by Victorio Castro, who has been arrested. EIGHT BULLETS IN BODY.

Only a Slight Clew to Negro Slayer of Vernon Deputy Marshal Found.

Upon a slight clew concerning the slayer of M. W. Halloran, deputy marshal at Vernon and employee in a liquor store, several deputy sheriffs worked diligently yesterday.

The Coroner will conduct the inquest tomorrow. He said that the body contained eight bullets, evidently from a .32-caliber automatic pistol.

The negro who did the shooting was not located up to a late hour last night. The officers have almost nothing by which to find the trail.

POLITICAL TIPS.

Gov. Glynn of New York thus early announces that he has cut the second term strings and proposes to give the State an administration that will be noteworthy. He is urged to this by his loyalty to the Democratic party, as unless a record is made at Albany the Democrats of New York will have little hope in the State election next year. There are two things in particular the Governor proposes—to make a State-wide graft hunt to determine if there has been, as alleged, any barge canal or highway grafting, or favoritism in State contracts; also to save the State millions of dollars by the abolition of the annual supply bill, which it has been customary for the Legislature to pass because the State departments have exceeded their appropriations. For his graft hunt he proposes to secure the aid of some retired Supreme Court justice in whom the people will have full confidence; and for the latter he promises that any State official who makes expenditures in excess of his appropriation will be dismissed from the service. Such ambitious motives should certainly result in something besides promises.

A pretty fight is on at Washington for the leadership of the House, as it is expected that Representative Underwood will soon resign to wage his candidacy for the Senatorship from Alabama. The candidates are A. Mitchell Palmer, the Democratic boss of Pennsylvania, and Claude Kitchen of North Carolina. Both candidates are members of the Ways and Means Committee, Kitchen outranking Palmer in standing. He is second in the list of Democrats, while Palmer is fourth. Palmer is the Democratic caucus chairman and is credited with being the administration spokesman. Nevertheless, Kitchen has the undivided support of the southern element in the House, while Palmer has been unable to rally the northern element to his support, even four of the twelve members from Pennsylvania refusing to support his candidacy, claiming that in the distribution of State patronage they have been ignored on certain appointments.

Gov.-elect Fielder of New Jersey is said to be President Wilson's choice for United States Senator three years hence, when the term of Senator Martine will expire. The latter would like to succeed himself, and as he has been a loyal supporter of the administration, he does not relish the President's attitude in the matter.

Senator Tillman of "Pitchfork" fame, has no use for Gov. Blease of his State of South Carolina, who wants to go to Washington as a member of the Senate. Blease, he says, "has stolen the livery of heaven to serve the devil in." This is his introduction to the statement that the Governor has taken most of his thunder from Tillman's speeches, including the latter's famous remark "To hell with the Constitution." To aid in defeating Blease, Tillman has made peace with ex-Senator McLaurin and has asked him to take the stump against Blease, a duty that he is prevented from undertaking because of the refusal of his physicians to let him speak publicly. Certainly politics is responsible for the doing and undoing of many things.

Joseph E. Bell, the recently elected Mayor of Indianapolis, will be the first Democrat to fill that office for ten years. He won because the Progressives took away about one-half of the former Republican vote. The Progressives are therefore responsible for his election, but it is understood all his appointments will be made from the Democratic party.

One-third of the entire membership of the Senate will end their terms a little more than a year from now, March 3, 1915. While the end of the term is more than a year distant, their campaigns for re-election will begin in the immediate future, and will be determined by the primaries and elections of the coming months. Of the thirty-two, more than one-half are Republicans. Unless the Republicans and Progressives become reunited it is safe to say that the next Senate will be strongly Democratic, as there is no possibility of the Progressives electing any of their Senatorial candidates.

INDEBTEDNESS REDUCED.

National Pacific Oil Company's Report Shows Only Small Amount Still Owing.

The report of the National Pacific Oil Company for the year ending November 1, issued during the past week, shows that the company's indebtedness has been reduced to $2799.76. Items included under indebtedness are bills payable, interest, accounts payable, salaries for field operators, aggregating altogether $20,320.82. The largest item is accounts payable amounting to $15,690.-87. From the total is subtracted bills receivable, accounts receivable, money due for royalties, and for oil, and cash on hand, totaling altogether $16,-521.06. Cash on hand is shown to be $2468.73.

Receipts and disbursements from November 10, 1912, to November 5, 1913, amounted to $212,170.78. Under disbursements, the amount $2468.73, the same figure as cash on hand, is entered as "balance." The amount received from assessments for the year amounted to $149,717.22. The returns from production were $32,-290.07, and the royalty from the lease to the Miocene Oil Company amounted to $8062.12, for the year. Money received on account amounted to $9941.62. Under "disbursements" are found these items: First trust deed notes of $51,880; bills payable, $42,-710.12; pay roll, $40,855.72; accounts payable, $53,820.50; interest, $15,-863.20, and other smaller items.

The report further states: "Your production for the year ending November 1, 1913, covering a period of twelve months has been 107,942.69 barrels. Oil sold and delivered during the year aggregated 107,073.53 barrels, for which your company has received net $39,538.59, and there is still due for oil delivered in October approximately $4405.87.

"During the year your company has put down two wells, Nos. 4 and 5, on section 30. We have deepened well No. 1 to the second sand and are now going to the third sand with well No. 2, section 30, and we have completed the rig for well No. 3, on section 32.

"Our average daily production for the past three months has been 444.45 barrels from wells Nos. 1 and 4, on section 30, and we expect to have well No. 1 on section 32, and well No. 5 on section 30, on production before November 20.

"There are 236,718 shares of stock in the treasury."

The report is signed by H. Edwin Moore, president, and A. B. Couson, secretary.

SOUGHT THE LIGHTS.

Two Wandering Tropico Girls Arrested and Sent Here to Be Returned to Their Parents.

Vester Brown and Ruth Wilson, 15 years old, the young highway travelers who almost disrupted their home town, Tropico, when they disappeared Tuesday, were arrested in Piru yesterday and brought to Los Angeles.

They were brown and rugged, and they wanted to go further, when the constable of Piru, identifying them with their two brilliant sweaters, held them for the Los Angeles officers.

The girls, when brought here, said that they wanted to travel. Neither had been outside the city before and wanted to see the great white lights, thinking they glowed just the other side of the hills around Tropico.

They are held in the Juvenile Detention Home, and will be returned to Tropico.

WHEN BACK ACHES WATCH KIDNEYS!

If Neglected Serious Diseases May Follow.

When the kidneys are clogged up and inactive, nature always warns you.

Backache is one of the first symptoms. You may also be troubled with disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders; have attacks of lumbago or rheumatism; become nervous, tired, or feel all worn out; puffy swellings show under the eyes, or in the feet and ankles; or the urine becomes light and pale, dark-colored or cloudy. If such symptoms are neglected, dropsy, diabetes or Bright's disease, which so often prove fatal, may result.

It is not only dangerous but needless for you to suffer and endure the tortures of these troubles, when a little Croxone will quickly and surely end all such misery.

There is no more effective remedy known for the prompt relief and cure of such troubles, because it cleans out the clogged-up kidneys and makes them work properly. It soaks right in through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering cells and glands; neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid and waste matter, and makes the kidneys filter and sift the poisons from the blood and drive it out of the system.

This new, scientific preparation is entirely different from other remedies. It is so quick-acting and effective that it is practically impossible to take it without results.

An original package costs but a trifle, and all druggists are authorised to return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case.

Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to end the worst backache, relieve rheumatic pains or overcome sleep-disturbing urinary disorders.—[Advertisement.]

The New Corset For Fat Women

The new corset designed to coerce overfat ladies into the new style gowns has three sets of strings. When you have one set adjusted you still have two more squeezing left. Think of that—and shudder.

To escape this fate, fat ladies should lose no time in securing one of the large cases of Marmola Prescription Tablets—that druggists and the Marmola Company, Detroit, Mich., sell for 75 cents. One of these tablets taken after each meal and at bedtime for a short while will make her independent of the new corset. Being made in strict accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription, these pleasant little standbys of the overfat are perfectly harmless, except to the fat itself, which they not infrequently do away with at the rate of a pound a day, and they are also the most economical and least restrictive means for reducing fat one could adopt, as they get results without interfering either with one's easy chair tendencies or methods of diet, however generous.

Information for All Lung Sufferers

Would you like to know more about a remedy for Lung Trouble which has brought about many complete recoveries? The makers of Eckman's Alterative are in receipt of many really wonderful reports, and will be pleased to forward to you copies of original letters and also booklet on diet and proper care needed in recovering health. Investigate this case:

1619 Susquehanna Ave., Phila., Pa.

"My Dear Sir: For two years I was afflicted with hemorrhages of the lungs, and in February of 1902 I was taken with a severe attack of pneumonia. When I recovered sufficiently to walk about the house I was left with a frightful hacking cough, which no medicine I had taken could alleviate. It was at this time, March, 1902, that I started taking Eckman's Alterative. In a short time my cough was gone and I was pronounced well. I cannot speak too highly for the good it has done."

(Signed) HOWARD L. KLOTZ.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by The Owl Drug Company and leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

Typical crush at one of the elevator entrances on the fifth floor of the Hall of Records.

At the Hall of Records.

TAXPAYERS GET EVEN BY TAXING THE ELEVATORS.

GASPS and cries of "oh!" as the elevators in the Hall of Records climb shuddering up to the fifth floor; a squeezing and crowding as the taxpayers disembark, and sighs of relief as the human tide rolls into the tax department, smite the ears of the wondering spectator. The uninitiated wonder what the rush means; the initiated marvel that more adequate provision was not made for carrying the ever-increasing throng of taxpayers.

Not only the elevators in the Hall of Records, but those in the Courthouse are taxed to capacity. The capacity of the former is 3500 pounds, but humanity is so closely packed in the cages that this capacity is exceeded and the elevators fairly crawl up, leaving scores clamoring at the foot.

The tax on the Hall of Records elevators is interfering with business in the courts. Lawyers and witnesses, fearful of entering court late, are compelled often to rush out of the Hall of Records and climb the many steps of the Courthouse, where the elevator is usually out of order. This ancient cage bucks like a broncho, and Operator Reel is the only man who knows how to humor it, and make the various floors. The elevator entered from the tunnel is commodious, and during the tax rush carries many persons who have business in the adjoining building. This necessitates, however, a long walk and a longer wait for an elevator to take them to the higher floors.

The tax rush has developed a faculty in many women hitherto unsuspected. So many are waiting to enter the elevators that women make a rush like a football player, bracing themselves against the surging mass, and worming their way out when the fifth floor is reached without the loss of a feather in their hats or the disarrangement of their dresses. The timorous get sadly mussed and squeezed.

FLOATS IN COMPRESSED AIR.

Interesting Experiment With a File Handle That Is Uninfluenced by Attraction of Gravitation.

[New York World:] A file may be suspended in the air without any visible support if its handle be placed in a jet of compressed air issuing at about 45 degrees from the horizontal. J. W. Cloud, chief engineer of the Westinghouse Brake Company, in England, was the discoverer of this scientific phenomenon.

If a handle without the file be used it displays most remarkable buoyancy and can be knocked about within reason without destroying its support.

If an obstruction, such as the open hand, be approached toward the handle from the back, the handle will advance toward the jet. Even when the obstruction is quite close behind the handle the supporting effect is still maintained, but the least interference with the air stream in front of the handle will cause it to drop like a stone.

The shape of the handle makes a great deal of difference. If the rounded end of the handle be cut off flat at the top the handle will not support itself. The best sort of shape appears to be a sausage-like handle.

The experiment is, of course, an interesting demonstration of the efficiency of the cambered top surface, which in a wing contributes three-quarters of the lift. Indeed, in this experiment there is no bottom surface at all, the weight being entirely supported by the suction above the curved top of the handle.

It is interesting to observe how gravity opposes the driving force of the jet. There is a position of equilibrium about, say, six inches from the nozzle, in which the file will hang mysteriously in the air quite still. By gently disturbing it the file will glide in a ghostlike fashion toward the jet, and then retreat, the oscillation continuing indefinitely.

Take "First Love" Oath.

[Philadelphia Inquirer:] Justice George A. Ziegelmeier of East St. Louis, swore a Southern Illinois couple to the strangest affidavit of which he ever heard.

When Miss Leila Kirk of Ina, Ill., and Grover Kelly of Mt. Vernon, Ill., walked into his office they said they wanted to be married.

"But before you marry us, judge, I want you to take my future wife's affidavit to the effect that she has never loved anyone else, and never will love another," Kelly said.

Justice Ziegelmeier agreed, and the young woman took the oath. After signing the affidavit the young lady turned to Kelly and said:

"Now I want you to sign a similar affidavit, Grover!"

Then the bridegroom signed an affidavit, and Justice Ziegelmeier married them.

Quaint Japanese Praying Stones.

[The Strand:] Kyoto, Japan, abounds in picturesque temples and quaint shrines, but perhaps no more interesting or beautiful spot will be found than a small shrine below the Kiyomidzudera. In the valley beneath this temple is the Otawa-no-Taki, a small stream springing out of the rocks, led through bamboo pipes and splashing on to the praying stones in front of the shrine below. On these the devout kneel reverently, sometimes for thirty or forty minutes, with cold water playing on their backs, supplicating the deity of the shrine for the safety and welfare of some beloved friend or relative.

made cheap and therefore general.

This is a grave charge, and perhaps it would be well to suspend judgment as to its truth until Prof. Veit proves that he can undersell the present manufacturers. It has, however, no little plausibility. For one thing, the opportunity for just such exploitation as he describes is obvious, and such opportunities are rarely neglected. For another, radio-active substances more or less vigorous are found everywhere, and the minerals in which they are most abundant are found in large quantities in more than a few places. The ore is cheap, and the only justification for putting high prices on the product must lie in the cost of extraction—a matter of process.

We have seen aluminum change in a few years from a "precious metal" to one out of which pots and kettles can be made for almost everybody. A sufficiently ingenious metallurgist may effect—or even may have effected—what should be a similar reduction in the price of radium.

REFORMER WHO FAILED.

A Gentle Lady Who Began Her Beneficent Labors at the Workhouse With an Old Offender.

[Chicago Record-Herald:] "It is awful—simply awful!" said the lady who was thinking of going in for prison reform. She had read a great deal about the sufferings of prisoners in penal institutions and she had decided at last that it was her duty to go to the rescue of the unfortunate creatures. For the purpose of informing herself concerning conditions she had obtained permission to go through the workhouse.

"It is terrible!" she kept repeating as she passed from one department to another. "To think that human beings are kept shut in behind these walls and deprived of the right to breathe the pure air of freedom. The thought is appalling. It makes me doubt one is living in the twentieth century. Such institutions as these can belong only to the dark ages. May I speak to that man over there—the one with the large, reddish nose? He looks as if a word or two of sympathy would do him so much good."

"Certainly, go ahead and talk to him if you like," replied the official by whom she was being personally conducted.

Approaching the red-nosed man, who was busy making a broom, the sympathetic lady asked:

"How long have you been here, you poor man?"

"Do you mean this time or altogether?" he answered.

"Mercy! You don't mean to tell me that you have served more than one term in this awful place!"

"Yep. This is me fift'."

"Dear me. This is perfectly tragic. Five terms in this horrible place, deprived of your liberty, denied the right to go and come at your will and subjected to the tyranny of others. It is dreadful! Tell me, what brought you here? Was it liquor?"

"Nix. It was a wagon wit' a cage on it."

"But it was your love of liquor that got you into trouble, was it not?"

"Well, mebby it was."

"How often have you been intoxicated?"

"Ask me somethin' easy, lady. I ain't got no head fer figgers."

"How perfectly shocking. Did you never have an opportunity to participate in the advantages of our educational system?"

"You got me goin'."

"Did you have to work when you were a child, so that you could not go to school?"

"Me work? Say, don't let on when you git out of here that you seen me doin' anything. If me friends ever found it out they'd think I was untrue to them."

"I am beginning to believe that you are shockingly depraved. And I suppose you once had a mother, too."

"You're up the wrong alley again. I never had no mother. A professor developed me from one of these sea urchins."

"Take me out of this place, please," she said, turning to the guard. "I'm going back home to waste time studying the rules of auction bridge."

A Fisherman's Paradise.

[Leslie's Magazine:] Fish are so plentiful in Alaskan waters that they almost jump at you. The fishing grounds extend for over 2000 miles along the coast and up all the rivers (one of which is at least 2000 miles long,) and all over the adjacent seas. A conservative estimate of the fish taken from Alaskan waters, not counting that used for native food and for dog food, places the total valuation as $185,000,000 since we bought Alaska for $7,200,000. In one year ten fishing vessels alone pulled in 7,708,000 pounds of the choicest kind of fish.

If the ordinary American were asked to guess how many people are permanently engaged in the fishing business in Alaska, the answer would probably be—about 200. As a matter of fact, there are 18,000 men pulling up salmon, halibut, and herring, and storing them away in cans and icehouses. That number of men can make a big hole in anybody's fish pond; if the looting by the fishermen goes on indefinitely there will be nothing left except the water presently.

RADIUM PRICE TOO HIGH.

A Berlin Scientist Declares the Cost of Production Is Not Proportionate to Selling Price.

[New York Times:] There have been in circulation for some time whispers to the effect that the enormous prices charged for minute quantities of radio-active compounds were due somewhat less to the cost of their manufacture than to the willingness and determination of the few manufacturers to make all possible profit out of an industry in which none except themselves were as yet prepared to engage. To these accusations definite form has now been given by Prof. Veit, a distinguished scientist of Berlin.

He says that the prices demanded—and obtained—for radium and the related elements are far out of proportion to the difficulty and expensiveness of their production, and that, were it not for what he calls "business maneuvers," the use of these substances, known to be of some therapeutic efficiency and rather confidently expected to cure several of humanity's most desperate ills, could be

Dog Like Tobacco.

[Topeka State Journal:] "Bob" is the name of a greyhound dog that chews tobacco. "Bob" makes his home at the Avenue Hotel, a railroad men's hostelry at Hanover, fifteen miles west of Marysville, and a division point on the St. Joseph and Grand Island road.

This dog has learned to know all the railroad boys who use tobacco and as soon as one comes in from the road the dog will begin begging for a chew of the weed.

Instead of eating the tobacco, as most animals do that use it at all, the dog will take the chew between his front paws and stretching himself at full length on the floor, will lick the tobacco until the juice is all gone, when he will take the "leftovers" to the front door and cast it out. "Bob" has been addicted to this habit so long that his front paws are stained a dark brown.

The Dollar Mark.

GORGEOUS EAST BECKONING US.

Teeming Lands of Orient Offer Rich Markets.

Trade Opportunities for Los Angeles Are Many.

May Reduce Freight Rates When Canal Opens.

Definite information as to freight rates on water-borne commerce between Atlantic ports and Los Angeles following the opening of the Panama Canal is eagerly awaited in this city. The first inkling has just been received here and is to the effect that on some classes of goods the rates from New York to Los Angeles will be as low as those between New York and Boston.

Inquiry is also made here as to the possibility of a lowering of rates between California ports and China and Japan. Owing to the fact that several of the old-established steamship companies are preparing to enter the trans-Pacific trade, competition is sure to be keen and therefore lower freight tariffs may be expected.

With a population of 90,000,000 to the East and of 500,000,000 in the Far East to trade with, Los Angeles is most favorably situated to take advantage of the increased commerce which will follow the opening of the canal. The campaign for more markets recently inaugurated by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce should begin to bear fruit next year.

Of course the special committee has devoted considerable attention, and will give more, to the subject of freight rates. It welcomes, therefore, the information from New York that large business houses in that city expect that the rates will be made so cheap that a large volume of business will result.

"The canal should bring down rates decidedly," is the declaration made by W. R. Grace & Co., who handle much business between the Atlantic and the Pacific and who have just added three new steamers to their fleet in anticipation of a largely-increased business when the Panama Canal is opened.

RATES WILL BE LOWERED.

"We cannot tell how much rates will be lowered, but naturally it will be as much as is needed to fill our ships," remarked President George S. Dearborn of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company. This company is the largest operating under the American flag and is adding eight ships to the eighteen already in use.

Large eastern shippers, who undoubtedly have conferred with the steamship officials on the matter of rates from New York to Los Angeles and San Francisco, are even more outspoken. The buyer for Francis H. Leggett, one of the largest wholesale grocery houses in New York, made the following statement:

"If the canal puts down freight rates, as I believe it will, we can go after more business on the Pacific Coast. I shall not be surprised if the rates from New York to the Pacific Coast on some classes of goods become as low as the rates between New York and Boston." This authority also declared that he believes the time which freight will take by water will be twenty-five days, as compared with fifteen days by rail.

These are points of great interest to every shipper and importer in Los Angeles. On the subject of passenger rates less information is forthcoming. It is worth noting, however, that circulars received in Los Angeles from Thomas Cook & Son, the famous tourist and passenger agents of Europe, show that they are booking many of their tours to the Pacific Coast and around the world via the Panama Canal. Passenger agents of steamship companies both here and in Pasadena also report that not a few Southern California people who are contemplating going to Europe in 1914 have expressed a desire to go by way of the Panama Canal.

A MARKET OF MILLIONS.

Important as is the trade of Los Angeles with eastern America and hopeful the outlook for an extension in many directions, it is to the Far East, with its teeming millions, that importers and exporters of Southern California are looking for the greatest development in commerce. The markets of China, with its 400,00,000 people, once closely guarded, are yearly being thrown more widely open to American enterprise. Japan, too, with a population of more than 50,000,000, and with steamship lines already running to California, looks for an unprecedented increase in the exchange of goods with the Pacific Coast as well as with Atlantic centers. Tokio merchants expect to see trans-Pacific freight rates lowered, thus giving an impetus to a growing trade with America.

Special reports of American Consuls in China and Japan, made to the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce at Washington, indicate that both Chinese and Japanese look for a large expansion of trade with this country. Leading men of Los Angeles and other Pacific Coast centers are fortunate in being already familiar, through personal investigation, with some of the needs of the Orient in commercial lines. They gained this familiarity through visits to the Far East.

Not so very long ago members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the Pacific Coast, of which Willis H. Booth of Los Angeles was chairman, made a special voyage of investigation to China. Pasadena, San Diego and other places were represented on that occasion. The Chinese were informed that Los Angeles, as the southern gateway to the Orient, afforded the natural commercial route. They were told that the harbor at San Pedro furnishes the shipping of the world with every facility for taking advantage of the short and favored route to the East. It was further pointed out that the products of China and of the Orient generally may here follow the line of least resistance because the trade artery by way of Los Angeles is not only the shortest but enjoys the most favorable climatic conditions.

AN ENORMOUS TRADE.

Chinese trade is growing amazingly. The value of its imports and exports last year, as shown by the report of Vice Consul-General Clarence E. Gauss of Shanghai, reached the enormous total of $603,000,000. The imports were valued at $338,000,000 of which the United States supplied $26,000,000 worth. [illegible] great expansion in American [illegible] The bulk of the business [illegible] through Shanghai. [illegible] the revolution trade [illegible] shown no material [illegible] eral rule and the outlook [illegible] to be encouraging.

Of special interest to the [illegible] Valley and other parts of the United States which will ship cotton and cotton goods to China by way of Los Angeles are the remarks of Vice Consul-General Gauss on imports of cotton goods and the cotton industry.

"The future for American [illegible] ton in China is bright," [illegible] The cotton-goods trade [illegible] vived, he adds. Five [illegible] worth of cotton cloth was imported from America last year. The statistics show an increase of [illegible] pounds in cotton-yarn imports [illegible] China last year as compared with the previous year. China [illegible] ty-four cotton mills which are importing a large amount of American and Indian product.

Other items which may be expected to be sent in ever-increasing quantities to China through the harbor of Los Angeles are oil, electric and telephone equipment, flour, [illegible] matches and match-making material, foreign medicines, cigarettes, clothing, hats, boots and shoes.

The changes in the character of the import trade of China since the opening of the country to foreign commerce are surprising. The requirements of the Chinese are [illegible] ing every year. The consumption of kerosene in the past twelve years has increased from [illegible] gallons in 1900 to 197,000,000 in 1911. Lamps and lampware now represent an importation $750,000 as against [illegible] in 1900. Machinery imports last year were valued at more than [illegible] an increase of 200 per cent. in a decade. Almost $1,000,000 was spent last year by the Chinese for sewing machines and considerable [illegible] railway equipment, electrical material and equipment, printing presses and other articles, none of which was of sufficient importance in 1900 to [illegible] separate statement in the [illegible] compiled for the Department of Commerce at Washington.

THE CIGARETTE HABIT.

That the Chinese are taking to the cigarette habit in place of opium smoking is shown by the phenomenal increase in the importation of American cigarettes and also in tobacco leaf to be used in the manufacture of cigarettes. The value of the tobacco products importations in a few years has jumped from $750,000 to more than $5,000,000.

The adoption of American fashions in dress by a number of Chinese since the revolution and the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty has resulted in increased importation from this country of clothing, hats, boots, shoes and gloves. The value of these has increased from less than [illegible] 1900 to about $5,000,000 last year.

In Japan it is noted that as a result of the opening of the Panama Canal and the extension of trade which must follow, there is [illegible] to be a large increase in the [illegible] of metal products, heavy [illegible] raw cotton, phosphorites and kerosene. Japanese captains of industry look for a large trade expansion [illegible] America, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha putting new steamers into service and there is every reason to [illegible] this great steamship company [illegible] find it advisable to have some of its steamers make Los Angeles their Pacific Coast terminal.

PROGRESSIVE HYGIENE CLUB.

Proves That Six Women Can [illegible] Seven Days on [illegible] Unfired Foods Are Healthy.

[New Orleans Times-Democrat:] The Progressive Hygiene Club of Chicago, which has solved the [illegible] of "purity dancing" and other segregated forms of social recreation, is now launching a new endeavor. Its leaders propose to combat the high cost of living, and if their plans work out it will be considerable [illegible]

As a starter the club will try to nourish its members for [illegible] for $9. That reduces the cost of living to $1.50 a week, or [illegible] a day. To enable the expenditure of no more than 7 1-7 cents a meal the club has resorted to the simple expedient of omitting one meal, this [illegible] 10 5-7 cents a meal. The value of the product previous to that time is not given. The bulletin states that the crude oil output during the early years is a difficult quantity to arrive at. In 1910 the value of the production was $27,-689,542; in 1911, $40,552,088; in 1912, $41,868,344, according to the bulletin.

The average price per barrel during 1912 was 46.7 cents as against 47.9 in 1911. The average price this year will probably be slightly higher owing to the large quantity of light oil produced, and the fact that the selling rate of the Independent Producers' Agency—through which organization most of the low-gravity producers sell—has been advancing.

The higher average price would not, however, indicate in an absolute sense actual condition in the industry, for the general market for crude petroleum in California is weak.

The bulletin shows that in 1912 the highest average price was paid in Ventura county—88.3, as compared with 70 cents the previous year. In Orange county the average price during 1912 was 66.8 cents, as against 64.5 cents in 1911, an increase of 2.3 cents. In other sections the average price for the two years was as follows: Santa Barbara county, 54.6 cents in 1912, as against 48.8 cents in 1911, an increase of 5.8 cents; Los Angeles county, 62.4 cents in 1912, as against 67.2 in 1911, a decrease of 4.8 cents; Fresno county, 43.5 cents in 1912, as against 47.9 cents in 1911, a decrease of 4.4 cents; Kern county, 42.3 cents in 1912, as against 43.2 cents in 1911, a decrease of .9 cents.

His Ready Reply.

[Philadelphia Telegraph:] The conversation turned to the power of flattery at a recent historic social session when Miss Billie Burke, the actress, was reminded of an incident along that line.

Some time ago, said Miss Billie, a certain young man got rather negligent in his courting duty, and it was not until after an absence of nearly a week that he finally presented himself at the home of his heart's desire.

Obviously somebody was exceedingly peevish, and a large bunch of explanations was in order.

"I wonder you came at all!" she petulantly exclaimed, not deigning to notice the five pounds of chocolates, and keeping to the piano stool, where there wasn't room for two. "Of course, you were called away on a business trip, and the wires all being down, you couldn't notify me."

"No, dear," he answered, in his tenderest tones. "I haven't been away. I have been sick with dyspepsia and the doctor told me not to come."

"What!" she cried in scornful amazement. "You had dyspepsia and the doctor told you not to come because of that?"

"It amounted to the same thing, dear," he coofully responded. "He told me to keep away from all sweets."

ADVENTURES OF A REFORMED EDITOR.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

The recent Faversham offering of "Julius Caesar" was sumptuous and satisfying, but from a vociferous standpoint could scarce be compared with the production of the same stately tragedy by our old friend, Robert Downing.

Robert was built on the rugged lines of a man-of-war and would scale about 300 pounds in his nightie. When he was in his bath he looked like a pickled walrus and when he had his Roman armor on he rattled like a ton of coal and was as terrifying as the Gath demon.

Sometimes they had to have a boilermaker to get him in and out of his uniform and the property man always had to carry a can-opener to quickly relieve him of his breast plate when he got heated up.

He had a voice like a cataclysm—whatever that is, and when he roared it was the lion's turn to sneak away and hide. He would start off with the sonorous blare of a foghorn and gradually work up to the massive magnificence of an unleashed typhoon. One of his stage whispers would rip blotches of plaster from the ceiling and when he sighed it was like an eruption of Vesuvius.

Downing and I played "Julius Caesar" in the old Quincy Operahouse some seventy-odd years ago—more or less. I believe the building is there yet in spite of the havoc wrought by the voice. Everybody in the business had to double up in those days and on this occasion Robert played Antony and Prebonius, I think he would have essayed both Brutus and Cassius were he not afraid of groning suddenly fretful and carving himself while quarreling with himself at close quarters under one dinkey little tent.

Although I was merely a curious newspaper worker I was that night offered the lines of Casca, but when I said I would rather play Cascaret the stage manager declared I was too frivolous and so I was cast for the part of the mob.

In that capacity I asked permission to introduce a new ballad I had just written, called, "I'm So Lonely," but again the magnate repulsed me and said that the audience might take the title as a reflection on its size and quality and that anyhow there was no fit opening in "Julius Caesar" for a song and dance or a black-face sketch.

So I had to play the part of the mob without any trimmings.

Single-handed I made an imposing presentment of what was supposed to be a posse of feverish Roman citizens. I had a sawed-off bath robe for a costume part of the time and the calves of my legs, which were about nine inches in circumference, peeped out, blue with cold, from beneath. Usually the mob was not entrusted with any skittish hardware for fear it might get wrought up ahead of time and carve Brutus before he could finish his act, but because I had once appeared with John McCullough I was permitted to carry a nine-pound toadstabber that was made at a stove foundry at Rome, N. Y.

In those days the house had to furnish most of the properties and they were uniformly borrowed from local merchants. At this time the property man of the theater was a trifle rusty on Shakespeare, although he fearlessly called him "Bill" behind his shroud. He knew, however, that Caesar had to be buried during some stage of the performance and so he visited the nearest undertaker and borrow a coffin. The undertaker was a bit light in stock at that time, however, and consequently that afternoon he sent over to the playhouse a casket of boy's size.

When the company stage manager saw this he grimly remarked that if they tried to bury Caesar in that outfit they would have to cut off his feet first. To this, Julius emphatically objected. He said that nobody had ever heard of an angel with two wooden legs and he would be dog-goned if he was going to be pared down to accommodate any sordid bunch of pallbearers that ever lived.

Then Decius Brutus came in and said that they could compromise on a bier.

The property man promptly volunteered to accompany him to the cafe next door, but when Decius explained that this was another brand of bier "Props" suddenly lost further interest and left Caesar and Brutus to fight it out.

For the first time in local history the mob that night received an ovation and divided honors with the star. Every now and then Cinna would jab me in the shanks with a tin spear in order to keep up the circulation. I would retort with a frantic demonstration with my case knife, and this would pass for a riot on the Appian Way.

When Antony turned his seventy-two cubic feet of lung capacity loose in the stormy reading of Caesar's will, the answering cry of the mob sounded in comparison like the squeal of a rat in the pantry. Marcus was not only heard all over Rome, but the reading was plain to the probate judge way out at Campobasso.

I am glad Downing played Antony instead of Caesar, as I doubt if the company were powerful enough to carry him to the capital. As it was, he made a dent in the basswood marble slab that did duty as the Roman forum.

In the last act I was cast for the heroic and aggressive role of Brutus's army. When Antony came on the field raging and roaring like a blast furnace and with his armor clanking like a hardware store, it scared the liver out of me. The army dropped its toadstabber and fled without striking a blow. It didn't even wait for the three drachmas it had coming on salary account.

At that moment Antony looked as big as the Catholic church and I fancied that any man who stood in the path of his ponderous gizzard-skewer was sure to be converted into shredded humanity.

Any man or woman who supported Robert Downing surely earned the money. Eugenie Blair made the best show of all, but she would tilt the beam at 210 and had an arm like a bar of pig-iron.

I have seen Sarah Bernhardt and Anna Dickinson play Hamlet and I have seen Charlotte Thompson as Romeo. I should like to have seen Robert Downing get even with these people by playing Camille.

PLAN GREAT HATCHERY.

TULARE, Nov. 15.—Officials of the Tulare Co-operation Poultry Association announce the plans for an immense hatchery which is to be operated in connection with the other association activities next year. As announced the association will construct and equip a plant which will have a capacity of 15,000 eggs monthly. A committee has been appointed by the association members to secure details of the cost of the equipment, including Elbert George, I. N. Foss, L. L. Black, and M. M. Botriel. These men will file a detailed report with the association members at a general meeting to be held in the near future. It is stated that in case the association members as a whole decide not to assess themselves for the amount needed to construct the plant it will be capitalized privately and run as a subsidiary of the organization.

HUNTING WILD HOGS.

A Louisiana Sport That Has Some Excitement in It With Little Risk If the Dogs Work Right.

[The Argonaut:] Hunting wild hogs in Louisiana is both exciting and remunerative, as the hunters have a fondness for the flesh of these meat-fed porkers, whose ferocious nature is well known, and especially in the Catahoula parish. Profiting by many sad experiences, the Catahoula hunter now uses dogs trained in a special manner, eliminating much of the hard work and most of the danger. The only other thing required is a strong pen or corral. The start of a hunt for a drove of hogs in the thick and tangled Catahoula woods is made by the dog. It is his business to find the drove. After that the hunting is all done by the hogs, for they industriously pursue the dog. The hunter himself does little but sit on the corral fence and wait. Keeping always in mind the direction of the pen or corral, the dog goes into the woods and flushes a drove of wild hogs. Then he yelps out an aggravating challenge which the hogs instantly accept. They make a furious dash for the hated enemy, and the hated enemy turns tail and flees, heading straight toward the corral, and managing at all times to keep a sufficient distance ahead of the angry drove. In this way he lures the hogs on until in their mad chase they follow him through the open gate of the corral. Then the dog speeds to the closed end of the corral and nimbly jumps the fence, while the master of the hunt lets himself down from his perch on the fence, where he has been patiently waiting the outcome of the chase, and shuts the gate on the entrapped porkers. The next day there is a great hog-killing time in the corral, followed by a feast and revelry.

To Protect Canal Zone Game.

[Christian Science Monitor:] As Gatun Lake is the only large body of water in this section, it is expected that it will attract many birds on migratory journeys as well as become a habitation for native species. Along the Chagres River there is an abundance of small animals and if the isthmian commission persists in its purpose to protect the game the country along the water course and the lake may become a considerable reservation.

Connoisseurs Demand Puritas Ginger Ale

Many persons, who formerly used Imported Brands, now demand PURITAS GINGER ALE. That's because of the entire absence of capsicum, a cheap substitute, intended to produce the "bite" and flavor of Ginger. The fact that capsicum is used in even the most fancy-priced Imported Ales is detected by their objectionable "peppery" taste.

Puritas Ginger Ale is the most delightful and satisfying beverage you can keep in the home—winter or summer. Its absolute purity, its refreshing and thirst-quenching goodness, are welcomed by every member of the family.

Puritas Ginger Ale is cheaper than many much-advertised foreign brands, yet it is much better. We deliver FREE. A case of two dozen half-pints costs $1.15, with a 40c rebate for the empty bottles; pints are $1.20 a dozen, with a 20c rebate, and quarts are $1.75 a dozen, with a 30c rebate.

Bust Developed One Ounce A Day

A New Simple Easy Home Method That Gives Quick And Permanent Success

Judge from my picture as to the truth of what I say to you—that the crowning feminine attribute is a bust of beautiful proportions, firmness and exquisite development. Then ask yourself how much you would like to have such a photograph of yourself, showing the glory of womanhood with its lines of infinite charm and grace. It would be worth far more than a two-cent stamp, would it not? Then let me give you my message—let me tell you of what I have learned and let me give you recent pictures of myself to prove what I say—for if you will write me today

I Will Tell You How. FREE

I will tell you gladly and willingly. Why should any woman neglect an opportunity to escape the pain and heartache of being skinny, scrawny, angular and unattractive in body? Misery is not our heritage. Nature planned that you—a woman—should have the rich, pulsing lines of warm, living flesh molded after the mother of us all, the description of whom perfumes our sacred literature with love and admiration for the divinity of woman's form. For why should there be that pitiful aspect—the face of a woman and the form of a man.

Write To Me Today

I don't care how fallen, or flaccid, or undeveloped your bust now is—I want to tell you of a simple home method—I want to tell you how you can gain perfect development one ounce a day. No physical culture—no massage, foolish baths or paste—no plasters, masks or injurious injections—I want to tell you of an absolutely new method, never before offered or told about—insuring immediate success and permanent beauty.

Send No Money

Just write me a letter—address it to me personally—that's all. I will answer it by return mail—and you can develop your bust one ounce a day—you can be what you want to be. Believe me when I say that you will bless me through years of happiness for pointing the way to you and telling you what I know. Please send your letter today to the following address:

STORY TOLD OF SUEZ OPENING.

BRITISH SHIPS STUCK ON SAND BAR IN PASSING COAST.

Many Crowned Heads Took Part in the Ceremony that Attended the Wedding of the Atlantic With the Mediterranean and Red Seas Forty-three Years Ago in Egypt.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times: While all the world is waiting for the wonderful miracle of the age to be given to the public in the opening and completion of the Panama Canal I desire to call attention to a little event that happened when another great canal was thrown open to the ships of the world.

About forty years ago there was just such excitement on the eastern hemisphere at the opening of the Suez Canal. At that time there was a little episode that happened to a part of the British fleet which was detailed to represent that nation at the celebration that has never been published. On leaving Alexandria on November 13, 1869, for Port Said, a distance of 150 miles, the wind was very brisk and on the next day the wind freshened until the ships were unsteady in the gale which fortunately quieted down. The admiral ordered the ships to anchor about twenty-five miles from shore and the anchor found bottom at ten fathoms.

In the middle watch we were almost frightened to death. The ship rolled so heavily that the water rushed over the main-deck. It awoke the men out of their hammocks and nearly capsized the ships. Later the wind died away and the swell receded.

On the morning following we got up and proceeded toward Port Said, forming into two lines as we drew near to the port. The yacht of the Emperor Napoleon and the Empress Eugenie of the French passed by. The admiral of the fleet was forming the line and going through the maneuvers when two of the battleships went aground on a sand bank. The first that struck was the Royal Oak, being the leading ship of the line, followed by the Prince Consort, which was almost against it. The Royal Oak struck amidships and the other struck on the after part of her bow, being abreast of the Royal Oak's starboard beam. The engines were reversed to keep her back, but she veered around and her bow came in contact with us (the Royal Oak,) carrying away the davits. We were in a nice predicament for two British men-of-war aground within a few yards of each other, and expected any minute that the Prince Consort would lurch on us, for the swell was still strong, and the ships rolled heavily.

The Lord Warden (the flagship) soon laid cable hauser to the Prince Consort, and a heavy strain was plased on the mass of wood and iron. That was in the days before the vessels were armor plated. All of the Lord Warden's efforts proved ineffectual, and the Caledonia was added to assist. Those two vessels struggled for two hours before they succeeded in getting the Prince Consort off of the sand. Now it was our turn and we had been keeping the engines at work to keep the sand from settling. The ships worked until 2 o'clock in the morning and then all hands took a rest and the men were rewarded with an extra shot of grog to keep their spirits up, and then went at it again until daylight, when all were happy to discover that the Royal Oak was afloat.

It was discovered that our chart had been made before the digging of the canal and the navigation officer went to work to make out a new chart along the shore to Alexandria. We anchored about five miles from the mouth of the canal, after saluting all foreign ships that were riding at anchor and representing many nations.

Later in the day the Psyche arrived, having on board the Hon. George Elliott, Her Majesty's Ambassador from Constantinople to represent the British nation.

At 8 o'clock in the morning of the opening of the Suez Canal a procession of all the crowned heads of Europe took place from the palace of the Khedive to the yacht. After they had embarked they commenced to steam along slowly toward the canal amid the thunder of all the guns and cheers of all the crowds on the surrounding vessels. The first yacht to enter had on board the Emperor Napolon III, Princess Eugenie, the Sultan of Turkey, and the Viceroy of Egypt, followed by other princes and princesses. They were followed by other yachts bearing ambassadors, admirals and high officials. Thirty-seven yachts took part in the procession, most of which were furnished by the Khedive of Egypt, who paid all the expenses of those present. Arriving at Ishmalia they remained for the night, sleeping in tents. All sorts of amusements were furnished.

The following day they passed through the canal and came to the Gulf of Suez in the Red Sea and there to welcome them was the flagship of the commander-in-chief of the Indian station. The celebration was completed there, and for four days all ships had the right of free transportation through the canal.

The Suez is the geatest engineering feat of modern times and is intended to complete water communication between the Atlantic Ocean and the Mediterranean and Indian oceans, by uniting them, and so facilitate merchandise between the eastern and western worlds. A voyage from England to India by way of the cape is 15,000 miles and by using the canal the distance is cut almost into half. The canal is cut through the low sandy isthmus to the west of the delta of the Nile from Lake Merozaleh, the most easterly of the shallow lagoons. Its length is almost 100 miles; its depth throughout is twenty-six feet. The general width is 246 feet at the base of the bank, and seventy-two feet at the bottom of the canal. It has no locks and vessels are able to pass it in sixteen hours. The average level of the Mediterranean is a half a foot above the Red Sea, but the flood tides in the Red Sea rise four feet above the highest and its ebb tides fall nearly three feet below the lowest in the Mediterranean.

The harbor of Port Said consists of two breakwaters of compressed lime and sand, made of blocks, each weighing twenty-two tons. The Western Mole is 2730 yards in length, and the harbor within is about 500 acres in extent and of a depth sufficient for merchant vessels. The new town of Port Said has a population of 1000; Ishmalia, 5000, and Suez, 15,000. A fresh-water canal supplies Ishmalia and Suez from the Nile, near Cairo. The canal belongs to the company which built it for ninety-nine years, and after that time it will become the property of the Egyptian government. The tolls will be the same to ships of all nations.

The inauguration of the Suez Canal took place November 17, 1869.

Use Popcorn for Food.

[Boston Advertiser:]. Popcorn for breakfast is Uncle Sam's latest advice to assist those who desire some relief from the high cost of living. Department of Agriculture corn investigation specialists declare popcorn is superior, when properly prepared for the table, to many of the breakfast foods now on the market. And $30 worth of popped corn in the form of 5-cent packages for the market represents an outlay of only about $1 or $1.50 for raw material, these experts say. This amount of corn can be grown in a garden 20x40 feet.

In a farmers' bulletin, just issued, the experts tell how to grow popcorn and how to make it into toothsome breakfast dishes, and advise the children of households to take up this branch of home farming.

NDIAN SECRETS CENTURIES OLD.

ncestral Traditions Held by Red Men.

he Sauk Tribe Has a Very Secret Cult.

nnual Meeting Marked by Much Magic.

[Philadelphia Record:] In the matter of mythical lore or ancestral traditions no State in the Union possesses so rich a fund as Oklahoma. More than sixty remnants of Indian tribes have been merged into its citizenship, each of whom has handed down to it the traditions of a long line of ancestors. Much of this lore, reaching back into the dim past, has been enriched and intensified as it has come down through the long cycle of years.

The Sauks, of whom 400 now live in Oklahoma, have been known to the white man for nearly 300 years, for Champlain wrote about them in 1616. A fairly good description of them was written in 1667, and since that date their identity, their deeds of butchery and daring, and their peculiar religious rites have been well known.

It is because of the religion that they will live longest in the annals of the white man, for their rites and ceremonies are surrounded with a halo of mystery which has led several students of mythology to believe that some of our secret societies of today are directly traced to those aborigines.

As a tribe, they were wedded to a belief in unseen power and magic. All the animal life of the world was believed to possess certain magic force, often good and never necessarily bad. They therefore studied to enlarge their supposed magic and make easier their temporary abode on this mundane sphere.

In that study, along investigational lines, they developed a highly-organized secret cult—greater and more ceremonial than any other known Indian tribe. It naturally followed that these secret societies permeated the active life of the people. It became their religion and is followed

INDIAN LEGEND OF GREAT DESERT.

ONCE CIVILIZED TRIBE LIVED WITH GOLD GOD.

[illegible] of the Waters Which [illegible] Sandy Basin Is Explained by [illegible] Told Twenty Years Ago by [illegible] Indian, Who Says Legend [illegible] Back Five Centuries.

In the early pioneer days many people who crossed the great desert of Southern California, which is known to have at one time been the bed of the sea, swore that they could see the hull of an old ship at a certain point, and from that it was argued that not many centuries could have passed since the great bed of sand had been a sea.

W. E. Ward of El Centro, Imperial county, in connection with an old Indian legend, which he heard over twenty years ago, says that as late as [illegible] years back the mythical ship was heard of, but since the valley has come to be so much less of a "lost mountain" one hears no more of the stranded hull.

According to Mr. Ward there are still mirages to be seen showing ships at full sail over placid waters at different times of the days, and in that connection he tells of a legend which came indirectly to him from an old Indian who claimed to be [illegible] years old. The Indian said that the legend had been in his family for 500 years, long antedating the Spanish occupation of the country.

Long ago, so the story runs, the desert was a sea. The waters of the Colorado emptied into it far north of where they reach the gulf. It was a wide and placid sea, rarely visited by storms, owing to the mountains that hemmed it around. The islands and east shores of the sea were peopled by a tribe noted for its high civilization, thrift and industry, but they were exclusive, and had very little intercourse with other people. So fertile were the shores of the sea that almost every known vegetable grew with very little cultivation; the near mountains were rich in minerals, and the [illegible] of the civilized people [illegible] the poorer tribes of [illegible]

In one of these battles two young [illegible] of a savage tribe inhabiting the mountains were taken prisoners. [illegible] on the love of two dusky [illegible] of their captors. A boat was built and the four escaped to the home of the young men.

Such tales were told of the wealth and prosperity that the savage tribe was stirred to great energy [illegible] preparations to invade the country and carry off the gold [illegible] of their more favored [illegible]. After a furious battle the savages won, took most of the [illegible] captives, including the [illegible] of the gold god, and the god [illegible]

[illegible] sunset of a summer evening when the victorious [illegible]. The waters of the sea [illegible] a clear sky. The [illegible] of the god lifted his hand [illegible] and implored heaven [illegible] save his tribe from [illegible] captivity.

[illegible] the winds began to sigh [illegible] the bosom of the sea [illegible] the face of nature [illegible] as eternal night; the [illegible] strength; the winds [illegible] fury and the waves rolled [illegible] the vast mountains. All [illegible] the storm raged and when [illegible] in the morning it looked [illegible] scene of desolation. The [illegible] been driven ashore. The [illegible] of the god lay upon [illegible] his own ruined temple [illegible] on his face, his hands [illegible] as if to hold onto [illegible]. At his feet lay the dead [illegible] two faithless women who [illegible] the captives to escape. [illegible] strewn with the dead [illegible] the waters of [illegible] receding. They kept [illegible] until a vast, desolate basin [illegible] sand was disclosed.

[illegible] days, so the legend runs, [illegible] the scenes where once [illegible] lived so happily. Then [illegible] so peaceful; phantom wa[illegible] the old basin; the lightest [illegible] over the valley, and [illegible] with sails spread go [illegible] the surface of the [illegible]

[illegible] OF POWER.

[illegible] Valley Factories Are to [illegible] Current From the Southern [illegible] Power Company.

[illegible], Nov. 15.—W. F. [illegible] of the Holton Power Company, accompanied by his family, [illegible] a few days in the valley [illegible] the report that the [illegible] soon be receiving its [illegible] supply from the Southern [illegible] Power Company, located at [illegible], and thus do away [illegible] shortage of power [illegible] much complaint, [illegible] the industries of the valley [illegible] on electricity for their [illegible] amount of money.

[illegible] company has agreed to [illegible] transmission line capable [illegible] 15,000 volts, from [illegible] to Banning, a distance [illegible] miles, where the Holton [illegible] will take up the [illegible] the line on to El [illegible] of about 115 miles. An example of the remarkable producing capacity of Imperial Valley is shown in the fact that its products amount annually to over 75 per cent. of its entire assessed valuation. This is a striking thought when one stops to consider that in other parts of the country land which produces from 25 to 40 per cent. of its assessed valuation annually is considered extremely valuable. The assessed valuation of Imperial county is $19,000,000, while its estimated output for this year amounts to approximately $15,000,000, thus making the exact percentage 79 per cent.

BEAN PRICES ADVANCING.

Growers' Association in Ventura County Contemplates Holding Pooled Beans for Advance.

OXNARD, Nov. 15.—The directors of the Lima Bean Growers' Association, at their regular meeting here, discussed the advisability of withholding from the market at present all pooled beans. This, they believe, would give outsiders a chance to sell their holdings, and would later reap for the association members, the benefit of high prices sure to result on account of the short crop this year.

Early shipments of beans have been heavy. Ventura county alone shipped out almost 200 more cars of beans in October this year than in October, 1912—in fact, more beans were shipped out this October than in any one month in the history of the lima bean business. Where the warehouses are usually filled to capacity, much empty space is seen now. Stocks on the Pacific Coast in warehouses today are very much lighter, say the directors, than last season at this time.

The 1913 crop of California limas is much shorter than was expected. It is also believed that the Madagascar and Japanese crops will be short. With larger crops here and abroad last year, prices were considerably higher last year than this. The only reason, the association believes, for this is that this year all independent growers seem to be more anxious to get their crops sold, even at a price which is much less than their beans ought to bring at this time. The directors stated that every grower should be getting from $4.90 to $5, at least, for their beans recleaned, and that growers would get this if they would make up their minds not to sell at less.

Many growers who have been in the habit of holding their beans until after the first of the year are entirely sold out, so the directors believe it is up to the association growers to hold pooled beans for the higher market sure to come. No definite action along this line was taken at the meeting, the discussion being advisory only, at present.

ADEQUATE FIRE PROTECTION.

Venice Trustees Declare Themselves in Favor of a Water System Which Will Protect Property.

VENICE, Nov. 14.—Adequate fire protection and an efficient fresh-water supply to the residents of the fast growing "back country" is the greatest civic problem confronting Venice at the present time. After a session of several hours' duration by the City Trustees of Venice yesterday afternoon, the Trustees declared themselves in favor of a municipal water plant. To this end the Trustees, as a committee as a whole, decided to secure information and data regarding a fresh-water plant, which would give the city better service at lower rates, and at the same time afford sufficient pressure for fire apparatus. It was decided to engage the services of a competent civil engineer to draw up plans for a water plant.

At the present time five small water companies control the water supply of Venice, Ocean Park and Santa Monica. These companies, it is said, cannot furnish enough water for the rapidly-expanding back country, nor can the pressure afforded by these companies be depended upon for fire protection.

At the present time Venice has no fresh water for fire protection, and the danger to those who are not within the range of the salt-water system is said to be imminent. It is pointed out that the inadequate fire protection for the back country residents is the greatest of the municipal inefficiencies of Venice.

The high-pressure salt-water system now in use in the most thickly populated district of Venice, is said to be effective beyond comparison. It is excellent as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough, declare the Trustees. It is also admitted that to increase the salt-water system every year or so to meet the needs of the rapidly-expanding back country district is too expensive a proposition, and the city eventually will have to resort to a fresh-water system for fire protection. A municipal water plant was finally agreed upon as the best way to settle the question.

THE POLICE STATION.

The Trustees also decided yesterday to secure options on favorable sites for a new Police Station, Emergency Hospital, City Hall and jail, combined, the city having long since outgrown its present cramped and inadequate police quarters. There are only three cells, adjoining the deskroom now being used as the Police Station, and there is no place where a woman could be securely locked up in the city outside of a common room.

SOCIAL CIRCLES STIRRED.

San Diego Manifests Interest in the Marriage of Society Girl and Young Surgeon.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 15.—Social circles here were stirred today by the marriage this morning of Miss Rachel Granger and Dr. Harry Wegeforth, which took place at the Wegeforth home in South Park at 9 o'clock, in the presence of only a few intimate friends of the bride and bridegroom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fred Leimbrock of the German Lutheran Church, Miss Emma Wegeforth, sister of the bridegroom, acting as bridesmaid, and William Moore as best man. The bride was becomingly attired in a traveling costume of gray broadcloth, and carried lilies of the valley. After a wedding breakfast the newly-wedded couple left for a honeymoon trip by auto. The marriage was somewhat in the nature of an elopement, against the wishes of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Granger, who have declined to acknowledge the engagement of the young people. Mrs. Granger is at present in the East, and Mr. Granger refused to attend the ceremony.

Dr. Wegeforth is one of the most prominent young surgeons of this city, having come here from Baltimore, where he was graduated from the Baltimore Medical School, and later was head of the Northeastern Dispensary. Mrs. Wegeforth has lived in San Diego most of her life, and until this year was a student in the Bishop's School at La Jolla, making a trip to Europe this summer in company with several other girls from the school.

NEWS BRIEFS.

James A. Murray, Montana millionaire and a heavy stock holder in the Cuyamaca Water Company, arrived in San Diego yesterday, and with Col. Ed Fletcher left to inspect the water sheds of the company, with the view to extending and improving the entire system. The recent rainfall put over six feet of water in the Cuyamaca dam, which has been dry for weeks.

Superintendent of Water H. R. Fay and City Engineer H. A. Whitney will leave for Los Angeles tonight, from which point they will go to investigate the proposition of a large corporation to provide water for San Diego from a site in the San Jacinto Mountains, in Riverside county, 125 miles away. They will be accompanied by engineers from here and from Los Angeles, who will act as an advisory committee with the superintendent. Should the proposition be considered, the corporation, according to Fay, will either develop the water and sell it to the city or would purpose to sell the water rights to the city. Mayor O'Neall and Councilman D. K. Adams will represent the city at the water convention Saturday, and Councilman Benbough and Judge M. R. Thorp will represent local improvement clubs. City Attorney T. B. Cosgrove yesterday decided the water-bond election could be held December 30, and the Council will affirm that date at the next meeting.

MAY REPEAL DRASTIC LAW.

Whittier Ordinance Prohibiting Sale of Tobacco on Sunday May Be Revoked—News Briefs.

WHITTIER, Nov. 15.—That Whittier's drastic law against the selling of any and all tobacco on Sunday may be repealed is evident from the introduction of a new ordinance before the City Trustees, which would do away with the much-mooted provision, but would also provide other even more drastic regulations concerning the use of the weed. While nullifying the Sunday selling law the proposed new law would make it unlawful for any minor to use tobacco in any form or to have any tobacco in his possession. That the new ordinance will provoke a considerable lot of warm discussion is evident from the attitude of those taking the various sides of the situation.

PYTHIAN INSPECTION.

Local Pythians are preparing to entertain the grand officers of the lodge next Tuesday evening. The grand officers include many up-State gentlemen as well as those from Los Angeles, and the arrangements for the proper entertainment of the distinguished guests will be rather elaborate. The occasion for the visit is the regular inspection of the lodge work and an elaborate banquet will be given in connection with the evening's programme.

BOOST LECTURE.

The Whittier Board of Trade, on the recommendation of Frank Wiggins, secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, have arranged for a lecture by F. V. Fisher for Tuesday evening, November 25. Fisher is director of the lecture bureau of the Panama-Pacific Exposition and is just starting on an extended eastern trip to tell the transmontane people of the salubrious Golden State.

ANOTHER HOLIDAY.

Eleven hundred young Americans attending the Whittier schools were made happy today when it developed that Monday, November 24, will be a holiday and the schools will be closed for the day. According to the work of the last Assembly many of the regular holidays were made not holidays so far as school closing is concerned; however, it was provided that any day specially set aside as a holiday by the proclamation of the President or the Goverior should be observed as a holiday by the schools. Therefore, all schools must close on "Serra Day," the Governor having proclaimed a holiday November 24 in honor of California's famous mission founder.

PROMOTERS ARE BESET.

Officials of the Tulare County Citrus Fair Bump into a Shoal of Troubles.

VISALIA, Nov. 15.—Officials of the Tulare County Citrus Fair, which is to be held in this city next month, have been having a strenuous time administering the affairs of the fair in such a manner as to meet with the approval of the county in general, no less than three protests having already been made against the fair plans.

The initial objection came from the Eastside towns who objected to the dates originally set—the ten days before Christmas—on the allegation that this would seriously interfere with their holiday trade. Changes were accordingly made in the date.

Then came an objection from the Tulare County Band Association who maintained that the fair should buy home music and employ the Tulare County Band rather than a musical organization from San Francisco. No action was taken on this one. The last protest came from the Visalia Ministerial Association who object to the fair being open Sunday. This objection is now under advisement.

Mrs. Anna Mills Johnson, who has been placed in charge of the women's department of the Tulare County Citrus Fair has announced the committees to be placed in charge of the various departments as follows:

General—Mrs. Anna M. Johnston, Mrs. J. F. Beyer, Mrs. Ben M. Maddox, Mrs. A. R. Cutler, Mrs. J. Sub Johnson.

Floriculture—Mrs. J. E. Combs, Mrs. A. H. Murray, Mrs. May Hammond, Mrs. Rollin Harris, Miss Helen Brown.

Housekeeping Industries—Mrs. H. Askin, Mrs. G. W. Small, Mrs. Rosa Spaulding, Mrs. A. Strauch, Mrs. J. A. Allen.

Needlework—Mrs. E. M. Perden, Mrs. A. D. Sweet, Mrs. Ida Ketner, Mrs. D. M. McFadzean, Mrs. D. L. Wishon.

Art Department—Mrs. J. K. Yeakum, Mrs. M. E. Rower, Mrs. T. A. Elliott, Mrs. J. M. Kelsey, Mrs. Della Aulman.

Juvenile—Miss Elsie Crowley, A. M. Simons, W. F. Hank, Miss Carrie Barnett.

BUSINESS BEHIND BARS.

K. Masuno, a Japanese cadet, pleaded guilty yesterday before the local immigration officers of being about a house of prostitution on Alameda street, and he will be deported. He is held in $3500 bail and the government allowed him thirty days in which to close his business. As he cannot get bond he will be compelled to do his business behind the bars.

GRAND OPERA COMPANY COMING

Immediate Success of Daring Undertaking.

Famous Singers from America and Europe.

Chorus and Orchestra Recruited in California.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

California now has its own grand opera company, the "Western Metropolitan," which has met with great success in San Francisco, playing to large and enthusiastic audiences for the last five weeks.

Daring, energy and ability have made this remarkable achievement possible.

On November 24, Los Angeles will have an opportunity of receiving in its usual warm-hearted way an aggregation of talent hardly second to the famous Chicago Grand Opera Company, if two or three world-renowned artists are omitted.

From Genoa, Milan and other Italian cities, from Warsaw, Madrid, London, Berlin, Buenos Ayres and Mexico City the principals of the company have been gathered. But the efficient and splendid chorus and musicians, without which the brightest operatic stars cannot save the performance from dimness, were supplied wholly by Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles. The chorus was provided wholly by local talent cultivated and developed by Luigi Ceccatti and Maria Napoleoni through three months of careful preparation for the series of operas which is to open at the Auditorium on November 24. Although most of the operas to be given will be sung in Italian, only a few of the men and women that constitute the chorus are of Italian birth or descent, but the brightness and intelligence of the educated western boys or girls from the cosmopolitan population of this region have made possible a more beautiful and a more perfect vocal ensemble than any previous organization has ever brought to this city.

All San Francisco has been at the feet of this organization for five weeks. It needs but one night to jump into favor in Los Angeles, for our musical public will at once realize that this company is worthy of a leading position in grand opera. When overtures were made to Ruggiero Leoncavallo to come to the Pacific Coast and conduct a twelve weeks' season of opera, no one thought he would do so except the organizers. They knew his frequent expression of a desire to meet the public of the Golden West who were so generous in their reception of his musical companion and friend, Mascagni, years ago. He has looked with just a little envy upon the success of Puccini's story in the tragic music of "The Girl of the Golden West," and longed to come in contact with this wonderful public that had been so kind to the other two members of Italy's trio of exceptional composers. When a master has written a work like Pagliacci his admirers always tremble lest his newer works should be a duplicate in spirt, if not in form, of his old success. In Leoncavallo one finds a composer whose every effort seems to be different from anything which has preceded it, and his reputation on the Coast is now glorified by his great opera, "Zingari," which was produced for the first time in America three weeks ago at the Tivoli Operahouse in San Francisco. It is an original and striking work representing the inspiration of the melodious Italian genius under the spell of that wonderful Eastern Europe where the Magyars merge with the Slav and the wonderful Romany tribes still preserve their picturesque entity. It is a lyric creation with a vibrant melodic variation, and when he steps from the atmosphere of the Gypsyland and enters the cultured and excitable precincts of Parisian life in his composition of "Zaza" he is equally antipodean from either "Pagliacci" or "Zingari." We shall have the opportunity of hearing this eminent composer and conductor when he opens at the Auditorium as director of not only his own compositions, but of some of the Verdi operas as well.

In Nini Belucci is found a second director whose words to his musicians as well as to his people on the stage seem to invoke operatic fervor. He will prove a notable figure in this remarkable company when he conducts the masterpieces of his Italian predecessors. The Tivoli Operahouse for the past five weeks has resembled the opening night of the Metropolitan with its circular boxes and orchestra floor filled in addition to the upper galleries. There is no reason why society cannot attend $2 opera and enjoy it fully as well as $7 opera, provided it is given in a perfect manner, and Los Angeles music lovers will undoubtedly find a Mecca in their Auditorium grand operahouse beginning November 24.

As to the soloists, it is almost impossible to say who are the leaders. The sopranos are headed by Carmen Melis, a singer who has been a favorite with the Hammerstein organization, the Manhattan Operahouse, with Henry Russell of the Boston Opera Company, who has scored heavily at the Covent Garden in London, together with Destinn, Caruso and other stars of the Metropolitan Operahouse. Two other great sopranos who are bound to create a sensation will be Lucia Crestani, from the La Scala of Milan, where, under the direction of Toscanini, she has sung in each of the fall offerings in that city, and Maria Moscisca from the Imperial Theater of Warsaw, and the Lyceum of Barcelona. Three exceptionally good tenors are vieing with each other to become the premier, and as they are all young, talented, and with large repertoires, it is still a question of who will become the "western Caruso," although Luca Botta, a young Corsican, seems to be in the lead. For two years he has sung in Milan, is but 28 years old, but has attained a reputation of being the greatest of all Pinkerton's in "Madame Butterfly," a Cavaradossi of tremendous dramatic force in "La Tosca," and a superb Rudolfo in "La Boheme." For dramatic roles Umberto Chiodo, who has just completed a tour of the principal cities of Europe, giving his impersonation of Verdi's Otello is a close second, and Pietro Schiavazzi, one of Italy's best singers, a great favorite of Covent Garden, where last year he made two memorable hits in "Carmen" and "Conchita," in which he sang with Tarquinia Tarquini, gives a trio of great promise.

In the baritones will be found Carlo Montesanto, gifted with a big and mellow voice, a great actor as well as a great singer, coming directly from the Grand Operahouse at Buenos Ayres, and whose singing of the prologue of "Pagliacci" is pronounced by Leoncavallo as more perfect than any other of the Italian baritone. Georges Mascal, formerly with the Chicago Opera Company, and the Grazzi Opera Company, has been particularly engaged to sing the role of Afhanael in "Thais," with Carmen Melis. From the San Carlo of Naples and the Royal Theater of Madrid comes Giovanni Grandini, rounding out an incomparable baritone list. In the contraltos are found Fannie Anitua. Fannie Anitua was born in Mexico City and has been one of the genuine favorites during each operatic season, and has sung in all of the capitals of South America. She is the possessor of a beautiful voice and recognized dramatic ability. Louisa Ceccatti and Louisa Sylvia are both capable singers. In the bassos Amelio Sesona and Giovanni Theis are best known. These are only a few of the western metropolitan favorites.

Regarding the repertoire for the first week on Monday evening and Wednesday matinee, "Madame Butterfly" will be sung with Carmen Melis as Cho-Choe-San and Louisa Ceccati as Suzuki. Luca Botta, the brilliant tenor, as Pinkerton, and Montesanto as Sharp[illegible] Brilli singing the role of the Pr[illegible]

On Tuesday evening and Saturday matinee the double bill of "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "I Pagliacci" will be sung under the direction of Leoncavallo, the composer, with Montesanto singing the prologue. Moscisca as Nedda, Modesti as Toreo the clown, and Naqui the Harlequin, Schiavazzi as Canio, master of the troupe. Montesanto will also be heard in the role of Silvio, the villager. For Wednesday and Saturday evenings an all-star cast of "Aida" is planned. Thursday evening "Carmen" will be sung with Carmen Melis as the cigarette girl. Luca Botta as Don Jose and Montesanto in the role of the Toreador. Friday evening, under the direction of the composer, Leoncavallo, his beautiful new opera in two acts, "Zingari, the Gypsies," the first time in Los Angeles, with Carmen Melis as Sleana, the gypsy girl, daughter of the chief of the tribe; Umberto Chiodo as the Radu, the Prince of Dreams; Montesanto as Tamar, the gypsy minstrel, and Brilli as chief of the tribe and father of Sleana. The time of this opera is the present and the plot is laid on the Danube River, on the borders of Roumania and Hungary. The second week, Monday and Friday evenings, "La Tosca;" Tuesday evening, "Cavalleria Rusticana," and "Zingari," Leoncavallo as conductor. Wednesday matinee, "Carmen;" Wednesday evening and Saturday matinee, "Zaza," first time in Los Angeles, with Leoncavollo yielding the baton; Thursday and Saturday nights, "Otello."

The reserve seat sale is now on at the box office and it should be remembered that this is a $5 opera for a $2 price. The maximum of artistry for the minimum price. Season seats may be secured for the ten performances or single seats for any of the events.

Song birds

Of the Western Metropolitan Opera Company to appear at the Auditorium.

The Word.

O Earth! thou hast not any wind that blows
Which is not music; every weed of thine
Pressed rightly flows in aromatic wine;
And every humble hedgerow flower that grows,
And every little brown bird that doth sing,
Hath something greater than itself, and bears
A living Word to every living thing,
Albeit it hold the message unawares.
All shapes and sounds have something which is not
Of them; a Spirit broods amid the grass;
Vague outlines of the Everlasting Thought
Lie in the melting shadows as they pass;
The touch of an Eternal Presence thrills
The fringes of the sunsets and the hills.

The Week.

KITTY GORDON AT MOROSCO.

"Alma" Will Be Vehicle for Special Engagement.

"Chocolate Soldier" Majestic Attraction.

Bills at Vaudeville and Picture Houses.

The biggest and most interesting event of the new theatrical week is the appearance of the famous Kitty Gordon with the Morosco Producing Company in her former great musical farce success, "Alma, Where Do You Live?"

Miss Gordon begins her special limited engagement at the Broadway playhouse this afternoon, and from all advance indications her engagement will prove a record-breaker in attendance, for the box office reports a sale of seats that is far in excess of any offering since the opening of this new playhouse one year ago.

Miss Gordon is one of the most prominent figures on the musical comedy stage and her engagement here is particularly interesting for the fact that it will show her in her original role of Alma, in which she appeared for one solid year at Weber's Theater, New York, and in which she scored the biggest success of her entire career.

The part of Alma gives Miss Gordon unlimited opportunity to display the famous Kitty Gordon gowns and in this matter alone the production should prove a veritable sensation to feminine Los Angeles.

"Alma, Where Do You Live?" is a musical farce from the German, George V. Hobart being responsible for the English version, which proved such a hit in New York. First of all it is three solid hours of the spiciest sort of fun, with keen dialogue and situations that are nothing less than hilarious in laugh-producing qualities.

Musically, "Alma, Where Do You Live?" is a genuine delight, for it possesses eighteen fine numbers of the most whistleable variety, including the famous "Alma, Where Do You Live?" one of the most fascinating song numbers brought forth on the musical comedy stage in many years.

Every popular member of the Morosco company will be seen in Miss Gordon's support; Charles Ruggles will have the part of the young country boy; James Corrigan will be found splendidly cast as Theobald; Helena Sullivan as his wife; Grace Valentine as his daughter Germaine, while Morgan Wallace comes over from the Burbank Theater especially for the part of Count Bolivario. Franklyn Underwood will play the detective; James K. Applebee, the minister, and Donald Bowles will also be seen on the Morosco stage for the first time in many weeks in a comedy role in which he should score a genuine hit. Agnes Caine Brown has been especially engaged for the role of Louise, the maid, which affords her fine singing opportunities, and the others of this organization have equally fine opportunities.

Scenically, "Alma, Where Do You Live?" will be the most elaborate and complete production that has ever been seen on the Morosco stage.

Majestic.

Brimming with melody and effervescent with the satiric humor of George Bernard Shaw, "The Chocolate Soldier" will come to delight local theatergoers with all the elaborate equipment of the splendid Whitney Opera Company, including the Whitney Opera Comique Orchestra, at the Majestic Theater for one week, commencing tomorrow night with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Entirely an unknown quantity, this opera marched into New York and won success for itself unequalled in the last two decades, and then entered Chicago, Boston and London, and compelled a greater praise than critics had ever before given a light opera. Not only is the melodious score by Oscar Straus real music, overflowing with the appealing sensuousness of the Viennese love music and whirling, Gypsy-like marches that set the toes to tingling and the heart to beating, but the story contains delightful comedy, its plot is consistent, and plausible, and the characters are human beings, doing human things in an explainable way.

Viennese in tone, "The Chocolate Soldier" finds its locale in the romantic Dragoman Pass of Bulgaria, and F. C. Whitney has brought all the quaint costuming, embroideries and martial glitter direct from that region. The company includes Antoinette Kopetsky, Charles Purcell, Lottie Collins, Lucille Saunders, Francis J. Boyle, George Tallman and Sylvain Langlois.

Orpheum.

Lulu Glaser, the delightful little sunbeam comedienne, with Tom Richards, in their compelling little skit, "First Love," will enter their last week at the Orpheum beginning Monday matinee. This announcement will, of course, cause keen regret, for Miss Glaser has made a decided hit here, but at the same time, the new bill is so strong that it will tend to take away the bitterness herein involved.

For it is headed by Hassard Short's production of the noted Lamb's club gambol, "Dance Reveries." This beautiful spectacle is a revue of the dances of the past two decades or more. Colt Albertson, well known here, is the man involved, and in his dream he sees the many girls of the past, in their now quaint costumes, approach, and do the dances that were familiar in their day. These run from the hoop-skirted beauty of war times, on down through the bustle and crinoline days, the Gibson girl period, and so forth, to the hobbled maid of today. Each girl is a beauty, each costume is correct, and each dance is a work of art.

Another fine act is that of Mack and Orth, in "The Wrong Hero." These song writers and singers are great fa-

MUSICAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Ernestine Schumann-Heink, Famous Contralto.

Orpheus Club First Concert of Season.

Annual Concert Given by Egan Faculty.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the great singer of the present generation, will return to Los Angeles next week, presenting three entirely different programmes on the evenings of Tuesday, November 18; Thursday, the 20th, and a farewell matinee on Saturday, the 22nd, at the Auditorium Theater. Tuesday, the 18th, will be the first course Philharmonic evening, and as a special favor, Madame Schumann-Heink has consented to being included on the matinee series of the Philharmonic course, taking the place of the Madame Alda concert, now past. All who might have desired to take advantage of the low rates to be secured by becoming Philharmonic patrons will be elated at this bit of news, as it will enable them to hear the greatest of all contraltos, in conjunction with Kathleen Parlow, the English violinist; Clara Butt and Kennerley Rumford, contralto and baritone; John McCormack, the Irish tenor; the Flonzaley Chamber Music Quartette, and one other substitute to take the place of Harold Bauer's concert of last Saturday.

Schumann-Heink is a unique personage in the world of music. For thirty years she has been singing, first in opera in which her success was tremendous, and in more recent years in recital. Her generosity this year has prompted her to present a young violinist of extraordinary merit, new to the American public—Nina Fletcher, for whom Philip Hale predicted a great future over a year ago, who will be heard in several numbers, but these will in no way interfere with the length or breadth of the Schumann-Heink programmes.

Faculty Concert Egan School.

Temple Auditorium, on Friday evening, November 21, will be the scene of a notable music and dramatic affair, when the Egan School of Music and Drama will present its annual faculty concert. The event this year serves not only as the annual faculty event, but is to take on the form of a celebration of the near-completion of the new Egan school on Figueroa street, into which the Egan forces will move next month.

Assisting the soloists at the concert will be an orchestra of fifty symphony players, under the direction of Adolf Tandler, who is instructor of theory and harmony in the school. The programme is a pretentious one, and sufficiently varied to compel a widespread interest. All the artists to appear are soloists of note. Brahm van den Berg, the Dutch pianist, will be heard with orchestra for the first time on the Pacific Coast, and has selected the brilliant and difficult Grieg A Minor concerto. Thomas Taylor Drill, the basso cantante, heard altogether too infrequently as soloist, will sing Handel's "Hear Me, Ye Winds and Waves." Grace Widney Mabee, soprano; Edith Lillian Clark, pianiste; Florence Dobinson, reader, and Frank C. Egan, will be heard, the latter in a reading of Schilling's "Das Hexenlied" (Witch Song,) accompanied by the orchestra.

Others to be heard are Vernon Spencer, who will play Campbell-Tipton's charming "Sonata Heroic;" Francisca Nast, who has not yet been heard with orchestra here, will play the Andante from Mendelssohn's concerto, and Charles H. Demorest, the organist, will close the programme by playing Guilmant's "Pastorale" and "Finale" from First (Bach) Symphony, accompanied by the orchestra. Axel Simonsen, the well-known 'cellist, will play a Hungarian rhapsodie by Popper.

Senora Matildita will also be seen in two fancy dances, "The Blue Bird" and "Fireflies," assisted by a ballet of ten dancers.

Thomas Taylor Drill, basso—Francisca Nast, violinist.

Orpheus Club.

The Orpheus Club, under the direction of Prof. J. P. Dupuy, will give its first concert of the season at Temple Auditorium tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock. The following is the programme: "Sunset" (Beardsley Van de Water,) the club; "The Redman's Death Chant" (Paul Bliss,) the club; Variations Symphonique, Op. 23 (L. Boellmann,) Master Alfred Wallenstein; "Forget-Me-Not" (Franz Abt,) the club; Ballade F Major (Chopin,) Nocturne F Sharp Minor (Will Garroway,) Scherzo (Godard,) Mr. Garroway; "Thanatopsis" (Joseph Mosenthal,) the club; bass solo by Verner A. Campbell; quintette, Messrs. Russell, Schweitzer, Ingham, Hatch and Dunwell; "Mother O' Mine" (Will Garroway,) the club; "Hunting Song" (W. H. Pommer,) tri-quartette; "Wiegenlied," Op. 11, No. 2 (Hauser,) "Mazurka" (Popper,) Master Alfred Wallenstein; "Suomi's Song" (Franz Mair,) the club; "Vineta" (Franz Abt,) the club.

People's Orchestra Concert.

An unusually fine programme will be presented by the People's Orchestra today. Vernon Spencer (pianist,) Cora Cross and Alta S. Smith will sing the "Barcarolle" from "The Tales of Hoffman," with the People's Chorus as the obligato. The chorus will also sing the "Holy" from the "Requiem Mass." Last, but not least, the man who transcribed "Dixie" will play it with this orchestra, and the story of its transcription will be told. Fill the house and show that "Dixie" is one of our songs.

U.S.C. Players.

On November 22 the University of Southern California will present its annual play, "The Man from Home," at the Temple Auditorium. Prof. Nattkemper of the college of oratory and expression is directing the play, and under his artistic supervision, fortified by his many years of experience in dramatic productions, this year's performance promises to be one of the greatest that has ever been produced by amateur performers in the Southland. The members of the cast have been picked from the various colleges and represent the most able talent which could be found among the 3900 students of the institution, each one being adapted for the part to be played. Ray Murry, who will enact Daniel Voorhes Pike, the leading part, has been before the students of the university for the last three years in plays given by the dramatic clubs of the college of expression. He has also appeared before the public a number of times in comedies, farces and dramas presented at the Gamut Club. The leading lady's role will be taken by Miss Kallwoda of liberal arts, and Miss Hummel from oratory will play Lady Creech. The Earl of Hawcastle will be played by Mr. Smith of law, and Mr. Collins of law will play Grand Duke of Vasilivitch. Mr. Leonher will play Almeric St. Aubyn; Mr. Foss, Horace Granger Simpson; Mr. Tribby, Ivanoff, and Miss Betts, Comtesse De Champigny.

The annual play of the university has heretofore been given at the Gamut Club, but owing to the demand for a larger house more adequate stage facilities and a house more in keeping with the magnitude of the production, the manager, Mr. Wheeler, decided to stage this year's performance in the Auditorium, but to maintain the former prices of admission of 50 and 75 cents.

Woman's Orchestra Concerts.

The Woman's Orchestra of Los Angeles will be heard in three recitals at the Auditorium Theater during the months of December, January and February. The first is scheduled for the afternoon of Friday, December 5, with Mme. Teresa Carreno, the world's most distinguished woman pianist, as soloist. The second will be on Friday afternoon, January 16, with Francis Macmillen, America's well-known violinist, as soloist. The third is announced for Friday evening, February 13, with Sibyl Sammis Macdermid, soprano, and George Schoenefeld, harpsichord soloist, as the bright particular stars of this final evening.

In bidding for the attention of the public this season the orchestra is better equipped than ever before. It has added a number of excellent artists to its personnel, has purchased some new instruments, has a library of better proportions than it has claimed before, and, under the baton of Henry Schoenefeld, its new conductor, has made decided strides in its interpretations.

The members are all residents of Los Angeles. Many are natives of this city, and a few have had their musical education here. About one-third of them have at one time or another spent several years abroad finishing and have proved in the past two years worthy of general attention.

Julius Kranz Recital.

Julius Kranz, violinist, assisted by Anna Schulman at the piano, will appear in recital on Saturday evening, November 22, at Gamut Club Auditorium, presenting selections from Grieg, Ernst, Lalo, Schubert-Wilhelmj and Sarasate.

Douglas Organ Recital.

Tonight's organ recital at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral beginning at 7:15 o'clock follows: Ernest Douglas, organist; Finale from Tenth Sonata (Rheinberger,) "Alla Marcia," Third Movement from Organ Suite in E Minor (Douglas,) "An Irish Phantasy" (Wolstenholme.)

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink,

Prima donna contralto, in recital, the Auditorium, evenings November 18 and 20. Matinee, November 22. Philharmonic, evening November 18.

ACTIVE WOMEN.

Mrs. James Knott, part owner and active manager of four apartment-hotels, who died recently, made more than $1,000,000 in twenty-eight years in New York City.

Mrs. Amelia Fowler, under whose direction the navy's battle-flags and trophies are being restored, took up the study of scientific embroidery when a girl, as a pastime, and later adopted it as a profession. She began her work at Annapolis last year, and is assisted by several score of needlewomen. Mrs. Fowler is a resident of Boston.

A revolution in the household, the husband taking the wife's place as cook, was suggested by Dr. Mary Murdock at the women workers' conference at Hull, England, as a means of bringing the modern husband into line with his responsibilities.

Grace Woodruff, who swam a mile at sea off Falmouth with her drowning mother in her arms, has since been critically ill of pneumonia.

Sixty-three years in the service of one family, in which time she has ministered to the wants of two generations, is the remarkable record of Ellen Hume, housekeeper for John T. Morris and his sister, Miss Lydia T. Morris, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Olive Schultz is now a licensed chauffeur in New York and works in partnership with Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch in the interest of the suffrage movement. She says that she made a taxicab of her automobile by placing a meter in it. Her car will hold seven persons and in her opinion, it is as necessary to have women taxicab drivers, to prevent accidents, as women police officers.

BITS OF VERSE.

Love and Duty.

Love came one day with laughing eyes and opened wide the door,
And in my heart would build a nest to rest forever more.
He whispered sweet in luring tones rich stores which he possessed,
And joy sang in my lonely heart as love my soul caressed.

But calm-eyed Duty heard his lay he caroled sweet and strong,
And stepped within the open door and hushed his happy song;
With clear and steady eyes she stood between Young Love and I,
With trembling hands I closed the door, and bade Young Love—good-by.

—[Clara Humphrey Crowder in Topeka State Journal.

Peace.

There was no shout of legions in array,
No sound of drum or tramping of doomed feet
That pass forever up the crowded street
To meet with death along the lonely way.
Out of the quiet of the perfect day
There came no cry of panic and retreat,
No faces, aged and pallid with defeat
Fled from the field where dead and dying lay,
But in a garden where the roses bloom,
With sympathizing touch and clad in white,
A woman stooped to kiss a crippled child—
A stranger passed into a darkened room
To keep his vigil through a fevered night,
Whereat a tired face looked up and smiled.

—[H. P. Allen in the Outlook.

The Dust.

I am the dust, and I creep and crawl
In at the window and over the wall;
Over the pictures and over the books,
And gather to rest in the unswept nooks.

I am a part of all that has been,
Living or dead the world within;
Dissolved by time and freed by rust
To a million million fragments of dust.

Dust of the monarch and dust of his crown,
Dust of the cap and bells, and the clown;
Dust of the warrior and dust of his sword;
And dust of all of the hosts of the Lord.

Dust of the slayer and dust of the slain,
Dissolved in the whirling void again;
Dust of the women who gave them birth;
And dust of all living and dead of the earth.

Out in the farthest atmosphere
I float and drift as I drift in here;
Shining in rays of the uttermost stars
As I shine in the beams of the casement bars.

—[M. E. Buhler in New York Sun.

PROGRESSIVES.

Edward Gunster of Harvey's Lake, Pa., has cultivated chestnuts that measure in the burr three and one-half inches in diameter.

Thomas Perry of Laconia, N. H., has grown a sugar pumpkin vine which climbs thirty-seven feet up the side of an old elm tree and has twenty-one sugar pumpkins growing from the vine.

The prize 1913 pumpkin grower to date is Daniel Holt of Bingham, Me., who raised a pumpkin measuring five feet in circumference and weighing sixty-seven and three-quarter pounds.

Dr. R. G. Sloan of Conway, S. C., owns what is thought to be the largest pumpkin vine in the world. It covers one-eighth of an acre and has on it 500 pumpkins, the largest of which weighs 100 pounds.

Lester Thompson of Biddeford, Me., has in his possession a mushroom which weighs six pounds and seven ounces. It was picked on a local farm, where others were found weighing from three to five pounds.

Park Shaubach of Strasburg, Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, found six-pound sweet potatoes when he gathered his crop the other day. Some of them were over two feet long.

Jesse Childs of Forsythe, Ga., is exhibiting a stalk of corn grown on his place on which there are nine well-matured ears. He planted a great many varieties of corn and found several stalks with six and seven ears.

Farmer Dulles of Chester county, Pennsylvania, has raised a sweet potato weighing thirty-one ounces, and Farmer Breining of Williamsport, Pa., has raised a squash weighing fifty-two pounds.

"Yes, It Gives a Queenly Complexion Quickly, Surely"

Long Treasured Secret Formulas That Have Made Valeska Suratt the Most Celebrated Self-Made Beauty on the Modern Stage.

By Valeska Suratt.

NEVER was I satisfied to have merely a pretty complexion—I demanded an exquisite one. The creams you buy in the stores already prepared are all right in a way, for softening the skin a little, and for those who realize they have to keep up the use of them for months, and perhaps for a year or two before they produce even a slight result. But for one who is unwilling to follow, duck-like, in the beaten track, and who wants a complexion others will really envy, and wants it quickly, with little expense, the formula given below is supreme. It is a pity that every woman in the land cannot be apprised of this formula. Two tablespoonfuls of glycerine and one ounce of sintone should be thoroughly mixed with a pint of hot water. After this has cooled, and formed a fine satiny cream, it is ready to use. This takes but a few minutes and costs very little compared to what other creams cost which never can compare with this one in results. The sintone costs not more than fifty cents at any drug store. I have known muddy, colorless skins to take on a most exquisite, spotless, pinky white color after using this cream for a short time. It seems not only to render the outer skin clear of every blemish and spot, but to purify the skin underneath as well, making a beautiful complexion which will last for years.

"This Cream Works a Complete Transformation of Face, Arms, Hands, Neck and Shoulders."

been up to the high-water mark in spite of the rather bad weather conditions.

The announcement that the fourth week will be the last of this beautiful and brilliantly gowned musical play will doubtless even make the demand for seats all the bigger and it will not be surprising if the fourth week is not even more profitable for the management than the first three.

"The Quaker Girl" is by all odds the finest musical production the local stage has ever known and its tremendous success will long be remembered in local theatrical history.

Following "The Quaker Girl," Forrest Stanley will make his reappearance on the Burbank stage in a big revival of the famous comedy success, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," in which he scored such a phenomenal hit on the occasion of its presentation at the Burbank two years ago.

Lyceum.

The last four local exhibitions of the spectacular photo-play, "The Last Days of Pompeii," will be given at the Lyceum Theater today and tomorrow the films closing a highly successful two weeks' engagement tomorrow night. "The Last Days of Pompeii" are by all odds the most spectacular and interesting pictures, from more than one viewpoint that have ever been shown on a local screen and in their presentation Mr. Kleiene surpasses his first effort, "Quo Vadis."

Empress.

Music and fun will be the predominating features of the new Sullivan & Considine bill opening at the Empress Theater tomorrow afternoon. The new bill contains seven splendid, new and attractive features, headed by Andrew Tombes and a company of twelve clever people in the lively little one-act musical farce, "Cupid's Syndicate."

This act was recently produced on the "big-time" stages in the East, where it scored a hit of no small proportions. It was then immediately booked for its first transcontinental tour over the Sullivan & Considine circuit.

"Cupid's Syndicate" is a tabloid musical farce, brim full of the rarest kind of fun; merry musical numbers and novel dances by a chorus of Broadway beauties who can sing and dance as well as being pleasing to look at. The act is finely staged, brilliantly costumed and put together with all of the completeness that marks a big musical comedy production.

Second on the new bill is the screamingly funny travesty, "Othello Outdone," a travesty on Shakespeare presented by the Clayton and Drew players. In this travesty the lines of Shakespeare's "Othello" are very closely followed, except where the slightest twist of business or a little change of line bring forth a roar of laughter.

Third among the newcomers are Gruet and Gruet, the famous blackface comedians in their newest and funniest creation called, "Sam at the Circus." This act is said to be a genuine novelty in the funmaking line and comes with the reputation of being one of the funniest acts that has traveled the Sullivan and Considine circuit in many months.

There have been many characterizations of races on the vaudeville stage in the past few years, and in no country are they more appreciated than in the United States. On the new bill Tom O'Brien and Madalon Lear will present a picturesque little offering of the real Italian character, fresh from the land of spaghetti, rare wine and good voices.

Other new acts on the bill are Clarence Oliver, a story teller and singing comedian, who recently deserted the legitimate stage for vaudeville, and who met with instantaneous success on his first appearance in the eastern Sullivan and Considine theaters; Fred Snyder and Eunice Hallem, who offer one of the most artistic bits of terpsichorean art to be sent over this circuit, and the new and exclusive first-run Keystone comedies.

Pantages.

"The Serpent of the Nile," an elaborate scenic and electrical dancing spectacle, with nearly a score of dancing girls, under the personal direction of Bothwell Browne, the well-known impersonator of feminine types, will head the new bill at Pantages beginning with the Monday matinee.

There are many big dancing numbers in the spectacular production, including "Ballet Egyptien," "The Sacred Sword Dance," "The Dance of Incense" and a finale representing the death of Cleopatra, following the historical tradition that she died from the poison of the sacred serpent of Egyptian mythology. This dance of death as presented here by Bothwell Browne, a few months ago, was one of the most "horribly fascinating" pantomimic dances possible to conceive.

Brilliant costuming, beautiful girls and studied adherence to historic detail in staging, scenery and action make Bothwell Browne's production one of the most attractive vaudeville features of the season.

Will Armstrong, accompanied by Dorothy Dale and Ada Robertson, will present the laughable farce, "The Expressman." Singing and dancing numbers, imitations of famous comedians by Armstrong, and funny dialogue and situations, make this act one of the most reliable laugh-producers on the variety stage.

Gene and Arthur, a dainty maid and a clever comedian, offer singing and comedy with piano accompaniment.

Santo Santucci, wizard of the accordion, returns after an absence from the Pantages circuit of nearly a year. Santucci was a perfect riot the last time he appeared here and will doubtless repeat his success.

"The Terrible Terrys," a troupe of seven acrobats of the sensational circus type, are an added attraction. Nothing like the Terry's acrobatics have been seen here. They have recently arrived from Australia, hence the billing, "The Antipodean Sensation."

The Lowes, expert manipulators of

THAT "HINDLE WAKES" PERSON.

Fanny Hawthorne Exists Only on Paper, But Is an Interesting Creature Seelchen of "The Little Dream" a Better Lesson Yet Buried Deeper.

BY HENRY CHRISTEEN WARNACK.

BOOKS and plays never tell us how to do right, but are devoted to advice as to the best manner of wriggling out of something after a person is in bad. The simple proposition of not doing wrong in the first place never occurs to an author, for he would then have nothing to write about.

It is that way with gamblers. They assure you that their one desire is that they may get even and quit. That they were even before they started never dawns upon their fevered senses. Playwrights give us situations that grow out of wrong conduct. They let their characters make a mistake and then pose as very wise physicians to tell us what should be done about it.

Ah, well, we would never require laws if we did not break them before they were made, nor have need of conscience if there were such a thing as conscientious living. Some might go so far as to say that men are sinless before birth, and to suggest that they might save themselves much pain and not a little good reputation if they refrained from traveling by way of earth in the course of their eternal progress.

For this reason I am content to let Stanley Houghton have his way with Fanny Hawthorne in naughty "Hindle Wakes," and am glad enough for John Galsworthy to permit Seelchen to have her "Little Dream."

The last is the best of the two, but it will require a long time to convince the public of this, for people generally read the worst that is at hand. Right now it would not be easy to find anything naughtier than the Lancashire playlet and the women's clubs of the land seem to have found this out. It was published in a limited edition something more than a year ago and a fourth impression has been struck and exhausted.

A play is mightly lucky that attracts the attention of women's clubs. It may never get itself widely staged, but the author and publisher will make money. What a few women read and talk about all the women worth talking about buy whether they read it or not. The dramatic section of a woman's club is one grand little boost for the publishing business.

They have now taken to "Hindle Wakes," as they would to a nut sundae in ice-cream weather. It is essentially a woman's play, partly because it is unfit for them to read, or for men to read, either, and partly because it makes such a new kind of woman that she probably never existed at all except in the mind of her author. For that matter, a great many persons are so strange that they could hardly exist outside of the mind of God, and most of us never cease wondering how they ever happened there.

Fanny Hawthorne is a healthy factory girl whose father is the foreman of the mill at which she works. While spending the week end at the nearest city she proves herself a little beat and bigger fool by giving herself lightly to the factory owner's spoiled and thoughtless son, when she knows of his engagement to another girl, and has no great liking for him for herself. She is simply curious and out for a lark, and thinks that no one will be the wiser, especially as her girl chum goes cheerfully off with the youth who is spending the holiday with the lad of her own light fancy. The lie to her parents might have stuck, and that would have been an end to the story, had it not been for the fact that the other girl, Mary Hollister by name, was drowned. This precipitates the truth from the girl, who feels no great shame for herself nor that any wrong has been done her by the youth, and who resents having such a fuss made over it by his parents and hers.

The old folks on both sides can see no way out of it except for the two to marry and, under threat of disinheritance, the boy is compelled to give in. He is otherwise brought to this view of the situation by his fiancee, who loves him in spite of his moral lapse and would be glad to overlook the incident, but whose strict religious sentiment forces her to sacrifice him to the other girl as having the greater claim, and, to her way of thinking, the greater proof of his love. She tells him flatly that she, too, had rather he desired than to be held in high yet cold esteem. They are at the point of making all ar-

Hope For Bald Heads

Well Known Politician Nearly Bald Now Has Heavy Growth of Hair

Tells How He Did It.

A western politician, well known on account of his baldness and his ready wit surprised his friends by appearing with a heavy growth of hair; many of his friends did not know him, and others thought he had a wig. On being asked how he did it, he made the following statement: "I attribute the growth of my hair to the following simple recipe which any lady or gentleman can mix at home: To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth oz. of glycerine. Apply to the scalp two or three times a week with the finger tips. It not only promotes the growth of the hair, but removes dandruff, scalp humors and prevents the hair from falling out. It darkens streaked, faded, gray hair and makes the hair soft and glossy. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost and mixed at home."—[Advertisement.

rangements for the marriage when Fanny speaks out in meeting. She will have nothing to do with such a wedding and has no idea of tying herself up for life with a man she doesn't love, simply because she has made a fool of herself on one occasion. She still feels fit to be the wife of a man who could understand her and this boy is not big enough for her in the directions of her own emphasis. His money does not amount to a fiddlestick in her sight, because she has a trade and she means to live in her own way.

She has made a mistake and she knows it, but her pride does not confess this in words. Besides, a confession on this point would weaken her position in refusing formal marriage. She knows it is not honorable marriage, because only love is honorable and neither is in love with the other. She simply clears out from the home of the youth and her own home, too, amazing her mother and the boy's parents thereby, and perplexing her father, yet keeping friends with him.

I do not see any argument in all of this for a double standard for men or women, or for both. It merely again demonstrates the folly of prenuptial intimacy and suggests that marriage need not be the inevitable outcome of a mistake of this sort.

It comes down pretty hard on women in general, for it shows that the mother of the girl looked on the whole thing as an act of providence to secure her daughter a rich husband. She was even willing to believe that Mary Hollister's death was a reasonable part of this good plan. The other woman was like all other mothers of sons who find themselves embarrassed in this manner. She thought that such girls should not be allowed to live and that her son deserved all sympathy and perhaps a little praise.

Not much is to be learned from "Hindle Wakes," but we are doomed to see and hear a great deal of it, for no play so salacious as this can get by without wide comment.

John Galsworthy's Seelchen in "The Little Dream" is a pure little mountain flower who is normal and happy and good for the world. She is an inn-keeper's daughter in the Alps and is just budding into womanhood. She has plenty of character and sweetness and is destined to live a full life, which means gladness and pain in abundant measure.

A famous young mountain climber comes from London to climb the Big Horn. His name is Lamond. Her father is in bed for a day with a lame foot. Therefore she greets the guest and, after making him comfortable for the night, explains that there is no guide excepting Felsman, himself a noted mountain climber, but a man not above a necessary service. Felsman is in love with Seelchen, although she is hardly aware of it, or of love at all as yet, because her eyes have hardly turned to where, as Browning might put it, "life's flower is first discerned." Lamond, too, loves Seelchen on sight, after his fashion, and kisses her good night ere he turns to accept the sacrifice of her own bed while she takes a hard little couch on a broad sill of the window. Felsman comes in later and also kisses her good night.

Then she sleeps, and in her dreams the flowers turn to children with tinkling bells in their hands, and with sweet voices. The three mountain peaks, which are Cow Horn, Wine Horn and Big Horn, also speak to her in the tongue of man, and so does the wind, the mountain air and the far-away floating landscape of Italy, with its music and the many things that are in books.

All of this is very fantastic and reminds one of the "Blue Bird," and even of "Chanticleer." Indeed, its symbolism is very much like that of the former, but I think it might be harder to play. I also feel that its philosophy is more direct, and that it is a very clear prophecy of the choice the little maid is destined to make, and of what will follow it.

The Cow Horn speaks to her of peace and of the purity of the hills. The Wine Horn tells her of the city's throbbing, impetuous life, and of its quick, deep lessons through its pleasures and pains. The Great Horn is above pleasure and pain, above peace and strife, and is the mastery which needs not the cloak of flesh to express its supremacy and the bliss which may lie therein. It is the beyond man and is reached only after the other mountains have been ascended and descended in full strength.

One may safely guess, then, that Seelchen will go to London with Lamond and that she will one day return, a-wearied and deeply hurt, to Felsman's great, silent love and the peace of his hills. In the end she will stand alone with hands outstretched to the peak of isolated grandeur, calling, with even and distinct voice. "Great one, I come."

Coats A Special Monday Sale

Tomorrow we present the greatest collection of fashionable coats we have ever shown at one time. The great majority of them have arrived only within the past day or two, they are new in every particular. As to values, we but ask you to compare them with the most attractive you have seen or heard of.

Prices $19.50, $22.50, $25.00, $32.50, $35.00 and Up

Boucle, Duvetyn, Corduroy, Diagonal Boucle, Peau de Peche and a long list of other late novelty weaves, besides the staple Scotch and English woolens. Handsome Fur and Plush trimmings. Every wanted length, newest sleeve effects.

Sale Monday. Sizes for misses and women.

Tailleur Suits Essentially Parisian $29.50 to $35.00

In the suits we feature for tomorrow you will see copies of the latest French styles—the new cutaway coat of medium length whose collar and cuffs are of gold embroidered or brocaded velvet. One of the skirt models pictures a new peg-top style, broadest at the knee and tapering toward the waist and the hem—extremely smart and different looking.

These new suits are shown in chiffon broadcloth, poplin, eponge and several late corded loom effects.

Black, turco, foxglove, taupe and several popular blues are prominent colors. Unquestionably they represent the strongest values the Blackstone store ever offered.

Street and Evening Gowns Styles Direct From Paris

The gowns we present this week were selected from models originating in the salons of the foremost fashion artists of Paris. Some are true copies, others adaptations and modifications. Prices are but a fraction of the originals.

Two Specimens at $87.50

A street gown of black charmeuse with double tiered skirt edged with fur. The lace and net waist is entirely new in design and decoration, sleeves edged with fur.

An Evening Gown is of lemon colored chiffon taffeta, a four-tiered skirt with shadow lace minaret. The waist is of piquot edged net and shadow lace finished with silver band trimming, girdle with wide bow at back is of eco blue chiffon velvet.

Other exclusive styles ranging from $25.00 to $250.

Furs of Character Individuality, Quality

The original French models and the clever and exclusive adaptations in Furs were never so varied or so out of the ordinary. Nor were prices ever so nearly within the reach of all as they are this season. We buy our furs direct from the manufacturer, thereby eliminating the middleman's usual profit.

Scarfs, Stoles, Muffs, Coats and Complete Sets.

Mole, Fitch, Ermine, Mink, Lynx, Leopard, Hudson Seal, Skunk, Baby Lamb, Squirrel and Fox are the season's prime favorites.

Furs selected now will be securely packed and held for Christmas delivery. Choose while lines are complete.

Seasonable Vests & Tights $1.25

Choose your winter Knitwear now while assortments are complete. There's both profit and satisfaction in so doing.

Women's Vests and Tights of fine merino or silk and wool mixture in weights for now or cooler weather. High neck and long or short sleeves, Dutch neck and elbow sleeves; pants, knee or ankle lengths. $1.25.

Merode Underwear is knit to fit and every garment is hand finished.

GIVING HIM UP.

One of Laura Jean Libbey's Daily Talks on Heart Topics.

"I think of one—heaven help [illegible] pity me
Who loved me, and whom I lov[illegible]
long ago;
Who might have been—ah, what [illegible]
dare not think!
We are all changed, God judge [illegible]
for the best,
And help us do our duty and [illegible]
shrink,
And trust in heaven dumbly for the rest."

It is the sweet belief of [illegible] woman that, when two hearts [illegible] brought together by love's wonder[illegible] magnetism marriage will be the [illegible] sult. She never contemplates [illegible] overthrow, or that desire or [illegible] ment will knock together at [illegible] heart's door.

It is not every man to whom [illegible] woman gives the rich treasure of [illegible] affection who is worthy of the [illegible] bestowed upon him. She who lov[illegible] deeply is blind to his faults. [illegible] this does not hold good in regard [illegible] her relatives and friends. Their [illegible] are open to his every failing.

They constitute themselves a [illegible] cret-service bureau to acquaint them[illegible] selves of his past and present, with [illegible] view to conclude if he can make [illegible] happy future for the one near and dear to them. If perchance they touch upon a hidden romance, they throw open the door wide instead of concealing the skeleton in the closet. One of the greatest sorrows a woman can face is to discover that the [illegible] to whom she has given her [illegible] heart is unworthy of it; that [illegible] should never have sued for her af[illegible] fections and won them—being [illegible] honor bound to some other wo[illegible] He found here a fairer face, and his fickle heart veered to her.

WHEN HIS FOLLY FINDS HIM OU[illegible]

Such a man usually has the effron[illegible] t. plead with the maiden to for[illegible] and forgive.

He makes the most extra[illegible] promises to her that he will [illegible] her a good husband, because [illegible] really loves for the first time as [illegible] only love the woman whom [illegible] would wed. With her heart cry[illegible] out for him and judgment stern[illegible] commanding "No, no," she fights the bitterest battle that her soul has ever known. Others can say calmly, "Give him up!" It is not their hearts that are wrung; not their future that has to be lived.

Judgment interposes sternly: "Dare to do right! Dare to be true to your sense of noble womanhood! Give him up!" No home is happy which is shadowed by a doubt.

He who deceives a woman [illegible] may have an elastic conscience [illegible] no quake about deceiving her [illegible] if occasion warrants it. When [illegible] wife's confidence is found to be [illegible] placed, her shattered hopes are [illegible] easily mended. No matter how [illegible] a profligate may appear to grie[illegible] over giving up the expectation [illegible] making a sweet girl his bride, or [illegible] he may plead with her to trust [illegible] future with him, no true girl sho[illegible] be thus tempted to trust his vows. Despite her heart-struggle every [illegible] must know that she cannot change a bad man into a good one. Where one man can be reformed a score of them should be given up. There are some follies which cannot be condoned. Friends and relatives should be sure that they are right before they counsel a woman to break off a love match, to give up a 'lover' who has become dear as the apple of her eye to her. Trivial matters, such as love spats, should not count; jeal[illegible] ousies and pride should not [illegible]. Before giving him up a girl should test her own heart to see that it is strong enough to conform to her resolve. It takes considerable will-power to give up a man whom she knows to be rife with faults. No [illegible] doubts that the course of true love does not run smooth. Yet there should always be a sufficient reason to cause a girl to discard a man to whom she has plighted her betrothal vows.

When once she is cognizant [illegible] this reason exists, there should [illegible] no hesitation as to her course. [illegible] she makes up her mind that it would be best not to wed him she should not allow false pity to tamper with her judgment after she has taken her stand.

No pure woman can find [illegible] happiness with a drunkard or a depraved man; he who holds the [illegible] and fame of other women light. She who has given up a worthless lover at the dictate of her conscience must remember:

"'Tis better to have loved and lost
Than never to have loved at all."

The ashes of an old love must be swept away ere a worthier love can be lighted in her heart.

SCIENTISTS, EDUCATORS[illegible]

Sir James Dewar, the first man to obtain liquid and solid hydrogen, recently celebrated his seventieth birthday. He was also the co-inventor of cordite, the smokeless powder, and has taken a lifelong interest in chemical research.

Miss Olive C. Purser, the first [illegible] to obtain a scholarship at Trinity College, Dublin, after women were admitted to the university, has been appointed temporary lecturer in English history in the institution.

Masaharu Anesaki, who will be the first incumbent of the chair of Japanese language and literature recently established at Harvard, is at present teaching in the College of Literature in the Imperial University.

Dr. F. E. Lutz, associate curator of zoology of the American Museum of Natural History, has just returned from an expedition to Cuba in the interests of the museum with [illegible] specimens, consisting of various insects, spiders, and land snails, which will form one of the best collections of Cuban insects ever acquired by an institution in America. To give an idea of the magnitude of the task of classifying and identifying the numerous specimens gathered on the island, Dr. Lutz said it would be necessary to consult at least 4000 references.

When the Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann, rector of Trinity Church, Pittsburgh, Pa., was approached by a W.C.T.U. committee to use his influence in substituting grape juice for the fermented wine now used in the sacrament of the Episcopal Church, he replied: "Oh, dear me, why do all you good ladies waste so much time in energies of this kind? The Episcopal Church is not a grape-juice church."

Rather than continue to accept [illegible] a month from a benevolent society [illegible] pensioned priests, the Rev. [illegible] C. Pypiats, for thirty years pastor [illegible] St. Joseph's Polish Catholic Church, is going to sell newspapers on Chicago's streets. This inscription [illegible] hang above the stand: "This is [illegible] Pypiats, who for thirty years [illegible] his people in St. Joseph's Parish [illegible] Armitage avenue and [illegible] street, and in South Chicago."

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS

In the course [illegible] address she referred to the [illegible] paid to Dr. William Horace [illegible] when he was asked to occupy [illegible] minutes preliminary [illegible] of the vote on the re[illegible] of the famous commission of [illegible] who drafted the plan of re[illegible]. "It was a moment of [illegible] for the final decision [illegible] to be made as to the future [illegible] of the church. For three [illegible] nineteen picked men of [illegible] had been deliberating and [illegible] questions of ecclesiastical [illegible] with reference to the reorganization of Congregationalism. Its labors were now complete; its report [illegible] and for three hours [illegible] debated with great spirit [illegible]. It was the eve of [illegible] that would affect the [illegible] of the church as probably no [illegible] movement had ever done. It [illegible] crucial point, just previous [illegible] the vote, that Dr. Day was [illegible] to address that great assembly. With all his accustomed [illegible] and eloquence, and with the [illegible] foresight and intellectual [illegible] that have made him such a [illegible] in the church, he addressed [illegible] delegation of 1200 of the [illegible] clergy and laymen of the [illegible]. Ten minutes later the vote [illegible] and the report was adopted [illegible] a single dissenting voice." [illegible] to Mrs. Wilcox's address, [illegible] E. Larkin, secretary of [illegible], who was also a delegate to the Kansas City council, re[illegible] to the splendid showing Dr. [illegible] as a candidate for moderator, [illegible] second in the running, and [illegible] that but a few years [illegible] see him in the moderatorship [illegible] met with instant and enthusiastic applause.

[illegible] of California.

[illegible] Vosburg, an enthusiastic [illegible] of the Sierra Club, and an [illegible] nature lover, as well, spoke [illegible] Friday Morning Club last [illegible] "The High Sierras," illustrated by some splendid slides [illegible] by himself during his [illegible] through the mountain canyons and peaks; the [illegible] dashing waterfalls; and the glorious sun[illegible] all depicted, many of them [illegible]. One unusual slide showed a [illegible], and another showed a [illegible] diamond rattlesnake coiled [illegible] spring, and there were several [illegible] of the wonderful mountain [illegible] and pictures of the golden [illegible] timid fawn and other [illegible] of the mountain streams and [illegible]

[illegible] concluded with a powerful [illegible] for the preservation of [illegible] Valley and a resolution [illegible] at the close by Mrs. J. J. [illegible] and unanimously indorsed [illegible] against permitting San [illegible] to use it as a reservoir for [illegible] for that city.

[illegible] luncheon speaker was [illegible] E. Browne, who spoke [illegible] prize-fight bill. He was [illegible] by Mrs. Seward Simons, [illegible] of the Public Affairs Committee of the club. Senator Browne [illegible] that it was not intended to [illegible] any way with scientific [illegible] matches, but rather to [illegible] pugilists and prize fighters [illegible] to protect the morals [illegible] ideals of the youth of [illegible]. He pointed out that nearly [illegible] have already put the [illegible] fights and that California [illegible] put herself on record as [illegible] brutal pastime. He explained [illegible] the church federation of [illegible], which is fighting to get [illegible] through, has secured [illegible] of the 30,000 signatures [illegible] urged the club women [illegible] petitions which were circulated [illegible] which the women made [illegible] only about two weeks [illegible] the total number of signatures [illegible] made up.

[illegible] Protect Our Missionaries.

[illegible] suggestion of Mrs. William [illegible], a fund has been quickly [illegible] by the women of the First [illegible] Church to send to [illegible], missionary at Sivas, [illegible], it has been the [illegible] send a Christmas box to [illegible] year, but this year [illegible] asking that instead, [illegible] which represents the cost [illegible] the box be contributed to [illegible] around the compound at [illegible] a short period of time [illegible] Americans have been [illegible] the district and a protect[illegible] is an absolute necessity. [illegible] need also for a furnace [illegible] in the girls' school, [illegible] is, as the winter [illegible] cold and bitter. No sooner [illegible] the situation been explained [illegible] Warren F. Day was on [illegible] with an eloquent appeal and [illegible] subscription for this work. [illegible] was for a fund of $50 [illegible] Southern California, but within [illegible] nearly $60 had been [illegible] from the women of First [illegible]. Their liberality, however, [illegible] not interfere with the general [illegible] other churches for a larger [illegible] donations be used.

[illegible] Woman Coming.

[illegible] Woodbury, national secretary [illegible] of the Congregational Home [illegible] Society, will be in Southern [illegible] during the first two [illegible] December and is announced [illegible] at the December meeting [illegible] women of the First Congregational [illegible] Church. Miss Woodbury [illegible] national secretary of this [illegible] who has ever visited [illegible] California, and great preparations [illegible] are going forward for her [illegible]. The arrangement for [illegible] the hands of Mrs. Mary [illegible], president of the women's [illegible] societies of the First [illegible] Church, and of Rev. [illegible], secretary of home [illegible]

[illegible] at the Ebell.

[illegible] Grinnell, director of the [illegible] of vertebrate zoology at the [illegible] of California, and a writer [illegible] on bird life, will be [illegible] tomorrow afternoon at [illegible]

[illegible] Portland Guest.

[illegible] Blumauer of Portland, [illegible] guest at the Friday Morning [illegible] week and spoke briefly [illegible], bringing greeting [illegible] National Jewish Women's [illegible], of which she is a director. [illegible] of years Mrs. Blumauer [illegible] president of the Portland [illegible]. She has traveled extensively [illegible] of her impressions [illegible] School in Rome and [illegible] Conference at The Hague [illegible] broad outlook of women [illegible] world around.

[illegible] President Here.

[illegible] J. Scholl, formerly of Los Angeles, now of San Diego, is spending a week here renewing old ties. Mrs. Scholl was for many years president of the Treble Clef Club and on Wednesday Mrs. W. G. Eisenmayer and Mrs. Fred Hooker Jones will give a tea in her honor, when many old friends will have an opportunity of greeting her. The affair will come off at Mrs. Eisenmayer's home on Mt. Washington.

Mrs. Florence T. McDowell,

One of the leaders of the Women's Work Society of the First Congregational Church, which will hold its annual bazaar next Thursday.

Christmas Courtesy.

Mrs. Randall Hutchinson, chairman of the Friday Morning Club Art Committee, is planning a programme appropriate to Christmas, to be given on December 10 at the clubhouse. "The Christ Child in Art" will be the subject, and Dr. William Horace Day will be the speaker. There will be a splendid exhibit of pictures which Mrs. Hutchinson has arranged to have shipped here from the East illustrating the theme—twelve Medici prints in color by Raphael, Bellini, Murillo, and other of the old masters whose pictures of the Christ child have been the subjects of adoration in art for centuries. There will also be special Christmas music on the harp, and decorations suggestive of Christmas. A collection of pictures of the Madonna and other pictures representing the child life of Jesus will also adorn the walls.

Friday Mornings in December.

The Friday Morning Club programmes for December are out and the first entertainment offered is by Stephani Schutze, who will tell the fanciful tales of Arabia in a cycle of stories from the "Thousand Nights and a Night," from the literal translation by Richard Burton. We shall be transported to the land of black tents and desert winds, and hear the neighing of horses and the groaning

ART AND ARTISTS.

BY ANTONY ANDERSON.

Pictures.

Long-rolling surges of a falling sea,
Smiting the sheer cliffs of an unknown shore;
And by a fanged rock, swaying helplessly
A mast with broken cordage—nothing more.

Three peaks, one loftier, all in virgin white,
Poised in high cloudland when the day is done,
And on the mid-most, far above the night,
The rose-red of the long-departed sun.

A young faun making music on a reed,
Deep in a leafy dell in Arcady;
Three girl-nymphs fair, in musing thought take heed
Of the strange youth's mysterious melody.

—[Sir Lewis Morris.

Anna Hills, Painter.

The artist is an artist by the grace of temperament, not because he smears paint on a canvas. He earns the title of painter through the glory of hard and persistent and intelligent work at the business of applying paint. The artist of good sense knows the value of craftsmanship exactly as a poet knows the value of language. Therefore, he studies the peculiarities of his pigments early and late. He draws first, last and all the time. If he fails—but he doesn't—it is not because he didn't take infinite pains.

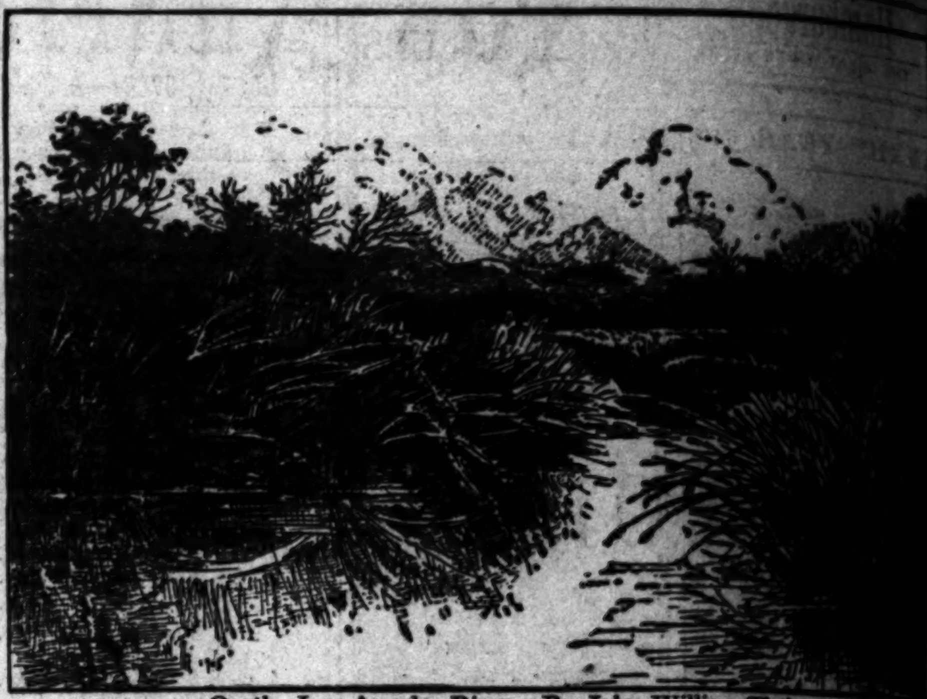
When I call Anna Hills a painter I mean to cast no reflections on her talent as an artist. On the contrary, I think her an admirable example of the right sort of artist, the artist who has mastered the craft of painting, and who, therefore, can say anything she likes in paint. She delivers her message—her many messages—without stammering hesitancy. And this gift of beautiful fluency is rarer than you might suppose.

Briefly, Miss Hills has learned how to paint, and, as I have intimated, she can paint anything she sees. More, she likes to paint everything; she has no preferences. She holds that all things in nature, when the light falls on them, have their wonderful pictorial possibilities—the iridescent line of the shore, the cruising clouds, the oaks in the wind, the hillsides in the sun, the harvesters in the field, the bit of still life in the studio corner. Each is beautiful for its particular moment, each may be the subject of a charming picture. To catch this transitory pictorial beauty is her aim, and therefore, her sketches are made rapidly, through only one of nature's moods. She never returns to "fix up" her sketch.

This gifted young artist and trained painter came to Los Angeles less than a year ago in search of "something new to paint." She has found it, and in such rich profusion and variety that the probabilities are she will remain here for many years to come. No other part of our country offers the painter of landscape so much as Southern California does. All of nature's desirable phenomena, from a snowstorm to a field of poppies, are right at his elbow, so to speak. And the days in which he can paint are 365. No wonder Miss Hills, whose passion for nature is as intense as her devotion to art, has elected not to hurry away.

Our painter has had experience in many countries in many climes. Nevertheless, Southern California has proved to be the Ultima Thule, the delectable land from which there can be no willing return. Not that she has found our landscape easy to paint. On the contrary, she has had to "work up to" the brilliant scale of light, discarding all dull hues from her palette, till she generally contents herself with blue, red and cadmium yellow (and, of course, white.) In France and England she was alway compelled to "gray" her colors, to tone them down to the key of nature. Here her one despair is that she cannot reach the high key of light.

Miss Hills has found perpetual anchorage at Laguna Beach, where she is about to build a studio on the cliffs near that of Xyrifa Hamilton Towner, and where she will paint most of the year. Plenty of subjects to hand in the picturesque canyons behind the cliffs and on the rocky shore in front of them. They are practically inexhaustible.



On the Los Angeles River. By John William Theiss.

An exhibition of about thirty of the recent California studies by Anna Hills will be held in the Kanst gallery, No. 642 South Broadway, beginning tomorrow and continuing for two weeks.

Water Colors by Theiss.

The water colors by John William Theiss, painted for the most part from Mt. Wilson and in the Yosemite Valley, will remain on exhibition in the Cannon Art School, No. 431 South Hill street, to November 24. There are thirty-six of these, with a number of interesting pen-and-ink and pencil drawings.

Theiss did not begin to paint till twelve years ago. Before that time he had busily plied his pen and pencil for ten years, sketching the manifold beauties of Sonoma county, where he lived before he came to Los Angeles. It had never occurred to him that he might use color—in fact, he had not even noticed that nature was full of color. No so his wife, who had ambitions for him. One day she presented him with a box of water colors, and of course, he was bound to use them. "And that's how I became a water color painter," Theiss says, with a smile of reminiscent enjoyment. "If my wife had given me pastels, I've no doubt I'd now be a pastellist, or if her gift had come in oils, I'd be an oil painter. I would like to try all the mediums, of course, but art is long and time is fleeting—so I stick to water colors and the pen."

Lorenzo P. Latimer, the famous painter of redwood trees in water colors, gave a decided impetus to this choice. Theiss studied with him for some time in San Francisco, and, as the students say, "learnt a lot." Latimer's criticisms were invaluable. Himself a master of the water-color medium, he has also the gift of imparting his knowledge to others.

Theiss's largest picture, which is also one of his strongest, is a study of Vernal Falls in the Yosemite. In the foreground are huge rocks and a rushing stream, with vivid green trees on either side, in the middle-distance is a shining fall of water. Theiss paints rushing, foaming water remarkably well, a fact triumphantly attested in this picture of Vernal Falls, in a study of "Happy Isles," also from the Yosemite, and in the delightfully cool, dark and sylvan sketch from Millard Canyon.

One of his biggest and most successful pictures from Mt. Wilson, "San Gabriel Canyon," was painted at one sitting—indeed, most of Theiss's painting is done with the same dexterity—his constant and persistent companions from start to finish being, on this occasion, as he humorously declares, "two gnats and a mosquito," the gnats devoting themselves to his eyes, the mosquito to the back of his neck. "The Deserted Trail, Mt. Wilson," is beautiful in tone, with blue-gray shadows around a bright patch of sunlight, the green of the pines made gray by reflections from the sky. Equally simple in treatment and good in color is "Trail on Mt. Wilson." "Old Pine on Mt. Wilson" shows the grand, lone sentinel in the pale lemon light of early morning, the distant ranges being of a delicate bluish gray touched with Italian pink.

Theiss has a fine and poetic love of the sea, and he paints its shores with vigor and understanding. Particularly forceful is "Rocky Coast, Portuguese Bend," a little study of brown rocks, blue sea and tossing white foam. Good, also, is the study called "Portuguese Bend," a gray sky and a dark and restless sea, and there is beauty of tone and line in "Clifton-by-the-Sea," in which the headland is seen under a lowering sky.

The green of the pepper tree, as everybody knows, is a difficult thing to render satisfactorily in paint, but in his "Group of Pepper Trees" Theiss shows what wonderful pictorial quality it may have against a gray wall of sky, shot with yellow sunset gleams. "Somebody's Barn at Ivanhoe" sounds dubious, but, nevertheless, it's the title of one of the artist's most successful pictures—a success of handling, of tone and of greenish sky with gray clouds.

Theiss believes the Grand Canyon to be unpaintable, but he tried to paint it, all the same—as everybody else does—and he did not meet with the defeat he invited. His study of this tremendous gorge is a monument of his patience and his fidelity.

The work of John Willian Theiss in water color has been growing steadily in strength, simplicity and subtlety from year to year, and has begun to take high rank. Theiss is an earnest student of nature, and much may be expected of him.

Fine Arts Gallery.

I gave considerable space last week to the opening exhibition in the Fine Arts Gallery of the new Museum of History, Science and Art, and it was my intention to give a more detailed account of the pictures this week. They are so numerous, however, and on the whole so worthy of close study, that lack of space compels me to deal with them more briefly than I would like.

Of one thing we may be sure—the new gallery is a tremendous success. The people have shown themselves to be even more earnestly interested in art than the most optimistic among us had supposed. The opening day was literally jammed with men and women who were eager to study the pictures—but who, of course, defeated their own ends by coming en masse. You can't see pictures in a dense crowd. On the Sunday following the opening day—that is to say, on last Sunday—the gallery was open from 2 to 4 p.m., and in these two hours the astonishing number of 3226 persons passed through the gallery. On Monday there were 1900 visitors

LONDON SHOWS MOTHERS HOW TO CARE FOR BABIES

Institution at St. Pancras Gives Poor Women Practical Instruction.

Not Only Are There Lessons in Hygiene and Sanitation but Cooking, Sewing and Other Matters of Domestic Economy Are Presented in the Plainest Manner—The Ailing Are Treated by a Doctor.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Nov. 1.—In England it is admitted that this is undoubtedly the age—or as one writer has expressed it—the century of the child. It is almost as if a great flashlight had been directed through clouds of prejudice and ignorance in this old country and had startled the slow-moving British people into a sudden realization of the age-worn, though apparently hitherto unappreciated, truth—"the child is father to the man."

Philosophers, scientists, philanthropists and social reformers, of course, have tried innumerable schemes to add to the happiness, wealth and prosperity of the poor people of England, and to fight those two gaunt devastations—hunger and crime. The one thing, however, that all those philosophers of previous centuries forgot—or never sufficiently realized—was that not only must altruism and individualism go hand in hand, but that, if their social reforms are to be of any real ultimate value to the world at large, they must begin with the individual in the elementary stages.

The eugenists—here a very practical body of men and women—are busy just now making a nice, clean sweep of all old-time British shibboleths and preconceived ideas about babies.

TO AMERICA'S CREDIT.

Credit, however, must frankly be given to America for being the first to recognize the vast potentialities of the child in the general evolution of the nation, and for reducing new and valuable theories on infant life and treatment to practical adaptation. England, France, Germany, Holland and Belgium are now rapidly following in the footsteps of the United States, and, among other more remote countries, even China is becoming alive to the lessons on the child which have lately been learned.

During the past five years, however, "The Child and Its Care" has been the topic principally discussed at congresses in England on public health. Last year the London Daily News also organized a "children's welfare" exhibition on a large scale and the experiment is to be repeated next Easter. In fact, the arrangements for it are already made and include a series of lectures to be given by experts on the education, physical culture, sport, clothing and food of the child. There is to be the finest historical collection of toys ever brought together and special attention is to be paid to a nature study section. Plays for children will also be produced in two children's theaters, and among other interesting and educational attractions for parents and children will be folk dancing and a children's pageant.

PIONEER SCHOOL.

Nevertheless, one of the most serious and certainly successful institutions for the welfare of the child in England has been the establishment, all over the country, of a school for mothers. The pioneer in this splendid undertaking was the St. Pancras School for Mothers, which was started seven years ago under the patronage of the Duchess of Marlborough, the Bishop of Ipswich, Lord Robert Cecil and Lady Henry Somerset. Among its vice-presidents are the Bishop of Stepney, Sir Thomas Barlow (president of the Royal College of British Physicians,) Sir William Collins, M.D., and the Countess of Cromer.

This school was founded just at the time when the problem of the prevention of infantile mortality began to attract general attention in England. Since it began fifty-six infant consultations and schools for mothers have been started in London and its environs and 250 in other centers of Great Britain and Ireland.

The St. Pancras School for Mothers is situated in one of the business parts of Kentish Town, a working-class district of Northwest London. It has large, airy rooms and a delightful garden, where the children, in fine weather, spend most of their time. On the principle of "first catch your hare" the school sets itself to the task of catching the somewhat elusive working-class expectant mother. "We believe in fundamentals," says Miss Bennett, the practical superintendent, and she therefore holds "receptions" for expectant mothers on stated days.

ITS METHODS.

Over a cup of tea, plain cake and bread and butter, the coming little stranger and the mother's responsibilities towards it are discussed. Poor, half-starved women, whose husbands are out of work, or are in dire necessity from other causes, are invited to attend the daily dinners. These consist of hot meat, vegetables, and milk or suet puddings. The mother pays 2 cents for this substantial meal.

It has been found that not only does the expectant mother's weight rapidly increase and her general health improve, but that the baby, when it arrives, is infinitely stronger and more sturdy than are the poor little mites whose mothers have not had a like advantage. A child born recently, whose mother had been a regular attendant at the school for several months previous to its birth, weighed seven pounds on its appearance in the world, while another who was brought to the institution when six months old only weighed thirteen pounds.

The school also receives notification of births from the public health department of the district, and immediately sends cards of "Advice to Mothers" to the addresses furnished by the notifications. Visitors call on the most suitable cases, commencing with the poorest houses in the poorest streets. Inquiries are made into the hygienic, sanitary and domestic circumstances of the mother, and, in cases of derangement of health, steps are taken to arrange for special medical attention.

The weighing of babies and mothers is an important function, and quite a healthy rivalry exists among the women, especially on the point of the increasing weight of their infants. There are lectures by experts on home nursing, first aid, with practical experience of bandaging, practical talks on hygiene to the new mothers, knitting, needlework and cutting-out classes, and cooking demonstrations, including the production of wholesome and cheap meat stews and the making of puddings.

"PUDDING LADY."

As some of the women complained, however, that they had no proper cooking utensils in their own homes, no pastry boards or rolling pins, and no accommodation for preparing the meals, the cookery teacher, who is familiarly termed "the pudding lady," instituted a series of visiting lessons and has shown the women that with a few improvisations, quite a decent meal can be prepared and cooked in a tenement room. A clean teacloth does duty for a pastry board, a pint bottle makes quite a respectable rolling pin, and by the aid of a handful of coals in an open grate or, better still, a cheap oil stove, marvelously appetizing dishes are produced. As a consequence, in many of the homes the children ask eagerly "When is the pudding lady coming again?"

There is further an excellent creche for young children whose mothers have to go to work, a dental clinic, and an organization for sending weak or ailing children to the sea or into the country for a change of air.

The St. Pancras School for Mothers is maintained by public subscription, but many similar institutions have been started and are still kept up by private individuals. One of the most notable of these is the Nine Elms Children's Clinic, maintained and superintended in one of the poorest parts of London by Mrs. Despard, sister of Sir John General French, field marshal of England. Mrs. Despard, who is also president of the Women's Freedom League, divides her busy life between suffrage work and caring for the little children of the poor. At her clinic, ailing women and children are treated by a visiting doctor and a nurse in daily attendance, and classes in cookery and needlework are conducted by able helpers.

FATHERS DERELICT.

At the recent conference of the National Union of Women Workers, Dr. Mary Murdoch suggested that the time was now ripe to establish schools for fathers. As a matter of fact, an attempt to do this has been made at several centers, and "fathers' conferences" where smoking is allowed and free coffee is dispensed were started at the St. Pancras School. Sad to relate, however, these, so far, have not been altogether a success. The British laborer who is sufficiently interested in such subjects as "The Duties of Parents," "The Management of the Family" and "The Man as Husband" as to wish seriously to discuss them at conferences, has apparently yet to be found.

Perhaps he may evolve in the next generation.

FAVORS HIGH SALARIES.

Head of Great English Corporation Offers Large Sum to Managing Director.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The other day the following advertisement appeared in a prominent position in the London "Times":

A Managing Director Wanted; salary $12,500 per annum—James Sutherland Warner, Westminster Palace Hotel.

James Sutherland Warner is head of the great corporation known as the Warner International and Overseas Engineering Company, Limited, whose ramifications extend all over the civilized world and even into some regions which may scarcely be regarded as civilized.

"I wanted to attract attention," he said, "for it is part of my scheme to bring about the payment of bigger salaries to men filling responsible positions.

"This is not really a very big salary it is not big enough in my view—but I have not yet succeeded in educating my directors up to the full acceptance of my ideas on the subject of salaries.

"The position advertised is in one of our associated companies, and the man who takes it will have very important duties.

"He will have to travel a great deal and meet upon equal terms financiers, engineers, and others of various nationalities, negotiate with them, entertain them, and keep a level head through everything.

"He will need all the qualities of a first-class diplomat, and a man of the character required is worth $25,000 a year.

"In America the general managers or managing directors of big corporations get between $25,000 and $50,000 a year; and they are worth it.

"To pay good salaries is the only way to fight corruption. Some business concerns that I could mention here in England are seething with corruption. It exists amongst the highest as well as the lowest officials.

"Clear evidence of this is the fact that men whose salaries are never more than $5000 or $7500 are able to leave $250,000 and more behind them when they die. Obviously such sums cannot be accumulated out of those salaries.

"You must either pay well or let your people be bribed. I prefer to pay them well."

Dying Out.

CZAR'S DYNASTY IS TOTTERING.

Emperor Nicholas Likely to Be Last of Romanoffs.

Christabel Pankhurst Not Always a Militant.

London Rapidly Becoming a Much Gayer City.

[A. P. Correspondence to The Times.]

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The Russian dynasty is in imminent danger of dying out and the present Emperor Nicholas is likely to be the last of the Romanoffs to occupy the Imperial throne, according to a writer in Free Russia, a newspaper appearing here. He says:

"The young Alexis, the Emperor's only son, is suffering from an incurable disease—tuberculosis of the bones, it is said—and can only be kept alive a few months longer. The Emperor himself has become the victim of fits of melancholy. His consort, the unfortunate Empress, is still suffering acutely from a complete nervous breakdown. The question arises, therefore, who will be the heir to Nicholas the Second, or will he be the last of the autocrats of Russia? The daughters of Nicholas cannot ascend the throne because Paul I, who hated his august mother, Catherine the Great, made a law whereby it became impossible for a woman to reign in Russia. Therefore, in case of the demise of Nicholas II, the throne should fall to his brother Michael. But this is hardly possible, since he has renounced all his rights and has married morganatically a Russian lady with whom he lives very happily far from court intrigues."

The writer then discusses the Grand Dukes, but finds insuperable objections to all of them.

PANKHURST INCONSISTENT.

Miss Christabel Pankhurst, who directs, from her exile in Paris, the campaign of the militant suffragettes in England, is after all only a recent recruit to militancy, as time is measured in politics in England. Somebody has been turning up speeches made by Miss Pankhurst no longer ago than 1905, and it is found she ranged herself then against the advocates of militancy. It was at a conference of the Independent Labor Party, at which Miss Pankhurst was a delegate, and a resolution had been brought forward "extending sympathy to the citizens of East Ham in their refusal to administer the education act on account of the unfair incidence of the rate." There were speeches for and against the resolution and then Miss Pankhurst, "while in sympathy with the resolution, was of opinion that it would be safer to use constitutional means."

LITTLE COMMONWEALTH.

The Little Commonwealth, organized here by George Montagu (a former member of Parliament, whose wife was Miss Alberta Sturges of New York) after a close study of the George Junior Republic of Freeville, N. Y., is now in successful operation on an old estate donated for the purpose in Dorset. Only thirteen boys and girls are in residence, but more will be taken as soon as the necessary cottages can be completed. The citizens are secured from among juvenile offenders appearing before various courts throughout the country, who are given the choice of joining the Commonwealth or going to a reform school.

The system of self-government is working smoothly. The most exciting criminal case in the brief history of the commonwealth arose when two boys ran away. They were captured and placed on trial before a court composed of an 11-year-old boy and a mixed jury of boys and girls. Found guilty, the runaways were sentenced to be treated as babies, since they had not shown the sound judgment required of citizens of the commonwealth. Two boys were appointed nurses and the culprits were fed on bottles and bathed more in one day than they had ever been in their brief lives before. After two days of this treatment the criminals begged for mercy, promising to be model citizens in the future.

It would seem that London is becoming a gayer city from the list of applications for music, dancing and stage play licenses which the London County Council will deal with at the annual licensing meeting. The applicants reach nearly 600, indicating that there is one license for every 7500 persons. Moving pictures have, of course, made the figures so large. More suburban theaters, however, are applying for music hall licenses, showing that something with more variety than the ordinary legitimate performance is required compete with the "movies." There are also many applications for music and dancing licenses for west end hotels and restaurants, where the tango teas and ragtime concerts are still in favor.

PUSHCART POLITICIAN.

The pushcart vendors of the east end district of Whitechapel are looking forward to representation in the House of Commons by one of themselves. The constituency is represented by Sir Stuart Samuel, a Liberal, who, it is expected, will be given a peerage before the next general election. The costermongers, as the street vendors are called here, intend to take advantage of this to nominate a candidate of their own, who will be independent of both great parties, and will particularly look after their interests.

John Raphael—"brother Jack Raphael"—as he is affectionately called, the honorary secretary of the Whitechapel and Spitalfields Costermongers' and Street Sellers' Union, is mentioned. He is a man of pronounced views and strong personality. He has always taken a prominent part in the politics of his district, and has been a supporter of the Liberal candidates, so that if he is chosen, the Liberals are likely to support him. His union is the dominating factor in the situation and the members have promised that if "Brother Jack" consents to stand substantial financiol support will be forthcoming and that any number of donkey barrows and pony carts will be available on polling day to take voters to the booths.

ERIN PRAISES TARIFF ACT.

See Hope for Industries in Free Trade Policy.

Prepare to Import Goods to United States.

Gaelic Language a Puzzle to Many Experts.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

DUBLIN, Nov. 1.—When the news reached Ireland that President Wilson had signed the Underwood tariff law, most of our manufacturers and traders were still ignorant of its details. They knew that the law was generally favorable to Irish industry—reducing many important duties and abolishing others—but nobody knew exactly how his own business was affected.

It has now been found that in several important respects the law confers great advantages on Ireland; indeed, with the exception of Canada, no country is likely to benefit more largely than this one.

Thus the schedules which embrace flax and its manufactured articles have a very important bearing on the great linen industries of Ulster. Hitherto Irish linen goods, owing to their splendid quality, have held their own in the United States, in spite of a heavy burden of taxation. They should receive an immense impetus from the new law, which reduces the duty on nearly all articles woven from flax or hemp by percentages ranging from 35 to 5.

Large reductions are made in the case of woolen manufactures, and these should be an immense boon for woolen factories and carpet industries. Even under the old tariffs the carpet industries at Naas and in Donegal had a considerable trade with the United States. The famous poplin industry is not so fortunate as the linen and woolen goods. Presumably it will come under the head of silk fabrics, the largest tariff reduction in which is not more than 10 per cent. Under the heading of sundries, Ireland notes only one unfavorable item—a heavy duty on lace is made still heavier. On the other hand, there are large reductions in the duties on toilet soaps, house furniture, biscuits (a reduction of 50 per cent.,) butter, mineral waters. All these goods are extensively produced in Ireland, and have, in some cases, a world-wide reputation. They will probably benefit greatly by the improved terms on which they can now enter the vast markets of the United States.

It is in the free list, however, that Ireland will find her most splendid opportunity. America is admittedly no longer self-supporting in the matter of food products. She has come into the world market as a cosumer. Under the new law such articles as eggs, fish, bacon and hams, fresh fish, mutton and potatoes will be free of all duty. Both by her fertility in these products and by her geographical situation, Ireland occupies a position of supreme advantage. With the markets of Great Britain on one side, and the still huger markets of the United States on the other, her future as one of the most prosperous agricultural countries in the world is regarded as well assured.

Henceforward it looks as though the United States will take from Ireland all the bacon, fresh beef and potaties which she can produce and for which she can find means of transit.

BOOMS CATTLE TRADE.

The removal of the duty on cattle imported into the United States has opened up a new field of enterprise in Ireland.

Irish cattle dealers have, through a variety of causes, found the English and Scotch markets unfortunate for the last year or two, and they are now turning their attention to the possibilities of an American trade. A huge company is in process of formation which will be capitalized up to $1,000,000, with William Field, the picturesque M.P. for one of the divisions of Dublin, at its head. About thirty of the leading cattle dealers in Ireland will be in the scheme, and the intention is to have their own steamers which, it is understood, will be a considerable saving on the method that has been hitherto employed of sending along cattle at owners' risk by the ordinary shipping companies.

The scheme, it is feared, will have the effect of producing panic prices for meat in England, because the English butchers have for years been accustomed to find the importation of Irish cattle having a steadying tone on prices. The capital of the company will be strictly confined to Ireland, no outsider being invited to subscribe. It will be the first big effort to show that there is, under ordinary circumstances, sufficient enterprise still left in the old country.

CROFT STRIKES SNAG.

Kenneth Croft, who is in Ireland as the representative of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, has had an early opportunity of realizing the pitfalls of the Irish industrial situation. He has unconsciously been made the victim of a little encounter which nearly destroyed the effect of his whole mission. In circularizing firms whom he hoped would rent space in the Irish section of the exposition, he used paper that was discovered not to be of Irish manufacture. As a consequence the Irish Industrial Development Association immediately demanded of him angrily what type of an Irish exposition this affair at San Francisco was going to be. The Gaelic League came along, too, and wanted assurances that the whole thing at San Francisco was not to be a burlesque on Ireland, just as earlier undertakings unfortunately had proved.

Croft, it seems, had used paper supplied by the hotel, at which he was staying and evidently had no idea that the Industrial Development movement had taken such a solid root and practical form. Later he was advised that if he desired to get the support of the Irish manufacturers he had better discard the English stationery he had been using. It was also hinted it might be wise to take up his quarters in a hotel that patronized Irish manufactured goods instead of the shoddy products of foreign firms.

GAELIC A PUZZLE.

Before Lord Ashbourne's vision of an Ireland whence the hated Sassenach tongue is banished is realized it will be necessary to standardize the language destined to take its place.

It is an axiom among Irish revivalists that no one really understands the Irish language—except the particular revivalist who is talking to you. As soon as an Irish inscription appears, a number of Gaelic experts are found eager to point out how erroneously it is phrased.

Recently a cup was competed for at the National University Sports in Dublin, part of the inscription on which was "Curim na mban," which was meant for "ladies' cup." According to several critics, it really means, "woman's beer;" while the words "Cluithche Oilscoil na Eireann," which appeared on the trophy as a rendering of "National University Sports," mean "The University of Ireland is a game."

ABANDON CARNIVAL.

Manila Business Men Want Time to Prepare for the Panama-Pacific Exposition Instead.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

MANILA, Nov. 15.—The annual carnival at Manila, which is usually held in February, has been abandoned and the business men will devote their energy to making preparations for participation in the Panama-Pacific exposition.

A number of civil service employees who are coming to the United States on their vacation, have been asked not to return as the government is instituting a system of economy on account of the probable financial deficit.

Decree.

GIGANTIC HATS TABOO ON SWISS RAILWAYS.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

GENEVA, Oct. 18.—"Hats arrested here," is one of the signs that should be displayed at Swiss railroad depots just now. Under a new regulation adopted by the companies, no hat measuring more than twenty inches in diameter will be allowed on a train unless it is properly boxed and consigned to the baggage van.

Each official on the Federal railroad trains is provided with a tape measure, and any hat suspiciously large is promptly measured. If it exceeds the regulation limit, it is charged for at an extra rate.

The first persons to suffer under this new rule were two American ladies who recently arrived at Basle. They were wearing hats measuring nearly thirty inches across, and, of course, the official tape was applied. They were informed that the hats would have to pay a "fine," and, furthermore, the offending headgear would have to be consigned to the baggage van, unless they wished to take another train in going on to Geneva. They decided to lose their train rather than be subjected to the indignity.

They applied to the American Consul for redress, but he was powerless to interfere with the operation of one of the bylaws on the Swiss State Railroads. After considerable trouble and many protests on the part of the victims, the ladies paid their fines.

Under this new regulation, all hats measuring more than the limit stated are classed as "wheels," and must be treated as bicycles or other wheeled vehicles. It makes no difference to the officials whether the wheels are on the heads of ladies or attached to rolling stock of some description. To the stolid Swiss official, it is "all the same."

As upwards of 12,000 tourists pass through Switzerland during the season, and most of them come from Paris, where ladies have purchased fashionable hats, this new regulation is likely to prove a great hardship on American travelers. Several attempts have been made to have this regulation against the "cart-wheel" set aside, but, so far, little has been accomplished.

Travelers, especially ladies, contemplating a journey this Christmas to Switzerland for the winter sports, should take warning, and have their millinery trimmed in accordance with Swiss official ideals of beauty and convenience.

WHY THE ENGLISH SMILE OVER THEIR TEA CUPS.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Seeing is believing; but there are lots of people we see whom we don't believe.

According to the author of "The Sentence of Silence," "nobody enjoys a wedding but the mother of the bride."

The devil is seldom so black as he is painted, nor the town so red.

"My little boy," remarked the worried parent, "catches every illness going." "Then he must be a genius." "How's that?" "He has such infinite capacity for taking pains."

A small boy, after a day's absence from school, carried this note from his father to the teacher: "Please don't let my son learn any German today. His throat is so sore he can hardly speak English."

From the Pelican:
Silence may give consent, but it's a poor thing on which to base a breach of promise suit.

R. W. Kaufman declares that constant laughter is no sure sign of a happy nature—more often than not it is only a sign of good teeth.

The man who expects the unexpected is seldom disappointed.

BROADWAY, EIGHTH AND HILL STS.

For the Grand Opera

—Monday, November 24, marks the opening of the Grand Opera season in Los Angeles. The Great White Store has anticipated your wants in the way of apparel and accessories and is ready to help you in a host of ways.

—For instance, Miladi, there are the opera glasses you'll want to gain a nearer view of stage and singers, the dainty fan, the string of pearls, the hair ornaments, opera chains and bits of jewelry that all have their share in the enhancing of the beauty of your toilette. Evening slippers and the dainty stockings that come in tints to match your gown. An evening scarf, perhaps or a fluffy set of marabou. Your coiffure will be artistic, becoming and in the latest mode if you let the experts in our Beauty Parlors dress your hair for the gala event. Opera length gloves, too, in black, white and the delicate evening shades to blend with your evening gown.

Women's Silk Stockings A Phenomenal Hosiery Purchase $1.39

—If courtesy permitted us to mention the name of the manufacturer of these silk stockings you would be here by the time the doors open to participate in these wonderful economies!

—It's a big, fortunate purchase of values so great that you'll realize the advantage of supplying future as well as present needs the moment you get sight of them! The very tiniest of flaws brand these as "irregulars," but it takes the practiced eye of a hosiery expert to detect the defects that have reduced the prices so notably! Of fine quality, heavy ingrain silk—all silk stockings with double tops and triple soles, toes and high heels. Black and colors.

350 Pairs of Silk Stockings Full-Fashioned, Reinforced 75c

—"Irregulars" of grades made to sell for much more. Fine ingrain silk stockings, full-fashioned and with strong splicing. Both the all silk and the silk with lisle top that so many women prefer. Black and the wanted colors. An opportune time to get the silk stockings to match or harmonize with your new costume.

500 Pairs Silk Stockings at 45c

—The "run of the mill" of the most famous guaranteed silk stockings manufactured. We cannot use the name but you will recognize the hosiery as a synonym for extra quality. Full seamless and very heavily reinforced at wearing points. The small "menders" do not impair either their appearance or their durability. Black only, the quality usually priced much higher.

Welcome to Dolldom

Dolls, Doll Clothes and All Accessories

'Twas yesterday our magnificent Dolldom with its myriad of pretty dimpled faces, made its famous bow to Little Miss Los Angeles, and hundreds and hundreds were the little hearts there as our guests. Such glee, such happiness, joy was theirs to the fullest. And tomorrow and every day they're welcomed to the delights of this fairy realm of dolldom. Come tomorrow.

Dressed Dolls at $2.50

—Her "little heart's desire," with fine wavy, curly hair, and oh, so prettily dressed. Did you ever see a prettier doll? Look at the picture—see the rose bud mouth, and those great big eyes. You must get her, and have her in your arms to appreciate her, my little miss! She came all the way from Europe to see the hundreds of children who are coming to Dolldom tomorrow.

Toys Galore for Old Santa

—It's a beautiful sight to see the children coming to Toyland—all bubbling over with joy—going into childish ecstacy over some toy they see, and thus giving parents and friends the best hint of how to help Santa Claus.

—And such a variety of practical and inexpensive toys as we've assembled this year. Among them are boats, trains, tool chests, animals, bicycles, roller skates, footballs and great tables full of games and interesting blocks. Just bring the little folks tomorrow for a real toy treat.

Mechanical Trains, $2.50—To the boy with the mechanical mind, this great Locomotive will make an instant appeal. It draws three cars and a coal tender and is equipped with a brake and reversing lever, nine sections of track and two switches.

Meccano—The Educational Toy—A very instructive toy—scarcely a construction of any kind but what's possible with this practical set. We've a wide assortment, ranging in price from $1.00 to $14.00 a set. See them in our toy department tomorrow.

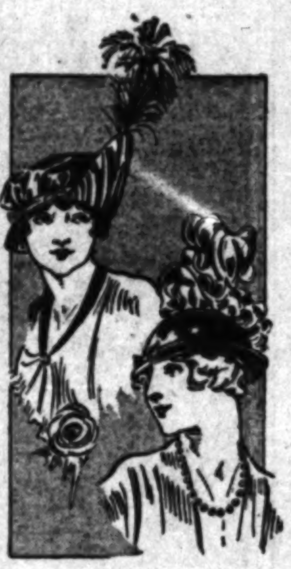
Trimmed Hats
$15 and $17.50 Models } $12.50

—Hats with the "chic of the unexpected," the dash, the cleverness, the individuality that makes Hamburger millinery the vogue.

—Products of our own workrooms, with Paris hats for their inspiration—fashioned by deft fingers that work magic in the combining of Parisian allurement of color and line with moderate price and perfect adaptation to the tastes of the American woman. Styles for street and semi-dress occasions. A copy of a Madame Louison model, a medium size hat of purple velvet with soft crown and the brim slightly rolled on the side, is trimmed with a gold shade of velvet ribbon and one gold rose. And this is typical of the style standard of this assortment—two others illustrated. Earlier in the season these Hamburger hats would have been $15.00 and $17.50, but by a series of purchasing advantages in their materials we are able to make them up for $12.50.



Untrimmed Shapes
Stylish Velvet and Plush } $3.95

—The woman who knows values will welcome the opportunity to buy them for this under-value price. Small and medium shapes in all the season's most liked shades and a few in black and some in the popular black-and-white effect. Styles are mushrooms and the jaunty sailors that are so practical and so becoming.

GERMAN LAWS ROUSE DOCTORS.

Physicians May Call Strike Against Regulations.

Berlin Building a Harbor to Cost Millions.

Sailing Fleet on Inland Lake Is Disbanded.

[A. P. Correspondence to The Times.]

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—More than 21,000 German physicians from small town and country districts have decided to follow the example of their professional brethren in Great Britain and declare a "doctors' strike" against sickness and accident insurance associations established under the imperial insurance laws. They complain against certain regulations under the laws, which they say militate against them, particularly one depriving the patient who is a member of an organization of any say in the choice of the physician by whom he desires to be treated. They object, too, to the wide discretion given to the organizations in the matter of contracts with physicians.

The decision to declare a strike against these regulations was reached at a meeting in Berlin of more than 800 delegates from all over Germany.

More than two-thirds of all the Germans are members of insurance organizations which have their own contract physicians, and the remaining medical field is overcrowded. The number of medical students in Germany has risen from 6300 in 1905 to 14,000, an increase utterly disproportionate to the increase of population. The result is, according to statistics, that half of all the physicians have incomes less than $1500 yearly.

The doctors of Berlin, Dresden, Hamburg and other large cities did not join in the movement, owing, it was said, to the desperate competition among them.

HARBOR FOR BERLIN.

Berlin is not usually looked upon as an important "seaport," for almost as much water passes daily through its water mains as through the little River Spree, on which it is situated. The navigation interests of the German capital are so important, however, that after opening a large new harbor on the eastern side of the city only a few weeks ago, at a cost of about $8,000,000, the municipality has just decided to build another one on the western side, which will cost almost as much. It will cover, including warehouses and grounds used for harbor purposes, seventy-five acres. This step is taken in anticipation of a very large increase in canal and river shipping after the opening of the new canal at Stettin, now nearing completion.

In view of its improved shipping facilities and enlarged waterways Berlin looks forward to a more rapid development of its manufacturing and commercial interests.

AVIATOR'S NEW RECORD.

Victor Stoeffler, the aviator, who by setting up a new world's record of 1376 miles for a day's flight, proved that Germany may be considered a worthy rival of France in aviatorial accomplishment, may lose the $25,000 prize which it was supposed he had won by the feat. This was offered by the committee in charge of the National Aviation Subscription Fund for a record in excess of the hurricane flight of Brindejonc des Moulinais from Paris to Warsaw. Objection has been raised in the committee, on the ground that Stoeffler's flight was not made all in one direction like Brindejonc's, but that the last 435 miles was made by flying back and forth between Darmstadt and Muelhausen in Alsace. The aviators point out that the general conditions of the contest as adopted and published by the committee only require that 310 miles be covered by continuous flight in a given direction, whereas Stoeffler's flight from Posen to Muelhausen alone covered 650 miles. They are already in arms against the committee for risking the lives of competitors by appointing the long distance competition for the month of October with its foggy nights and short days.

A decision has not been announced but aviators fear that the committee will not allow Stoeffler the grand prize, $25,000, for a flight surpassing Brindejonc's, but will award him only $15,000, the prize for the longest flight under the regular conditions.

FLEET DISBANDED.

The "Princely Schaumburg-Lippe Sailing Fleet" has been disbanded. In spite of its high-sounding title, this navy consisted only of small sailing boats which plied the inland lake called Steinhuder Meer. It was, however, an historical curiosity.

The Princes of Schaumburg-Lippe have for nearly 150 years owned a little water fortress on an artificial island in the lake and maintained a sailing fleet, at first to provide communications with this castle of refuge in case of an attack but later for the more prosaic use of excursionists. The eighteen seamen who manned the vessels were officials of the little state and wore its queer, antiquated uniform. The reigning prince finally decided that his navy was an expensive luxury and sold it to private persons. A restaurant on the island also belonging to the Prince and kept up by a retired official from the little court of Buckeburg, went under the hammer as well.

NEW ISSUE OF MONEY.

Lippe-Detmold is just having a new issue of money. The royal mint in Berlin has struck off an issue of thalers (three-mark pieces worth about 75 cents) bearing a new likeness of Prince Leopold IV. The coins will not be placed in general circulation, but collectors and others desiring them must apply to the princely treasuries or princely savings banks.

TIN CAN "COME BACKS."

The Empty Cans Are Being Used by Foreigners in the Manufacture of Toys and Small Articles.

[Christian Science Monitor:] The United States of America is associated in the thought of people in many parts of the world, who know little of it in other respects, with the tin can. And there is a reason for it, for the United States leads all nations in the canning or tinning industry. Tin cans bearing an American label may be found everywhere. It is hardly to be wondered at then that the production of tin cans in the United States is estimated at 1,000,000,000 annually. What is to be wondered at, however, is that while the empty tin cans are utilized in the industries of many other countries, greatly cheapening production in some of them, they are, generally speaking, wasted in the United States.

Until within a decade or so empty tin cans were employed as material in the manufacture of other articles only in the Far East. Throughout a considerable part of Asia the cans were collected and sold to makers of numerous small articles, both for use and for ornament. In Persia, Syria and other countries of the near and farther Orient, according to consular reports, artisans have become very adept in the transforming of American tin cans into salable articles. But in these latter years some of the European countries, and especially those engaged in the manufacture of toys and the smaller articles generally, have begun to use all the material of this kind they can get. The can that goes out from the United States filled with fruit, or meat, or soup or corn, or anything else, is likely to be on the high seas coming back at this season of the year in the form of a mechanical toy for the Christmas holidays.

But in this respect, as in many others, the United States is too busy with big things to bother with the little ones. There is so much raw material constantly on hand that it would hardly pay to engage in the transformation of tin that has once been used. Yet few things are more certain than that the United States will some day be as careful in the matter of collecting and utilizing so-called waste as any of the other nations. Already, in fact, it has turned from its careless and extravagant ways in many respects, and judging from reports of cities in which garbage is properly cared for, the tin can is not always thrown away, even now.

ADMITS HE GOT THE MONEY.

But Chicago Clairvoyant Says Mrs. McEldowney Gave It so He Could Arrange to Marry Her.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—James Ryan, the clairvoyant charged with assisting in swindling Mrs. Hope L. McEldowney of New Salem, Wis., out of $15,000, surprised the prosecution today by testifying that he received the money from her.

He asserted, however, that he really wished to marry her and that she gave him the money to effect a settlement with his wife, thus removing the only barrier to their union.

Aftermath.

PACKING THE TREASURES FOR EX-KING MANUEL.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LISBON, Nov. 1.—The Portuguese republic has now agreed to send King Manuel all the articles in the Necessidades Palace which could not be regarded as property of the State. As a consequence, for some days expert packers from London have been preparing them for shipment by sea.

Seven loads of furniture, draperies, bric-a-brac, books from the private library, and even chandelier fittings have already been dispatched to Twickenham under the watchful eyes of Republican guards, who first checked and ticketed every article.

Three more loads were being put together and when these are gone the building will be entirely empty, awaiting a new existence as one of the Republican ministries.

Until this great clearance began, the palace stood exactly as the King and his mother left it three years ago. Nothing was touched, not even the illustrated papers in the King's study.

King Manuel would recognize with difficulty the interior of his altered home. Tapestried walls are stripped to the raw wood, and priceless old paneling has vanished. His mother's boudoir is thick with dust, and the silk hangings faded and soiled beyond repair. Here and there you find a shattered mirror, with a bullet embedded in the wall behind, or a doorway knocked askew by a chance shell.

In the King's little bedroom was the narrow French bed, exactly as it was a few hours after the King's flight—the monogrammed pillows still piled at the head, and the white blankets rolled back at the foot as Don Manuel tossed them when his equerry awoke him to tell him that he had lost his throne. This bed remains the property of the republic, blankets, pillows and all. Everything else has gone from the room—chairs, dressing-table, pictures.

In the modest bathroom adjoining a workman wrapped up the King's shaving stand and mirror. He stopped long enough to come into the bedroom, sit down on the bed, and tell me of the past glories of Necessidades, of the army of servants, the ex-King's hobbies, of little intimate details of his home-life. He spoke with a certain guarded affection.

The music room was distinguished only by piles of Queen Amelia's music (many of the volumes and loose sheets contained the names of personal friends,) each bundle wrapped loosely with twine. There was a volume of Beethoven's sonatas that had been found open on the piano when the republicans entered.

Down a servants' corridor was a set of electric bell indicators on a wall near the ex-King's apartments. The white disc that indicated his bedroom was shown. The King had rung for a servant that last morning of his reign and the indicator had not been touched since.

From the King's gallery one looks down into the lofty, windowless chapel, with its bare, tarnished altar and somber choir. The floor was covered with costly vestments, the accumulation of years—great piles of them, surveyed and registered by the republic.

Piles of china encumbered the white-and-gold state dining-room, and the uncovered tables (broad strips of unpainted deal on trestles for the guests) were still ranged in position. The remnants of the palace pictures lay against the walls, most of them mediocre, some of them excessively bad.

Dust lies thick on the hundreds of copper utensils in the glass-roofed kitchens. Many of these utensils are being sent to Fulwell Park. There were the aprons of the chefs, just as they had cast them off, and in a drawer of a little table was the menu of a dinner that was never served.

LONDON'S TELESCOPE MAN, FAMILIAR TO TOURISTS.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Nov. 1.—A man who boasts daily that he has thousands of friends in America, yet has never once set foot in the United States, is Edward Crocker, London's one and only "Telescope Man."

He is a middle-aged man, ruddy, hale and hearty, who stands near the British House of Commons with his tripod telescope offering the curious three peeps for 2 cents. And the secret of his extensive acquaintance and lifelong friendship with America's best and bravest is this—no well-conducted American traveler to Europe thinks he has done London properly unless he has peered into the heavens and gazed in rapture at the Parliament buildings through Crocker's gigantic lens.

When the American tourist season is at its height in England, Crocker hangs out the familiar notice:

"English spoken—American understood."

And when the American wants to get a little of his own back again he demands to see Venus through the telescope, and, when he is shown that planet, refuses to pay on the plea: "That is not the goddess of love. I wanted to see the fair creature who does not trouble about all the latest fashions in clothes."

As a matter of fact, Crocker has stood in London with his telescope for twenty-odd years, in cloud and shine, ready in the morning to catch the early visitor and waiting there still when early evening has passed, doing a steady and often brisk trade. On a gloomy day the sight of his expectant telescope pointed at a sunless sky is calculated to stimulate and encourage the most hopeless; but there is more in this than meets the eye, and for all his high aim, Crocker teaches London a useful lesson in making the best of things.

Always ready when occasion offers to exhibit at their best the mountains of the moon, the rings of Saturn, or the wonders of an eclipse, he, when these star turns fail, unhitches his telescope and aims it at the solid, stolid countenance of the Parliament House clock, Big Ben. It is astonishing how many Americans come to stare at this. The celestial bodies may confer a certain distinction on the showman, but it is Big Ben who scoops in the cents. Sometimes he learns from an interested policeman that the visitor who has just had his peep was a member of Parliament, anxious for a new view of the famous clock tower, but more often it is a colonial or American cousin who stoops and gazes with one look through the big telescope at the clock face, white or illuminated, another through a smaller tube at the rose, shamrock, and thistle which surmount it, and a third glance, appropriately enough through opera glasses, at one of the ornaments in stone—this time the face of the much misunderstood Venus.

He is a character no self-respecting American traveler to Europe should miss.

LATE BALKAN ENEMIES SETTLE DOWN TO WORK.

Little Interruption in the Commercial Activity of Macedonia Has Taken Place Since Conclusion of the Treaty of Bucharest—Peasantry Have Cattle Enough, but the Forests Are Almost Entirely Destroyed.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BELGRADE, Oct. 25.—In spite of the troubles on the Serbo-Albanian frontier, there has been little interruption in Macedonia in the commercial activity that at once set in on the conclusion of the peace of Bucharest. In the affected district the late belligerents are settling down to work with steady purpose at their interrupted occupations.

The Servian Ministry of Agriculture has distributed another 30,000 kilograms of grain in the newly-annexed territories. In Novi Bazaar a committee of merchants has been formed for the organization of various business enterprises, and over fifty buyers from that city alone have started on a tour of Eastern Macedonia for the purpose of acquiring information and making purchases.

One of the most fertile districts is that around the scene of the late battlefields, Ovtchiye Polye (Shepherds' Pasture) and Yejovo Polye (Hedgehog Plain.) Returned combatants say that the wheat grows here to man's height, and that they saw a species of tall, dark-leaved maize forming regular thickets. It was a paradise for cattle where the convoy liked to linger.

In the valley of the Bregalnitsa there is a particularly excellent variety of rice known as Kotchana rice. Tobacco, poppies and cotton also flourish in this region. Unfortunately, cotton-growing has declined of late years owing to the heavy taxes levied by the Turks on the produce. There are, of course, no mills, but the cultivators forward the raw material to Salonica, where it is mainly bought by English dealers.

OPIUM POD INDUSTRY.

The opium pods are enveloped in their own leaves, and sent to Salonica, where various alkaloids are extracted. This the peasants declared was much more profitable than selling the poppy seeds or trying to extract oil from them. A group of financiers have approached the Servian government with a view to the exploitation of the poppy fields around Istib and Kotchana, proposing to establish a factory at Belgrade. The seed grown in these parts is not used for smoking. It provides strong morphine utilizable as a medical narcotic.

The Mercantile Association of Belgrade has represented to the Ministry of Finance that it would be advisable to regulate the export and import duties on opium with regard to the new and abundant supply now available. The Minister of Public Works and Communications has also been requested to hasten the extension of the Belgrade railroad depot, as well as to supply a sufficient number of wagons for export uses.

The peasantry of Southeastern Macedonia are hard-working and frugal. They have cattle and pastures enough; but the forests are almost entirely destroyed. Cattle dung is used as fuel. The people there have been spared from the depredations of the Albanians which hindered every initiative in Western Macedonia. The Montenegrin soldiers, looking on this fertile land, with so few cultivators, and contrasting it with their own bleak rocks, expressed a willingness to settle there if allowed.

ISTIB IS IMPORTANT.

Istib has always been an important commercial trading center with the Servian towns of Vranya and Leskovats as well as with Bulgaria. The tanning industry is well developed, and thousands of fox and hare skins are exported annually. By the Veless road, which is fairly passable for wheels, household articles are imported. In summer the Vardar is easily forded by pack horses and mules. In good weather caravans come mostly laden with iron, benzoline and groceries. The roads in many cases have been improved during the course of the war, the soldiers having levelled some for the passage of their armament, but the inhabitants were forced in several instances to assist in their work.

It is in Western Macedonia that the richest finds in minerals are expected. Besides the precious metals, which must exist since we know that the craftsmen of Venice got from these parts the materials for their beautiful works of art in mediaeval times, there are many other treasures in the newly-enfranchised territories. In the Kossovo Vilyaet there are actually being worked four chrome mines; in Salonica, eleven mines with chrome, lead, antimony, arsenic and magnesium, while borings are being made as follows: One silver, two chrome, two magnesium one lead and one lignite. There is no doubt that there is a great future in store for mining, and the Servian government has authorized the research work of experts in these regions.

WINE CULTURE.

As one goes north, the cultivation of wine becomes more general. In some towns the streets are roofed in with a trellis of wine stems. One of the most profitable features here should be the numerous sources of medicinal waters.

Fourteen or fifteen miles from Mitrovitsa, following the stream Isurnushu, and then turning to the right, one comes to a little hamlet called Stari Trg, where there is a hot well. Close to the church of Manasia, built for Czar Dushan, the water is of a bright red color and on Fridays and Sundays, the Mahommedan and the Christian festive days, the infirm and those afflicted with pulmonary diseases flock here in hope of cure. Cattle drink also of this water near its source, and to this is attributed their exceptional strength and endurance. It has an acrid taste and appears to contain iron. When taken in equal parts with goats' milk whey, it is said to be of a marvelous, restorative effect.

Eight miles to the west of Mitrovitsa, beyond the village of Liushte, by the stream of the same name, there is a very hot spring which is likewise credited with healing properties. Again to the northwest of Mitrovitsa, beside the Ibar, there is a most romantically situated spot called Banya, which has a sulphurous hot spring. In the town of Strahinya Ban. there are likewise famous hot springs which foreign enterprise had long since offered to exploit. The Mohammedans refused it because it was the laundry center for their women.

HOT SPRINGS PLENTY.

At Zmalovats, in the Mitrovitsa district, there is a hot spring which is supposed to have particularly excellent qualities because it is the haunt of serpents. On the left of the high road to Rashka from Mitrovitsa, there is another hot spring, the water of which is used for fermentation. Soft cheeses made with the addition of this water have a peculiar flavor and are exceptionally delicious. A Servian schoolmaster, Myatovitch, who recently traveled in these regions, is compiling an exhaustive account of these mineral springs for the Servian Ministry of Commerce.

Macedonia is indeed a land of fair promise, and, if one judges the future by the past, Servian enterprise will soon make it yield great profit. In spite of the hindrances of war, Servia will export this year 4000 wagons of dried plums, her specialty, and over 600 wagons of plum electuary. If this is contrasted with the Servian lands subject to Austria, it will be seen how home government causes industry and trade to flourish. The plum harvest of Bosnia this year, in spite of the boasted encouragement from Vienna to cultivators, can give no more than 1500 wagons of dried plums and 400 wagons of plum electuary.

There is a strong inclination among the 7,000,000 Serbo-Croats in Austria-Hungary to migrate to the new lands acquired by their brethren. The authorities of the Dual Empire are not over fond of giving posts in the state service to educated Servians, and a wide field for preferment is now opening in Macedonia. But it is the agriculturists who will crowd most eagerly to the rich fallow lands, sure of good harvests and moderate taxation. The Servian government will welcome them as skilled cultivators. The emigrants can set out with confidence, and the movement will tend to lessen the exodus to America. It will be simply a transfer of strength and capacity from one Serb land to another.

OCCULT CLUB IN LONDON.

Members of Strange Organization Spend Their Time in Consulting the Stars.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

LONDON, Nov. 8.—In England occultism is making tremendous headway at the present moment. Formerly those who studied hidden mysteries did so in secret. They did not advertise their devotion to clairvoyance or divination, or telepathy. Today concealment is quite out of date; it is considered rather old-fashioned not to have at least a bowing acquaintance with some branch of the occult, and these tastes have to be catered for.

The newest of the institutions in London which provides a rendezvous for occultists is the Occult Club, established in a house close to the Piccadilly Hotel. Yesterday being, according to the stars, a favorable day for its inauguration, it was dedicated to its purpose by Count Chedo M. Miyatovitch, formerly Servian Minister in London, who, apart from diplomacy, is a devout [illegible] things.

With Gettysburg and Chicamauga and the other great battles of '63 fifty years agone, there are still eleven soldiers of the Civil War in the United States Senate. On the Union side were Bradley, Du Pont, Goff, Nelson, Warren and Works, and on the Confederate, Bacon, Bankhead, Catron, Martin and Thornton. Catron is the first Republican Confederate since the days of General Mahone, of Virginia, to attain a seat in the Senate, and his Republican colleague from New Mexico, Senator Fall, is the son of a Confederate soldier and was one of the Rough Riders in the Spanish war. Five of these old soldiers have recently come to the Senate, so there may be others yet to come.

OVER THE SEA.

Gustave Eiffel, the French engineer who built the famous tower in Paris bearing his name, has just been honored by the Smithsonian Institution, whose regents have voted him a Langley medal "for his researches relating to the resistance of the air in connection with aviation."

Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany is planning to import five deer from the Washington Park, in Milwaukee, Wis., to his own royal preserve. The deer are of a variety not found in Germany, and after they have multiplied sufficiently, will be used for hunting.

Sir Edward Carson, who gave $50,000 to the Ulster indemnity fund, has during the last few years made more money at the bar than any British practitioner. His income for five years is said to have been not less than $150,000.

B. L. Baldwinson, deputy provisional secretary for Manitôba, Can., is an Icelander. He arrived at Toronto at the age of 17, and was a shoemaker there for nine years. He is also a former member of the provisional Parliament.

The British government has appointed Maj. John N. Merrill, Jr., of Skowhegan, Me., to organize and command a force of 1000 gendarmes at Shiraz, Persia, for the Governor-General of Fars, to be independent of the Swedish gendarmerie, but to co-operate with it when required. Maj. Merrill, who is only a little over 30 years of age, went to Persia with Morgan Shuster when that man was appointed to reorganize the finances of the country. When Shuster left, Maj. Merrill was the only one of his American staff to remain.

Sir John Simon, the new British Attorney-General, is often spoken of as successor of Mr. Asquith as leader of the Liberal party. He is a stanch radical, and only 40 years of age.

The Rev. Ding Li Mei, the famous Chinese evangelist, has possibly the longest personal prayer list of any Christian in the world. Some months ago he had more than 1262 names on his list.

Chevalier W. F. L. C. Van Rappard, whom the Dutch government has just chosen to succeed Jonkheer J. Loudon as Minister at Washington, was formerly Dutch Minister to Morocco. He has received a long training in the diplomatic service and is recognized as a man of brilliant attainments.

Prof. Waentig, recently recalled by his university in Germany, has for three years been professor of economics in the Imperial University, Tokio. Prior to going to Japan he was an exchange professor to America.

Shiro Ikegami, who has been elected Mayor of Osaka, was born in Fukushima Prefecture, and started his career as official of the Metropolitan Police Board. He now holds the post of Chief of Police of Osaka prefectural office and is 58 years of age.

Herr Albert Ballin, director-general of the Hamburg American Line, has set himself the task of literally forcing Germany to participate in the Panama Exposition at San Francisco. In this fight he has some of the biggest interests in Germany opposed to him. But the name of "Ballin" is something to conjure with in Germany. The unassuming Hamburger, whom the Kaiser is proud of calling "friend," bids fair to whip into line the entire empire for San Francisco. Ballin is Germany's greatest self-made man.

Dr. Alfred Ellis, a graduate of the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania, and now a naturalized citizen of Brazil, is a candidate for the office of Vice-President of the republic on the ticket headed by Ruy Barbosa, leader of the Progressive movement. Dr. Ellis has been active for years in politics in Brazil, and also has been foremost in medical work there.

THE UNCHLOROFORMED.

Uncle John Martin of Rumford Falls, Me., who contracted the tobacco habit at 20, never swore off, and is now 88, tells his juniors that he thinks it has been a fine thing for his health.

At the age of 103, Mrs. Sarah Todd, sister-in-law of Abraham Lincoln, cast her first vote when she voted in a referendum election at Eugene, Or., one of the most important in Oregon's history.

Mrs. Margaret M. Soper, who will be 100 years old on December 3, has entered the Woman's Relief Corps Home for Soldiers and Sailors at Oxford, N. Y., to pass the rest of her days. She is the last member of a family noted for longevity. Her mother, Mrs. Johannah Soper, was 105 years old when she died, and her grandfather, William Soper, a captain in the Continental army, was 102 years old. Her sister, Mrs. Jane Barber, was 103 years old.

The ninetieth birthday anniversary of Dr. W. P. Horton of East Cleveland was celebrated recently by the members of the Windemere Presbyterian Church presenting him with ninety roses—"thirty pink ones for his youth, thirty red ones for the vigor of his manhood, and thirty white ones for the peace and beauty of his old age."

George W. Austin of Kent, O., was 105 years old last week and practically the whole town attended a reception in his honor and gave him a purse of $105. Austin walked his daily mile and attended church in the morning.

Dr. Charles E. Hedinger of Canton, Kan., who recently attained his ninety-third birthday, is, as far as known, the oldest practicing physician in this country. He has been a member of the medical profession for sixty-five years, and now at his advanced age attends to the most minute details of his practice.

Edwin L. Neville, American Deputy Consul-General in Seoul, who has been promoted Consul at Antung, has lived in Seoul for some years and on account of his high character and tactfulness has won for himself great popularity among foreign residents and many Japanese. He is a good Japanese scholar and speaks the language like a native.

A DEBUTANTE ABROAD.

By Alma Whitaker.

LONDON, October 28.

Eva dearest: What a brute you are! Here are two poor homesick Californians bottled up in a fog-ridden, sodden, foreign city, making an heroic effort to appear to be enjoying themselves and you don't send them one blessed line of encouragement. Not one.

What if we have dined with two countesses and a mere knight's lady in one week? What if we have supped with the adorable and celebrated Mrs. Patrick Campbell? What if we have watched a noble earl (His Lordship of Carick) make an awful ass of himself at the London Coliseum? What if we have viewed several miles of royal wedding presents and come to the painful conclusion that British royalty can afford to be far and away more blatantly vulgar than our newest of American millionaires? What, I say, if we have done all these fearful and exciting things, can they then console us for a cruel and stony silence on the part of one Californian friend? It would really serve you right if I closed this thrilling letter here and now, and kept you in an agony of suspense as to our deportment under these various experiences.

Just to spite you, I will dilate upon the fog first. That particular species of hazy gauze which is wont to hover over lovely Los Angeles at occasional intervals, isn't fog at all, dear. Not even a distant relative. That is merely a whistlerian filmy mist sent to enhance the beauty of our scenic effects. What London calls fog resembles most the stuff that used to accrue when we elected to make toffee, as children, but somehow missed the ultimate consummation of our desire. One hacks his way through it with an ax. It is pitch dark and all the lights have to be lighted in the middle of the day. It is slimy and settles in a thick greasy blanket all over one's face and hair. It seems to be a fearsome concoction of soot, rank butter, and the sort of grease that settles around the dishpan when the maid has been called to expostulate with a gentleman that wants to make her subscribe to the Lady's Home Journal while she is in the middle of washing mutton plates. This floats about in great blankets, traffic is brought to a standstill, perfect strangers collide blasphemously with each other on the sidewalks, adorable policemen keep their tempers and essay mild little jokes in reply to furious inquiries as to "where the devil am I?" small boys make a fortune promising to lead confiding people to their destination for sixpence, and sensible people close up the house tight, build a roaring fire, draw up the armchairs and the fender stool and let the "London particular" do its worst.

And that is what London has been wallowing in for the past three days. Naturally, we were innocently delighted at first, and insisted upon being taken out in it. Locksley H. and the colonel acquiesced dubiously. We got as far as Piccadilly Circus in safety and could dimly make out the lights on the Criterion. That was about 3 p.m., on the Sabbath. Two hours later we were clustered round a roadside coffee stall, eating baked cestnuts, in a neighborhood known as Seven Dials, (a most disreputable part of London) with the assurance that it was simply useless to try to get back to Sloane Square till the fog lifted. And it did not lift till the middle of the next day. We did get back home that night after getting lost ever so many times and taking four hours to make a fifteen-minute journey. Our peachlike Californian complexions were a sight to behold and we have decided to burn everything we wore. Locksley, who rather admired me before that, feels that he has seen me in my true light, and I overheard the colonel saying something about these American women having such extraordinary tastes, damme. Two Turkish baths, much earnest prayer and a perfectly ducky consignment of new clothes have helped to purify us physically and spiritually. But it is the sort of experience that lasts a lifetime and wherein all the fun is in the telling afterward.

Now, of course, you are dying to hear about the countesses. Dear creatures, so well bred and the most ghastly bores we have ever struck The first was a dinner party at D—— house, overlooking Hyde Park. She is a relative of our hostess, who is thoroughly sparkling and jolly herself, so that we were justified in expecting to find it in the family. Oh, my dear! Her ladyship, passe and floppy, belongs to a society known as Cosmos, devoted to psychical research, and the whole blessed evening was taken up with silly spiritualist tales about doors opening by themselves, pictures making signs, and that sort tommyrot. The only young man of the pary was young enough to prefer experienced 45, so he left me for a naughty matron early in the evening, and the peculiar person who answers the description of the countess's husband did his duty by me nobly, and haw-ed consistently for an hour and a half.

The other countess is a beautiful dream, just like a picture, but she has very pronounced notions as to the sort of conversation American women prefer and a sticky ability to keep it right there. She occupies a flat in Queen Anne's Mansions, crammed full of family bric-a-brac and Socialist literature, and she has assured us severally and collectively about five times a minute that she is very democratic and firmly believes that she personally, is no better than other people. Which is a good job, but I don't care and I shall return to untitle plebeans with a gorgeous sigh of relief if we meet any more of this kind of blue-blooded aristocrat.

We leave for Russia on Tuesday next, to spend two weeks with the Princess Svorikin in Petersburg. We have just learned that a special courier will be sent over to escort us and are feeling duly important. It appears that the season in Petersburg begins now and things gradually become very gay from now on. We have been advised, however, that very little evening dress is worn, that is to say, decollete dress, so we are looking a little dubiously at the few rather fetching ones we had carefully provided to impress the Russians.

We return to London just in time for Thanksgiving, which we have arranged to spend with a lot of jolly Americans. Our hosts are to be the Brevetors—Mrs. B. is the sister of Mrs. Herbert J. Gou[illegible] of Los Angeles—and we are looking forward to it keenly. Marguerite Brevetor, who was born in California, married the very week we arrived, a prominent English banker named Male. She is a very pretty girl of 19, and there is talk of the whole family visiting California soon.

Lovingly,

BETTY.

Members of the Woman's Guild of St. John's Episcopal Church will entertain with their annual bazaar all day Thursday, November 20. The parish house at Adams and Figueroa will be the scene of the affair, which will conclude in the evening with a merry social party.

To Receive.

Mrs. Rebecca Reeser, who is celebrating her 87th birthday today, will receive her friends informally this afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Reeser Garrett of Eagle Rock. No cards have been issued.

Miss Allen to Wed.

Mrs. Matthew T. Allen of No. 4972 Pasadena avenue formally announces the engagement and approaching wedding of her daughter, Miss Echo, to Lieutenant Commander Henry N. Jenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Jenson, of River Falls, Wis. On account of the recent death of Judge Allen the wedding will be quietly solemnized at the family home tomorrow morning. Following an extended eastern trip the couple will return to this city where they will remain two weeks before going to their future home at Bremerton, Wash., where Lieutenant Commander Jenson is in command of the Milwaukee.

Musical Evening.

An enjoyable musicale Friday evening had for its hostesses Mrs. L. J. Ollier and Mrs. Elizabeth Newkirk, who entertained at the beautiful new home of the former at No. 1629 Crenshaw boulevard. Varied colored chrysanthemums were grouped about the large rooms. An excellent programme was presented by Mrs. Guy F. Busch, Mrs. Mary Newkirk Bowers, Mrs. Clare Robinson, Mrs. Kate Mason Deming, Tell Marshall, Mrs. Newkirk, Mrs. M. Henyon Robinson, Mrs. Lilina R. Green, Miss Frieda Peycke and Roy Smith. Supper followed with covers for seventy-five.

To Receive.

Mrs. Herbert Parks Barton of No. 715 South Ardmore avenue, who entertained her friends in July with a smart affair, will receive informally from 3 to 5 o'clock Wednesday, November 19.

Wedding Announcement.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Allen K. Ruoff of this city and Miss Gertrude Raines of Imperial Valley. The young people, who are enjoying a honeymoon outing at San Diego, will reside in this city upon their return.

At Mt. Washington Hotel.

One of the handsomely-appointed events of the week was the auction-bridge luncheon with which Mrs. Grove Ketchum of the Murray apartments entertained a large number of guests at Mt. Washington Hotel on Tuesday afternoon. Luncheon was served in the dining-room, which was reserved for the party, and tables were arranged in the parlor for the games of auction. Lavender and pink was the color motif adopted for the tables. Large Japanese baskets filled with pink Maman Cochet roses, violets and maidenhair fern, and alternating handles being tied with pink and lavender tulle bows, centered the tables, and rose petals were scattered over the cloths. Place and score cards combined were adorned with the gold monogram of the hostess, with the names of the guests in gold lettering.

Announces Marriage.

Mrs. George W. Jones of Ocean Park formally announces the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Bernard Corrigan, Jr., to Philip Galer of Cincinnati, the ceremony being conducted in Kansas City, yesterday. The couple left immediately to pass their honeymoon abroad.

This announcement will be of interest to a great many Los Angeles and former Kansas City friends. The bride has been a winter resident of California for several years, making her home in Ocean Park. Mrs. Galer was justly very popular in Ocean Park and this city, and was unusually talented. As a dashing young widow she had much attention, and more than one member of the Bachelor's Club would have resigned at a nod from her. Her many friends will be much disappointed that she is not coming back here next week for the winter, as she had planned.

Series of Matinees.

Mrs. Donald Gray Keeler of the Westonia Hotel has been entertaining with a series of delightful matinee parties, followed by tea at the Alexandria. One of the series occurred last Friday at the Burbank, where a performance of the Quaker girl was enjoyed. Included were Mrs. Lou Palmer, Mrs. William Pennel, Mrs. Frank Jay, Mrs. William Variel, Mrs. Frank Boswell, Mrs. F. Yalas and her house guest, Mrs. Morgan; Mrs. E. Syrong, Mrs. Edward J. Brent, Mrs. Joe Zemansky and Mrs. William Morehouse. The table at the Alexandria was centered by American Beauty roses nodding from long stems, held in a crystal vase in the center of the table.

The last of the series occurred yesterday and honor guest for the afternoon was Mrs. George Maybee, formerly of St. Joseph, Mo., who is the house guest for the winter of Mrs. Walter F. Badger of Kenmore avenue, Hollywood. Other guests were Mrs. Ralph Hagan, Mrs. William Mackie, Mrs. Alexander Bobrick, Mrs. C. L. Higbee, Mrs. Charles L. Hubbard, Mrs. Tom Wright, Mrs. W. O. Morton, Mrs. Frank Bowles, Mrs. Emma B. Myers, Mrs. G. W. Saurret, Mrs. Ira Chapman, Mrs. Mathew Everhardy, Mrs. A. J. Sherer, Mrs. Myrtle Badger Sheridan and Miss Maude Elizabeth Richards. Seats were reserved at the Orpheum for the guests, as well as at the Alexandria, where the table was fragrant with violets and the dainty Cecil Brunner roses. Gold monogram cards marked covers for each affair.

Invitations Issued.

Mrs. John R. Grant, No. 619 Ardmore avenue, and Mrs. Lewis A. Grant, No. 615 Westlake, have issued several hundred invitations for a "high tea" to be given at the home of the former Tuesday afternoon, November 25.

Honors Fellow-Travelers.

Honoring members of a party who recently toured Europe with her, Mrs. Jasper Crandall entertained with a dinner party Friday evening at her home, No. 433 South Manhattan place. The table was abloom with pink chrysanthemums and Cecil Brunner roses, and cards marking places were held in the beaks of swallows, perched on the glasses. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Crandall, Mrs. Cecilia White, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Carlisle, Mrs. William Taylor Miller, Mrs. William T. Durham, Miss Valentine Hernandez, Miss Anne Mason and Messrs. James R. Choate, Calvin McAuley, Harry F. Anderson and David C. Barger.

Returned Home.

Miss Anna Logan, No. 786 Kingsley drive, who went north to see the big football game, returned home Wednesday. She was the guest of Miss Helen Batcheller at the Gamma Phi Beta Sorority House.

Bridge Luncheon.

Mrs. S. Frederick Johnson, No. 2140 West Twenty-first street, and Mrs. George C. Miller of Oak Knoll, Pasadena, gave a beautifully-appointed luncheon and auction bridge party yesterday afternoon at the home of the former. Fall blossoms and ferns were combined in the development of an exquisite color scheme. There were attractive place cards and handsome prizes, to say nothing of the very dainty menu offered for the delectation of the guests.

Those enjoying the hospitality of the afternoon were Mrs. H. K. Williamson, Mrs. Lewis Clarke Carlisle, Mrs. Warren F. Young, Mrs. R. B. Williamson, Mrs. Ralph R. Rae, Mrs. Elizabeth Nash, Mrs. John Cornwell, Mrs. Wilbur Campbell, Mrs. Benjamin Church, Mrs. Frank Hudson, Mrs. Cotton Mather, Mrs. J. A. Sherer, Mrs. Edward C. Dieter, Mrs. T. McDougall, Mrs. Edward C. Hagauran, Mrs. M. E. Johnson, Mrs. H. M. Binford, Mrs. Willits J. Hole, Mrs. W. H. Bailey, Mrs. W. L. Jones, Mrs. George F. Ross, Mrs. William H. Chamberlin, Mrs. K. A. Brauer, Mrs. Warren Gillelen, Mrs. Wiley J. Rouse, Mrs. A. Molyneaux, Mrs. W. R. Mail, Mrs. Franklin H. Nichols, Mrs. T. Heiman, Mrs H. Updegraff, Mrs. Charles Nichols, Mrs. Frederick Warren Johnson, Mrs. Sherman Pease, Miss Elizabeth Ogden and Miss Gridley.

Home From the North.

Mrs. Esther Ide, No. 1025 West Thirtieth street, and Mrs. Howard D. Sale of the Shoreham Hotel, who have been enjoying a most pleasant fortnight at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco, have returned home.

Dancing Party.

Honoring Miss Olive Berryman and Dewitt Brady, whose marriage will occur Tuesday, November 25, Mr. and Mrs. John Percival entertained with an enjoyable dancing party at their home, No. 222 St. Andrews boulevard, Friday evening. Mrs. Josephine S. Hall, the mother of Mrs. Percival, and Mrs. Blanch E. Davis assisted. The perfume of spicy pink carnations pervaded the rooms given over to the affair, which were brilliantly lighted throughout.

Those invited to greet the honorees were Mr. and Mrs. John R. Berryman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Carll Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Drennon Dodds, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Jones, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cushman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pinkham, Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Potter, Mrs. Blanche E. Davis, Miss Eythel Huntoon, Miss Fern Wildey, Miss Jessie Cushman, Miss

"38" Packard "48"

FALL and winter demands for enclosed bodies tax the capacity of the Packard carriage shops. We have anticipated these demands and are in a position to make attractive deliveries of enclosed carriages in standard finish and equipment.

To finish these bodies in accordance with individual taste requires more time. You may have the choice of exclusive, imported upholstering materials and the selection of color combinations in body finish. Fifteen enclosed body styles offer a range of selection to meet your requirements.

The activity and surplus power of the Packard chassis are appreciated under extreme winter conditions, when it carries with impressive ease the imperial limousine and complement of seven passengers.

A conspicious advantage is its ability to turn clear around, without backing, in a street forty-four feet wide. No other car of the same ample wheelbase can duplicate this performance, and most cars with a much shorter wheelbase require more space for this purpose.

A demonstration at your convenience will convince you of Packard simplicity of operation and superior riding qualities.

% Less Than Regular!

—Unfortunately for us—fortunately for you—we find ourselves with about one hundred and fifty dining tables for which our supply of extra leaves is missing. These tables were stored in the portion of our warehouse which was damaged by our recent fire. The leaves for these tables were, however, stored in the part of the warehouse which was destroyed. Extra leaves for these tables, to replace those burned, were immediately ordered, but they are not due to arrive until possibly after December 1st.

—Owing to the crowded condition of our warehouse and salesrooms, we find it necessary to move these tables now, as we need this room for incoming new goods. Hence the purpose of this sale and the special reductions now in force.

—The leaves for these tables will be supplied just as soon as they arrive. The slight inconvenience you will be put to will far more than be repaid in the substantial saving which is now possible. Man-Tailored Skirts Made to Measure for Making 1 Day Only 85c —Another one of those remarkable skirt sales announced for Monday.

—They are made by a man tailor, and even though the price is ridiculous, the workmanship is of the highest order. Indeed, we take fully as much pains as though we were charging you $2.50 or more.

—Select any material in stock at $1 or over, and right here we wish to say that our dress goods stock is noted for the splendid variety of materials shown and exceptional values offered.

—Another thing—and we wish to emphasize this—we ask only the exact amount of material necessary for the making of these skirts, not one inch more.

—1¾ or 2¾ yards of 54-inch material.

—For extra sizes an extra charge for the additional material used.

—Remember the new location, 2nd floor, reached by elevators rear Aisle 6, then through the archway.

—This price is for Monday only.

Kid Gloves, $1.89, 16 Button White, Should Be $3.

—Think of a 16-button white kid glove for $1.89. Full elbow length at that, three clasps at wrist. Good flare arm. There's a full range of sizes.

—These gloves would bring $3 in the regular way. They're bought at a special price, marked $1.95, and Monday they go still lower—$1.89.

A Letter From M. Loubet of Paris Brings Millinery News to Bullock's

—It gives so much light on certain millinery questions we reprint it in toto today and invite women to see the Hats of which it speaks, on Monday—

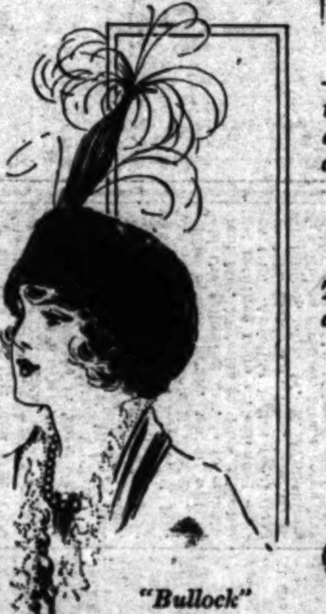
Bullock's Paris Office—7, Rue Ambroise-Thomas, 7.

BULLOCK'S, Los Angeles, Cal.

GENTLEMEN:—As per Mr. Goshen's request when in Paris to send him the latest style hats from Reboux, Talbot and Georgette when they appeared for the Fall season, we have selected the most striking shapes from these milliners which will appear at the Grand Prix d'Automne. The real change in millinery styles in Paris takes place in June and in late October, in other words, when fashionable women are buying and wearing their hats. The exact time varies a little from season to season, depending on weather and certain fashionable events.

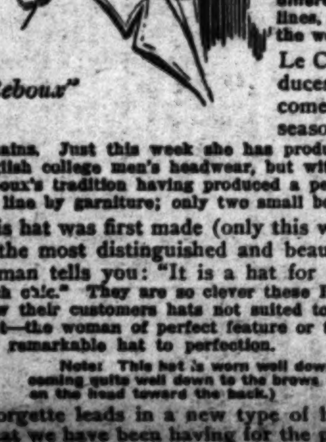
The hats sold to the trade in August are largely variations of styles successfully launched in June; or experiments in ideas that may or may not become a vogue in Paris. The great milliners themselves depend on the verdict of their smart clientele for what will or will not become a vogue. The early hat models have much vogue in Paris, since the Parisienne never, never commits the sartorial crime of wearing anything but a fresh, new-looking hat, therefore she must have new hats in August and September. But in October and early November, when not only tailor-made but afternoon and evening dresses are ordered and worn, hat styles take definite form and the most important millinery changes of the year generally take place.

This season, the fashionables have been later than usual in coming back to Paris, owing to the unusually beautiful weather. Therefore the higher grade the trade the less positive the house as to styles. Reboux, for instance, who numbers as her clients women of the highest social and fashion rank of the world, showed "nothing new" on September 20th, and only on September 25th began to show and speak with confidence of the new styles.



"Bullock"

There are certain new hat ideas now plainly developing; for instance hats with longer brim lines, hats turned abruptly at the back; skull cap effects with brims variously adjusted; high hard brim turbans, mortar board crowns; berets. Some of these are not new in the sense that they are just launched, remember; but their sure acceptance by fashionable women is the point. The new beret is an example of this. Berets we have had for many seasons, and especially early this season, but Talbot and Maria Guy launch new broad berets which have found acceptance. The same may be said of the new high brim, smoothly covered, hard line turbans of various sorts.



"Reboux"

In the new hats we have sent we have tried to give you the newest and most distinctive notes. Reboux, as you know, stands as the line maker or rather did stand so, for it was Reboux who created the simple type of hat depending on its shape or line for its cachet. Now all the world knows, makes and wears simple hats of decided line. The Reboux hat is quite without trimming, which is its great feature, line being the feature of this house. But if you find this more satisfactory to any client with trimming, you can easily pose an ostrich fantasie or aigrette on upper brim in any line becoming to your client.

Reboux, Talbot and Georgette, stand as the greatest milliners in the world, and we send you their latest and smartest products. They are different, and for that very reason, because the age is not accustomed to these lines, many people will object to them, doubtless. But why send you hats that all the world has seen and half the world has had?

Le Chapeau L'Aureole—Reboux, the apostle of line, Reboux who introduces a new shape or a new bow or a new fantasie, only to find it become a world vogue, has worked on "mortar board" hats quite a bit this season, mortar boards so modified, that only the suggestion of the shape remains. Just this week she has produced quite a new hat that suggests the English college men's headwear, but with different feminine lines. And true to Reboux's tradition having produced a perfect shape, she refuses to detract from the line by garniture; only two small bows break the severity.

This hat was first made (only this week, remember) for Mme. D——, one of the most distinguished and beautiful of Paris matrons. The saleswoman tells you: "It is a hat for a great beauty, or for a woman of much chic." They are so clever these Paris saleswomen, that they do not even show their customers hats not suited to them. And the saleswoman was quite right—the woman of perfect feature or the woman of distinctive style can wear this remarkable hat to perfection.

Note: This hat is worn well down on the forehead, the crown in front coming quite well down to the brows (not, as one might think, pulled down on the head toward the back.)

Georgette leads in a new type of hat—really large, as compared with what we have been having for the past year, though better described as "medium large." Georgette long stood for all that was perfection in large hats, and it is most interesting that she should again favor large shapes.

Again the round low crown, and a brim of [illegible]

"The Alpine 1913-14 Range"

—dedicated to women and devoted to Fashion — has proven the most delightful event of the week.

—This beautiful new floor is eager to become known for its values, its individuality and the superiority of the service it renders, rather than for the magnificent luxury of its appointments—

—Though it is true that this floor sets a new standard for character and quality of equipment among fashion stores in the West and that it is attracting widespread attention because of the luxury and the efficient arrangement of its furnishings—its first desire and aim will be to establish a still more notable reputation among women for the perfection of its styles, the attractiveness of its varieties and values, and the willing courtesy of its service.

—In furtherance of this idea—

A Great Gathering of Winter Suits at $25.00

Hasten the Preparation Of the Dining Room For the Thanksgiving Festivities

BUT LITTLE MORE THAN A WEEK REMAINS BEfore Thanksgiving will be here—then comes Christmas and then New Year's—with the many intervening occasions of the entertaining season.

Surely it is the logical time to put the dining-room in new attire. Perhaps all that is needed is a new extension table—or perhaps new dining chairs—or a sideboard—or a dinner wagon to add that touch of character every housewife so much desires—or possibly the rug is worn—and you have promised yourself a new one for a long time.

Whatever the need—be it one article or the entire furnishing of the dining-room—the "California" is prepared to serve you economically and satisfactorily.

Here you will find dining-room furniture values and selection that no store in Los Angeles can surpass — dining-room chairs of worthy quality for as little as $3.00—and on up to $50.00, splendid oak extension tables for as little as $13.50, and as high as $300. Only one price here—but that one price is made to successfully meet all competition 365 days in the year.

We court value comparison — we invite inspection. Coming to the "California" never obligates you to buy.

One of our windows this week shows a particularly handsome dining-room suite of the Jacobean period.

SOCIETY.

Anna St. John, Miss Ella Foster, Miss Florence Cork, Miss Alice Crab, Miss Lulu Reeves, Miss Mildred Finch, Miss Kathryn Granger, Miss Anna Clemmons, Miss Maud Berryman, Miss Sylvia Tischauser, Miss Marie Jackson, Miss Clara Stephenson, and Messrs. Roe Barrett, Lynn Christopher, John Berryman, Clyde Bannister, C. E. Brown, Robert Beebee, Sydney Boyd, Pascal Burke, Bryson Allen, Lylye Thomas Evelyn, George E. Rinehart, Clay Clayburg, Dr. Herbert T. True and Dr. Walter Reeves.

Miss Berryman entertained the members of the Alpha Chi Omega at her home in West Alhambra Monday afternoon with a boudoir tea, at which time she showed her trousseau and the contents of the "hope chest." A profusion of pink chrysanthemums adorned the home and the afternoon was spent in hemming dish towels for the hostess. Dainty refreshments were served to twenty-five guests.

Series of Bridge Luncheons.

Society is anticipating with delight the two large bridge luncheons which will be presided over the coming week by Mrs. Lewis Clark Carlisle, at her home No. 674 Ardmore avenue. The first affair is to welcome back travelers, who have been making a trip around the world—Mrs. George Walker and her daughter Miss Ethelyn Walker, and the sister of Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Hattie Malloy. This event will be held Thursday, November 20, and for this day Mrs. Carlisle has chosen for her assistants, Mrs. Willits J. Hole, Mrs. Samuel Knight Rindge, Mrs. William L. Jones, Mrs. George P. Thresher, Mrs. Charles H. Toll, Mrs. William S. Croff, Mrs. Edward S. Dieter, Mrs. Laura Armstrong, Mrs. A. E. Halsey, Mrs. Edwin E. Howard, Mrs. O. P. Clark, Mrs. E. C. Bellows, Mrs. George L. Crenshaw, Mrs. J. B. Millard and Mrs. Frank D. Hudson.

The second affair, which will be held the following day, is to compliment Mrs. Nicholas E. Rice, who has just returned from an extended eastern trip. Assisting ladies for Friday are Mrs. Stephen L. Rice, Mrs. R. B. Williamson, Mrs. W. K. Williamson, Mrs. Ruben Shettler, Mrs. George Day Birkel, Mrs. W. I. Hollingsworth, Mrs. S. M. Goddard, Mrs. Henderson Hayward, Mrs. James P. Burns, Mrs. Elmer E. Cole, Mrs. J. H. Miels, Mrs. M. S. Robertson and Mrs. Leon Moss.

From Spokane.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Oakley and their son Richard, are guests at the Bryson. They came here from Spokane, where Mrs. Oakley occupies a leading place in society and her husband is well known in club circles.

Walla Walla Guests.

Mrs. J. J. Raulston, who for several years has been passing the winter in Los Angeles, is occupying a suite at the Bryson. She is accompanied by her daughters, Misses Cora and Nettie Raulston, the family home is in Walla Walla, Wash.

Dinner Dance.

One of the pleasures of the season was the dinner dance and five hundred party given in honor of the members of the Avril Club by Mrs. Flora Morgan and her daughter, Mrs. Bertha Baetz, at their country home, "Oak Glenn," Monte Vista. Luncheon was served from a table adorned with autumn leaves, where places were marked with photographs of the pretty home. In the evening gentlemen were included and dinner was a delightful feature.

The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. G. G. Whitaker, Miss Therese Buford, Miss Helen Lerchin and Miss Lola Salstrum. The guests who concluded the evening dancing were Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Iri Pickler, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Carr, Misses Mary Ramsey, Bates, Parker, Sharpe, Elsa Rust and Minoseu.

Giving an added interest to the reception which followed the wedding of Miss Anita McLachlan, daughter of James McLachlan of South Marengo avenue, and Ralph Hubbard Reynolds, Wednesday at high noon, came the announcement of the engagement of the bride's sister, Miss Gladys McLachlan, and Gardiner Towne of Los Angeles, who acted as best man. The marriage Wednesday was solemnized at the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church by Rev. John Gilber Blue and was followed by a wedding reception at the bride's home. The bride was attended by her sister, whose engagement was later announced, and twenty were seated at the wedding breakfast. The wedding of Miss Gladys McLachlan and Gardiner Towne will take place some time in December.

Mrs. George W. T. Lord of South Madison avenue entertained Tuesday afternoon with the second of a series of teas. Throughout the various rooms chrysanthemums were used in decoration. Mrs. Frank V. Rider and Miss Hetherington assisted in receiving and Mrs. Albert Butler presided over the tea cups. There were forty present.

Mrs. William Douglas Turner entertained the members of the Monday Afternoon Club last week at Hotel Maryland and Miss Elizabeth Blakeslee read a paper on "The Indians of Early California." Among those present were Mmes. William Wilson Leithead, Henry G. Bennett, Benjamin M. Page, Frank S. Daggett, Fred R. Harris, Howard Fish, Miss Katherine Walker and Mrs. Arthur H. Conger of Los Angeles.

The first of a series of "The Dansants" held yesterday afternoon at Hotel Maryland proved to be one of the smartest society affairs of the season, and these functions will be given each Saturday from 2 to 4 during the winter season either at Hotel Maryland or the Huntington. Both the music and Japanese rooms were wonderfully decorated for the function, the Japanese idea being carried out with artistic taste and originality. Chrysanthemums were used in the stately and effective manner of Japanese decoration and along both sides of the rooms small afternoon tea tables were placed and Japanese girls in costume served tea. Music was furnished by an orchestra half concealed beneath a screen of ferns, and debutantes and society maids and matrons enjoyed the dance. Madame Mercedee Chischelski, the Polish contralto, gave vocal numbers. Patronesses of the affair were Mmes Harrison I. Drummond, Harlow W. Bailey, Kenneth Avery, William A. Breckenridge, Adnah R. Chaffee, J. B. Coulston, Robert Flint, Albert Sherman Hoyt, John S. Cravens, Ernest H. May, Samuel Cupples Pierce, H. Page Warden Arthur Letts, A. S. Halsted, Nutting Wigton, E. J. Marshall, Lloyd Macy, William R. Staats, Arthur A. Libby, Henry R. Sherk, and W. D. Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Smith of North Lake avenue entertained a number of their friends Tuesday evening with music and readings. The programme was furnished by Miss Mary Niosi, who gave a group of songs, and Albert Shaw, who gave violin selections. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Van Dyne, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Bowles, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Crellar, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Halderman, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Vesper, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Batterson, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Hartzell, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Noll, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Earl, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Benton, Mr. and Mrs. William Kalb, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Muller, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Hester, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Riggs, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Nease, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Taylor, Mmes. L. M. Pratt, F. D. Bowles, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Donaldson, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Green, Misses Tyrell, Breckenridge, Leona Niosi and others.

Miss Elizabeth Walker of East Villa street was the recipient of a very pleasant surprise party arranged Tuesday evening by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Walker, in celebration of the fourteenth anniversary of her birthday. Supper was served, where covers were laid for eighteen, and later games and music entertained the guests.

Mrs. Garrett Newkirk entertained Thursday afternoon with the second of a series of informal teas when she was assisted by her niece, Mrs. James Wilson Martin. The floral decorations were bronze chrysanthemums, and the hostess read several original poems, which gave great pleasure. There were thirty-five present.

An unusually delightful auction bridge and five hundred party was enjoyed by members at the Altadena Country Club Friday evening and the assembly room was beautifully decorated with autumn foliage and flowers. Tables were arranged for sixty players and after the games refreshments were served. Among those participating in the games were Dr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Hampton L. Story, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gartz, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Welles, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Coulston, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Miss Gladys Percy of Hollywood was the guest of Mrs. Arnold Praeger, South Marengo avenue, the greater part of last week.

Mrs. A. F. Gartz of Altadena arranged a delightful dinner and card party Wednesday evening in celebration of the birthday anniversary of her husband. There were forty guests present.

Mr. and Mrs. George Banks of Philadelphia are at Hotel Maryland for a few weeks before going to Hotel del Coronado for the winter.

South Pasadena.

MISS EDITH MYERS, daughter of City Auditor and Mrs. John S. Myers of Los Angeles, who has just returned from over a year's study and travel in Germany, was the honoree at an "at home" given Friday afternoon by Miss Florence Parmelee at her home, No. 919 Fair Oaks avenue. The rooms were aglow with the large yellow and pink chrysanthemums combined with the English ivy. Assisting ladies were the sister of the hostess, Mrs. F. J. Knight of Pasadena; Mrs. R. E. Fuller of Hollywood, Miss Gladys Bridges, Miss Inez Johnston, Miss Katherine Obear and Miss Eva Smith, the latter four of Los Angeles. Dainty refreshments were served, and sixty guests were included, all former college friends of the honoree.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moore of El Centro, who came last Saturday, motored home in their new car, taking with them Miss Florence Gifford of No. 2039 Edgewood drive, who will be their house guest for two weeks.

The Misses Butterfield entertained with an enjoyable luncheon and Kensington party at their home Thursday afternoon, when covers were laid for twelve. The luncheon table was very beautiful with its burden of large, fluffy, yellow chrysanthemums and harmonious table accessories. Gold-monogramed cards marked covers for Mrs. Norman Foote Marsh, Mrs. Jessie Cairns Shoebottom, Mrs. Otis Byers Manchester, Mrs. Thomas W. Bishop, Mrs. George W. Patterson, Mrs. Joseph W. Cristy, Mrs. Ernest V. Sutton, Mrs. William Boothby Stringfellow, Miss Frances Evans, Miss Bertha Evans and the hostesses. Following luncheon dainty fancy work and pleasant conversation employed the afternoon in the large living-room which was a bower of beautiful fall blossoms.

Miss Georgia Mosher of Denver is the house guest of her sister, Mrs. George D. Werden, No. 1976 Milan avenue, for the winter.

Mrs. O. A. Blatner was the charming hostess at her beautiful new home on Oak street, yesterday afternoon, at an informal auction bridge luncheon. The table glowed with golden and white chrysanthemums, with the same blossoms used in the large living-room, where tables were arranged for auction following the luncheon. Place and score cards combined were hand-painted landscapes. Guests enjoying the afternoon were Mrs. Samuel McDonald, Mrs. Chester Braiser, Mrs. Charles Bingham, Mme. Curtis, Mrs. W. L. Thomas, Mrs. Edward N. Grant, Mrs. Mossom G. Ritchie, Mrs. Frank Beardslee, Mrs. William Harland of Pasadena, Mrs. A. Lowman of Beverly Hills, and Mrs. C. C. Hill of Mt. Washington. Mrs. Bingham was high score winner for the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Rudolph, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Rudolph, Jr., and two children of Camden, N. J., have arrived in the city and taken the Hunsinger house on Edgewood drive for four months. Another son will join them later. It is their intention to remain in Southern California.

One of the happy events of the current week was the children's party given for "grown-ups," with which Miss Bertha Moore entertained the faculty of the High School, their husbands or wives, last evening at her home, No. 1424 Laurel street. A profusion of yellow chrysanthemums enlivened the dining-room and living-room, while the pale pink was utilized in the reception hall. The guests came dressed as children, and each one contributed to the evening's enjoyment by presenting an original stunt, the best one winning a prize. Children's games were played, among which was "Chasing the Pot of Gold at the End of the Rainbow." Animal cakes, apples on a stick and all-day suckers were among the indicative refreshments served. The guests included Prof. and Mrs. George C. Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert S. Upjohn, Mr. and Mrs. E. Melvin Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Will W. Green, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mottram, Miss Elizabeth E. Bickford, Miss Ella Foglesong, Miss Harriett Wishard, Miss Kate M. Meek, Miss Prue Rowan, Miss Elizabeth MacKintosh, Miss Lucy Dickinson, Miss Florence B. Harris, Miss Sarah McRae, Miss Hazel Simpson and Messrs. Charles H. Oneal and Herbert E. White.

Sierra Madre.

BY far the most beautiful dance and cotillion ever given in this city was enjoyed on Friday evening at the Woman's Club House, this being the crowning event of the Chrysanthemum Show. Most elaborate and artistic were the decorations throughout. Chrysanthemums and greenery were banked in every opportune spot and helped to carry out the Japanese effect which was so cleverly and uniquely produced. In the center of the auditorium was a large parasol, which was suspended from the ceiling and soft lights in the Japanese lanterns threw a beautiful glow over the whole effect, which made it most charming. The cotillion, which was under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Montgomery, Mrs. Mary Davis Goodfellow and Claude Davis, was indeed most effective. Many original figures were used in which baskets, flowers and parasols played an important part. A shower of confetti concluded the cotillion and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served in the dining-room. Here also during the evening punch was served. Half way hidden by flowers on the stage was the orchestra, whose soft strains could be clearly heard by the assembled guests. The patronesses received in the lobby and were Mesdames J. A. Osgood, Frank Wright, W. H. Ingraham, W. J. Lawless, C. H. Baker, J. T. Mason, L. L. Krebs, C. W. Jones, E. W. Camp, J. R. Ajjen, C. C. Course, Fairbanks and Rust.

A very prettily-arranged bowl of violets and Cecil Bruner roses marked the center of the table at the daintily-appointed luncheon, which Miss Hazel Hill gave last Saturday at her home complimentary to Mrs. Donald Ashmore, a recent bride. Pretty pink place cards marked the places for the guests and tiny baskets of the same color filled with nuts added much to the general attractiveness of the table. After lunch the guests spent the afternoon in making dish towels, which when completed, were given to the guest of honor. Those present were Mesdames Ashmore, Hill, Gilliland, Goodfellow, L. M. Rice, the Misses Hazel Hill, Lottie and Dorothy Humphries and Miller. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Clarence Penn and Roland Laws of Los Angeles.

Complimentary to Mrs. Monroe and Miss Monroe, who are guests at the home of Mrs. J. A. Osgood and Mrs. Ballou, who is spending the winter here with her hister, Mrs. E. F. Ballou, Mrs. William J. Lawless entertained on Thursday afternoon at her home. The afternoon was delightfully spent with story-telling, music, and the guests were later each given materials to dress dolls. A pretty prize was awarded the one who had done the best work, and refreshments were later served. Those invited were Mesdames J. A. Osgood, Entwhistle, Caldwell, T. E. Yerxa, J. T. Mason, George Letteau, F. J. Hart, L. C. Dietz, L. E. Fairbanks, Hopkins and Ernest Yerxa, and Miss Woodward and Mrs. Ham.

On Thursday afternoon the Misses Dorothy and Lottie Humphries entertained the Modern Priscillas and a few friends in honor of Mrs. Donald Ashmore, who is a member of the club. Needlework and social chat filled the former part of the afternoon. The guests then went into the dining-room, where a "miscellaneous shower" was given Mrs. Ashmore. Here decorations of hearts and greenery were utilized and in the center of the room was suspended an open umbrella, from which red hearts and strings attached proved to be tied to a useful or dainty article. Many pretty gifts were received and later refreshments were served. Those invited were Mesdames Ernest Yerxa, Burton Andrews, J. H. Hart, T. M. Webster, James Hawks, Henderson Childs, C. H. Baker, Amelia Churchill, R. H. Mackerras, H. I. Hawxhurst, T. M. Henszey, E. W. Camp, Mary Davis Goodfellow, G. Hallett Johnson, C. W. Jones, W. H. Ingraham, William Dennison, Wilbur Gilliland, H. Gregory, H. T. Fennel, F. P. Conard, L. M. Rice and Humphries; the Misses Annis Coffey, Hazel Webster, Florence Vannier. Ruth and Daisy Hawks, Gertrude Cook. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. C. H. Brown of the Villa, Mrs. Clarence Pennand, Mrs. R. D. Laws of Los Angeles and Miss Dorothy Brown of Pasadena.

Mrs. S. St. John of Whittier was the week-end guest at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Yerxa.

Miss Alice Hanks of San Francisco is visiting for a short time with her sister, Mrs. James Hawks. Miss Hanks leaves soon for Europe, where she expects to remain for a year.

The Eleven and One Club held a very enjoyable meeting at the home of Miss Ruth Sparks on Tuesday evening. Those present were the Misses Mildred Sherman, Verna Trible, Minnie Baker, Avis Preston, Hilda Caley, Maybelle Caley, Marion Decker and Anna Janson.

Among guests who attended an auction bridge luncheon given on Monday by Mrs. S. Siegmund of West Moreland boulevard, were Mesdames E. W. Camp, W. J. Lawless, W. H. Ingraham, G. Hallett Johnson, Ballou, Letteau, Carhart and Miss Woodward.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Burton of Ocean Park are the guests for a short time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Humphries.

The Ancient Priscillas were entertained this week at the home of Mrs. W. S. Andrews.

Long Beach.

A STUDY of California was the theme of the Ebell Club at its weekly session on Monday, and the pretty clubhouse was abloom with California roses fresh from the bush. Mrs. W. H. Dunn spoke on historic places in the State, Mrs. L. P. Frary followed with an account of the wild rush in the days of '49, while Mrs. Alice Wiley told of the famous landmarks of the southern part of the State.

Miss Mabel Smale of Atlantic avenue entertained Saturday night with a cup and saucer shower for Miss Louise Kucksinger, who is to wed Thomas Woodward early in December.

Members of the Signal Hill Civic League were the guests Friday of Mrs. O. G. Mecham at her home in Burnett.

Miss Ruth Miller entertained a party of five girls at a week-end party at her home on East First street.

At a gathering of the Young Woman's Chorus members Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Lulu Burnham on East Seventh street, announcement was made of the approaching marriage of Miss Mae Secrist to Verne Steadman.

Miss Leslie Charlesworth entertained at five hundred Monday evening at the Southern home.

Members of the Bellevue Club were the guests Tuesday of Mrs. M. O. Legard at her home on Obispo avenue.

Mrs. J. C. Hartley entertained Saturday evening at a dinner-dance at Hotel Alexander in honor of her son, J. F. Hartley, and his wife, who are leaving for their home in Buenos Ayres.

Mrs. H. L. Pillsbury was hostess Tuesday afternoon for the members of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

On Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Lyman celebrated in a quiet way their sixteenth wedding anniversary at their home on West Fourteenth street.

Members of the Stitch and Chatter Club were the guests Wednesday of Mrs. J. D. Cason at her home on East First street.

Mrs. H. L. Harrison entertained at auction bridge at her home on Molino avenue, Thursday evening, complimentary to Mrs. Milton I. Baird.

Mrs. G. W. Holton entertained her club Tuesday afternoon at her new home on Locust avenue.

Mrs. B. P. Dayman entertained at luncheon Friday at her home on Daisy avenue.

Members of Chapter A. F., of the P.E.O. Sisterhood were the guests Friday of Mrs. D. T. Cornell at her home on East Ocean avenue.

Mrs. O. L. Spencer entertained Saturday evening at a birthday dinner complimentary to her sister, Mrs. M. S. Gregg of Orange, who was her week-end guest.

Huntington Beach.

DISCUSSING French history as the topic of the day, the Woman's Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. L. Heffner, and heard interesting papers by Mrs. Joseph Vavra on the "Churches of Paris;" Mrs. Amy B. Johnson on "Versailles and the Trianon," and Mrs. Georgia Stanford on "French History." Refreshments were served by the hostess.

An informal affair in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Guy H. Preston, recently married here, was given Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. W. E. Hibbard on Tenth street, the hostess being assisted in entertaining by Mrs. M. D. Rosenberger.

Misses Zula Elkin and Gertrude Fitzgerald entertained a number of friends Sunday afternoon at the former's home here, when music, games and candy making furnished enjoyment to the guests, who were Misses Cathie and Jewel Yeary, Frankie Double and Gladys Leatherman and Messrs. Fred and Will Gallienne, Don Yeary and Claude Leatherman.

Mrs. E. E. Greenfiled of Newhall left for home Tuesday after enjoying a pleasant visit of several days here

One Cause of Bad Complexion—the Cure

(From Family Physician.)

"Look at a section of skin under the microscope and you will readily understand why cosmetics generally injure the complexion," Says Dr. H. Robert Mackenzie. "The skin, smooth as it looks to the naked eye, under the glass exhibits a lacework of tiny holes, mouths of myriads of little glands. To keep the skin healthy these holes must be unobstructed, that the perspiration and natural oil can have free outlet. Should the glands be blocked up with irritating gritty particles, a common result of using powders and creams, Nature retaliates by causing sallowness, roughness, blotches or pimples.

"As a substitute for all cosmetics I recommend ordinary mercolized wax. It not only does what the various face preparations are supposed to accomplish, but its peculiar absorbent action frees the pores from the daily accumulation of impurities, also absorbing the devitalized particles of surface skin. This produces a natural, healthy, youthful complexion. One ounce of this wax, to be had at any drug store, usually suffices to rejuvenate the poorest complexion. It is put on nightly like cold cream and washed off mornings."—[Advertisement.

A Fascinating Display of Dolls and Toys

NEVER in our history has Santa Claus favored us with such a multitude of wonderful and magnificent Toys and Dolls. All sorts of interesting novelties that will interest parents and little folks alike. Trains, animals, soldiers, clowns, etc., in almost endless array, and a splendid assortment of mechanical Toys which are almost lifelike in their antics.

Be sure to see the new animals from Germany, which almost run and jump, so scientifically constructed are they. And the Dolls! Never has there been a more fascinating collection. A style to suit every girl's taste, from the quaint Kewpies and Character Dolls, to the life-size Dolls with human hair and movable eyes.

Then, too, there are scores of interesting Books for Girls and Boys, with quaint little Painting Books for the smaller tots.

Fancy Art Embroidery for Christmas
The most artistic showing in the city. Choose from exquisite scarfs, pillows, centers, etc., already embroidered. Or select a stamped piece, join our Embroidery Class, and embroider it yourself. Clever novelties, shown only by us.

A Clearance of Misses' Coats
Decidedly smart models, in the heavy styles so popular this season. Zibelines and other charming novelty weaves in fashion's favorite shades are included. Superb values, ranging up to $27.50. Broken lines—that's why we've priced them at $17.50
Other magnificent models ranging up to $40, including some beautiful Evening Coats, many of them velvet or fur trimmed. For holiday social events, they are pre-eminently appropriate.

A Sale of Boys' Warm Overcoats
These jaunty models are belted and have snug storm collars. Sizes 2 to 7 years, especially commendable for their excellent quality and perfect fit. At the height of the season, when most needed, this is a noteworthy offering of Boys' Coats at $4.75
Another unusual offering! Boys' all-wool Reefers, correct in style and finish. Many are velvet collared, others plain. Browns, grays and practical mixtures in the assortment, which is a notable one at the modest price of........ $3.75

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of the First Methodist Church were most delightfully entertained on Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. R. J. Downer at her home on South Almansor street. About twenty-five ladies enjoyed the meeting and social hour following, during which delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The December meeting of the societies will be held at the home of Mrs. O. G. Myron on North Fifth stret.

Glendale.

ONE of the most pleasing events of the week was that given by Miss Lorraine Mitchell at her home on Kenneth road, when she entertained the Eladnelg Club. Monday evening's event was one of the most elaborate affairs enjoyed by this society this year. The various rooms were greatly beautified by dozens of mammoth chrysanthemums and gracefully-twining ferns and smilax. Five hundred was the game played during the evening and prizes at the conclusion of the play were awarded to Miss Clair Provolt and Dr. J. L. Flint, both of whom were special guests of the evening. After the play of the evening very dainty refreshments were served at small tables, which were decorated by various-colored carnations. Among the guests present during the evening were: Misses Myrtle and Emma Pulliam, Alice Beach, Atala Browning, Emily Ellias, Messrs. Arthur Fancher, John Legg, Shieves Mitchell, Dwight Stevenson, George Mitchell, Fred Lartigue and Paul Steinmeyer. Special guests of the evening were Miss Clair Provolt, Miss Barbara Mitchell and Dr. J. L. Flint.

The ladies of the St. Margaret's Society of the Episcopal Church held a very enjoyable dancing party in Butler's Hall on Brand boulevard Thursday evening. Over 350 invitations were sent out and something over a hundred of these were accepted. Among those who acted as patronesses of the evening were Mrs. L. W. Bosserman, Mrs. Richard H. Wells, Mrs. Andrew Robertson, Mrs. C. W. Bachman, Mrs. J. D. Hurd, Mrs. Sarah Pitcher, Mrs. Dora H. Glazier, Mrs. C. O. Pulliam, Mrs. William H. Mathews and Mrs. Arthur D. Smith. The Floor Committee consisted of Messrs. Henry N. Moore, C. L. Peckham, Andrew Robertson, Dr. J. L. Flint, E. M. Polly, Charles Wells, Vernon Snively and Fred Farner.

Mrs. John Barrows entertained at her home, No. 443 West Sixth street, Monday evening. The time was very delightfully passed in games, music and song. Bowls of yellow and white chrysanthemums were utilized to beautiful effect in brightening the various rooms. Each of the guests contributed a number to the programme of the evening. Light refreshments were served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Greely Koltz, Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Park.

In honor of her birthday anniversary Mrs. A. D. McCoy entertained a number of friends at her home, No. 127 East Second street, Monday evening. Cards, music and dancing were followed by the serving of light refreshments. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ireland of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Henderson, Mrs. Betta Reed, Miss Edith Iraland of Los Angeles, Miss Monica Smith, Miss Leta and Miss Alice McCoy, Silas Davis of West Virginia and John McCoy.

A pretty event given recently was the informal evening at which Misses Margaret and Rowena Green presided as hostesses, the affair being held at the home of their father, Daniel J. Green. The event was given complimentary to Miss Ruth Jackson of La Canada and a brother of the hostesses, Max L. Green, whose wedding took place on Thursday evening of this week at the home of the bride's parents. Dancing, music and numerous other social diversions caused the hours to pass only too rapidly for the delighted guests. A number of out-of-town friends of the young folks were present.

The members of the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon Club celebrated the anniversary of the club this week. With the exception of Mrs. Edgar W. Pack, who is at present abroad, all of the past presidents were present. A feature of the afternoon was a huge birthday cake, which was cut by the first president of the club, Mrs. Frank G. Taylor, who also received the first slice. Old and modern French composers and music were considered during the afternoon. Selections were played by Julius Kranz, violin, assisted by Miss Anna Schulman, piano. Mrs. E. D. Gooda, vice-president of the club, read a paper on the history of the Tuesday Afternoon Club.

Tropico.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN H. SEAMAN entertained with a dancing party at Knights of Pythias Hall Saturday evening, complimentary to their daughter, Miss Eloise Seaman, at which the young society folks of Tropico were most charmingly entertained. Miss Eloise Seaman, in a dainty gown of cream with rosebud trimmings, and Dwight Stephenson led the grand march.

Mrs. Seaman, in a handsome gown of brocade satin with lace trimmings, Miss Jeannette Seaman and Miss Mary Logan led in the cotillion. Mr. and Mrs. Seaman were assisted by Mrs. William Harvey, Jr., Mrs. Oliver Merrill, Mrs. H. Clay Seaman, Mrs. Edward Weston and Miss Margaret Merrill. Mr. and Mrs. Seaman and Miss Seaman extended hospitality to Misses Katherine Hobbs, Mary Jane Evans-Hough, Amie Miller, Dorothy Hobbs, Carrie Stone, Blanche Shea, Marjorie Imler, Catherine Phillips, Lila Shea, Rebecca Carpenter, Lila Webster, Daphne Burlingham, Alice Carpenter, Irene Jones, Lynn McNutt, Ruth Hislip, Eleanor Collins, Helen Pope, Mary Logan, Louise Storer and Jeannette Seaman; Messrs. HAD CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

Peruna Relieved a Serious Case.

Mr. A. M. Ikerd.

Mr. A. M. Ikerd, Box 31, West Burlington, Ia., writes:

"I had catarrh of the stomach and small intestines for a number of years. I went to a number of doctors and got no relief, and finally one of my doctors sent me to Chicago, and I met the same fate. They said they could do nothing for me; said I had cancer of the stomach and there was no cure. I almost thought the same, for my breath was offensive and I could not eat anything without great misery, and I gradually grew worse.

"Finally I concluded to try Peruna, and I found relief and a cure for that dreadful disease, catarrh. I took five bottles of Peruna and two of Manalin, and I now feel like a new man. There is nothing better than Peruna, and I keep a bottle of it in my house all the time."

It is a remarkable story that Mr. Ikerd tells. It is a true story, but very briefly told. If he put into his story all of the details it would make a chapter of suspense and agony, hope and final recovery, equal to the wildest fiction. Any one wishing to do so can write Mr. Ikerd and ascertain whether there has been any exaggeration in his case.

The "Ills of Life" will be sent free by addressing the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

Introducing—

MR. SIDNEY TAYLOR

Mr. Taylor received his first training in interior decorations some 21 years ago in Grimsby, England, where he started as an apprentice with the firm of Watson & Oldroyd, General Furnishers. After four years there he accepted a position with William Whiteley & Co., one of the largest furnishing houses in London.

Since coming to America Mr. Taylor has had a broad and varied experience with some of the largest decorators and furniture houses in Pittsburg, Buffalo and Washington, D. C. He has been with Pease Bros. Furniture Co. during the past five years—specializing in hangings and wall coverings, but having a general knowledge of all the requirements for a modern home from the walls to the carpets. He believes in utilizing the customers' ideas to the fullest possible extent in connection with his own experience, to obtain the most harmonious and practical results.

His novel ideas and years of experience, combined with the thoroughness of his early English education, make Mr. Taylor a very valuable link in the chain of Pease efficiency.

PRE-HOLIDAY SUGGESTIONS IN JEMS AND JEWELRY.

The Holiday spirit is in the ascendency - and wisdom suggests the choosing of gifts while the selections may be had in unbroken varities.

The establishment of Brock & Co. is now a fairyland of exquisite merchandise, chosen with infinite care from the art centers of the world.

Never before in our history has our store been so replete with fashion's latest thoughts in jems and jewels and uncommon wares.

Combinations of black onyx with diamonds or pearls - the dominant note of the Season's fashions - are shown in almost matchless variety.

Visitors Always Welcome.

tempting viands. Miss Rose Carnes, Miss Harriet Davis and Miss Brooks of San Bernardino were special guests who enjoyed the meeting with club members.

Charles Haas arrived Sunday from Cleveland, O., to accompany his sister, Mrs. Leonard Burgess, to the family home in the East. They left Highland Monday and will visit en route, in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Salt Lake.

Miss Susan Skelton, who is a member of the Emmanuel class of the Congregational Sunday-school here, entertained the class members on Tuesday evening, at her parents' home on Clay street in Redlands. The merrymakers went to Redlands in a hay wago nand were joined by a number of friends there. The evening was spent with music and games, after which refreshments were enjoyed before the return ride home.

Brawley.

NO RECENT marriage in Brawley has caused more interest than that of Teresa A. Berger and W. T. Dunn, which was solemnized Wednesday afternoon in Los Angeles. Though the event was not wholly unexpected, the date was not known and when Mr. Dunn and his bride registered at the Bungalow Hotel Thursday morning it was not long before hearty congratulations were extended by a host of friends. Mr. Dunn's associates at the hotel, together with other friends, at once began plans for a proper celebration of the important event. S. V. Free was appointed master of ceremonies and Mrs. George C. Gay of Hotel Bungalow was Mr. Free's able assistant. At dinner Thursday evening, as Mr. and Mrs. Dunn entered the dining-room, there was an impressive silence broken by the ringing of the wedding bell, as they proceeded to the table assigned Mr. and Mrs. Dunn. From the electric fixtures overhead, festoons of white were hung, fastened to the table by white ribbons and roses, while the centerpiece was a large bouquet of the same beautiful flowers. As Mr. and Mrs. Dunn seated themselves at the table reserved for them the siren notes of a flaxon horn announced the opening of festivities. Mottoes pertinent to the occasion, suspended high in the room, were suddenly dropped and dangled gleefully before the eyes of the astonished bride and groom. A trio of negro musicians, stationed outside the dining-room, played and sang harmonious airs during the dinner hour. After the formal dinner was served, congratulations were extended in appropriate speeches by S. Y. Free, P. P. Hoveley and A. D. Fiedler, the latter speaking in German most eloquently.

Mrs. L. L. Lindsey, assisted by Mrs. H. W. Meserve and Miss Meserve, entertained the Woman's Club of Brawley at the home of Mrs. Lindsey Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Hiddleston presented a splendid programme. Music by Mrs. Lindsey was followed by a paper on the progress of arbitration, by Mrs. Huddleston. Mrs. W. H. Best gave a reading. Mrs. Garren of El Centro gave a talk on county fair work.

The Five Hundred Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Frank Birkhauser Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. F. G. Campbell assisting in entertaining. Mrs. H. L. Fulton scored for highest prize.

A number of ladies were present at the meeting of the Pedro Club Thursday afternoon, held at the home of Mrs. N. J. Morin. Miss Susie Paige won first prize and Mrs. Earl McReynolds secured the booby prize.

Corona.

ON WEDNESDAY evening there occurred the marriage of Horace Armitage to Miss Adah Monroe, both of Chula Vista. Mr. Armitage formerly made his home in Corona and is well and favorably known here, where he has a host of friends who will be both surprised and pleased to learn of this happy event. Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Roberts of this city were among the guests.

Mrs. T. C. Jameson gave a luncheon Monday in honor of Mrs. W. M. Dean of Chicago, mother of Walter M. Dean of this city and aunt of Mrs. T. C. Jameson. Among those who were so delightfully entertained were the following: Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. A. W. Bates, Mrs. Walter Dean, Mrs. R. E. Blickhahn, Mrs. G. W. Waterbury, Mrs. T. C. Sias, Mrs. W. H. Jameson, Miss Eloise Jameson, Mrs. H. H. Case, and Mrs. W. J. Rudesill.

Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Tucker entertained a number of young people Friday evening in honor of the birthday of their son, Ellis. During the evening refreshments of cocoa, cookies and pop corn were served to Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Slaten, Misses Nellie Graves, Dolly Davis, Cecil Vaughn, Helen Vaughan, Jesse Castle, Alta Ewing, Marguerite Boele, Bell Luther and Mr. Ferris, Byron Fedric, Emmett and Bennie Tucker.

Educational topics were handled in an interesting and instructive manner at a meeting of the Women's Improvement Club, held Wednesday afternoon. The first part of the session was taken up with business matters, the most important being the selecting of delegates to attend the district convention of Federated Clubs, to be held at the U. S. Grant Hotel in San Diego, November 18, 19 and 20. The fixe counties which form the southern district will be represented at the convention. The following ladies were appointed: Mrs. H. H. Case and Mrs. R. D. Lamson, alternates to be selected later. Among the other club members who will attend the convention will be the local president, Mrs. T. C. Jameson, Mrs. F. J. Mueller, who is district treasurer. Others who took active part at the meeting were Mrs. L. J. Hildreth, Mrs. F. W. Reynolds, Mrs. R. R. Root and Mrs. D. H. Alden.

Mrs. H. M. Key entertained at her home on South Ramona avenue Monday evening in honor of Mrs. John M. Key, who is a new arrival from Texas. The thirty-two guests were made up of the members of the Episcopal guild and a few neighbors and friends. The color scheme, pink and white, was very tastefully carried out, from the floral decorations of beautiful pink roses and white chrysanthemums, to the refreshments, the latter consisting of pink and white cakes, ice cream and bonbons served on pink and white china. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. John P. Key. All the ladies were quite pleased to welcome Mrs. John Key to Corona, and especially to their circle.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Robinson of North Main street have been entertaining a couple of ladies who have recently arrived from London, England. Miss Seaton-Smith, who is a doctor, and Misses E. E. Bishop and C. Taylor. The young ladies are much in love with California and doubt if they ever return to their homes across the ocean.

Misses Anna M. and Stella J. Piatt and Miss Lillian Lewis returned Wednesday morning from a five months' trip abroad. The party left Corona on June 7, and went to New York City, where they sailed on the steamship Franz Joseph of the Austria-American line. They visited all points of interest and not once on the entire trip did one of the trio experience anything but a most pleasant voyage.

Dr. and Mrs. H. Stanley Harrison of Los Angeles are the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Holloway on Belle street. Mrs. Harrison is a former college classmate of Mrs. Holloway, while they were attending college at Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Blair entertained the members of the Auction Bridge Club at their home on Eighth street last Monday evening. All the members were present and a very pleasant time was spent in playing cards.

Duarte.

LOS RIOS RANCHO was again the scene of jolly young peoples' dancing party Friday evening, when Nairn Rivers was assisted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Rivers, in giving an informal dancing party. Beautiful fall roses and chrysanthemums from the gardens that surround the Rivers's country place were used to decorate the rooms where the young people enjoyed dancing and an evening repast.

Mrs. Andrew Ryder, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Freeland H. Hunter, entertained Tuesday afternoon in honor of the thirty-five ladies of the Duarte Reading Circle. Pink and white were used in the color scheme, chrysanthemums being used. Readings were contributed by Mrs. R. O. Blain and Mrs. Arthur T. Blain from "Martha by the Day," following which tea was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Moore tendered a reception Saturday evening to Rev. and Mrs. L. J. Milliken at their country home on Buena Vista avenue. The fact that the date marked the twenty-eighth anniversary of the marriage of the honorees was not made known until the large circle of friends had assembled. Mr. and Mrs. Moore were assisted in receiving by their daughters, the Misses Ethel and Irma Moore, in rooms decorated with golden chrysanthemums and greenery. One of the pleasant features of the evening were addresses of congratulation and felicitation given by P. H. Elliott and Mrs. Walter B. Leffler, which were happily responded to by Mr. Milliken. Punch tables were presided over by a group of young ladies, and later in the evening coffee, sandwiches, assorted cakes and confections were served in bountiful style.

The Five Hundred Club met on Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Alexander B. Downe on Duarte avenue for a jolly evening at cards. The congenial circle of friends meets fortnightly and Mr. and Mrs. Downe's hospitality was marked by many pleasant features. The members of the club are Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sarwine, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Allan Munro, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor Renaker, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Menager and Mr. and Mrs. William Beardslee. In the absence of several members other guests invited were, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Schilling, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Slosson, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cornes, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Taylor, Mrs. Emeline Graves, Mrs. Alice Lewis Costello and Miss Clark of Los Angeles.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. C. H. Sarwine entertained at Oakleigh, her pretty country home, in honor of fifty ladies, between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock. The large living-room was delightfully lighted and handsome bouquets of lovely chrysanthemums loaned their autumnal colors to add to the setting. Tables were arranged for all who cared to indulge in five hundred, and later in the afternoon a supper was served.

EXTRAORDINARY SALE OF BRASS BEDS.

A Car Brass Beds Slightly Damaged in Transit Will Be Sold at Less Than Cost of Raw Material

A shipment of Brass Beds sent us from one of the big Eastern factories got tangled up in a nasty wreck with the result that when the beds arrived here we could not conscientiously offer them as perfect. We have made a most favorable settlement with the railroad company and now we are going to dispose of every bed in the lot at prices that have never been approached in this city, or any other city. This was an assorted shipment of beds intended for our Holiday trade, and as a duplicate order was sent immediately after we got news of the wreck we must move out the damaged beds to make room. In some cases there is but one bed of a kind, then again you will find two or three of a pattern. Here's an opportunity to get just the bed you have been looking for at a price you never thought possible. No Mail or Telephone Orders Received at These Prices.

The Misses Hannah and Margaret Lackey left Friday for their former home in Canada, after several years spent with relatives in Rialto.

The young ladies of Dr. D. B. Crediford's Sunday-school class entertained with a prettily-appointed supper and jolly evening at the Christian Church parlors Friday evening. The guests were the young men who are the members of Mrs. H. P. Welborn's Sunday-school class.

Laurel Canyon.

THE LAUREL FIVE HUNDRED CLUB was most delightfully entertained at lunch at "The Sycamores" by Mrs. F. M. Price on Thursday. White chrysanthemums were used in decorations and the afternoon was spent at cards. Mrs. J. A. Matthews and Mrs. E. W. Kidder received the prizes for high score, while Mrs. Gerald Tully was given consolation.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Porter entertained at dinner on Tuesday evening, the occasion being the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Mann. Covers were laid for the following guests: Messrs. and Mesdames C. S. Mann, J. G. Pomeroy, F. M. Price, G. D Tully, E. R. Barnett, W. B. Wilson of Los Angeles and S. S. Porter of San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cornish of Los Angeles are occupying their artistic new home on Willow way.

Monrovia.

MISS ETHEL HENDRIKSON was hostess to the members of the S.H.R. Club at her home on Monday evening. Five hundred was the pastime of the young ladies, and refreshments were served at the close of the evening. Miss Hendrikson's guests included Mrs. W. L. Hanna, Mrs. O. J. McCurley, Miss Alice Loops, Miss Bessie Thayer, Miss Florence Kelley and the Misses Nettie and Ella Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. White entertained the members of the Christian Endeavor Society at their delightful home on Friday evening.

The seniors of Monrovia High laid aside dignity on Saturday evening of last week and thoroughly enjoyed themselves in a most enjoyable evening of games and dancing. The festivities were held in the old High School building, the pleasant rooms of which had been tastefully decorated in the class colors, red and white. Leon Beaman, class president, headed the receiving line, and was assisted in entertaining by the Social Committee, consisting of the Misses Helen Beck, Helen Bouchard, Lura Atchison and Messrs. Glen Rives and Paul Gaines. The chaperones included a number of instructors from the High School faculty, among whom were Miss Osborne, Miss Dunn, Mrs. Wilson and Messrs. Thompson and Clifton. Mrs. Bouchard was also a guest of the young people. The merry-making and dancing was concluded at half after 11 o'clock with the serving of supper.

Mrs. Ross and Miss Bessie Ross were given a delightful surprise a few days ago, when a number of their friends dropped in and with well-filled baskets proceeded to make the evening a memorable one. The occasion was the informal house-warming, as Mrs. Ross and her family had recently moved into their new home on North Encinitas.

On Monday evening about thirty young people from the Presbyterian Church, members of the Baraca and Philathea classes, motored to El Monte to hear the address made by the Rev. Frank Anderson, field secretary of the Philathea-Baraca organization. The affair was a convention of the two organizations and representatives from many Southern California cities were present.

Covina.

IT HAS been said with authority that the message of the modern drama is a spiritual one; and this was borne out in the play, "The Terrible Meek," which Miss Bertha Wilcox of Los Angeles interpreted to the Monday Afternoon Club this week in the drama section. It takes maturity of thought and considerable conviction to proclaim such a message, "to put it over" in the vernacular of the stage. Yet, Miss Wilcox succeeded in her artistic rendition of a portion of Charles Kennedy's serious play. "The Terrible Meek" is the crucified one Himself, though the action of the play is in England only a generation ago, and Mary, the mother, is a peasant woman speaking the cockney dialect. Probably no play of today presents such a powerful arraignment of war. The plea for universal peace and a cessation of bloodshed makes the message modern indeed. This is brought out when the English soldier refuses to do more "bloody work" and says, "Tell the general I have sworn allegiance to a new general" who is the prince of peace." For her second number Miss Wilcox read from Robert Browning's "Pippa Passes," which is in harmony of thought with "The Terrible Meek."

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Clarke, who have been visiting with friends in Pasadena, have returned to the home of their son, Dr. R. M. Clarke.

A. R. Dowler of San Francisco, who recently purchased a ranch from W. L. Griffiths, is here visiting relatives and attending to business affairs.

Mrs. A. P. Kerckhoff entertained with an informal luncheon on Thursday. Her guests were Mmes. Henry Driscoll Given, Frank Scott.

Mrs. J. W. Cooper returned Sunday from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Edrington, at Santa Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. MacDonald and daughter, Annie, spent the week-end at Santa Ana. Miss Edith Grant, a cousin of Mr. MacDonald, whose home is in Boulder, Colo., returned with them and will spend the winter in Covina.

Mrs. Ella Fergusan of Los Angeles spent the latter part of the week with Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Pence.

Mrs. W. F. Brown and Knowles of Hollywood are spending the week with Mrs. Siddie B. Rhodes. Also Lewis K. Bell, brother of Mrs. Rhodes, and Mrs. Stanabel of Eastern Ohio, are spending a week or ten days. Mr. Bell owns an orange grove in Florida and they are on their way there.

The ladies of one-half of the Bridge Club will entertain the other half of the club with a dinner and cards on Saturday evening at the home of A. P. Kerckhoff. The hostesses will be Mmes. B. M. Given, J. H. Sass, A. Jones, D. Reichard, E. G. Prather, J. A. Peters, W. W Nash and A P. Kerckhoff

Miss Bernice Griffiths, assisted by Miss Anita Reynolds, entertained on Friday with an informal dinner and rag party. Her guests were Misses Harriet Blake, Cora Zeigler and

LOOK YEARS YOUNGER! GRAY HAIR DARKENED BEAUTIFULLY WITH SAGE

Says Sage and Sulphur Will Stop Falling Hair and Cure Dandruff.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, then left to age and carefully filtered, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggy and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss. Some druggists make their own, but it isn't nearly so nice as "Wyeth's."

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can tell, because it does it so naturally; so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Do this tonight and by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, after another application or two it will be restored to its natural color and be even more glossy, soft and luxuriant than ever.

Local druggists say they are selling lots of "Wyeth's Sage Sulphur" and it surely helps folks appear years younger. Agents, Sun Drug Co.

EAT LESS MEAT AND TAKE SALTS IF KIDNEYS ACHE OR BACK HURTS

Says Bladder Irritation or Rheumatism means Kidneys aren't straining out uric acid.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges . The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

Ontario.

CHIEF among the charming club affairs of the fall season was that of Friday afternoon, when, at the home of Mrs. Archibald T. Hamilton, the Friday Afternoon Club entertained the members of the Ramblers' Club. The rooms were decorated for the occasion in chrysanthemums of white and yellow, the colors of the Friday club, and the same scheme was carried out in the refreshments. An interesting feature of the afternoon was a talk by Mrs. Jesse Butler Harvey on her recent trip to China. This was illustrated by lantern slides and by many souvenirs, which the speaker had gathered on her journey, from which she but recently returned with Dr. Harvey.

Mrs. Lester Ray Kennedy entertained Wednesday afternoon. Chrysanthemums were used effectively in decoration and the afternoon was spent at bridge, followed by a luncheon. The guests included Mrs. Frank Monroe Taylor, Mrs. Charles Hugo Ford, Mrs. Hugh Harris Frankish, Mrs. Roscoe Ross McCrea, Mrs. William Starbuck Fenton, Mrs. Frank T. de Arman, Mrs. Roy Lyman Henry, Miss Frieda Graettinger, Miss Ala Ballou, Miss Kathryn Salter and Miss Helen Fitzgerald.

The members of the Shakespeare Club spent a pleasant afternoon Monday with Miss Ala Ballou. Decorations were in roses. Interesting papers were given by Mrs. George B. Sell and Mrs. Howard Montrose Shattuck.

The Current Events Club, in regular meeting at their quarters in the Ontario National Bank building Tuesday afternoon, was addressed by Mrs. Jane Beatty, who spoke on the topics of the day. Vocal numbers were rendered by Mrs. Leonard Baugh Fowler and Charles A. Pierce.

The members of the Woman's Guild of St. Mark's Episcopal Church met Monday in all-day session at the home of Mrs. Egbert B. Clarke in North Euclid avenue. Luncheon was served at noon by the hostess. The day was spent in sewing for the bazaar, which the members of the guild are planning for the near future.

The members of the Ontario Woman's Christian Temperance Union met Friday at the home of Mrs. Clara B. Sheldon, No. 315 West G street. The subject for the afternoon was "Co-operation of Missionary Societies," and the discussion was led by Mrs. Jennie Phillips.

Miss Florence Middaugh was the recipient of a pretty compliment Wednesday evening, when a number of her young women friends took her by surprise at the home of her mother, Mrs. Ira Otis Middaugh, at the Palm Apartments, and spent a jolly evening with her. The evening was spent at games and refreshments were served.

Whittier.

MR. AND MRS. BEN CHAFFEY and daughter are guests of Mr. Chaffey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Chaffey, and of Mr. Chaffey's brother, J. B. Chaffey. The household economics section of the Whittier Woman's Club held its regular meeting at the clubhouse on Monday afternoon. "Sanitation" was the general topic for the day and the principal paper was by Mrs. Marshall Hazzard. The hostesses for the afternoon entertained with a demonstration on salads, the hostesses being Mmes. J. P. Underwood, Alphonso Moore and C. H. Redmon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Trueblood entertained the members of the Berean class of the Friends' Sunday-school at their delightful ranch home in East Whittier Tuesday evening. Chaperoned by the class teacher, Dr. W. V. Coffin, the party was taken to the country in automobiles, where games and an abundance of the best viands of the famous East Whittier variety helped to make the evening one of pleasure.

Mrs. Mary Groves left Monday for Kansas City, Mo., where she will make an extended visit with her mother.

Puente.

MONDAY evening a party of friends gave a delightful surprise party in honor of Miss Margaret Grazide's birthday anniversary. The evening was spent in dancing, music and games. W. J. Welch and Charles Vasquez furnished the music for dancing. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Welch, L. T. Hammersley, L. Didier, C. E. Ireland, F. Feddersohn, R. McMichael, Mrs. Yorba, Mrs. J. W. Hudson, L. Yorba, Misses Clare and Renee Didier, Ester and Olive Ireland, Lillian Hudson, Alice Philebar, Messrs. Mrs. George Dauer entertained her mother and brother, Mrs. M. A. Collins and F. Collins of Cucamonga, for two days this week.

Miss Mable Guthrie of Los Angeles Sunday spent the day with Misses Ada and Jennie Wadsworth.

Santa Paula.

THE handsome home of Mrs. Clarence Beckley was the scene of a merry card party when forty-two guests gathered for an afternoon at five hundred. Different floral decorations were arranged for each room, including Maman Cochet roses and chrysanthemums, making the house a bower of beauty. Mrs. J. C. Strong and Mrs. William O'Hara were winners of pretty prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Frost entertained a small party of friends at an informal dinner party. Chrysanthemums were used on the dining-table and throughout the house. Covers were laid for ten.

Santa Barbara.

ONE OF the most pleasing social social affairs of the week was the dance and dinner given by Dr. and Mrs. Oliver Dwight Norton at their beautiful Montecito home Saturday evening. The decorations were gorgeous and appointments perfect. Those who enjoyed the hospitality of these excellent entertainers were Mr. and Mrs. Joel Remington Fithian, Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Wilson, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Sidebotham, Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Brodie, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brackenridge, Mr. and Mrs. Milo M. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Bothin, Mrs. Ysobel Strong, the Misses Marguerite Doe, Nina Jones, Marcia Brackenridge and Messrs. E. W. Runyon, Harlow Frink, Allan Whiting and Eliot Rogers.

Announcement of the approaching wedding of Miss Carrie Calvin to George Edward Lawrence came as an enjoyable surprise to their many local friends. Miss Calvin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Calvin of San Francisco and has visited here many times. Mr. and Mrs. Calvin contemplate coming here after the wedding, which takes place early next month, and will spend the winter with their son, Herbert H. Calvin.

Friends of Mr. Thornhill gave him a hearty welcome the first of the week upon his return from a sojourn in the East. It was while visiting his fiance, Miss Caryl Spoor, in Massachusetts, that the announcement of their engagement was made. Miss Spoor was spending the summer at "Blythwood Farms" near Pittsfield. The Spoors are expected to arrive in Santa Barbara soon to remain for the winter. The wedding, it is said, will not take place until April or May.

E. W. Runyon who is staying at the Potter gave a dinner and theater party Monday evening, his guests being Mr. and Mrs. Franklin P. Knott of Denver, Dr. and Mrs. Oliver Dwight Norton and Miss Nina Jones. On Sunday evening Mr. Runyon entertained a number of friends at the Pierpont Inn in Ventura, the party making the round trip in motor cars.

Mr. and Mrs. Milo M. Potter and Miss Nina Jones are spending the week end in Los Angeles, where they have many friends and often are entertained.

The golf tournament at the Santa Barbara Country Club scheduled for next Tuesday will be marked by the presence of the elite from both Montecito and this city. It is to be the biggest social event of the week. Those who will play are Mrs. W. S. Macy, Mrs. John R. Whittemore, Mrs. Edwin H. Sawyer, Mrs. John Edward Beale, Mrs. Helen Driver, Mrs. J. W. Fraeme, Mrs. Gardnier Hammond, Mrs. Frederick Gould, Mrs. William Norman Campbell, Mrs. R. B. After several days of pleasure in Los Angeles, Mrs. John Edward Beale and Miss Anne Bispham returned the first of the week. They made the trip by motor car.

Miss Genevieve Bothin arrived Wednesday from San Francisco and will spend the winter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bothin, who are occupying "Piranhurst," their beautiful Montecito home.

Miss Marguerite Doe entertained Saturday afternoon at her Montecito home in honor of Miss Barbara Stevens.

Van Nuys.

FOUR newly-married couples, all of whom have been united in wedlock within the last month, were given an old-fashioned charivari last Monday evening by the band, after which the serenaders and the serenaded joined in a reception in honor of the "newly-weds" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Andrew. The four couples are: Mr. and Mrs. William Andrew, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Shepard. During the evening a quartette of band members rendered selections for each of the four couples, games were played, and the evening closed with the serving of refreshments.

There was a big attendance at the flower show, bazaar and supper given by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church Friday evening. Supper was served from 5 to 7:30.

The Pioneer Club gave a very pleasant card party this evening in the Brackett building. There was a large attendance, and club members were accompanied by a number of their friends.

Mrs. J. C. Baxter left the first part of the week for an extended visit with her married daughter at Richmond, Cal.

Miss Mae Benjamin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Benjamin, was married last Saturday to Alfred B. C. Daniels of Los Angeles, the ceremony being performed in Los Angeles by Rev. Brougher.

Mrs. William Minich, who has been visiting her nieces, Mrs. F. E. Keffer, for the past week, left for Redondo Beach.

Mrs. Lydia Ehalt and Miss Mary Ehalt, mother and sister of Mrs. R. P. Biggart, are visiting her after spending several weeks in Los Angeles. They will not return to their home in Pittsburgh, Pa., until next spring.

A largely-attended reception was tendered the new pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. T. A. Hull, last Tuesday evening at the church parlors. There were a number of musical selections rendered during the evening, games were played and refreshments were served. Not only were the members of the church in evidence, but many members of the Presbyterian Church also attended.

San Dimas.

MRS. E. A. SPENCER entertained the Study Club at a charming luncheon Monday afternoon at her pretty home on East Second street. The table was most attractive with its centerpiece of delicate pink and white chrysanthemums and delicate green. Covers were laid for twelve, Mrs. C. H. Cannon, a former member, but now of Redondo, being guest of honor. After luncheon the toipic of the afternoon's lesson was taken up, which was on the French Revolution.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Boyle in the foothills was the scene of a charming affair last Thursday evening, when they entertained the Auction Bridge Club of San Dimas, complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller of Rancho Fransara, San Dimas. A delightful evening was passed in sociability and cards, and at its conclusion luncheon was served.

Miss Althea Snell of Riverside is visiting Miss Helen Holden.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Landon visited Mrs. Landon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Lisk of Pasadena, the last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Howard returned Wednesday from a visit of several days with friends in Los Angeles and at the beaches.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucien S. Taylor were host and hostess to the Five Hundred Club Friday evening at their beautiful home in Puddingstone Canyon. The house was prettily decorated with flowers and prizes were awarded the winners. Luncheon was served after the game.

Mrs. William E. Landon attended a club luncheon last Saturday at the home of Miss Amy Doolittle in Pasadena. The afternoon was devoted to cards.

The Enewah Club held its initial meeting of the season Wednesday of last week at the home of Miss Helen Kepner. Miss Lelia Caldwell will be hostess next Wednesday.

Upland.

REBEKAH CIRCLE was entertained by Mrs. Enoch Hunter on Wednesday afternoon of this week. Sewing on aprons and fancy work passed the afternoon away very pleasantly in spite of rainy weather. The ladies present were Mrs. E. P. Chaffee, Mrs. P. E. Fuller, Mrs. George Colborn, Sr., Mrs. E. O. Bowden, Mrs. Riley, Mrs. Rodgers, Mrs. H. Waterman, Mrs. F. H. Manker, Mrs. John Rarick, Mrs. John Bryden, Mrs. George Crane, Mrs. Jennie Train, Mrs. W. L. Brown and Mrs. George Cooley.

Miss Tweed's Sunday-school class very pleasantly entertained in honor of the assistant teacher, Miss Laura Rice, on Monday evening in the basement of the Presbyterian Church. About fifty boys and parents were present.

The G. T. Club met with Mrs. Wilbur Spicer Thursday afternoon, the afternoon having been spent working on fancy work. The members present were Mrs. M. L. Thompson, Mrs. Bert Spicer, Mrs. John Short, Mrs. Robert Van Ness, Mrs. H. O. Blohm, Mrs. Charles Allen, Mrs. N. I. Hamer, Mrs. Charles Roberts, Mrs. R. R. Wisely and Mrs. Earl Maurer.

"Travel day" at the Woman's Club on Friday afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Julyia Lyon. A vocal solo by Mrs. H. D. Derwin opened the programme, followed by a talk on a trip to Scotland by Miss Aurelia Harwood. A short business meeting followed, after which the social hour was in charge of Mrs. W. B. Duncan and Mrs. George Gregg.

On Wednesday afternoon the Neighbors' Club met with Mrs. T. Kirk Vernon, at her home on Fifteenth street, a goodly number of the members being present. The afternoon was spent most delightfully in a social way, and later the hostess served refreshments, partaking largely of the spirit of the Thanksgiving season. The MISS NONA M'ADOO'S CLIMB.

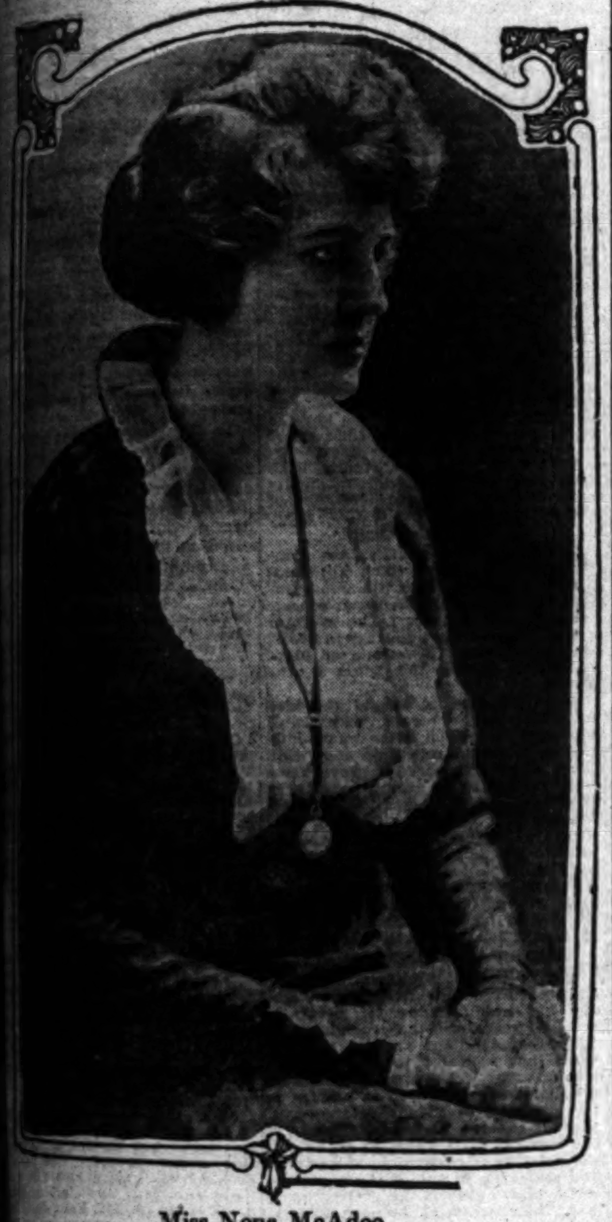
Daughter of the Secretary of the Treasury and the Most Youthful of Cabinet Chatelaines.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]



Miss Nona McAdoo,
Daughter of the Cabinet Secretary.

ASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—In the point of official precedence the charming young daughter of the [illegible] of the Treasury holds an [illegible] place in the group of Cab[illegible]tesses. She would rank third [illegible] from the President's wife were [illegible] order followed, but recently [illegible] has adopted the ruling [illegible] and never permits an un[illegible] woman to rank a matron, [illegible] in the rarest cases. Time was [illegible] Washington would blaze into [illegible] over such a suggestion [illegible] supporters and opponents of this [illegible] would engage in acrimonious [illegible]. But Miss McAdoo would [illegible] the maiden to raise the issue [illegible] has quietly slipped into the [illegible] place instead of one of the [illegible] without demur or even ques[illegible]. As a matter of fact unless Miss [illegible] Hart Wilson continues to act [illegible] mother's proxy this winter as [illegible] last, Miss McAdoo will end [illegible] of Mrs. Wilson's social aides [illegible] they gather to add dignity to [illegible]. She has accepted the [illegible] willingly and will be one of [illegible] figures in the Blue-[illegible]

[illegible] many administrations past, a [illegible] graced the Cabinet set in the [illegible] of hostess. Miss Flora Wilson [illegible] little older than Miss McAdoo [illegible] her father accepted the portfolio from President McKinley. For [illegible] she presided with eminent [illegible] over the social happenings [illegible] with the home. It was a [illegible] period, too, the one in which [illegible] passed from the chrysalis [illegible] provincial city into a world famous capital. Later she went to [illegible] and studied vocal music. Be[illegible] Wilson, Miss Harriet Mor[illegible] of Julius Sterling Morton [illegible] a similar post in the home [illegible] Secretary of Agriculture and [illegible] the same juncture of time, the [illegible] daughter of Thomas J. [illegible] was chatelaine of the State [illegible] amenities.

[illegible] McAdoo came to the capital [illegible] father for the inauguration [illegible] Wilson, but she has [illegible] time here until about a [illegible] ago, when she opened her [illegible] home and began the winter [illegible]. Those who knew the late [illegible] McAdoo say her second daugh[illegible] resembles her in every es[illegible]. She has unusual poise for [illegible] and hitherto so shel[illegible]. [illegible] her elder sister, Harriet McAdoo, now Mrs. Charles [illegible] of Prescott, Ariz., assumed [illegible] of the home during her [illegible] illness and after her demise [illegible] year ago. Mrs. Martin was [illegible] to take up her residence [illegible] for the benefit of her husband's health and she has resided [illegible] continuously since. Miss Nona [illegible] at school near Stamford, [illegible] her brothers and small sis[illegible] also at school. Her serious [illegible] head of the household be[illegible] her father's elevation to the [illegible]

[illegible] assumed the role joyously [illegible] inspiring zeal and energy. [illegible] programme awaits her [illegible]. Besides the wearing or[illegible] settling in a new home and [illegible] attention to details needed [illegible] the domestic machinery [illegible] Washington etiquette [illegible] unmarried requires almost [illegible] activity. The calls she [illegible] would discourage all but [illegible] and enthusiastic, but [illegible] has plunged into the [illegible] first moment that calls [illegible]. In her trim little [illegible] accompanied by [illegible] young sister-in-law, Mrs. [illegible] McAdoo, and some [illegible] visiting friend, she has [illegible] through the shorter list of [illegible] hostesses and begun [illegible] potential one dealing [illegible] legislative branches of the [illegible]

[illegible] she is to make her calls [illegible] season is in swing, [illegible] buds begin to blossom [illegible] drawing-rooms, such a pretty and sociable girl as Miss McAdoo will need all her time and endurance, even to figure a moment or two at each fete. As an assistant at debutante teas, she is already five deep a day from the middle of the month until the new year ushers in the more formal part of the season. As for dances, she can select from a long list of those already determined and from many still tentative. This present Cabinet circle offers but little in the way of maidens already in society. Miss Margaret and Miss "Nell" Wilson dominate the social element for the younger people and after that Miss McAdoo and the two daughters of the Secretary of Labor, Miss Agnes and Miss Jessie Wilson. The Misses Burleson will continue their studies at the George Washington University this winter and will participate only in the more informal functions. All the remaining daughters in the Cabinet circle are little girls of the pinafore stage and, though they will have very fine times together, they are not yet social factors. So a large portion of attention will fall this winter to Miss McAdoo, and she will not have to complain of dullness or ennui if she but dips a little of the lavish riches spread before her.

Naturally as a daughter of Dixie transplanted to New York, Miss McAdoo is a splendid horsewoman and devoted to her steed. She will be among those who take their daily canter and she has already joined many of the suburban clubs, which offer fox hunting as an inducement. Then she delights in tennis and golf and she was among the champions of her club near the home on the Hudson, which her father occupied for several summers. She loves to dance, but Miss McAdoo is proving wary about giving her view of the tango and the fascination. Those who ought to know say that Washington will "tango" to its heart's content and "trot" and "wriggle" and essay all those contortions which at present pass for dancing. Everybody is watching keenly to see how high officialdom is going to throw the power of its influence. It would be difficult to imagine Miss Margaret Wilson or her sister, Miss Nell, countenancing the tango or its allied activities. Miss Eleanor Wilson is a graceful and most accomplished dancer and last spring she accepted many invitations to balls and cotillions. Some of these were of the informal kind held on the deck of yachts and when a little tolerance is allowed the natural exuberance of spirits. Still with such environment, moonlight, the rippling sea or the fast flowing river, brass buttons and splendid music, no one saw anything but the most approved measures trod by the President's daughters. It is predicted the same will hold true this winter and in the Presidential family and in the Cabinet circle, a worthy example will show forth that dancing to be exhilarating and enjoyable need not necessarily be vulgar. Still Miss McAdoo has not given her view of the tango and she may attend some of those dancing classes organized by some spirited army and navy maids to portray what is known as emotional and inspirational dances.

Mr. McAdoo with the exception of the Secretary of Labor and Mrs. William Bauchop Wilson has the largest family in the Cabinet, six children, evenly devided as three sons and three daughters and while Mr. Wilson will have only three of his seven children here this winter all of the McAdoos except Mrs. Martin will pass the greater portion of the season here. The younger daughter Sarah Houstone known as Sally is at school nearby the home and the youngest son, Willaim Gibbs McAdoo, Jr., is preparing for college under a well known local teacher. The second son, Robert Haselhurst, is at St. Paul's, Concord, preparing for Princeton.

A charming assistant in the gaities connected with the home will be the handsome young wife of the oldest son, Mrs. Francis Huger McAdoo, who was Miss Ethel McCormack, daughter of Mr. Isaac Emerson of Baltimore. The wedding of Mr. McAdoo was the first social function of importance in the Cabinet circle and resembled in many particulars that of Mr. Wickersham in the first months of the Taft administration. But almost the entire official family of President Wilson motored to the long Green Valley wherein Mr. Emerson has a splendid country estate, while only a few could spare time to journey to Albany for the Wickersham nuptials. Miss Nona McAdoo figured in the pleasant role of maid of honor at this wedding and the romance was the direct outcome of the friendship between the two girls beginning in their school days and continuing as summer neighbors near Irvington-on-the-Hudson. Miss McAdoo and her small sister passed a delightful summer with her brother and his bride, part of which was on the palatial yacht, the Margaret which was cruising about Newport almost all the heated term. They then went north to the Saint Lawrence and passed weeks in leisurely cruising about the Great Lakes.

Miss McAdoo figured conspicuously in Newport society last summer, at once as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Vanderbuilt who were occupying their villa and were active in the horse show which closed the season proper. An interesting rumor says this famous young couple the Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilts will come to Washington this winter and will be entertained by the Francis Huger McAdoos and later by Miss Nona. Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., have been frequent visitors to the capital, especially when the sister of Mrs. Vanderbilt, Lady Michael Herbert, was chatelaine of the British Embassy. But the head of the house, as Alfred Gwynne is accounted, has never been entertained here in the social way and the mere rumor is causing some mild excitement.

The Secretary of the Treasury has a wide reputation for hospitality and his home will be one of the accepted points where Southern traditions hold sway. He is, contrary to the accepted belief, a native of Georgia and not of Tennessee. But all his family history is from Tennessee for his father the first William Gibbs McAdoo was District Attorney-General of the State and later professor of English and history in the State University. Mr. McAdoo took his degree from the State University of Tennessee, and at the age of 21, put out his sign as a legal light in Chattanooga. He was married in that city to Miss Sarah Houstone Fleming, who died about a year and a half ago. Mr. McAdoo is one of the large army of brilliant young men from the South who invaded New York in the early nineties and who solved nearly all of the problems connected with the modern aspect of its greatness. His name will, of course, always be identified with the Hudson River tunnel enterprise, no matter what fame he may achieve in charge of the national finances. All the children were born in Gotham for Mr. McAdoo removed from Chattanooga within a year of the marriage. But all claim the old Southern State as home and visits to relatives there have been a feature of the lives of all.

In the Cabinet are a little group of men whose interests have been affiliated for years past and who meet now for the first time when social intercourse is possible. These are Secretary Houston, the Postmaster-General, and Secretary Daniels, with old and tried friends to join occasionally such as Robert Newton Page, member of Congress from North Carolina, and Dr. Philander Claxton, who is Commissioner of Education. These old friends have been having pleasant gatherings in each other's home quite apart from the routine accepted for more than a century. Miss Nona has been schooled to the exigencies attached to having a hospitable father. She is always ready for the unexpected guest or rather guests, as it more usually happens and the household moves along smoothly as it does in the southern homes.

Mrs. Wilson last spring announced that she would receive the ladies of the Cabinet families once every week to meet the questions constantly needing adjustment. Miss McAdoo will have abundant opportunity to profit by the experiences of the older hostesses and she has already accepted their guidance in many ways. She will, of course, have to keep the traditional Wednesdays and with her sister-in-law and some girl friends to assist and with full permission to be as hospitable as she wishes, the home of the Secretary of the Treasury will be among the popular resorts for Wednesday afternoons. There is a hint that the banquets for the President and Mrs. Wilson traditionally given by the Cabinet Ministers will this year take the form of family dinners, when the entire circle of children will be present and but few outside guests to interfere with the joy and informality of such a function. This idea seems to be enthusiastically received by nearly all who have heard it. Miss McAdoo would simply glory in getting up a genuine southern dinner with all her brothers and sisters present and all the family circle of the Presidential family. Then she could produce dainties undreamed at a Washington banquet, such as steaming hot pone-cake to be eaten with chicken pie and baked ham, sweet potatoes baked in their skins, peach cobbler, many things not on the accepted menu when a dinner party is in order.

Mrs. Martin and her husband are expected in Washington for a brief visit at Christmas and next spring following her usual custom Miss Nona will pass a few weeks with her sister at the ranch near Prescott.

An Arrowhead Cache.

[New York Sun:] Had there been any loose rocks lying around when Jim and Bert Stanley had treed four squirrels, one of the ost interesting finds of Indian relics ever made in Oklahoma would not have occurred.

One of the brothers kicked pieces off the edge of a limestone outcropping and uncovered the cache of an ancient Indian arrow maker, from which over 1700 beautiful flint arrow points have been removed to date.

Several minutes' digging by both boys brought them to a kind of pocket in the earth literally filled with arrowheads. They filled their hats and their pockets and went to town and reported their find. Students of archaeology went to the place and by digging with a spade reached another pocket containing about 800 more heads. The style known as the "war points" predominated.

Passing of Lebanon's Cedars.

[New York Post:] According to Prof. A. Day of Syria, the cedars of Lebanon will, in all probability, become extinct within a very short time. There is, he says, one grove that is apparently very old. Whether it existed in Bible times, it is difficult to determine, but the natives are very jealous of it, and employ watchmen to guard it day and night. The cutting of the trees is regulated strictly. Beyond this particular grove there are to be found in Syria only two or three lesser groves of younger trees, but the far-famed cedars of Lebanon, in the locality from which Solomon procured the timbers for his temple at Jerusalem, have long since ceased to exist. One reason for the gradual extinction of the Syrian cedar trees is accounted for, says the professor, by the fact that the climate of Syria and the Holy Land is undergoing a change. The temperature has become much more humid, and in summer time seldom exceeds 85 degrees. It is very seldom, even in winter, that artificial heat is employed, at any rate beyond a charcoal brazier, and the temperature seldom falls below 40 degrees. At one time the country was heavily timbered, but deforestation has decreased the rainfall, and the rain that falls runs off quickly, and thus the hills have become denuded of soil.

Photographic Power of Wood.

[Chicago Tribune:] Experiments recently made have shown that a section of a tree trunk or of a branch cut across the grain possesses the power to impress upon a photographic plate in the dark a distinct image of itself, plainly showing the rings of growth. There is a great difference in the intensity of this power among different kinds of wood. The conifers (pines and firs) possess it in high degree. The wood is placed either in contact with the plate or at a short distance from it, and the exposure varies from half an hour to eighteen hours. Boards long exposed to the air, an oak box 100 years old, rotten wood from a stump, and even bogwood, have been found still photographically active.

Ivory Articles From Mammoth Tusks.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer:] By taking the tusks of the mammoth that flourished many years ago and utilizing them in the manufacture of ivory articles for use today the animals that inhabited the world in the glacial period are contributing to the commercial demands of the twentieth century. That is the accomplishment reported from Siberia, where natives far inland found the tusks and took them on sledges to the seacoast. The shipment opened up possible supplies of ivory not heretofore utilized. It's a far cry from the glacial period to the comfort and convenience of the present day. The world is digging deep for its supplies when the mammoth pays its share to human comfort.

UP ON THE MOJAVE DESERT
A GREAT DISCOVERY IS MADE

A New Device That Bids Fair to Revolutionize Automobile Engines.

An idea forged into brass and steel. This is what Walter G. Macomber did up on the Mojave Desert—made an engine by hand containing more than 450 less pieces than any reciprocating engine ever made.

Will it revolutionise the gas engine industry throughout the United States and European countries as well? This is the question automobile men are asking.

Down at 419 South Main street is a free exhibition room, where one of these wonderful Macomber engines is cut open so the internal workings can be seen and readily understood even by the novice. As the demonstration is free, anyone interested in automobiles or gas engines is cordially invited. These rooms are open every day and evening for a short time. If not convenient to visit these demonstration rooms, address The Empire Sales Company, Suite 316-318 Delta Building and literature giving fullest information will be sent you free of charge.

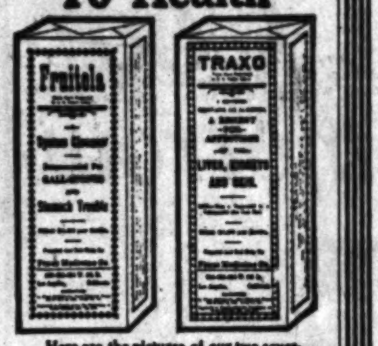
Open the Way To Health



Here are the pictures of our two sovereign California remedies—FRUITOLA and TRAXO. This is just the way they will look when you see them on the druggist's shelf or counter. We put these pictures here for your protection because our remedies are so good and efficient that we have imitators. We want you to get the original and genuine preparations, and when the medicine you buy is put up like the above pictures, you will know that you have the genuine article. Take no imitation or substitute.

HAVE you not observed that the sediment and drift of a stream always adhere to the sides? Well it is just so with the human digestive tract. Digestion and assimilation are a continuous process, you know, going on throughout the entire length of the digestive system. If there is any sluggishness or inactivity in the stomach and bowels, there will be lodgment of fetid waste matter in folds and angles.

This matter will set up slow fermentation which in turn begets inflammation and a catarrhal condition. This in turn brings in its train a thick, viscid, inactive condition of the bile-torpid liver, acute indigestion, cramps in stomach and bowels, constipation, impure breath, etc. These may lead to gall stones and often do lead to appendicitis.

Instead of rushing off for an operation, it is well to reflect that there is a simple and effective remedy for these troubles.

FRUITOLA and TRAXO

pure vegetable and fruit juices used in combination, as directed, will thoroughly relieve that impacted or clogged condition of the entire digestive tract, and thereby OPEN THE WAY TO HEALTH.

These sovereign California remedies have hundreds and hundreds of relieved cases of chronic stomach trouble and threatened appendicitis to their credit.

These indisputable proofs have been brought together in a little book which we will gladly mail free to any inquirer.

FRUITOLA and TRAXO are sold by druggists almost everywhere. If your druggist does not keep them, correspond with us direct and we will see that you are supplied.

THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE is clean and wholesome. At present a very interesting series of stories on the great national pastime, baseball, is being published under the signature of a famous ball player. Special fiction numbers are issued during the year. A particularly good serial story now running is "Angel Island," by Inez Hayes Gillmore; also stories of adventure.

By special arrangement The Times is able to furnish annual subscriptions for the Woman's Home Companion and the American Magazine with Times subscriptions on a very attractive basis. This offer is open to both old and new subscribers. Persons desiring to take advantage of this opportunity should communicate directly with the Main Office, First and Broadway, or the Branch Office, 619 So. Spring St., or inquire of any regular Times agent. Old subscribers not already on subscription contracts are privileged to take advantage of this exceptionally fine subscription proposition.

Turn the Baby's Tears to Laughter

A Gentle Baby Laxative Will Quickly Relieve the Usual Cause of the Trouble.

It is often difficult to tell just what is the matter with a crying, peevish baby or child too young to express its feelings in words, but as a general rule the mother will find that there is a tendency to constipation, which has brought on a headache or nervousness. The little one has no pain, but feels "out of sorts."

The first thing to try is a family remedy containing good but mild laxative properties, and many mothers will say that their choice would be Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Thousands of mothers keep it in the house for such emergencies, among whom may be mentioned Mrs. John Kirch, Jr., 1527 Abstract avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa. She has been giving it successfully to little Walter, whose picture we present at three months, when he weighed 14½ pounds. He is a healthy, laughing youngster today and Mrs. Kirch gladly gives Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin credit. It saves many an illness and many a large doctor bill, for by administering it promptly when the first symptoms of illness are noticed it prevents a serious ailment.

It is so pleasant-tasting that no child will refuse it, and as it does not gripe, the child is glad to take it again. A bottle can be obtained of any druggist for 50 cents or $1, the latter being the size bought by families already familiar with its merits. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Syrup Pepsin is for all the family from infancy to old age, and because of its mildness families should prefer it over all other remedies. It is absolutely safe and reliable. You will never again give cathartics, pills, salts or such harsh physics, for they are usually unnecessary, and in the case of children, women and elderly people are a great shock to the system, and hence should be avoided.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington st., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Punctilious.

FIX RIGID RULES FOR ETIQUETTE.

French Are as Strict as Any Court in Europe.

Phonograph Used in Clock to Call the Hours.

Effort Being Made to Find Historic Painting.

[A. P. Correspondence to The Times.]

PARIS, Nov. 1.—Official etiquette is observed as punctiliously in Republican France as in the court of the most absolute monarch in Europe, and the statesman who is the supreme authority on all questions of social and official procedure finds his post most difficult. He is called the Chief of the Protocol, and the last incumbent, M. Mollard, has just resigned to become French Minister to the court of Luxembourg. Since he has been in the "Protocol" M. Mollard has become the most decorated man in Europe, but every ribbon and star he wears has been justly earned.

The protocol rules official procedure in the most diverse circumstances—receptions, official banquets, presentations to the President, inaugurations, official visits and last but not least, letter writing. To avoid mistakes the army and navy have suppressed all forms of salutation at the end of letters. But even so the practice is not uniform; in the army one says: My general, my colonel, etc., while in the navy, admiral, captain, etc., suffice. Before the separation of church and state in France the most delicate problem which ever confronted the Chief of the Protocol was to decide the precedence of the Papal nuncio and the Cardinal Archbishop of Paris. The problem was never solved, the difficulty being avoided by never inviting both prelates to the same function.

At the Foreign Office the greatest importance is attached to the epistolary protocol. In a pamphlet published on this subject everything is provided for; the size and quality of the letter paper, which must be gilt-edged for sovereigns, ambassadors and ministers of foreign affairs; the width of the margin, the subscription, the heading, the final formulae and the titles all are strictly regulated. An ambassador, untitled, is addressed as "Mr. Ambassador;" if titled, as "Marquis" or "Count" or "Your Highness," as the case may be. A minister plenipotentiary does not get his title except in the subscription at the bottom of the first page and on the envelope, to which is added, after the titles, one, two or three "etc.," according to his rank. An ambassador is entitled to three "etcs." At the end of a letter an ambassador is asked to accept the "assurances" and not the "assurance" of the Foreign Minister's "Very high consideration," while diplomats of lesser degree receive either "the most distinguished," "the very distinguished," or merely "the distinguished" consideration of the minister, according to their rank.

CALLS THE HOURS.

A country clockmaker has constructed a clock in which a phonograph is substituted for the gong. Instead of striking the hours, it repeats them in a loud voice. The inventor got the idea during a journey in Spain, where he heard the sereno or night watchman calling the hours in the street.

It is proposed to extend the idea by fitting public clocks with large phonographs, which, after announcing the hour, would repeat in stentorian tones some appropriate proverb or wise saying. For example, early in the morning the clock would announce, "Six o'clock. Fortune belongs to the early riser." At noon, "Eat to live, not live to eat. Remember that alcohol is a slow poison which leads to sickness, madness and an early grave." The clock-phonograph could also be used for making important official announcements.

FAMOUS PAINTING'S STORY.

One of the most famous works of the great French painter, Jacques David, has been missing for nearly a hundred years, and the problem of its whereabouts is an artistic mystery which has appealed to the imagination of many well-known members of the Paris art world. The picture is now believed to have been traced to the old chateau of Saint-Fargeau, in the Nievres. According to this story the painting was placed in an oak box and sealed up in one of the chateau's walls. But not even the present owner of the chateau, M. Annison du Perron, has the slightest clew as to just where it may be.

The picture represent Michel Lepeletier, Count Saint-Fargeau, as he lay on the pedestal of the statue of Louis XVI, the day before the execution of that doomed monarch. Saint-Fargeau was a royalist deputy to the States-General, but afterwards went over to the revolution and voted the death of Louis XVI. He was assassinated the day before Louis XVI's execution by a royalist man-at-arms. Saint-Fargeau's dead body, nude, and covered with garlands of oak leaves, was exposed for four days on the pedestal from which the statue of Louis XVI had been thrown down.

The picture was originally placed in the Hall of Debates of the convention. It was given back to the artist after the terror and is believed to have later passed through the hands of M. David's son to one of the heirs of Saint-Fargeau, the Marquise de Mortfontaine. The Marquise, according to the story, signed an agreement not to destroy the picture. She had, however, remained faithful to the royalist cause, and to hide the picture from her revolutionary father she concealed it as described in the wall of the chateau and died without revealing its whereabouts.

..VANISHING AMERICAN RACE.

Incoming Aliens Said to Have Superior Power of Reproduction of Their Own Race.

[Chicago Record-Herald:] Charles W. Eliot, president-emeritus of Harvard, says that there is a lack of power and vitality in the American people which the immigrants possess; that they have, for example, the power of reproducing their own kind while ten classes of Harvard graduates failed to reproduce themselves.

The generations that follow the immigrants are Americanized and do not have large families, but the change in the racial stock of the country must be very great if not very important. It is noticeable in the cities, and in the country also.

Forty years ago Chicago was a city of American stock with the principal additions from Germany, Ireland and the Scandinavian countries. It has taken in many foreign nationalities since then and the percentage of persons of remote American ancestry must have greatly decreased.

There are country districts in which the American farming communities have disappeared to give way to people from North, Central and Southern Europe. In certain places one people will be predominant, but taking the country as a whole there is great variety, so that there is no solidarity whose influence is generally felt.

It is a fact also that the tendency toward small families is not confined to the highly educated classes. It is common among all classes of Americans who desert those employments that the immigrants take up. So we might speak of the Americans as a vanishing race if the immigrants did not become American. But a declining birth rate is not peculiar to this country, and it is not at all likely to be checked by lamentations over the disappearance of any stock.

POET'S RELICS IN AMERICA.

Move to Recover Burns Manuscripts Recently Sold Complicated by Report They Are Gone.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The move by the descendants of the poet Robert Burns and others interested to recover the Glenriddel Burns manuscripts, which were recently sold by the Liverpool Athenaeum for $25,000, has been complicated by shipment of the manuscripts to America, according to a London dealer. Those who began action against the sale served notice upon the purchasers that the Athenaeum had no right to dispose of the manuscripts. The courts, however, have not yet decided the issue and the report that the manuscripts have been sent to America has renewed indignation on the part of the Burns lovers in England and Scotland as well as doubt whether they will be able to bring about the return of the manuscripts.

NOSTRILS AND HEAD STOPPED UP FROM COLDS TRY MY CATARRH BALM

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely; Dull Headache Goes; Nasty Catarrhal Discharge Stops.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle, anyway, just to try it—apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! The catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear. Agents, Sun Drug Company.

The Doctor's Advice

By Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers should apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Building, College-Ellwood streets, Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Kit" writes: "I am far below normal weight. I suffer with headaches and am nervous to the point of exhaustion. If you can tell me something to help me I shall be very grateful."

Answer: I can prescribe nothing so effective as a thorough course of three grain hypo-nuclane tablets. These tablets will aid in extracting the nutrition from the food which will increase the red blood supply, overcome nervousness and you will become plump and healthy. This treatment should be continued for several months, as it takes time to change the tissues and cells of the body.

"Sarah" says: "Can anything be done for one who is bothered with rheumatism? If so, please reply."

Answer: You can be relieved of your rheumatism if you take the following: Mix by shaking well and take a teaspoonful at meal times and at bed time and you will soon be cured. Comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp., 5 ozs.; wine of colchicum, one-half oz.; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; iodide of potassium, 2 drams.

"Ray" writes: "Can a sufferer from bronchial trouble be relieved? Doctors do not seem to help me. What would you suggest?"

Answer: To cure chronic cold, sore throat and bronchitis, I would advise the use of concentrated essence mentho-laxene. Purchase this at any drug store in 2½-oz. packages and mix according to directions given on bottle and you will very shortly be relieved of all bronchial trouble. This will not only relieve, but will correct, and is very pleasant to take.

"Hulda" says: "I cannot eat without great distress after eating. I am sleepless and restless, nervous and irritable. Can you tell me anything that would cure me?"

Answer: Your trouble is all due to your stomach, which causes the nervous, restless feeling. Take tablets tripeptine and you will soon be relieved of all this trouble. These are packed in sealed cartons and are pink, white and blue tablets to be taken after meals. Take the pink tablet after breakfast, white after dinner and blue after supper. If this is continued the curative agencies will soon restore natural digestion.

"Miss M." writes: "I suffer greatly with my nerves, am almost on the point of nervous prostration. I cannot sleep and am hysterical at times. Can you help me?"

Answer: Many women, old and young, who have suffered as you do, have been helped by using the following tonic restorative treatment: Get from your druggist 1 oz. tincture cadomene (not cardamon,) and 5 ozs. syrup of hypophosphites comp., mix, and take a teaspoonful before each meal. Always shake well before taking.

Miss T. R. asks: "Do you think a weight of 190 pounds is too much for a girl of medium height; and what can I safely take to reduce about 30 pounds."

Answer: Your weight is excessive, and if it increases it may cause much suffering and embarrassment. I advise the regular use of 5-grain arbolone tablets, which are sold by most pharmacies in sealed tubes with full directions for self-administration.

"Carpenter" writes: "My liver and kidneys are in a bad condition. I have dizzy spells and dark spots before my eyes. Also have twinges of rheumatism. Can I be helped?"

Answer: To relieve kidney and liver trouble use three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur.) These are packed in sealed tubes with full directions for taking. They act pleasantly and tone up the bowels and liver and purify the blood. They are convenient, effective and highly curative.

"Phoebe"—The following will correct your children of bedwetting: Get 2 drams of tincture rhus-aromatic; 1 dram tincture cubebs and 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort. Mix, and give the child from 10 to 15 drops in water about one hour before each meal.

"Maud" writes: "I have suffered a great deal with catarrh. It gives me headaches, affects my eyes and my breath is awful. Can you prescribe something to cure it? Only my nostrils and throat are affected."

Answer: I have prescribed antiseptic vilane powder and grateful letters from hundreds indicate that it is speedily curative, but must be used occasionally to prevent a recurrence. Get a two-ounce original package of vilane powder; use a half teaspoonful to a pint of warm water. From the palm of the hand snuff the water through the nostrils until thoroughly cleansed, two or three times daily. Mix a level teaspoonful of vilane powder with an ounce of lard or vaseline and apply well up into the nostrils twice daily and your catarrh should soon be gone.

"Onda" writes: "I am troubled with itching scalp, dandruff and my hair is falling out. It is harsh and brittle."

Answer: Plain Yellow Minyol is the best remedy for itching scalp, falling hair and dandruff that I know of. It can be bought in 4-oz. jars and if used according to directions will overcome diseases of the hair and scalp. If the hair is harsh and brittle and you are bothered with those straggling locks, the use of minyol will restore that soft, fluffy appearance and bring back the intense natural color.—[Advertisement.

the lasso and rope, give a spirited exhibition of cowboy sports.

Hippodrome.

Beginning with the Monday matinee, the Hippodrome will present the first mammoth road show of the Western States' Vaudeville Association. Managing Director Harris has overlooked nothing that would make this show the absolute perfection of vaudeville, and every one of the seven big acts is a headliner.

With the appearance of the road show the policy of the Hippodrome changes slightly, for beginning Monday, continuous performances will be given nightly from 6 to 11 p.m., instead of two shows as hitherto. Of course, there will be the usual show at 2:30.

Included in the big road show will be Gardiner's dogs, and there is no bull in the statement that it is the greatest bulldog act in vaudeville.

Another feature will be Verger and Dorothy, the Wap and the Soubrette, who have a high-class offering of melody and nonsense.

Curran and Milton will present a comedy departure which made Frisco laugh itself hoarse, and the Straub sisters have a capital act, called "Girls, Past and Present," in which a gigantic hat affords no end of amusement.

A dancing sensation will be Allistón and Trucco, whose staircase tango waltz is said to rival anything of its kind yet seen on the stage.

Abram and Johns have for some weeks been rehearsing a wonderful playlet for road show week, and it promises to be one of the best features of this superlative bill.

The great big spectacular act of the road show is the wonderful Morey reproduction of the Titanic disaster. It is not a moving picture, but an ingenious and graphic electrical creation, which stands absolutely unique in the vaudeville world.

In addition to the regular photoplays offered at the Hippodrome, Manager Fountain has secured the wonderful motion pictures of the Portola Festival, showing all of the great festivities and world-famous athletic events.

Mason.

The coming of Henry Miller in a new play, which has had the stamp of approval of New York, Chicago and the larger cities of the East to such extent that this distinguished player's engagements in "The Rainbow" have been confined to that territory for two seasons, will be one of the events of the year in local theatricals.

Mr. Miller is an actor-manager of distinction and his success in this A. E. Thomas comedy is unquestioned. It is said that not only is his role one of unusual force, but that the play itself is so strong that he has done nothing since "The Great Divide" which equals it in appeal and interest. Briefly the play deals with a man of wealth and position, whose long separation from his wife has resulted in rather wild bachelor ways and indiscreet attachments. His daughter, whom he has not seen since a child, returns from abroad with her mother and seeks the father who is a stranger to her. The advent of this sweet and innocent girl of 17 brings a revolution in the life and viewpoint of the father and the dramatist has told in tense appealing style of the change she makes in him and of the resultant reconciliation of husband and wife.

Henry Miller's engagement at the Mason Operahouse will begin Monday, November 24, and will be for six nights and matinees Wednesday, Thursday (Thanksgiving) and Saturday. The seat sale opens Thursday.

Woodley Theater.

Yesterday Manager Woodley of Woodley's Theater on Broadway opposite the Majestic let slip the secret of the wonderful clearness and softness of the pictures shown at the new theater. Thousands who have visited this popular theater had gone away imbued with the idea that the wonderful solar lighting system and up-to-date arrangements of the house were mainly responsible, whereas experts know that while these things may help somewhat, the real secret lies in the screen on which the pictures are thrown.

No one realizes this more keenly than did Manager Woodley, and after a long conference with experts one was devised which it is believed gives the very acme of successful picture reproduction. The screen is of silver velvet, as smooth and sleek as the richest vellum, while the silver color reflects none of that glare which makes the ordinary white curtain such a severe strain on the eyes. This fabric was manufactured to order at enormous expense, but Manager Woodley says that the heavy investment has been more than justified.

The same holds true of the wonderful multiple organ, which under the expert fingers of C. Percival Garratt makes the ordinary music of picturedom sound trashy and not worth while. Mr. Garratt varies his musical programmes with the pictures, with the result that one is assured of an all new performance three times a week at Woodley's Theater.

An elaborate programme for the first of this week will be announced in the Monday paper.

Miller's Theater.

That Miller's Theater on Main street between Eighth and Ninth has "caught on" with a vengeance is unquestioned. The fame of the big glass screen and of pretty Betty Stokes has gone all over town, and both the pictures and the imported songbird are making tremendous hits.

The playhouse is one of the most sumptuously appointed in the city, and one of its big features is a handsome and spacious lobby, which has been converted into a baby-carriage garage. In fact this is one of the few picture houses in the city which can accommodate small children. A fact which has had not a little to do with its quick rise to popularity.

One can get an idea of the pictures from the bill which is being offered today. Included in the list are "His Wife's Child," a corking two-reel drama, featuring Florence Lawrence, one of the most celebrated players in the motion-picture world.

Then there is one of the celebrated "Joker comedies" called "Almost an Actress," which is said to be one of the best of this series yet presented.

Another sparkling comedy is called "When Father Went to Church," and the bill is completed with a vivid drama called "In the End."

A new programme, as yet unannounced, will be offered beginning tomorrow.

Clune's.

"Terrors of the Jungle," telling the vivid tale of the life and death lure of Africa's wilds, a thrilling two-reel Selig production, is the headliner which comes to Clune's Broadway Theater on Monday and Tuesday of the coming week. It will be the headline attraction of an exceptionally attractive bill of modiography, which includes the famous Pathe Weekly with its recent views of current news.

All of the wild animals at the great Selig zoo at Eastlake Park are called into play in this monster production. The primary passions of love and hate, the inborn sense of fear and intrepidity are potent factors in this thrilling new drama of African wilds. The picture will have unusual local interest because of the fact that it was written by W. E. Wing, formerly a local newspaper man, and because of the fact that Bessie Eyton, wife of a local theatrical manager, has a leading part.

Tally's Broadway.

Mary Pickford will be the next famous player to appear in motion pictures at Tally's Broadway Theater. Next week, commencing Monday matinee, "Caprice," Mrs. Fiske's former success, will be shown. The play offers a particularly suitable role for Little Mary. She is in her artistic element as the simple, untaught backwoods girl who falls in love with the society man and marries him, despite his father's protests that she will plunge him into social disgrace, and after a comic attempt at suicide by Mary. Her husband tries to make a society orchid out of a mountain rose, with the inevitable heartbreak.

Mary gets all the humor and pathos, all the sentiment and irony out of her role. She is inimitable as the uncouth, outlandish mountain maid, and perfectly stunning as the trained society woman, when she returns, cultured and educated, to the mansion where she first made her ludicrous entrance into Jack's social world.

Mary Pickford is supported by Owen Moore, who plays the part of her husband (and who, therefore, renders a natural performance.) and Ernest Truax, who played opposite Mary in "A Good Little Devil."

Hamburger's Arrow.

The daring swimmer, Mlle. Ideal, will give motion-picture devotees a thrill in the rescue of a child from drowning in the falls of Niagara, in a two-reel Vitagraph special feature, "The Diver." It will be shown at the Arrow Theater on the fifth floor of the Hamburger building, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

A pretty child comedy is also on the programme. It is a parody of motion-picture life and is called "Motion Pitchers." The children have seen the "movies in the making" and rig up a box on a tripod and then make up as the players just as it is done when real motion pictures are taken. The entire cast is composed of children and is very interesting for those who enjoy child life.

A very interesting three-reel Kalem, "Our New Minister," is taken from a novel of the same name, and is featured for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Forty-eight years ago the new clerk of the Supreme Court of the United States, James D. Maher, was its page boy. He has been in its service ever since.

Or have you ever had a shirtwaist shrink so that you couldn't wear it with comfort? Rubbing and boiling the life and color out of the material means the ruination of pretty dresses.

If you will use Fels-Naptha Soap the right way, you will save yourself the disappointment and expense of having any of your clothes ruined. And you will find out that it is possible to do your washing on a hot day without the discomfort you used to have.

Fels-Naptha Soap is the cool-water soap. It is the no-hard-rubbing, no-boiling kind of soap. It is the soap for you to use if you want to save work and worry.

On Friday, December 12, Hector Alliott will give a lecture on "Three Centuries of American Art," illustrated by stereopticon slides, and on the following Friday the place of meeting will swerve from the clubhouse to Christ Church, when "The Children's Crusade," by Pierne, will be rendered under the direction of Archibald Sessions.

As the last Friday in the month falls on the day after Christmas, no programme will be given. The December guest programme will be a repetition of Stephani Schultze's entertainment and will come off on the evening of the 6th.

Colonial Dames Entertained.

Mrs. Dwight Satterlee entertained yesterday at a tea at her home, No. 912 South Burlington avenue, the members of Eschscholtzia Chapter of the D.A.R. who assisted in the recent Colonial Dames programme given under her direction. The guests were invited to meet Mrs. I. N. Chapman, State regent, and Mrs. Maynard Force Thayer, vice-regent, in whose honor many entertainments have been given during the month. A short programme of music and readings was given by several of the guests and tea was poured by Mmes. H. C. Dillon, regent of the chapter, and Theo. Davis, vice-regent, assisted by Mmes. M. U. Maybury, William. A. Remnitz, Charles H. J. Bliss, H. E. Montague and Miss Mary Olive Gray. Rooms were decorated in national colors of white chrysanthemums, red roses and blue violets.

Cosmos Club.

Mrs. James Scott will entertain the music department of the Cosmos Club next Wednesday at her home, No. 1910 Harvard boulevard. Those participating in the programme will include Miss Ione Kuhl, Edna Drynan Carlson and N. Bendixen.

To Improve Their Section.

The women's section of the Normal Heights Improvement Association entertained their friends last Wednesday afternoon at a tea at the home of Mrs. Simeon J. Jappell, corner of Virgil and Normal avenues. Mmes. Patrick J. Ward, H. K. Wheeler, Hallick Colye, William A. Stewart, John J. Garrett, B. A. Brenner, J. Bullock and Clarence W. Roberts assisted the hostess in entertaining the guests, and Mmes. Elmer Taft, Henry Siemer, Henry Wenz, J. Taylor, Arthur Jappell and Miss Anna Jones served at the tea tables. Mrs. S. P. Rhodes, member of the County Forestry Commission and ex-president of the Hollywood Woman's Club, addressed the members concerning street trees and tree planting.

Wednesday Morning Club.

The Spanish section of this club staged a story from the romantic past of old Spain last Wednesday morning and quite covered themselves with glory at this, their first effort this year. The story was first told in English by Mrs. M. B. Pitkin and afterward portrayed by Mmes. Hector Zahn, E. B. Pinson and W. E. Tribit. Spanish songs and dances followed, and more than 150 members sat down to the luncheon, of which Mrs. M. D. Chemberlin was hostess.

Their Annual Bazaar.

About every third woman at the all-day session of the women's societies of the First Congregational Church last Thursday was engaged with some sort of needle work as she quietly sat and listened to the proceedings of the platform. Some were making kitchen aprons; some were embroidering dainty mulls and some were fashioning lacy caps and fichus.

"What does it all mean?" I asked, as I slipped into a seat by a woman who was busily hemming a strip of gingham.

"Our bazaar," she quickly replied, "next Thursday, you know—all day and evening—luncheon at noon—chicken pie dinner at night—booths with all sorts of fancy work for sale—home-cooked foods, jellies and jams—and dolls and toys for the children—plan to make your Christmas purchases then—every woman in the church does—we have 'em every year—yes, this is a kitchen apron—so useful—we'll have fancy aprons, too—be sure to come," and she was stitching away every second as if her life depended on it.

Monrovia Clubs Active.

The arts and travel section of the Monrovia Woman's Club held its first meeting Wednesday afternoon at the clubhouse. Miss Barrie, the recently-appointed curator, and Mrs. George O. Monroe, president of the club, receiving the twenty members. Scenes and descriptions of the Italian Riviera were the subjects of discussion and a number of excellent papers were contributed.

The Monrovia Woman's Club members will give an old-fashioned minstrel show January 16 and 17, and work has already been commenced on some of the more complicated of the terpsichorean novelties that will be featured on that occasion. The show will be a club benefit, and will without doubt be one of the successes of the season.

Encinitas Chapter, D.A.R.

On Monday the members of Encinitas Chapter, D.A.R., of Monrovia gave a delightful 1 o'clock luncheon at Hotel 'Leven Oaks, in honor of the State regent, Mrs. I. N. Chapman of Alameda, and the State vice-regent, Mrs. Maynard Force Thayer of Pasadena.

Mrs. Eugene D. Northup, regent of the chapter, assisted by the vice-regent, Mrs. Charles Taylor Renaker, received the guests and presided at the luncheon table, which was decorated in unusually beautiful lavender chrysanthemums and American flags. After the luncheon the ladies and their guests journeyed from the hotel to the beautiful home of Mrs. Denver J. Mackey, where the regular November meeting of the chapter was held. Mrs. Northup presided, and at her invitation Mrs. Chapman made an informal talk, telling the length and breadth of the work of the D.A.R. in California, and dwelling upon the plans to enable the State organization to open a rest room for D.A.R. headquarters at the exposition in San Francisco, when the national regent will be on the Pacific Coast. Mrs. Thayer made a delightful talk along the line of general patriotic work.

An especially enjoyable feature of the afternoon was a series of piano and violin duets by Mrs. Mackey and Miss Aileen Northup. Besides the guests of honor those present included Mrs. Eugene D. Northup, Mrs. Charles Taylor Renaker, Mrs. Morris R. Conable, Mrs. C. H. Reed, Mrs. C. C. Browning of South Pasadena, Mrs. Farrington and Mrs. Irwin of El Monte, Mrs. W. G. Davidson, Mrs. Elizabeth Reeder, Mrs. Howard E. Rader, Mrs. C. H. Marsh, Mrs. M. C. Wakeman, Mrs. G. M. Doule, Mrs. James Leonard and Miss Helen Reed.

THE CELESTIAL STATESMAN.

OF LI HUNG CHANG. Edited by William ... Houghton, Mifflin Company, ...

PERHAPS the greatest man that China ever produced was Li Hung Chang. The value of a thought or an act largely depends on the dignity and position of the one uttering it; therefore with absorbing interest we are privileged at this late date to peer into the secret ... of that remarkable Chinese soldier and statesman.

His birth brought him little—he was not of the nobility, and only by study and work was he able to attain the distinctions with which he was later to be crowned. Soldier, general, viceroy, diplomat—he was all of these things and did them all well. Without affectation his story is told. He studied hard and prepared himself for office. He had an antipathy for the Christians, and wrote: "I think it would be a noble and ... career, and highly pleasing to the ... gods and to my ancestors ... all my books and papers I ... tell the people the truth about ... gods and false genii of foreign devils. Tembarom rejoices to step down as master of the estate and let the other heir come unto his own.

The book is as insipid as a tasteless orange; everybody from first to last is pressed into service to pay compliments to T. Tembarom's face and behind his back, and there is not a moment from the time the plot begins to unravel that the reader doesn't know what is coming and only wonders why it is so long in arriving.

GOOD BOOK FOR BOYS.

ERNEST THOMPSON SETON has turned out a volume of the greatest interest and value to growing boys in his "Book of Woodcraft." We have had many nature writers who have given us food for dreams, and a few hours of delight, but not so many to tell us how we can get this delight for ourselves at first hand. It is characteristic of Mr. Seton that he should wish to share his wealth with as large a number of people as possible. The present reviewer has never forgotten the episode in which, when Mr. Seton found the nest of a little field animal, the frightened mother, without his knowing it, jumped into his pocket. He had reached home before he discovered the fact, and ran all of the way back through the gathering dark to give the little creature back to her babies.

For twenty-five years Mr. Seton has been engaged in the talks and demonstrations that led to the writing of "The Book of Woodcraft." "When I was a boy," he writes, "I hungered beyond expression for just such information as I have tried herein to impart. It would be a great joy to me if I could reach and help a considerable number of such heart-hungry boys, tormented with an insatiate instinct for the woods." The book is full of practical instructions as to how to form bands of Boy Scouts. The author names his organization "Woodcraft Indians," for while it is formed, member and limb, to fill the running necessities of a modern association, there is much that will identify it with customs, woodcraft and nomenclature of the early Indians. It is also called the "Seton Indians" and Indian Scouts." In his chapter on "The Spartans of the West," the author calls attention to many fine traits of the Indian of the early days, before his rights were poached upon by "those who coveted his possessions," and who to "justify their robberies sketched the Indians as a dirty, filthy, squalid wretch, a demon of cruelty and cowardice, incapable of a human emotion, and never good till dead." "The Indian's Creed," on page 11, will certainly be a revelation to the youth who has gleaned his idea of the redman from lurid, wild West literature. Mr. Seton, gathering his data from the most reliable historical sources, states that the redman believed in one Supreme Spirit, in the immortality of the soul in the reverencing of his body, and its subjugation by fasting; in reverence for his parents, in the sacredness of property, in cleanliness of body, in purity of morals, in speaking the truth, in beauty, simplicity, peace, the sacred obligations of hospitality and courage. Mr. Seton goes on to set forth the dark side, but proves by historical quotations that almost all of the diabolical developments in the white man's contact with the Indians were brought about by the injustice and brutality of the white man himself. In the earliest days of discovery Christopher Columbus writes of the Indians to the sovereigns of Spain: "I swear to your majesties that there is not a better people in the world than these; more affectionate, affable or mild. They love their neighbors as themselves, and they always speak smilingly."

Mr. Seton gives some details about the Indians' daily bathing in cold streams, summer and winter, and a description of their Turkish bath, or "sweat lodge," showing that civilization has not a monopoly upon these contrivances of cleanliness.

Having cleared up many points for the hero-worshiping boy, and given him an ideal worthy of the romantic tinting of his dreams, Mr. Seton goes on to instruct the boys of a community as to just how to institute the Woodcraft organization. He shows them the law of the good redman—that of obedience, courage, cleanliness, the necessity to the body's welfare, to abstain from smoking and "fire water" under 18, the respecting of wild life, the guarding against forest fires, the efficacy of kindness, fair play, silence, reverence, and the sacredness of the word of honor. He gives the boys rules for the formation of lodges, tribes and bands, for the earning of membership, and the achieving of honors after membership is secured. In fact, there is incentive in the organization for every variety of prowess, physical and mental, to the making of splendidly rounded men. Campercraft, scouting, Indian craft, Indian dancing and ceremonies, and amusements generally, natural history, forestry, campfire stories—all of these chapters, and go to make up a rich and glorious volume of information for youth and adult alike, luring the reader to a close intimacy with the great out-of-doors.

"Half our diseases are in our minds and half in our houses," the author declares. "I should like to lead this whole nation into the way of living outdoors for at least a month each year, reviving and expanding a custom that as far back as Moses was deemed essential to the national well-being."

IT'S ENGLISH.

THE HONOR OF THE CLINTONS. By Archibald Marshall. Dodd, Mead & Co., New York.

A TRULY English literary feed is set before the reader in "The Honor of the Clintons." Although—unlike many English novels—it does not talk much about roast beef, Yorkshire pudding, tea and scones, you feel the sensation of too well-fedness, and consequent ponderousness. The book has taken 375 pages to tell a love story, which might easily have been given in half that space. Not that the book is not interesting. It is a thoroughly good photographic reproduction of the home and family life of an English country squire. The American reader, unfamiliar with the national characteristics of the Englishman in his home life on his native soil, may not be able to appreciate the book. He will certainly find long stretches of it tiresome. The long, family conferences are literally and many, and keep the reader a little too remote from the main action and interest of the story. But on the other hand they give him a knowledge of something which he will not learn in the American home. The blood tie between English men and women of the same family is, in its adhesiveness, something which cannot be duplicated in our own country. It matters little how widely separated the members of a family may become, nor how uncongenial the marriage of the sons and daughters may be to the parents, there is a clannishness, a loyalty that is taken for granted among them, and the honor of one is the honor of all.

The episode that concerns the honor of the Clintons is the theft of a pearl necklace from a secret hiding place in the home of friends of the Clintons in London, where pretty young Joan is visiting. The social life of these friends is greatly disapproved by Squire Clinton. One son and the son's wife, who are part and parcel of this social circle, take Joan with them to the "week's end" party. When the party is ended the hostess misses her pearls, and a great hue and cry are raised. The crime is fastened upon a Mrs. Amberley, a woman whose moral standing—or rather lack of it—is tacitly recognized in the society into which she is received. As Mrs. Amberley is the only person to whom the hostess had confided the hiding place, there can be no other conclusion. Joan happened into the room as Mrs. Amberley was standing before the panel, and is therefore, much to the horror and disgust of the squire, compelled to appear and give her evidence. But the squire is destined to receive a still greater blow. The theft is actually in his own family, it has been committed by the wife of his son. The squire does not find this out until Mrs. Amberley has served her term, and gone to America. The terrible complication develops when the enraged Mrs. Amberley returns, after the death of the miserable girl who committed the theft, and tries to blackmail the squire. The squire wins the reader's sympathy by his determination to stick to that which he deems right throughout, and that in the face of the fact that publicity may ruin the happiness of Joan, who has just been sought in marriage by a young Earl to whom she is devoted. Joan sticks by her father. In fact it is all for one and one for all in the Clinton family.

At this crisis, however, Joan's suitor proves all that a fine, wholesome, loyal Englishman should be. He wants the girl—and the girl he will have, despite scandal. At this juncture the bereaved husband of the misguided young woman who had from a foreign country, and releases his father from promise of secrecy. stolen the necklace sends his affidavit The complications are ingeniously untangled. "We stand on what honor is left to us," declares the squire. "We've been talking as if we could all clear ourselves at Susan's expense, if everything comes out. We can't. She was one of us, poor girl. We suffer for her sins."

Healthful and sweet and comprehensible are Joan and Nancy, the twins, not yet out of their teens. The analyses of these two charming characters one would scarcely think the fitting task of a man, and yet a man has given them with a delicate and intimate touch.

LORD NELSON'S EARLY ROMANCE

ROSE OF OLD QUEBEC. By Anne Hollingsworth Wharton. J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia.

A ROMANCE pen-pictured with all of the daintiness of a Watteau painting is 'A Rose of Old Quebec." It is a romance taken from the actual pages of the lives of two human beings who moved about the streets and danced in the ballrooms of old Quebec in the latter part of the eighteenth century. It is the story of the early love affair of Lord —then Capt.— Nelson, with Mary Thompson, the beautiful Scotch-French lassie who was at that time one of the reigning belles of the historic old town. The author frankly admits that she has taken a few liberties with facts in order to round out her romance. But perhaps, with the clairvoyance peculiar to many authors, she has come nearer to the full truth than she knows concerning those matters which may transpire between two lovers, and which are never for the rest of the curious world.

Mary Thompson and the gallant young captain of the Albermarle meet at a ball given in his honor at the chateau by the Governor. Having chosen the acknowledged belle—Miss Thompson's cousin, several years the seventeen-year-old Mary's senior—as queen of beauty, the young officer is attracted by Mary, as she whirls in a contest for honors in the "matelote Hollandaise," the Quebec version of the "Sailor's Hornpipe." Allan MacGregor, who figures later in the romance, and is Mary's contestant, threw up his hands, and acknowledged himself fairly beaten by the slender young girl. Then it was that the young captain, for whom all the Quebec girls were ready to "pull caps," commences his devoted attentions, much to the chagrin and humiliation of Mary's cousin, who is jealous of her honors. For young Nelson, while not strictly handsome, "possessed a dignity and air of command that, for some reason, appeals to the heart of a woman more forcibly than beauty of form and feature." And then there was the smile, when the sternness of his features relaxed, full of that indescribable charm of which history itself speaks. "Nelson was in full-laced uniform, probably the same that this 'prig of a captain' wore when he made so deep an impression upon Prince William Henry a few months later." Nothing more is needed to explain the young captain's success with women.

Then followed the stroll under the moonlit sky on the terrace overlooking the river, a haunt then popular with lovers of Quebec. And from below floated up the closing strain of the Canadian boatman's favorite song, "Jamais je no T'oublierai." And Capt. Nelson never forgot. He wooed Mary impetuously, and begged her to marry him quickly, and without the paternal consent, since he was to sail so soon, and he feared any impediment. Through the intervention of the piqued cousin the lovers failed to meet at the appointed time, and the disappointed, heart-sore captain sets sail alone. Mary remains behind broken-hearted.

Some years afterward, in London, the two meet once more, at the ball of the beautiful Duchess of Devonshire. Lord Nelson is married to a consumptive little woman, and Allan MacGregor—now Capt. McGregor—is there to try to heal the hurt in Mary's heart. This he succeeds in doing eventually. And Mary, who has wondered at the facility with which a man may forget, learns herself to forget—or if not to forget, at least to regard the memory, in its lavender perfume, without a pang.

ANOTHER IRWIN BOOK.

MR. TOGO: MAID OF ALL WORK. By Wallace Irwin. Duffield & Co., New York.

THIS little book, couched in quaint broken English, in literally translated Japanese idioms, is good for many pleasant moments of diversion, interspersed with laughter. It relates a series of experiences of a Japanese cook, in the first person, while fulfilling his duties in different households. The little brown man is still new and unfamiliar with intimate customs in the American household, and in his over-zealousness to obey and protect the interests of his employers, and in his imperfect understanding of his lady's instructions, he commits the most ludicrous blunders, ending, of course, in return of the unfortunate "maid of all work" back to the employment agency.

Togo struggles with the vacuum cleaner while working for a lady whose mania runs in the direction of the annihilation of dust. The mania seizes upon Togo also. Te trains the "Hon. Vacuum" to do tricks of "extreme cuteness," such as luring shoe buttons entirely across the room. But when the over-trained monster entices a $20 bill—entrusted to Togo to pay the grocery account—from its hiding place in the sofa, and calmly "gobbles" it, Togo does not wait to satisfy his curiosity as to consequences, but leaving a note to place the blame where it belongs—that is, with the Hon. Vacuum— he departs.

After this, he passes from experience to experience, through his quaint misinterpretation of orders, creating no end of difficulties for himself, and also his employers. When he works for Madam, whose two manias are old china and microbes, he is ordered to take the best care of the dish rag, and never allow it to touch the floor. He washes it out, and hangs it up where it may have a pleasant view of the garden and cleanses the dishes with his hands. When, one day, Madam has used all of her valuable china heirlooms for a special dinner, Togo piles the precious stuff in a pyramid. As he is preparing to wash it, he takes the sacred dish cloth and wets it in the hot soapsuds. As he lifts it to wring it out, it slips from his hands. Making a desperate lunge to keep it from touching the floor, he saves it, but shatters the pyramid of dishes. When Madam arrives, shrieking, upon the scene, he advises her "not worry, I have saved your dish rag."

Togo's struggle with the automobile, after incomplete instructions, is another ludicrous chapter. In fact, the book is teeming with quaint humor, and commentaries upon femininity, and her manner of handling the domestic machinery—a humor that exists in the situations as well as in the wording.

CANADIAN HISTORY.

THE MAN WITH THE IRON HAND. By John Carl Parish. Houghton, Mifflin Company, New York and Boston.

"THE Man With the Iron Hand" is not a novel—although it contains more interesting material than many a novel of today. It is, in fact, a compact little history of the explorations of the French from Quebec, under La Salle, in the valley of the Mississippi, through the country of the Illinois, the Peorias, the Kaskaskias, and the Miamis, during the latter half of the seventeenth century. Father Marquette, the French priest, and Joliet, paved the way for La Salle, whose object was to claim for his country the great stretch of land spreading each side of the river, and make his way to the Gulf of Mexico. Father Marquette, proselyting among the Indians, and much beloved by them, passed away in their midst.

But the Indians had in La Salle—accompanied by Henry de Tonty—a new problem to face. He was no black-robed priest, "come among them to preach and to baptize their dying," but "a great chief with men at his back, a warrior with fire-spitting guns, a trader with canoes full of hatchets and knives, and tobacco, and a forge to keep their weapons in order, and to make them new ones." While they felt that his stay among them would be to their advantage, they wondered when he asserted that the dreaded Iroquois—who had at intervals, journeyed from the East to harrass them—were also subjects of the King of France, and would hereafter be restrained from their periodical depredations. And here, in the village of the Peorias, La Salle built a fort, and commenced the building of a large canoe with which he intended to make the trip down the river to the gulf.

La Salle left the fort under the command of De Tonty, the "man with the iron hand." De Tonty, a Sicilian, had seen great service for his native country, particularly in the war with Spain, as well as having served France. The Indians noticed that he ate, pulled his canoe from the water, or laid hold upon timber always with his left hand, and yet he struck terrible and telling blows with his right hand. The fact was that Tonty's hand had been blown off by a hand grenade thrown by the enemy. Captured and held prisoner for six months by the Spanish, he was at last released in exchange for the Governor's son. For his own lost member, he substituted a metal hand, which he wore encased in a glove. It was after peace had settled upon the Mediterranean that the restless Tonty joined La Salle. He became known among the tribes as "the man with the iron hand."

Tonty was a man of few words, but prompt action. When the Iroquois were sighted by the terrified Illinois, they were sure they saw Frenchmen among their enemies, and believed that the French had betrayed them. What they really saw was an Iroquois chief arrayed in a black coat and hat. But when they pressed furiously about Tonty, he said calmly: "I will show you that I am not a friend of the Iroquois. If need be, I will die with you. I and my men will help you fight your battle." Tonty rushed in among the besieging Iroquois, weaponless and unattended. As he was swallowed up in the horde, he received a knife wound, and his hat was elevated on a pole. He made his plea to the chief, with a brave behind him, whose hand was in his hair, with a scalp knife raised above him. But he won out, and returned to the Illinois, having temporarily averted a catastrophe.

Later on he asked the Iroquois when they would leave the country of the Illinois. "Not until we have eaten these Illinois," replied the angered chief. Tonty promptly kicked the heap of beaver skins which the Iroquois had laid before him—the most deadly insult he could have offered. But they feared to harm him because he was a friend of Frontenac, the powerful Governor of New France, and contented themselves with driving him forth.

After twenty-five years of dauntless courage in the face of terrible experiences, during which La Salle was murdered, Tonty was to see the flag of France waving over a colony of Frenchmen at the mouth of the river "which had run like a silver thread through a quarter of a century of dreams and deeds."

The book is well written, and pleasantly free of superfluities. It has a historical value.

WITH THE AUTHORS.

Kate Langley Bosher, who arrived in New York just in time to watch the successful launching of her new book, "The House of Happiness," has been the guest of honor at several "birthday" dinners given in her honor by fellow authors. "The House of Happiness" is the third book Mrs. Bosher has written since the appearance of "Mary Cary" three years ago.

Sir Gilbert Parker, author of "The Judgment House," has recently had conferred upon him by the McGill University in Montreal the honorary degree of LL.D. In the long speech he made upon this occasion, the personal note seemed to have touched his hearers more than his arguments. After urging the universities to extend their spheres of influence in the direction of art, Sir Gilbert said: "I never saw a great picture or heard a great opera until after I was 20. I never saw a great piece of statuary until I was nearly ready to take up the burden of manhood, with all its responsibilities. That was a great handicap that has not yet been removed from those who are younger than I am." And in "The Judgment House" he puts similar words into the mouth of the Rand millionaire: "I never had much chance to hear great singers before I went to South Africa. . . . I've missed a lot in my time."

Although the author of "The Fate of Felix Brand" denies having used the career of Stanford White as a prototpye for the brilliant and suddenly snuffed-out course of her chief character, many readers of the novel are drawing a parallel between the two. In the uncanny fate which overtook the promising young architect to the novel, they think they see a possible explanation of much in the character and career of the New York architect that formerly seemed mystifying.

Mrs. Eleanor H. Porter is now engaged in correcting proof of the new "Miss Billy" book—"Miss Billy Married," which L. C. Page & Co., Boston, will publish early in the new year. Although the Miss Billy books are prime favorites with the reading public, the author confesses that her favorite child is her latest book, "Pollyanna, the Glad Book." This one has enjoyed the largest sale of any of Mrs. Porter's books, and has been printed thirteen times since publication, last March, while "Miss Billy" is appearing in its ninth printing, and "Miss Billy's Decision" in its fifth printing.

E. A. Rickards, the artist whose lively sketches add so much to the enjoyment of Arnold Bennett's new book, "Paris Nights," says that it is a new experience to see strange lands and places when there is, at one's elbow, a companion with such an original viewpoint of men and manners as Mr. Bennett's. One cannot help wondering how much Mr. Rickard's perception of life has been affected by his long personal friendship with the author of "The Old Adam" and "The Old Wives' Tale." Those who met the great English novelist on his recent visit to the United States will recall that he gave no outward impression of alertness, and yet absorbed an amount of information upon every conceivable subject that was amazing. Mr. Richards, the artist, is no less a faithful recorder of life.

President Wilson has been reading Samuel G. Blythe's new novel, "The Price of Place," and has just written a letter to Mr. Blythe in which he says: "The story is painfully true. I hope it will be widely read, especially by Congressmen just getting into harness—perhaps I should say just getting into the toils. I have myself seen these things with a sick heart."

The first distinguished Irishman of letters to visit the United States in many years is G. A. Birmingham, the novelist, whose real name is James Owen Hannay, Canon of St. Patrick's, Dublin. As the author of "Spanish Gold," "Priscilla's Spies," "The Major's Niece," "Lalage's Lovers," and other buoyantly humorous novels, Canon Hannay has gained an army of adherents in the United States, who find his books an unfailing source of merry entertainment. Canon Hannay and Mrs. Hannay, in New York, attended the opening performance of "General John Regan," the Canon's first play, which ran for a year in London, with Charles Hawtry in the role of Dr. O'Grady. This part will be filled by Arnold Daly here. The novel, "General John Regan," was published on November 10, the opening day of the New York production.

Prof. George A. Reisner, author of "The Egyptian Conception of Immortality," has spent the last year excavating in Egypt in behalf of Harvard University. Last week Mr. Reisner shipped a collection of Egyptian objects of art of great archaeological value, including a number of historic skeletons and pottery. Word has just been received by the authorities at the university that the collection was damaged by fire at sea. The ship took fire shortly after the departure, and was forced to put back into port.

Mrs. Mary Antin, author of "The Promised Land," is making an extensive lecture tour under the management of the National Lyceum Service.

Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell is visiting this country and addressing meetings in the interests of the Labrador mission work in which he has been engaged for more than twenty years. His two small volumes, "The Adventure of Life" and "Adrift on an Ice Pan" attest his fullness of knowledge, sincerity and originality.

Charles Mulford Robinson, a new edition of whose "Improvement of Towns and Cities" has just been issued by the Putnams, has been appointed professor of civic design of the Illinois University at Urbana, Ill.

Sydney Brooks, whose brilliant contributions to the North American Review on the subject of municipal ownership of public utilities have attracted so much attention, is writing a series of articles on the same subject for "Concerning Municipal Ownership," beginning in the October issue.

Ford A. Carpenter, forecaster of the Los Angeles weather bureau, whose record-breaking meteorological experiments in the upper air from Santa Catalina Island have lately been widely announced, is the author of a very comprehensive little book of much value, to the southern end of this State. It is entitled, "The Climate and Weather of San Diego, Cal." It was published during the current year under the auspices of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, and contains 118 pages, including fifteen fine halftones and a dozen charts. There is much of general as well as local interest in it. It was written under the direction of Willis H. Moore, chief of the United States Weather Bureau. Mr. Carpenter has written a valuable paper on "Frost and Frost Warnings," which has been published in a little brochure by authority of the United States Weather Bureau.

BOOK NOTES.

Harper & Bros. announce among their early November publications "Harper's Wireless Book," by Alpheus Hyatt Verrill; "The American Civil War," by James Kendall Hosmer; and "Matter and Some of Its Dimensions," by William Kearney Carr, which has been added to Harper's Library of New Thought. The same firm is also reprinting "The Passionate Friend," H. G. Wells's new novel; and "The Houseboat on the Styx," "The Pursuit of the Houseboat," and "Coffee and Repartee," by John Kendrick Bangs.

Houghton Mifflin Company announce for immediate publication "Thomas Jefferson as an Architect and a Designer of Landscape," by W. A. Lambeth, Md., and Warren H. Manning; "A Little Book of Modern Verse," edited by Jessie B. Rittenhouse; "Hawthorne and His Publisher," by Caroline Tichnor; "The Irish Twins," by Lucy Fitch Perkins; "The Health Master," by Samuel Hopkins Adams; "Three Lords of Destiny," by Samuel McChord Crothers; and "Personal Recollections of Vincent Van Gogh," Mme. Du Quesne Van Gogh's biography of her brother, translated into English by Miss Katherine Dreier.

That the Congo situation, so much in the public eye before the death of the late King of Belgium, is a dead issue at the present time, is denied in Frances Aymer Mathews's "Fanny of the Forty Frocks"—frivolous and unworthy name for a good book. Attention has been directed to the horrors of the Congo by means of the Putumayo scandal, and Miss Mathews gives a view of one of the greatest diplomatic scandals of the day in her description of the keen battle of wits, and Machiavellian methods of two of the most notable men in present-day European politics.

The Putnams are publishing at present, as a companion work to "Old Court Life in France," by Frances Elliott, the narrative from the same pen entitled "Old Court Life in Spain." The same firm will also publish immediately "The Book of the Dead," the curious Egyptian ritual in an edition prepared by E. A. Wallace Budge, M. A. Litt. D., keeper of the Egyptian and Assyrian Antiquities in the British Museum, and author of "Osiris." The Papyrus of Ani, which was acquired by the trustees of the British Museum in 1888, is the largest, the most perfect and the best illuminated of all the papyri, containing copies of the Theban Recension of "The Book of the Dead."

Other volumes announced for fall publication by the Putnams are: "England Since Waterloo," by J. A. R. Marriott; "Marvels of the Universe," by such leading specialists in the sciences as Sir Harry Johnston, Richard Lydekker, Frank Bullen, C. Flammarion, Sir Herbert Maxwell, W. F. Kirby, Ernest Marriage, Max Raebel and many others; "The Wonders of the World," also by prominent scientists, and profusely illustrated. "My Path," the memoirs of Lilli Lehman, is an important publication of the coming year.

Fresh from the press are announced by John Lane Company: "The Valley of Shadows," by Francis Grierson, with sixteen full-page color plates; "Peasant Art in Italy," special autumn number of the Studio; "Behind the Beyond," by Stephen Leacock; "Frosty Ferguson, Strategist," by Lowell Hardy; "Things I Remember," by Frederick Townsend Martin.

"The College Chaucer," edited with notes, glossary and appendix by Henry N. McCracken, and published during October by the Yale University Press, within a week had been officially adopted for use in the English courses of several universities, among them Yale, Columbia, Brown, Wellesley and Smith.

"The Colonizing Activities of the English Puritans" is the new title which has been adopted for the book by Arthur Percival Newton, in preparation for the Yale University Press. It deals with the last phase of the Elizabethan struggle with Spain, and contains an introduction by Prof. Charles M. Andrews. It will be published under the auspices of the history department of Yale University.

"The Opinion Shop"—a "piquant book to drive dull care away"— by Hildric Davenport Owsley, is announced by Barse & Hopkins, New York, illustrated by Penrhyn Stanlaws.

"Is There a Hell?" one of the new books of the Funk & Wagnalls Company, seems to have caught England's ear, and has passed to the third printing there within its first few months of publication.

Announcements by Longmans, Green & Co. include: "Royal Spain of Today," by Tryphosa Bates Batcheller; "Lord Lyons," a record of British diplomacy by Lord Newton; "Life and Letters of George Villiers," by Sir Herbert Maxwell; "The Life of William Pitt," by Basil Williams; "William Augustus, Duke of Cumberland," by Hon. Evan Charteris; "A History of England," by Edward P. Cheyney; "A Civil Servant in Burmah," by Sir Herbert Thirkell White; "My Art and My Friends," by Sir Frederic H. Cowen; "Shakespeare's Stories," by Constance Maud; "Painting in the Far East," by Laurence Binyon; "Painting in the East and West," by Robert Douglas Norton; "Clio, a Muse, and Other Essays," by G. M. Trevelyan; "The Vices of Virtue and Other Vagaries."

LITERARY CHIT-CHAT.

BY A STAFF WRITER.

Upon a time the present writer stood on one of the great bridges that cross the Seine in the city of Paris, in the company of the late Artus van Briggle, who discovered a new pottery glaze; Clemens Barnhorn, the well-known sculptor, and a bright woman literary dilettante. We were talking literature, its inception, conception and construction. It seemed to me then that the warp and woof of literature should be drawn from the skein of life itself—real, vital, throbbing; that there could be nothing in the realm of imagination to match the vivid tones of actuality. I announced my intention to use real events, real men and women and children as my material in future work. The literary lady disagreed with me, and declared that was not art. Van Briggle, who drew with wonderful power, and was a sensitive but intense colorist, after a moment's thought agreed that the brush must be dipped into reality. Barnhorn, transcendentalist, ethical anchorite, but with the engaging smile and laughter of boyhood, also agreed that this should be so, within limitations, and that it should be so entirely when I reminded him that the ideal should be included in the realities. Art should figure, I continued, in selection of important and elimination of unimportant events, situations and conversations, but that real literature carried the living, vital essence of breathing men and women—the drama of a people, a place, an age.

The author of "Daddy-Do-Funny," Ruth McEnery Stuart, believes in this realism, and that the author should go "gleaning on his own account." "What can an inconsequent writer of dialect fiction who, like the wind, bloweth where she listeth," says Mrs. Stuart, "and like the wind, gathers only to scatter such vagrant flowers of field and wood and dooryard as rise to her invitation—what shall she say, finding herself suddenly brought up standing under such a fire as this? Of what value is folklore in literature? In other words, 'vindicate your commodity.'" Then Mrs. Stuart goes on to ask with delightful irony, "Of what value is any lore in literature? Of what value are the folk themselves—the common people—in literature? Of what value is any phase of thought or of life in literature? Of what value is life in literature which it were folly to discuss; and yet, if by a sort of transfusion life may enter in, so that to speak of 'vital fiction,' or to denounce a book as 'having no blood in it' does not rouse even the lay mind to inquiry, perhaps—the brow-beaten writer is not sure, but—perhaps there is something of vitality in verisimilitude, so that all those things that characterize a people have a place somewhere, and in some proportion in its fiction, if the fiction be sincere and unafraid."

Anent literature and realities, we understand that when Edna Ferber gets tired of writing "Roast Beef Medium," she cooks it. And she has two New York editors to attest that she cooks it not only "medium," but very well, if not rarely well. During Miss Ferber's first week recently in New York, arranging for dramatic productions, she casually remarked to a well-known publisher, "Give me a dollar and a kitchen, and I'll get the best dinner for you you ever ate." The offer was appealing, so the publisher put up the dollar. On his own account he invited to the dinner—possibly as chaperon — a lady relative who is a prominent magazine editor. Upon the appointed day Miss Ferber went marketing, then retired to the kitchen, barricading the door. The others waited without, with growing appetites and forced smiles, comforting themselves with the thought of the delicatessen shop on the corner. Presently dinner was served, when trepidation gave way to hope, and hope to realization, as delicacy after delicacy came forward to prove itself. And this was the menu: Canteloupe, cream tomato soup, lamb chops, potatoes, string beans, bread and butter, lettuce salad, cheese and crackers, assorted fruit. When all was over, and the blushing cook-author, or author-cook, was bowing her thanks amid thunderous applause, she gracefully handed the publisher 2 cents' change.

Catherine Markham, poet—one of the 100 immortals of the "Lyric Year"—can prepare a Christmas dinner fit for the gods. She makes a tomato jelly salad that is a dream of artistry to look upon, and a still pleasanter dream in the eating. Ella Wheeler Wilcox prepares with her own hands, in the presence of her guests, chafing-dish dainties that are as perfect in their own way as the best of her poems. The author of "The Faun and Other Poems," confesses, with many a blush, that she believes she would rather bask in the smiles of satisfaction on the faces of those who have partaken of her personally-prepared dinners, than to write a poem. After all, she declares, the inspiration that gets you in the doing of the dinner and the one that seizes you in the writing of the poem are not so widely different.

The Princeton University Press announces the formation of a Committee on Publications. The committee is composed of Dean William F. Magie, Professor of Physics Henry, Professor of Classics Edward Capps, Professor Frank Jewett Mather, Jr., Professor of Art and Archeology Marquand, Professor of Political Economy Frank Elbert Fetter, Professor of French Language and Literature Varnum Lansing Collins. This committee will consider all manuscripts and proposals for publication, and the right to authorise publications with the imprint of the press rests solely with this committee. The publications of the press are thus, in all cases, directly selected and indorsed by a representative committee of the university faculty.

Since organization, the University Press has been developing its manufacturing business, which is now self-supporting, and housed in a handsome, well-equipped building. With its organization perfected, and with its own plant capable of manufacturing any publications it may issue, the University Press now looks forward to a steady development of its publishing business.

The contingent in New York who think that piano legs ought to be draped in pantalettes are instrumental in having the postoffice authorities hold up the October number of The International Studio Magazine. They considered the illustrations of an article on the work of Lillian Genth as sufficiently indelicate to warrant their seeking instructions from Washington. Needless to say, the officials at once telegraphed permission for the issue to be mailed. "Everyone acquainted with Lillian Genth's paintings, and with the trend of the International Studio," the John Lane Company quaintly puts it, "will share our surprise that September Morn should have been extended into October, and probably beyond."

PAINTINGS by world-renowned artists on exhibition at Kanst Galleries, 642 South Spring street. All welcome.

—Yard-wide Silk Charmeuse at 89c yard in the Basement Store.

Bullock's Basement Store

Rugs! Rugs! Rugs! Look at This Sale That the Basement Store Has Planned

Women's Muslin Drawers At 49c in Basement Store.

—Just Listen! 9x12 foot Brussels Rugs Will Be $7.95

Sale of Sample Pieces Parisian Ivory On Monday

—Think of it! We wish there were four times as many of them—every one perfect in good designs (the wanted small allover patterns), tan and brown combinations, and tan and green combinations—

—Some 8.3x10.6 Rugs included—

—On account of the extreme lowness of the price and the limited number of Rugs concerned, we shall be forced to limit purchases.

—By Far the Greatest Rug Sale The Basement Store Has Ever Held

—An indication of the remarkable manner in which Bullock's Basement Store is growing and increasing its ability to serve and satisfy its customers.

—Plan to buy your new Rugs at Bullock's on Monday. The above item serves merely as an introduction. Others, of nearly equal importance, follow, in all of them, quality is a very important element as well as price.

9x12 ft. Axminster Rugs at $19.98

—Would be splendid, strong values at a much higher price. When you see them and what heavy, fine Rugs they are and in what pretty patterns and colors, you will understand the extraordinary nature of their value. Famous Wilton patterns, small allover effects in brown tones, Oriental designs. Just 38 of them for a great sale at $19.98.

9x12 Velvet Rugs $13.95

—Handsome velvet rugs, just 15 of them to be exact, that are marked way under regular conservative marking—These Rugs are in good patterns, small allover effects that are so much in demand—and in good colors.

Axminster Rugs at* $1.75

—27x54-inch Axminster Rugs in the Dutch Poster design, or with landscape borders and hit or miss centers—$1.75 each.

Cocoa Door Mats* 50c

—The 15x24-inch size—save your floors and carpets.

Sample Lunch Cloths at 98c

Salesmen's Samples. Most of them slightly soiled—some of them hemstitched; some scalloped. All of them such remarkable values they should fairly fly away at 98c each.

500 Pillow Cases at 8⅓c Ea.

—Away they go—with a limit of 6 to a customer—size 42x36 in.—at 8⅓c.

And a Sale of Sheets at 39c

—Seamed, of course—but so carefully and perfectly it is not a detriment, of Good sheeting, 39c.

500 Yards of Genuine Indigo Dyed Apron Check Ginghams at 6c yd.

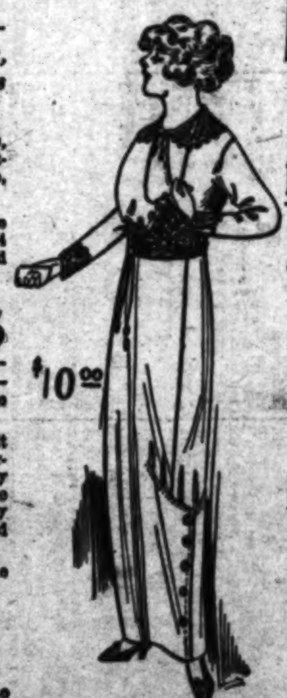
—A quality that is most splendidly worth buying at Bullock's, in the Basement Store, on Monday.

Monday—You May Buy a Silk Dress for $10

—a pretty, up-to-date, stylish model of messaline or charmeuse—not an unheard-of price, but an unheard-of price for the silk dresses Bullock's is going to sell at $10.00, Monday.

—Some of the dresses are daintily finished with collars, cuffs and crushed girdles of Dresden silk and fancy buttons—some are made with the regulation dress sleeve, while others have the kimono sleeve—

—Some of the dresses are made in the Russian blouse style, with draped skirts—all are correct styles—sizes 14 to 40—All are very strong, attractive values that should interest every woman in Bullock's Basement Store.



Then the Suits at $13.75

—suits that are well made, well shaped and hang well—straight cut skirts, correct length coats—other suits have the draped skirts with graceful lines—

—Suits that Bullock's has specialized upon—Suits that it does not seem possible to make to sell for $13.75 considering the material, style and workmanship—Suits that many have thought impossible to buy for $13.75 or anywhere near that price—We shall be glad to have the opportunity of showing them to you, Monday, whether you are in need of a new suit or not—

—We want you to know this Bullock's Suit Section, the values that it holds and their very high character—

—No one should fail to See the Great Coat Display

—Sport Coats and other styles for as little as $8.98 up to beautiful Furry Coats at $22.50—Hundreds, all told.

New Winter Poplins 25c Yd.

—Mercerized so beautifully and woven so perfectly—it will be a surprise if you do not take them for all-silk—Most every color—Values at 25c yard.

Dress Goods Sale at 95c

—Means savings of great importance to women who share the values Monday—

54-inch two-toned diagonals are to be 95c
54-inch natural gray worsted will be 95c
54-inch cravenette suitings will be 95c
54-inch worsted serge will be 95c
54-inch shepherd checks will be 95c

—Some of the most remarkable Dress Goods values the Basement Store has ever put out are planned for one of the biggest sales the Basement Store has ever held—Monday—

27-in. Blanket Flannels 29c

—Now is the time to buy the Bathrobe Flannel you want for that new bathrobe. Generally the prettiest patterns are gone a long time before Christmas. Now, a plentiful variety of colors and good patterns at a very low price, in the Basement Store—at 29c.

Men's Socks 12½c

—Of combed Maco, 4-thread heels and toe—called the "Doublewear" socks because of their wear resisting qualities.

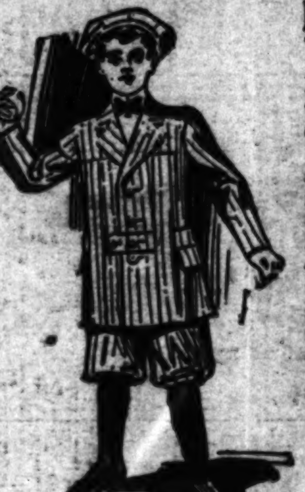
—If you try them once you will want to get them by the box—$1.50 for a box of a dozen pairs.

House Dresses $1.39—Great Values

—House dresses CAN have style to them—

—Even though priced $1.39 these garments possess style points that are noteworthy—

—Made of high grade ginghams, chambrays and percales—some of them finished with scalloped edging, pretty pearl buttons and pocket. Included in the $1.39 line are dresses of warm flannelette in blue-and-white and black-and-white effects. Sizes 34 to 44.



Boys' 2-pants Suits $3.75

—As values they are eye-openers—

Imagine getting stylishly cut, carefully tailored suits of handsome fabrics, with an extra pair of Knickerbockers for $3.75. Double-breasted and Norfolk models in smart gray, tan and brown stripes and mixtures. Coats well lined with Venetian cloth. Peg-top pants, with belt straps. Some suits have two pairs of pants, some only one—but all are truly remarkable values at $3.75. All new, fresh from the maker's tables—correct in cut and uncommonly attractive in materials, price considered.

Blouse Waists* 25c

—Boys' blouses of black sateen, fancy madras and percales—neat, attractive, serviceable garments in a wide range of patterns and sizes—25c.

Boys' Pants* 49c

—Knickerbockers of sturdy and stylish mixtures, doubly stitched throughout—6 to 17-year sizes in a wide choice of patterns. Strong values at 49c.

Ostrich Trimmed Hats Priced $7.48

—Not one of them with an inexpensive plume sewed on—

—In every case the mounting is a GOOD ostrich, cleverly arranged; in many instances a full fibred band with one or two plumes—GOOD plumes, mind you. Many of the hats were made up to sell at $12.50 to $22.50. Choice of the lot on Monday at $7.48.

Ostrich Mountings at* 49c, 69c and 98c

—Fresh, new stock in white, black and the most desirable colors—Fully 25 styles—all new—all worth ever so much more than the prices quoted.

$3.50 Velvet Hat Shapes $1.98

—Seventeen dozen of them—the correct models—high grade erect-pile velvet in lustrous black. That price should find wearers for the entire lot on Monday.

Misses' and Children's Hats* 98c, $1.98, $2.98, $3.98

—Trimmed Hats—Samples—so the variety is great. They were bought at a mere fraction of their worth, so you may look for startling values at each price quoted.

Underwaists 10c

—Children's Underwaists made of sturdy white drilling—and neatly finished with strong buttonholes and buttons—Sizes 2 to 14 years at 10c.

Night Gowns at 49c

—Children's Flannelette Gowns—in pretty pink and blue stripes—Finished with heavy yoke—High and low neck styles—Sizes 4 to 14, at 49c.

Underwear 48c

—Women's fine ribbed cotton vests and pants, fleece lined. Perfect fitting garments in all wanted styles for winter wear. Both regular and outsizes at 48c each.

Stockings at 25c

—Silk lisle, in fast black, made with double soles, high spliced heels and wide elastic garter tops. Slightly imperfect, otherwise they would be priced twice as high. The defects can be quickly righted by your needle. All sizes—25c pair.

Auto Caps at 50c

—Good styles in durable materials, neatly trimmed and well finished. Some in solid colors, some piped in contrasting colors. Extensively used by motorcyclists as well as autoists—50c each.

Boudoir Caps 39c

—Made of embroidery and Swiss with pleated edges and lace and ribbon trimming — very exceptional values at 39c.

Table Padding at 39c

—It is a good heavy padding, 54 ins. wide—worth a great deal more than the price quoted, so it will be wise for you to anticipate future needs.

Drawn Work 98c

—17x50 and 17x69-inch scarfs and 36-inch center pieces, decisively underpriced at 98c. Some hemstitched, others lace trimmed, some with Battenberg edges—a splendid assortment of pieces suitable for Christmas gifts.

Ribbons 19c Yard

—All-silk ribbons for fancy work and for hair bows—the widths and colors now most in demand—19c a yard.

—Bows Tied Free—Hair bows, neckwear bows, any kind of a ribbon bow, tied by a ribbon expert, without charge.

Children's Dresses 49c

—Pretty, yet practical dresses of good quality chambray, gingham and percale in checks, stripes and plain colors—Made with pleated skirts, high or low necks, long or short sleeves, neatly finished with contrasting color bands. A big assortment of dresses to select from—for children from 2 to 14 years of age.

Cotton Blankets $1.25

—66x80-inch blankets that are very warm, good heavy fleece, gray, white or tan blankets, $1.25—note the extra size.

Perrin Glove Bonds, Ideal Gifts

—that answer every problem—"Don't merely give gloves, give Perrin Glove Bonds"—

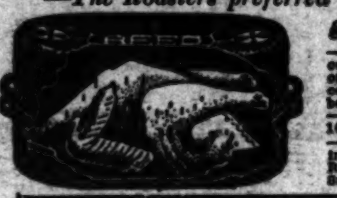
—Redeemable at Bullock's in Perrin Gloves, the best of all Gloves—

—16-button Perrin Kid Gloves at $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00.

—2-clasp Perrin Gloves of French Kid, $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50.

New Reed Roasters Are Here

—The Roasters preferred by so many experienced Thanksgiving Dinner makers—



—Enameled steel, self basting, sanitary. They cook meat, game and poultry without wasting any of the natural juices. Claimed to save 20 per cent of any roast and to make tough meat tender; bake bread beautifully—as easily cleaned as china.

—Flintstone Gray Reed Roasters, 11-in., $1.75; 14-in., $2.25; 17-in., $2.50; 18-in., $3.00.

—Turquoise Blue Reed Roaster, 11-in., $2.00; 14-in., $2.45; 17-in., $2.95; 18-in., $3.45. Buy Reed Roasters at Bullock's in the Thanksgiving Supply Store—5th floor, Monday.

PROF. C. IRVIN ALTHOUSE,

NOTED ASTROLOGER AND PALMIST OF NATIONAL FAME AND REPUTATION.

STUDIO PARLORS, 539½ S. BROADWAY.
A RESIDENT OF LOS ANGELES 30 YEARS.

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an experienced practitioner in the science of modern ASTROLOGY, by which he has made many REMARKABLE PREDICTIONS. The horoscope shows the powerful influence of the planets in ALL AFFAIRS OF LIFE. It shows disease, deaths, love and marriage, financial affairs, investments, changes, talents, environments, about children, relatives; when and where to travel, what to seek or avoid; when in danger of losses, troubles, etc., etc.; also your good periods coming—GIVING DATES of these events for the FUTURE.

PROF. ALTHOUSE read E. H. Sothern, Nat Goodwin, Schumann-Heink, Gadski, Admiral Schley, David Starr Jordan, ex-Gov. Pardee, ex-Senator Clark, Senator Smoot, Baron Rothschild, Gen. Chaffee, Edison, Sousa, Modjeska, Sembrich, Julia Marlowe, Anna Held, Jefferson, Capt. Hobson, Lillian Russell, Calve, Admiral Evans, H. E. Huntington, De Wolf Hopper, Maxine Elliott, Ethel Barrymore, etc.

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S SKILLED work must not be classed with other readers. Do not waste money on the idiotic advice of HUMBUG astrologers, palmists, psychists—those doing dishonest work.

PROF. ALTHOUSE also gives expert PALM READINGS with each astrological reading.

DR. J. A. LARSON writes: "I want to say that your reading was the most satisfactory I have ever had in my life. I know a great deal about these sciences, and I consider your work as the most THOROUGH and RELIABLE of any reader in the United States." Readings given by mail, also.

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S wonderful proficiency in the casting of HOROSCOPES and in HAND reading has brought him a LARGE and SUCCESSFUL PRACTICE. The most private confidences are reposed in him, and his advice is sought in the most difficult and critical circumstances. Personal attention given. STRICT PRIVACY. HIGHEST GRADE OF WORK that skill and many years of experience can produce. HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE solicited.

Daily and evenings; Sunday, 10 to 2.
STUDIO PARLORS, 539½ S. BROADWAY.

HENLEY.
HENLEY.
LOS ANGELES' NOTED SUCCESSFUL PSYCHIC.

HIS ADVICE HELPED MAKE LOS ANGELES WHAT IT IS TODAY.

THE OLDEST PSYCHIC IN THE CITY.

317 WEST THIRD, NEAR HILL.

Before you go into anything of importance or undertake anything serious—in business, or love, or marriage, or before you make any change—you should consult the master mind of psychics.

He is a typical American cousin living in Angelic City, whose unassuming, good-natured disposition is strongly suggestive of the Higher Adept. Cut this out now. It is true. Thousands have said the same thing.

LARGE PATRONAGE.
A satisfied patron is the best advertisement.

MRS. MASSON,
the noted palmist of London, England, may be consulted at 322 S. SPRING ST. by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND READINGS FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.

The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigations along psychological lines that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT information.

PALMISTRY, HONESTLY PRACTICED WILL NOT tell you your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.

Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health and domestic life, financial conditions and ways and means of climbing out of a rut of ill luck into wide paths of success and prosperity, can all be told you through scientific palmistry WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.

MRS. MASSON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.

HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

RHOADES & RHOADES, AUCTIONEERS.

FOR SALE—WE WISH TO CALL YOUR ATTENTION TO THE FACT THAT FOR THE LAST 2 MONTHS WE HAVE BEEN OFFERING EACH AND EVERY WEEK A SPECIAL BARGAIN IN A PAIR OF MULES IN ORDER TO FURTHER ADVERTISE OUR BUSINESS. THE LAST PAIR WE SOLD THE PURCHASER WAS OFFERED $50 PROFIT ON WITHIN A FEW DAYS.

This week's bargain is the best one yet. We have a pair of well-matched mules, big enough and good enough to do any kind of work, because they are sound, have good bone, good life, and a tough color and are extra good walkers. Think of it, $250 buys them. First one that comes gets them. If they are not sound and all right they won't cost you anything. In fact, a 2 weeks' trial given.

IF FOR ANY REASON ABOVE PAIR SHOULD NOT JUST HAPPEN TO BE WHAT YOU WANT WHEN YOU SEE THEM, WE HAVE SOME OTHERS THAT ARE YOUNG AND SOUND, MATCHED PAIRS AND ODD ONES, SO IF IT IS MULES YOU WANT WE CAN SURELY SATISFY YOU WITH ONE PAIR OR ONE CARLOAD, AS AMONG THE 30 HEAD WE HAVE THERE ARE ALL KINDS, FROM A 1600-LB. PAIR TO A 1400-LB. TEAM. WE HAVE MULES THAT HERETOFORE WE COULD HAVE SOLD FOR FROM $550 TO $650 A PAIR. NOW AS WE ARE ANXIOUS TO SELL ALL WE ASK FOR SOME OF OUR BEST MULES IS $500 A TEAM AND AS LOW AS $200 FOR A TEAM OF GOOD, SERVICABLE, WELL-MATCHED PAIR OF MULES. DON'T FORGET OUR NUMBER, THE CENTRAL AVE. CAR WILL BRING YOU DIRECT TO THE DOOR. IF YOU ARE IN THE MARKET FOR A PAIR OF MULES, COME IN AND WE WILL SHOW YOU OURS AND TALK IT OVER.
SEE DOYLE OR ROBERTSON,
AT 2200 CENTRAL AVE., OR TEL. SOUTH 3006.

SCHOOLS AND CITIZENSHIP.

President of Chico State Normal Will Deliver an Address at South Pasadena—Short News Stories.

SOUTH PASADENA, Nov. 15.—On Monday evening at 8 o'clock, Allison Ware, president of the Chico State Normal, will address teachers and parents at the High School on the subject, "Schools and Citizenship." This forms a part of the County Teachers' Institute work, but the subject is one that will interest every one. County Superintendent Mark Keppel was fortunate in securing the services of President Ware for this meeting, as he has the reputation of being one of the most forceful speakers before the public.

NEW APARTMENT-HOUSE.

In keeping with his pre-election promise, Jonathan S. Dodge has broken ground for the erection of a large apartment-house. It is stated that there will be three buildings, forming a court, the architecture to be of Mission style. Before the recent bond election Dodge stated that if all the bonds carried he would erect a large apartment-house.

GRAND BAZAR.

Plans are being rapidly perfected for the grand bazaar, which is to be given November 28 and 29, under the auspices of the Woman's Improvement Association. Mrs. Leo Longley is in charge of the general arrangements, and she is being assisted by a number of division chairmen, who are preparing the individual booths. The bazar will be open to the public on the afternoon and evening of the two days and there will be some entertainment going all the time. The entire clubhouse will be used, and the decorations will be elaborate. The ladies are striving to raise $1000 towards the clubhouse debt. Many of the women attending the booths will be in fancy costume and the affair promises to be the largest ever held in South Pasadena. A home-cooked cafeteria dinner will be served from 5 to 7:30 p.m., on November 29, the second night of the bazar, and light refreshments will be served at all times during the two days. Mrs. R. G. Hillman is chairman of the domestic science division, and she and her committee, consisting of Mrs. Charles Manwaring, Mrs. S. M. McKinney, Mrs. R. H. Gilman, Mrs. Charles Gates, Mrs. Charles Cramer, Mrs. N. Harter, Mrs. H. Kiesling, Mrs. Walton Wood, Miss Bertha Evans and Mrs. G. E. Grier, will have charge of the dinner, the cooked food sale and the serving of refreshments. Mrs. John W. Monahan has charge of the doll and toy booth and she is being assisted by a number of younger women of the city, who are also helping Mrs. B. F. Huntington, chairman of the candy booth. These promise to be two of the most popular sections and those assisting are Mrs. Harry Lord, Mrs. G. Maurice Crow, Mrs. C. W. Fisher, Mrs. N. Messer, Mrs. George Tapper, Mrs. Franklin J. Padan, Mrs. David A. Vail, Mrs. George W. McDonald, Mrs. R. W. Bowling, Mrs. Harvey Smith, Mrs. Wiley E. Tussing, Mrs. Charles M. Kite, Miss Gladys Taylor, Miss Amy Davenport, Miss Mary Foster and Miss Dorothy Foster.

The arts and craft section will be under the leadership of Mrs. Franz Bischoff and the art teachers of the school will aid her, as well as Mrs. George Minier, Mrs. G. W. Penfield, Mrs. H. D. Lanfair, Mrs. Lawrence Stevens and Mrs. Frank A. Stephens. The aprons, bags and bonnets booth will be in charge of Mrs. W. F. Axtman and Mrs. Estella Johnson, and assistants will be Mrs. John W. Shenk, Jr., Mrs. C. W. Clements, Mrs. Sarah Longley, Mrs. Esther Carpenter, Mrs Minnie Ferry, Mrs. E. Mather and Miss Eva Kerr. The "white elephant" booth, which will be particularly interesting, will be in charge of Mrs. George Alfred Miller, who requests every one that has a "white elephant" around the house to give in to her, and she will sell it for what it brings. Mrs. J. H. Copelin and the members of the House Committee are preparing the fancy work booth.

PREACHER HAS FIGHT ON HANDS.

ANAHEIM MEN CHARGED WITH FALSE REGISTRATION.

Pastor of First Methodist Church at Anaheim Is Charged With Illegal Voting—Services Will Be Held To-day to Celebrate Laying of Corner-Stone of Church.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 15.—This afternoon a warrant was issued for the arrest of Rev. Charles Henderson Munro Sutherland, pastor of the Methodist Church of Anaheim, on a charge of fraudulent registering. It is charged that during the "wet" and "dry" campaign at Anaheim, although not then a citizen of the United States, he signed an affidavit of registration. His wife also registered on the same day, September 11. On looking over the great register the "wets" discovered that Rev. Sutherland was registered, and soon afterward Rev. Sutherland and his wife had the county clerk cancel their registrations.

On July 7 last Rev. Sutherland with Rev. E. J. Inwood of Santa Ana and Rev. F. D. Ashleigh of Garden Grove, both Methodist ministers, had a hearing before Judge West on his application for final papers of naturalization. The order was granted. Four days later Naturalization Examiner Frederick Jones of Los Angeles discovered that the minister had never filed a certificate of arrival in this country from Canada, which is required before naturalization can be legally secured, and immediately Judge West revoked the order, and Rev. Sutherland was notified by County Clerk Williams that his naturalization order had been cancelled. This was in July, and it was in September that Rev. Sutherland is alleged to have registered fraudulently. Fraudulent registration is a felony.

Rev. Sutherland is the first "dry" arrested on that charge. Four "wets" arrested before November 6, on which day Anaheim voted to stay "wet," will have their preliminary examinations in December.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock services will be held in connection with the laying of the corner-stone of the First Baptist Church, a structure which when completed will represent an investment of $50,000. Rev. Otto S. Russell, the pastor, will have charge of the ceremonies, and the address will be delivered by Rev. George D. Knights of Long Beach. In the corner-stone will be placed a Bible, a list of the members of the church, a church history, church bulletins and copies of newspapers.

On Monday Judge West will pass upon the application of fifteen persons desiring final papers of naturalization.

Marriage licenses: Fred Poole, 18, of Orange, and Eva J. Burdick, 18, of Santa Ana; Raymond L. Carey, 26, and Helen E. Criseman, 18, both of Santa Ana; Samuel L. Berryhill, 44, and Agnes M. Breen, 36, both of Los Angeles; Charles Erickson, 50, of Los Angeles, and Ida May Salisbury, 45, of Chicago; Edmund J. O'Brien, 24, and Lillian M. Dortch, 27, both of Pasadena.

Looked Like a Husband.

[Chicago Record-Herald:] "So," said the judge, when the blear-eyed, unkempt, and battered prisoner stood up, "you are a husband and father. You ought to be ashamed of yourself. Do you know that whenever you buy a drink of whisky you take bread out of the mouths of your babies? I have no patience with persons like you. If it were not for those who are dependent upon you, I would give you the limit. There sits your wife. Look at her! I suppose she has had to take in washing to earn the pittance by which the souls and bodies of those you ought to be supporting are held together. You ought to be flogged. Any other kind of punishment is too good for you. But for the sake of your little ones, I am going to——"

"Say, judge, your honor," the culprit interrupted, "I hate to break in on you, but I'm no husband and father, and that lady you pointed at ain't my wife. But I don't blame you for makin' the mistake. I was in a freight wreck last night, and I s'pose I look like a husband and father, all right."

Question of Convenience.

[London Answers:] "Ah," said the vicar affably, as he laid a hand on the shoulder of the village man-of-all-work, "you're the very chap I've been wanting to meet. The fact is, I've just bought some new wall paper for my study. When can you come and put it up?"

The man-of-all-work scratched his head thoughtfully.

"Well, sir," he remarked, "I'm mighty busy just now. Let me see"—the scratching process was repeated—"I 'ung old Mrs. Stuggins on Saturday; I'm 'anging your church warden today; but I think I could drop around and 'ang your reverence one day toward the end of the week, if that'd be convenient."

LABOR CLAIMS GET PREFERENCE

Given Right of Way Over Bonded Indebtedness.

Population of Bisbee Shows a Steady Increase.

Mexicans Put Heavy Tax on All Cattle Exported.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BISBEE (Ariz.) Nov. 14.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals has just rendered a verdict of the largest importance to this county in its affirmation of a decision of the local courts that unsecured claims and labor liens shall have preference over the bonded indebtedness of the Tombstone Consolidated Mines Company, which before failure had acquired ownership of about all the once-famous mines at Tombstone. The bonded indebtedness is $3,000,000. The unsecured and labor claims approximate $2,000,000. Though the property has immensely valuable surface equipment, it is evident that one or the other of the two sets of claims could hardly be satisfied. The property now will be legally sold under foreclosure. It is expected that its financial and legal entanglements will be cleared away and that it will again become a producer of wealth, to be added to its history of $40,000,000 production in the past. For several years the property has been under the management of A. L. Grow, trustee in bankruptcy, who has more than maintained it and paid all current costs by a system of leasing. The lower levels of the mines are wholly under water, the water problem being the most important and most expensive one to be dealt with, though the pumping system is capable of lifting 8,000,000 gallons a day from the depth of 1000 feet.

BISBEE'S BIG INCREASE.

Publishers of a new directory affirm that Bisbee and its environs, including Warren and Lowell, has a total population of 20,000. The directory has 9000 names. The three most important mining companies employ 5410 men. The task of compiling the directory has been an extremely hard one, largely due to the fact that much of the population of the city is to be found on mere trails roughly laid out on steep hillsides.

A petition has been filed in the Superior Court for the appointment of a receiver for the Arizona Bank and Trust Company of Douglas, following an examination of the affairs of the bank by State Auditor J. C. Callahan. The deposits aggregate about $110,000 and the loans $120,000, the total assets being valued at about $130,000. The closing of the bank by order of the State Auditor followed an examination made at the request of the president, Judge F. M. Doan, formerly associate justice of the Supreme Court of Arizona. There seems little doubt that the depositors will be returned their money, though with little or no margin for the stockholders.

MEXICAN IS JAILED.

Henry Etienne, a Mexican, formerly employed as conductor on the Warren-Bisbee Electric Railway, is in jail in Tombstone awaiting trial for murderous assault upon Ralph Salholm, night dispatcher of the railroad. While Salholm turned to put $180 in cash into the office safe at Warren he was struck from behind with a club by Etienne, who thereafter stabbed him seven times, one cut in the jaw seemingly having been delivered with the intention of cutting the dispatcher's throat. Salholm was found about an hour later by a conductor, who was reporting at the depot, and was taken to the hospital in a very precarious condition. Etienne was arrested while waiting at the railroad depot in Bisbee. There was much local excitement and indignation over the deed and for a while the local officers believed there was danger of lynching.

George Geary, a miner, was found dead yesterday, sitting in an abandoned tunnel near Lowell. By the side of the body was a small-calibered rifle, with which it appears evident that suicide was accomplished. He was suffering from an ailment that he believed incurable.

Two new arrivals from Mexico, recorded under palpable fictitious names, have been arrested at the very start of what seems to have been a campaign for the passing of bogus checks. In their pockets in addition to pistols, a flashlight and other criminal paraphernalia, were found a number of checks for various amounts apparently drawn by local residents who knew nothing of them.

MUCH SOAP FOR SONORA.

During the past month the exportation of soap to Sonora amounted to 1,136,365 pounds, compared with 400,000 pounds in September and entirely immaterial shipments during the months previous. The customs officials on the border found grave cause for suspicion in this tremendous movement toward cleanliness south of the border and hence investigated a number of the shipments with the expectation of finding ammunition. But the boxes really did contain soap. It happened that for a time the Constitutionalists have overlooked placing duty on soap and hence the stimulation of trade.

Work has been commenced by Dr. G. W. Rosenberger, representing the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, upon the building of a fence twenty-two miles in length along the Mexican line, east of Douglas. The fence is of wire with iron posts set in cement. It is being erected to aid in the enforcement of customs and quarantine laws. A similar fence built by Cochise county stockmen several years ago, for the purpose of fencing out possible infection of their herds by Sonora cattle, had to be taken down on order of the United States government.

A tax of $5 in gold is now being exacted at the border by the Constitutionalist government of Sonora on all cattle exported from the State, thus providing a large part of the sinews of war needed for the fight against the Huerta government.

FACT AND COMMENT.

The nine members of the Annexation Commission appointed by Mayor Rose to study the aqueduct situation in its relation to the contemplated future development of the territory immediately around Los Angeles, embodied their findings and recommendations in a concise and illuminating report that was formally approved by the Council on Thursday. As a document for the city's guidance in the important responsibility of laying out a feasible and economical plan for the most advantageous utilization of the surplus Owens River water, this report is of the utmost value. The commission's suggestions are the result of a thorough investigation into the various problems incidental to the proposed consolidation of the various cities and unorganized districts to be supplied with water. As the result of their adoption, the different places knocking for admission to the corporate fold of Los Angeles have been given a definite idea as to the exact conditions upon which they will be permitted to share the benefits to be derived from the aqueduct.

The policy that annexation or consolidation should be a condition precedent to the furnishing of water to outside territory was adopted long ago. The Mayor's commission has attempted to devise a workable plan to meet the general problems presented by this policy. This plan, as outlined in the report, opens up a vista of splendid possibilities for the greater city in the years to come, when Los Angeles shall have realized to the fullest measure the value of its magnificent $100,000,000 asset. The very boldness of the conception is calculated to fill the citizens of Los Angeles with a conscious and pardonable pride.

The Conditions.

The conditions of annexation and terms of sharing the Owens River water with the people who built and paid for the aqueduct are not, in the opinion of the Fact and Comment man, exacting. The commission recommended that the annexed territory be required to share the bond burden involved in the harbor and aqueduct issues and this is fair enough, for surely no town or district benefiting directly by these great municipal projects could in reason object to helping pay for them.

The commissioners recommend also that 50 per cent. of the taxes paid by the strictly agricultural sections coming in under the amalgamation shall be set aside for roads and other public improvements in such districts. To balance this arrangement, it is suggested that the city shall not be asked to furnish to the agricultural districts such features of city life as parks, playgrounds and garbage collection and that only a limited provision shall be made for fire and police protection. The city, it is suggested, should be ready to extend the benefits of the outfall sewer to such annexed territory as may desire it. Similar provision is made for any public utility under municipal ownership.

The commission's recommendation that the annexed territories shall pay for their own local distributing systems for the aqueduct water is fair to all concerned. The very fact that a district has been annexed implies a sufficiency of water supply and makes it possible for that district to finance its own distributing system. The city has troubles of its own right now with respect to the extension of its water mains. The outside districts, however, will not be expected to pay for the main conduits carrying the aqueduct water to the local centers of distribution.

The commissioners have also provided for a sort of "home rule" arrangement by which local boards of trustees in the various annexed districts shall assume the authority to pass upon questions relating to streets and other improvements within their domains, and, wisely enough, it has been decided also that these local bodies shall operate under the direction of the Board of Public Works of the city of Los Angeles.

The Inducements.

The Annexation Commission argues that its annexation platform, when carried out, will make Los Angeles at one stroke the metropolis of the Pacific Coast. One of its members in discussing the plan a few days ago, enthusiastically declared that the annexation programme would absolutely insure this city's having a population of 750,000 by 1915. "In the 150,000 acres to be taken in under our plan," he said, "is a present population of at least 100,000. The city in its present form contains approximately 525,000 souls. Add the 100,000 to be annexed and you have fourteen months in which to get the extra 125,000. The natural increase of population will be more than doubled by the opening of the Panama Canal."

The annexation plan, the commission points out, will get the aqueduct water into use on a revenue-producing basis in the shortest possible time and at the least cost. It will result in an immediate reduction of the tax burden, incident to carrying the Owens River project as a dead financial load. Annexation, it is urged, will eliminate all legal uncertainties as to the possession of title to the aqueduct water.

STILL WELL AHEAD.

The building totals for the year to date in this city are still well ahead of those for 1912, in spite of the falling off in recent months. From January 1 to November 13, inclusively, this year, there have been issued 14,890 permits for new structures to cost in the aggregate $29,024,164. The figures for the corresponding period of 1912 were 14,428 permits and $27,483,386. Thus far in November, 656 permits have been issued for buildings to cost $739,352, as compared with 745 permits and a valuation of $983,794 for the first thirteen days of November, 1912.

IN NEW OFFICES.

Robert Marsh & Co. in Sumptuous Quarters, Occupying Entire Floor of Marsh-Strong Building.

Robert Marsh & Co. yesterday moved into their handsome new offices in the Marsh-Strong building at Ninth, Spring and Main streets, and tomorrow will resume business in these attractive quarters. Occupying 12,768 square feet of floor space, the Marsh company has leased the entire second floor of the new skyscraper. Like the remainder of the building, the Marsh offices are finished in mahogany and marble. The entire suite is to be sumptuously furnished.

The main part of the Marsh company's quarters is used by the leasing, land and exchange, industrial, house and lot, bungalow, business site, loan, book-keeping and advertising departments, while the adjoining south wing will house the subdivision department. Spacious private offices have been provided for Robert Marsh, C. H. Cooper, sales manager, and C. E. Jordan, manager of the subdivision department. A private branch exchange connecting all departments and giving the service of both telephone companies has been installed.

PERMITS FOR LOFTS.

Five-Story Concrete Building to Be Erected at Omar and Boyd, Four-Story Structure on Grand.

Permits were issued during the past week for two loft buildings to be erected in different localities in this city. The larger of the structures will be built by J. M. Browne at the corner of Omar and Boyd streets and will be five stories in height. The building, which was planned by Frank L. Stiff, will be of reinforced concrete construction and will cost approximately $40,000.

The other building will be built by Carl Seligman at No. 633 South Grand avenue and will be four stories high. The structure was planned and will be constructed by the Milwaukee Building Company. It will be of brick and will cost about $30,000. The first story will be given over to stores. The site is 60x131 feet in dimensions.

HOSPITAL PLANS READY FOR BIDS.

FRENCH PEOPLE WILL BUILD FINE INSTITUTION.

Structure to Occupy Large Site at College and Castelar—Will Be of Fireproof Construction—Appointments to Be Thoroughly Modern Throughout.

One of the most important improvements recently projected in the north end of the city is the splendid fireproof hospital to be erected by the French Mutual Benefit Society at the northwest corner of College and Castelar streets and the plans for which are now being completed by the architectural firm of Garrett & Farrell. The institution, which is being built for the services of the people of French birth and descent in Los Angeles, will take the place of the old French hospital on the same site, a structure erected in 1868 and which is closely identified with the early history of the city.

The old hospital, which is partly of brick and partly of frame construction, will not be destroyed, the wooden portion being detached and remodeled for use as a nurses' home and the brick section being arranged for a laundry and store room. The society's property has a frontage of 350 feet on College street by 280 feet on Castelar and it is the plan to set the new building fifty feet back from the sidewalk line and to put the entire site in lawn and formal gardens, giving the place an ideal setting.

The new hospital will be a three-story and basement building, 118 feet long and forty-two feet deep. The structure will suggest in its design both French and Italian architecural types and will be of reinforced concrete construction with brick "filler" walls. It will be faced with brick and trimmed with terra cotta. More than $50,000 will be invested in the enterprise. The building will be started early in the coming year.

The first floor of the hospital will contain the offices of the superintendent and directors, reception-rooms, an examination room, a pharmacy, a room for X-ray treatment, an autopsy room and morgue and rooms for various mechanical appliances used in hospital work. On the second and third floors there will be thirty private rooms for patients, together with two four-room wards. On the third floor will be an obstetrical room, rooms for major and minor surgery and a surgeons' preparation room.

The building will be thoroughly modern in point of equipment and appliances and will have mechanical heating, ventilating and refrigeration systems. The strictest provisions known to hospital science will be made for sanitation.

The new hospital building has been under contemplation for several years, but has never until this year taken definite shape. The officers of the society which is back of the enterprise are Louis Sentous, president, and J. Mirasson, secretary. Miss A. C. Maley is the superintendent in charge of the hospital work.

SELLS TO NEW YORKER.

Figueroa Street Lot Purchased by Eastern Woman as Site for Garage. Cash Consideration Paid.

The sale for W. R. Dickerson to Mrs. Emily H. Campbell of New York of 50x150 feet on the west side of Figueroa street, 200 feet north of Pico, is reported by W. B. Merwin & Co. The consideration in the deal is given at $40,500 cash.

The site is at present improved only with a frame store building. It is the intention of the new owner to remove this structure and to erect a two-story brick garage. The purchase was made for investment purposes.

TENANT SECURED.

An attractive sixty-five-room brick apartment-house now being built by V. Y. Robertson at No. 1420 South Bonnie Brae street has been leased to Mrs. M. G. Starling for a term of ten years and at a given total rental consideration of $60,000. The deal was handled through the agency of E. K. Albrecht. Mrs. Sterling, it is announced, will expend $10,000 in furnishings for the property. The building, which will soon be ready for occupancy, is being erected by the C. F. Borton Company.

FOR TEN YEARS.

New Sixty-Room Apartment-House for West Eleventh Street Leased to Wife of Well-Known Hotel Man.

Whilton, Hahn & Bishop report having leased an apartment-house just completed at No. 2323 West Eleventh street to Mrs. Ethel Watts of Los Angeles. The building contains sixty rooms, divided into two and three-room apartments, each with private bath and dressing-room. It is three stories high and of brick construction.

The place will be known as the Ethelton apartments and is being elaborately furnished. Mrs. Watts is the wife of O. S. Watts, who recently resigned as assistant manager of The Westonia apartments. The lease on the Ethelton is for ten years and calls for a total rental of approximately $55,000. J. P. Partch is the lessor.

TOKEN OF ESTEEM.

William Mulholland Given Beautiful Testimonial on Parchment by Engineers and Architects.

One of the interesting features of the programme marking the formal opening of the aqueduct on November 5, was the presentation to William Mulholland, the great engineer who so brilliantly brought that titanic undertaking to a successful consummation, of a beautifully executed testimonial on parchment, from the Engineers' and Architects' Association of Southern California.

The testimonial was prepared for the association by W. T. Sharp, a prominent local artist, and was drawn and illuminated entirely by hand. Sharp chose for his background a sketch of the famous aqueduct built by the Romans at Segovia, Spain, between 50 and 100 A. D., and the well-preserved ruins of which are still the wonder of the traveler. In the arches of the structure are set the seals of Spain, California, Los Angeles and the United States.

The inscription is in India ink and reads as follows:

"To William Mulholland, chief engineer of the Aqueduct Commission of the city of Los Angeles.

"Sirs: The Engineers' and Architects' Association of Southern California greets you, its honored president, on the occasion of the formal celebration of the completion of that stupendous work, the aqueduct, which will stand for the lasting glory of your city; the continual benefit of its citizens and for the renown throughout the world of American engineers. We congratulate you, your chief assistant, Joseph Lippincott, past president of this society; Past President Fred Eaton, and your able corps of engineers on your magnificent achievement, and we bespeak for you the well-deserved esteem and lasting appreciation of your fellow-citizens.

"Done in the city of Los Angeles this fifth day of November, Anno Domini, MCMXIII, and of this association, XIX.

LEADS IN PERMITS.

More Licenses to Build Granted in Los Angeles During October Than in Any Other City.

Los Angeles led every other city in the United States in the number of building permits issued during the month of October and stood at sixth place in valuation. The local permit total was 1460, as compared with 1309 permits for New York, 1294 for Philadelphia, 1034 for Cleveland, 1020 for Chicago and 809 for Detroit.

Ninety-seven principal cities showed a loss of 15 per cent. in building operations during October in comparison with the corresponding period of last year, according to Construction News. Official reports from this publication reveal that the October permits in these ninety-seven cities totaled 21,517, representing new structures to cost in the aggregate $56,082,966. In October, 1912, 22,887 permits, involving a construction outlay of $66,242,248, were granted in the same cities. This is a decrease of 1370 buildings and $10,160,282 in valuation.

The Construction News figures for October activities in ten leading cities follow:

	Permits.	Cost.
Los Angeles ...	1460	$1,701,550
New York	1309	5,902,577
Philadelphia ...	1294	2,716,850

ANNOUNCEMENT

Robert Marsh & Company announce their removal from the Trust and Savings Building to their magnificent new home in the Marsh-Strong Building at Ninth, Spring and Main Streets, near Broadway.

The entire second floor is occupied by our Company, which, because of greatly increased floor space and the acquisition of every known modern office device and convenience, we believe constitutes the most elaborate and largest exclusive real estate offices in the West.

The public is most cordially invited to visit and inspect our new business home on and after Monday, November 17—tomorrow.

Come!

OUR idea of a home is one both PRACTICAL and ARTISTIC. By careful thought we manage to build certain INDIVIDUALITY into each home.

It quite frequently happens that the PROSPECTIVE BUILDER'S IDEAS and PURSE do not correspond. In such cases our PRACTICAL knowledge comes to the rescue, and often where others have hopelessly FAILED, WE SUCCEED.

We build homes from the modern five-room cottage, at [illegible], to the most elaborate dwelling. It rests with the INDIVIDUAL, entirely, what his home will cost. By concentrating our PURCHASING POWER, combined with our PRACTICAL knowledge, and being in a position to DISCOUNT our BILLS, we can, for a given quality of work, discount our competitors' prices.

We build either by contracts on a fixed fee of [illegible] per cent. of estimated cost of work, or on our own lots in Los Angeles, Redondo and San Pedro, on easy terms.

We make no additional charge for our Architectural services if we build, or if we fail to satisfy you both as to price and design.

Our REFERENCES are PEOPLE for whom we HAVE BUILT, who FREELY indorse us.

We make liberal building loans.

SPECIALS.

PRETTIEST LITTLE SUBDIVISION IN LOS ANGELES

Manzanita Tract

Rarely is good taste, good architecture, good material and good construction combined in the moderate-priced bungalow.

You will not realize the possibilities of this combination until you have seen the beautiful little homes on this tract.

It is not the ordinary home-building subdivision, but a beautiful little park on rolling ground out Hollywood way.

Take any car out of Hill-street Station, 12 minutes' ride to De Fren street, toward Hollywood; 5-cent fare; car every three minutes—the big red kind.

Mr. Dudley is custodian—lives there. Mr. Packard, if telephoned at this office, will call for you with automobile at any time.

You are under no obligation. We want you to tell your friends about these bungalows.

Easy terms if you want to buy. Pay like you would rent. You save the landlord's profit.

SUPERB WILSHIRE RESIDENCE.
PRICE $17,500; EAST FRONT.
LOT 60x150.

Too much cannot be said in praise of this house. It is well built from the foundation up, on artistic, broad lines effects. It will attract you the minute you step on the wide cement porch. The entire house is built of white plaster. This residence has beautifully laid out grounds, with shrubs and flowers; ornamental trees and plants on the cement porch that runs across entire house. Garage in rear for two machines. The house has hardwood floors throughout, downstairs rooms finished in hardwoods with most exquisite hand finish. In the reception hall is Peruvian mahogany paneled as high as the doors, and beamed ceilings. In the living-room is Tobasco mahogany, with heavy silk wall decorations above that cost $7.50 a yard; ceilings are beamed and the mahogany and Grueby tile mantel are in exquisite taste. In the dining-room is beautifully grained oak paneled to the plate rail; entire front of room is windows, giving a beautiful outlook, the built-in buffet with plate glass mirror and leaded doors is very handsome; a wonderful room in which to entertain. The breakfast room is exquisitely dainty, paneled in white to a high plate rail; the casement windows give much air and sunshine; the buffet, white enameled kitchen has the linoleum on the floor, and roomy woodstone sink; the large screen porch has two laundry tubs; there is a large basement with furnace and automatic water heater, servant's room with bath off kitchen. Upstairs the house is just as complete as it is downstairs, bedrooms are very large and the rooms are lined with windows; very dainty wall decorations in exquisite taste; such roomy closets with drawers and a place for everything; such beautiful dressing-rooms off the bedrooms, with dainty dressing tables and the long mirror in the door, and the many handy drawers. But you should see the two beautiful baths, pure white, tile floors, the most expensive, elegant plumbing, and two mirrors, one very large one behind the tub. The white enamel and tile mantels are something entirely new in bedrooms, and most effective. Four very large bedrooms in all; a large solarium with windows two sides, or may be used as a bedroom, and a large sleeping porch. These with large upstairs hall make the house complete. Call us up for this and other bargains in the Wilshire district.

FOR SALE—

IS THIS THE HOUSE YOU WANT?

My building a larger place has put on the market the house I built for myself in 1909 at No. 1711 Camden avenue, South Pasadena.

My house was built with much care by day labor and was carefully superintended, as it was intended for my own use.

The lot is 57x125 feet, well graded and sodded; orange trees, shrubs, etc.; back yard has some [illegible] and shrubs and is arranged for small garden. Street graded, curbs and walks of concrete.

House has fine front porch with cement floor; also large back porch with concrete floor, overlooking garden.

First floor has sitting-room extending through the house, with open fireplace and built-in bookcases; dining-room panelled and white enameled with built-in features; kitchen with woodstone sink and two bedrooms with large closets, bathroom and screen porch with two sets trays. Oak floors except in kitchen.

Second floor has bedroom, bathroom, large sewing-room with splendid view of the mountains, linen closets, drawers, etc.

Good fixtures throughout for gas and electricity. Gas furnace, instantaneous hot water heater, cellar has cement floor.

The house has just been gone over from cellar to garret and made like new.

The property is well worth $6000. Will sell for $1000 cash, $3000 can remain on mortgage, and balance payable $28.33 per month, including interest. See me or talk with your real estate man.

FOR SALE—BUY DIRECT FROM BUILDERS.

We can suit you in a home in any of our great southwest tracts.

We built these homes ourselves, and guarantee them absolutely.

Will accept as low as $50 down, balance $20 monthly, including interest, in our Southland tract, 22 minutes' ride on yellow car line.

On others we accept from $75 to $150 down.

We will sell you your choice of six new up-to-date model bungalows. Hardwood floors, electric cookers, automatic water heaters, pier mirrors, thirty-foot lawns. Finest construction possible, on completely built-up bungalow street in southwest, for only $150 down, balance $35 monthly, including interest.

These homes would cost you $5000 each if bought the ordinary way. We can sell them at $4000 on easy terms because of our tremendous buying power and building organization.

These will go quickly, so don't delay.

FOR SALE—$72,500. I HAVE THE EXCLUSIVE sale of 50x240 feet on Hill street, two frontages, one on Hill and one on Olive of 50 feet each. This is less than $1000 a front foot for the Hill street, and less than $500 for the Olive street frontage. If improved, it will pay 15 per cent. on every dollar invested. It will double in value in five years; and in ten years it will be in the heart of the business district. This will not last. It is the best downtown buy in the city; $22,500 cash will handle it. Who will be the lucky purchaser?

FOR SALE—

A FINE SIGHT FOR PLEASURE RESORT OR SANATORIUM.

In the famous health-giving valley of Lake Elsinore, where the valley and mountains produce wild game of all varieties, fishing and water fowls in abundance on Lake Elsinore, located only eighty miles from Los Angeles, on the Santa Fe Railroad and midway between Los Angeles and San Diego on the main inland auto road. Elsinore is famous for its hot mineral springs; thousands of people have come here on crutches and stretchers and left here sound and well. We have 80 acres five miles from Elsinore and 2½ miles from the lake that cannot be surpassed as a pleasure resort or sanatorium. There is thirty acres level A-1 soil for fruit, balance of eighty acres is hills and canyon; the hills afford a magnificent sight for buildings, and the soil is fine for fruit and shrubbery; the canyon is full of large live oak and other timber which will make ideal parks, mountain spring water in abundance can be developed in the canyon at an elevation that will give gravity water to any part of the eighty acres. This land is unimproved and in sage brush, but if you are interested in a project of this nature it will pay you to investigate this, for a more picturesque sight cannot be found in Southern California, and a healthier valley with curative mineral waters does not exist.

Until January 1, 1914, the price on this land will be $50 per acre, with one-half cash, terms on balance at 7 per cent.

SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY—

FOR SALE—

MEN WANTED.

We will help you to reduce the high cost of living if you will become a producer on our fine, proven alfalfa, dairy and fruit land in the great San Joaquin Valley, deep fertile soil, abundant water, railroads, schools, churches—in an active, fast-growing community.

The day of cheap food prices is gone forever—the day of the homesteader is past—the many million acres of free land are taken. The tide of western immigration has at last reached the Pacific Coast and practically all the fertile land of this continent has passed into private ownership.

The real remedy is to increase production—Intensified farming will do it. This is your opportunity to acquire a farm—a home—and independence in the last great valley where values will double.

Real men wanted—only a little cash required. We will help you—liberal terms.

YUCAIPA VALLEY—

FOR SALE—

YUCAIPA VALLEY
APPLE LAND.

The recent Yucaipa Valley Apple Show demonstrated that the finest red winter apples are grown in Yucaipa. The Yucaipa Valley grower gets an average of $1.50 a box for his crop, or $500 to $1000 an acre a year.

Very fine cherries and pears are grown in Yucaipa, and all other deciduous fruits grow to perfection here and bring the grower higher prices than the same fruits grown at lower elevations.

In a short time all the fine irrigated apple lands we are offering now will be sold and set to apple trees. Soon after the orchards will sell at $1000 to $2500 an acre, and will be fine investments at those prices. Buy this land with water ownership NOW at $285 an acre on very easy terms. Have it planted to apple trees early this season at $20 an acre and get the big profits every year.

Join our next excursion to Yucaipa and be convinced. Free trips to buyers. Leave Los Angeles 8:30 a.m., return here 6:10 p.m. Make your selection now and get started. Call or write for literature.

GOVERNMENT LAND—

STATE LAND—
THIRTY QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

(1) When you were employed by United States government, did you finish your appointment? Ans.: Yes; and have since been in employ of United States. (2) Are you now in employ of United States or State? Ans.: No. (3) Do officials work hard at their work? Ans.: Yes; they often die from overwork. (4) Is searching out land for settlers or investors part of the work of any official? Ans.: No. No official is required to make a search to help you hunt out land. They have other work which keeps them busy. (5) Do New Zealand and Australia officials help settlers more than they do here? Ans.: It is so reported for the reason that they have special officials for this work. (6) Do you recommend the appointment of officials to give free help to those who want land? Ans.: Yes. (7) Would you serve on a commission? Ans.: Yes. (8) Would you accept fees then? Ans.: No. I would get a salary and then refuse fees. Now I have to work for fees to pay expenses. (9) What are your fees? Ans.: Five dollars with your order and ten dollars after you buy any sized piece from a section down and find all to be satisfactory. I trust you for this. (10) Do all pay you? Ans.: No. (11) Why? Ans.: Some make excuse that they buy from officials and not from me. Some who did not intend to pay me afterwards told me that I had helped them to make so much that they did not have the nerve to not pay me. (12) Do some buy more than one piece? Ans.: Yes. (13) Do some sell? Ans.: Yes. One man bought two pieces and sold the smaller piece for enough to pay for both and to improve the large piece, of 160 acres, all level, rich, moist, alfalfa land. (14) Is any of the land which has never been taken good? Ans.: No. (15) Has about all the good land been taken? Ans.: Yes. (16) Do you help me find land which was taken years ago and allowed to go to the State or government? Ans.: Yes. (17) Why was land that is now valuable allowed to go to the State years ago? Ans.: For many reasons. Many persons are natural-born quitters, they quit a good home, good position, and good land. Many persons make the mistake by starting to improve the land until they have saved enough money to buy a little stock and start right. First get the land; then it will be easy to save and improve gradually. Some would succeed better if they first bought the land and worked on and saved more to improve. (18) Why does not the State and nation advertise these lands? Ans.: Because they are too busy with the other matters, such as Mexicans and Japs, railroads, etc. (19) When did you commence this work? Ans.: Years ago. (20) How long do you offer to work for me? Ans.: Until January, 1916. (21) What is your most difficult work? Ans.: The most difficult thing is to get you to believe that there are bargains now which I can help you get, which will suit you and pay you better than other investments. (22) Do you really search out some bargains? Ans.: Yes. I have a letter that one person who bought a piece near San Francisco, turned it at once at $7000 profit. I offered this to you less than thirty days ago. (23) What is the general price of State and United States land? Ans.: Mostly less than $3 per acre. (24) Can you buy for me? Ans.: Yes, but I prefer to direct you so you can select your choice and you to handle your own money and pay it to officials for land. (25) Will you answer ALL my letters? Ans.: Yes, we answer all letters received. After you write a letter, be sure to address it correctly and mail it yourself. Some have complained about us answering letters that were never mailed. Write a second letter in ten days. (26) How can I obtain further information concerning your work? Ans.: Write for free circulars. (27) Will you send me references? Ans.: Yes, many of them. (28) Whom have you helped buy land? Ans.: Farmers, doctors, lawyers, real estate dealers, clerks, mechanics, newcomers and natives, both men and women. (29) What is the safest and most profitable investment in California? Ans.: Buy land now to sell soon and buy more or buy to keep. (30) Where can I get free circulars about this State land? Ans.: Write THE CALIFORNIA STATE LAND INFORMATION BUREAU, Joseph Clark, Manager, 1511 K st., Sacramento.

ORANGE AND LEMON GROVES— For Sale, Exchange, Wanted.

FOR SALE—
"ORANGE GROVES THAT PAY" for sale by
FRANK WHEELER,
CLAREMONT, CAL.

20 acres, six acres Valencias, balance Navels, 1700 trees; a magnificent grove, with double water right. This property has never changed hands; it has had the best of care, heavily fertilized, is a heavy producer, fully equipped, with smudge pots, though not needed, over 12,000-box crop now on the trees; will bear strictest investigation. There is a large house and barn. Close to the Foothill Boulevard. Owner in failing health and must sell. Here is your opportunity. No trades considered. Price only $30,000.

7 acres, mostly Navels, 600 trees; neat cottage, with basement and barns. Price only $8000; mortgage $3000; must have $1000 cash and will take Colorado Springs property up to $4000, clear.

12 acres, Navels and Valencias; a fine grove, on the Base Line road; never touched by frost; beautiful, modern, up-to-date home of 7 rooms, and the price is only $20,000, which is $5000 below its value.

For best buys in orange groves, or exchanges of all kinds, see
FRANK WHEELER,
CLAREMONT.

A large and complete list of bargains in orange groves and country homes. Nineteen years growing oranges and lemons here.

FOR SALE—

QUIT WISHING YOU HAD AN ORANGE GROVE.

The way most of the owners of California orange groves got their trees was the simple, plain easy way of GROWING them. This is the way YOU can get YOUR grove.

FONTANA is more than the name of a place. It represents a SYSTEM, and the object of that system is to help men and women like you put their savings into GOOD land, in a GOOD location, with GOOD water rights, buy GOOD trees, give them GOOD care and thereby in due time arrive at having a GOOD orange, lemon or grapefruit grove.

We have spent a great deal of thought and time and money and care perfecting this system. Any person who is interested in citrus land or citrus growing can get very valuable information by studying Fontana, and it gives us great pleasure to share this experience with you.

Come in and have a talk with us.

THOMAS D. CAMPBELL & COMPANY,
625 S. Hill st.,
Los Angeles, Cal.

FOR SALE—SPLENDID BUYS.
No. 600—17 acres navels and Valencias, $37,500, 2 water rights, one free, more water than is necessary now. New fine house, barn, garage, fine team and implements, all on the double clean corner on the foothill boulevard, 2½ miles northwest of Claremont, a beautiful home and a grove with nearly 8000 boxes, almost ready to market. $10,000 to $15,000 will handle this and perhaps a very little trade. This place will rapidly increase in value. There are other places not far from this on the foothill boulevard and not as good a grove that are held at $4000 and $5000 an acre. Let me show you this. You will see readily that it is the finest place you have looked at.
No. 720—5 acres navels, $12,500, 1½ water rights, costing nearly $40 a year, new, modern house, ½ mile from Claremont, just the place to live and school your children.
No. 730—5 acres, ½ Valencias, ½ navels, $12,500. Nearly a mile above the foothill boulevard. More than a full water right, 6-room house, 2 pipe lines, 2½ miles northwest of Claremont, in the foothills. Half cash will handle this.
No. 740—5 acres, ½ navels, ½ Valencias, 517 trees, fine water right, 5-room modern house, 2 pipe lines, ½ cash.
These four groves are just about the finest and best four groves I have in my list of seven hundred. These are "within going to school" distance of Pomona College and High and grammar schools, on or above the foothill boulevard. Just where you want a grove. Crop coloring, almost ready to market. They will be higher in January. Come up and let me show you these.
A. W. RICHARDS, the Orange Grove Man of Claremont and Pomona.

FOR EXCHANGE—

2250 acres gilt edge alfalfa and deciduous fruit lands located in the heart of the San Joaquin Valley, on the Southern Pacific Railway close to a good live town. This land lays comparatively level, sandy loam soil with a big percentage of silt deposit very similar to the best Imperial Valley soil. Free from alkali and hardpan. It is adjacent to a body of land 15 miles square which is very highly developed to vineyard, peaches, apricots and alfalfa.

The water conditions are unsurpassed, water level being from 10 to 14 feet on any portion of this land. A number of wells in the vicinity from 40 to 90 feet deep. The lift pumping study is not to exceed 20 feet.

The main line of the San Joaquin Light and Power Company runs through the center of this property with a large substation centrally located on this land.

This body of land is right in the line of activity being improved on all sides. Owner wants Southern California. Will exchange on strictly cash basis.

FOR SALE—

DEPARTMENT STORE.
In a hustling town, trading point for 8000. This is an ideal opportunity for a business man to get into dry goods, shoes, furnishings, notions and clothing. All in fine condition. No competition worth considering in the same town. A remarkably well-established business. Good profits and a money-maker for the right man. Will require about $30,000 to buy this latest and up-to-date store.

HARDWARE.
Excellently located in one of the principal cities adjacent to Los Angeles with 15,000 population. Big rural business and can show you it is paying. Also handle implements, paints and vehicles. Clean and profitable. No dead stock. All up to date. Going and growing. Will inventory $12,000 and an unusual stepping-stone for a hardware man.

GROCERY, GRAIN AND FEED STORE.
A very nice comprehensive business, good profits, splendidly located in this city. Clean store and stock, very well established, paying fine, with sales about $2500 monthly. Will inventory about $2500 with $1800 additional for fixtures. Reasonable rental and good lease.

GENERAL MERCHANDISE.
An established business in a rapidly-developing railroad center, where profits are good and prospects most excellent. Just far enough away from city to be interesting. Present owner has made a comfortable fortune and ready to retire. Reasonable rental on buildings and warehouse. Stock is clean and will inventory about $12,000. Monthly sales average better than $7000.

BILLIARD AND POOL EMPORIUM.
The last word in this, line handling cigars and soft drinks. Six tables, all new, club and bowling license. Positively the best location in this city. Clean, making money, big profit, low rent, long lease, splendid room and no competition. Best reasons for selling. Price $3400, but $2000 cash will handle.

GROCERY.
Well-established business in a prosperous town in San Bernardino county. Absolutely clean and good. Making money and owner must sell account of health. We prove our statements. Stock and fixtures invoice about $4500. Will make reasonable discount, but no exchanges. This will be sold at once. For the business man who knows.

HOTEL.
The furniture and 9-year lease of 100-room, 3-story, brick, fireproof, modern hotel. New and five minutes from Broadway. Good business and first class in every respect. Must be seen to be appreciated. Only $12,500 cash and easy terms on balance. Worth every cent of the $20,000.

What line of business do you want to buy or sell? We have it. It will pay you to investigate our "Satisfaction System." We get results. Come, see and be satisfied. No information by telephone.

FOR SALE—OR EXCHANGE—
Best equipped poolroom and barber shop in L. A., 140 N. Main st., near First st. Seven tables, 4 barber chairs. Three hundred dollars handles it, or will trade for a good clear lot or auto. I have two other businesses and can't handle all of them. Call at Pool Hall, 140 N. MAIN ST.

FOR SALE—CREAMERY AND DAIRY. A GOOD OPportunity to secure a fully equipped creamery and dairy, with established route, and enough business, retail and wholesale, contracted for to insure a net income of at least $300 per month. This amount of business being done at the present time. The equipment includes 4 delivery wagons with horses, all the necessary cans, and bottles and other creamery appliances. 80 odd head of cows, and well fitted sheds, considerable feed on hand now. The business is conveniently located on the outskirts of the city and is open to the closest inspection. The owner is planning to leave and will sell out at inventory prices and on reasonable terms if desired. Here is an excellent opportunity to take over a flourishing business that will pay you a liberal income on your investment, right from the start, and that can readily be developed and the profit increased. An ice cream business operated in connection, would pay well. For particulars, see R. L. FORSYTHE, 204 Hibernian Bldg., 4th and Spring streets.

I OFFER POSITIVELY THE GREATEST MONEY-making wholesale and manufacturing opportunity in Los Angeles today; a business that shows about $15,000 CASH profits in 6 months without spending a penny for newspaper advertising or salesmen, and the surface of possibilities and expansion not even scratched. Business conducted strictly cash-with-order basis, and customers in every State. I will prove every claim and permit examination of books and you can see cash rolling in daily. Am at head of several big companies, having organized and now conducting this business around an idea I evolved. Your own eyes can see the orders and cash and your own judgment will approve this class-A proposition. Most excellent reason for relieving myself of attention to this business and selling same. Will include certain co-operation for obtaining continuous business without advertising or salesman's expense. Easy to understand and conduct. Not a cheap man's opening. $20,000 required for exclusive ownership; will take half in good real estate. Ideal opportunity for man with bright son or for partnership of live men. Positively no time for purely curious. Quick attention solicited. Address K, box 462, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

THERE IS NO REASON WHY YOU SHOULD THROW your money away by sacrificing your COMMONWEALTH stock for the prices offered by speculators. Don't you realize that those who are willing to pay cash for your stock know what it is worth? Do you think that they would exchange their dollars for your stock out of charity and to help you? Hold on to it. Buy more if you can get it below price and you will never regret having done so. Every share is a safe, sound, income investment. The security back of each share of stock consists of first mortgages, trust deeds, valuable city property, bungalow and chalet homes, and a thoroughly established, successful dividend earning, home building business, managed by seventeen well-known Los Angeles business men. Its good financial condition and the big profits it should continue to earn in the future make COMMONWEALTH one of the very best investments in the country today.

TEST OF THE PHYSICIAN.

The American Examination of [illegible] didates Fails Beside That [illegible] in England of Bedside Tests.

[New York Sun:] A subject which the man in the street is apt to [illegible] with indifference, despite the fact that it concerns his happiness more directly than most other subjects, is protection against unqualified medical advisers. In time of great [illegible] when a member of one's family is laid low by illness, a condition that sooner or later befalls us all, one seeks succor and comfort from a physician, but too often without careful selection. In the selection of a mechanic or tradesman the choice is not difficult, because his capacity is vouched for by observation of his work. This guide is absent or untrustworthy in the choice of a doctor because ocular demonstration is not obtainable.

The State happily provides, so far as is possible, to the professional knowledge of the doctor by insisting upon certain educational reqquisites and a subsequent examination by a board of [illegible] appointed by its authority. It would appear from a discussion at the conference of the Federation of State Boards of Health of the [illegible] of State examinations that they do not furnish the protection which is believed to be secured by them. The chief obstacle realized by the conscientious examiner is that there is no single standard applied to all practitioners of the healing art. In the forty-nine States there are [illegible] medical practice acts which [illegible] their enforcement in the hands of sixty-two different examining boards, besides seventeen boards [illegible] voted to osteopaths. As a result this country is overrun by graduates who, when rejected in one State, may secure a license in another.

The absence of clinical tests of capacity is also deplorable. While of applicants for license by the [illegible] board of England 28 to 36 per cent. fail, the rejected candidates in this country are about 10 to 20 per cent. In England the candidate is subjected to bedside tests that furnish the [illegible] clew to reliability in the [illegible] which it is the function of the [illegible] to ascertain. In the examinations now conducted in nearly all the States the candidate may know the [illegible] drugs, their theoretical action, [illegible] anatomy and physiology of the [illegible] the formula of chemistry from [illegible] in the quiz compends; but these are really only the tools, and the candidate should be examined upon their application at the bedside.

Under the Tariff.

SMUGGLING IS COMMON CRIME.

Many Ingenious Ways to Defeat the Law.

Even Officials Develop a Weak Morality.

Women Are Adepts at Side-Stepping Duties.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—[Correspondence Daily Oklahoman:] The going into effect of the new tariff law has focused the attention of the people upon the customs service, and to think of the customs laws is to think of the adventurous old practice of smuggling, in some ways the most fascinating of all branches of law breaking.

Although smuggling is, of course, classed as a crime, and no doubt should be, it is not a moral crime. The world over, such a crime as murder is a crime, with no mitigating influences to lessen the abhorrence in which it is held universally. Murder is murder. It is a moral crime, a transgression against natural laws as opposed to those made by man. In fact, the decalogue may be said to contain a list of those crimes which can be called purely moral crimes. Other transgressions are not particularly wicked in the minds of all people.

The tariff laws are man-made laws, and, therefore, many people, otherwise thoroughly moral, think it no great crime to smuggle over the line into port, some object on which men have imposed a duty. Furthermore, the punishment in almost all smuggling cases is administered in the shape of a fine rather than imprisonment, and most of the people who have things valuable enough for it to be worth their while to smuggle have no great dread of a fine. These appear to be the reasons why smuggling is so prevalent.

MORAL STYLES CHANGE.

The other day I was talking with a Washington society woman, one who has made many trips abroad, and she remarked that the styles in morals and pure honesty appear to change as rapidly as do the styles in clothing, automobiles or battleships.

This woman is one of that interesting set at the national capital the members of which have been intimately acquainted with the first people of the land for many years. There are several such women. For instance, I know one, a very aged lady, who has known personally every President of the United States from Franklin Pierce down. She is the daughter of one United States Senator and the widow of another. The members of this set, the wives and daughters of those in the highest circles of the land, the women who have presided at dinner tables, where Presidents have gossiped—know all the inner workings of the game of smuggling as well as political intrigue and the higher diplomacy.

This one, who declared that the styles in morals are unstaple, told a story of how, some twenty years ago, she had returned to the United States with a party in which was a member of the President's Cabinet and several members of Congress, together with army and navy officers and diplomats. She asserts one and all of them, including the sworn officers of the government, looked the customs inspectors straight in the face and swore that they had nothing dutiable in their trunks, when, as a matter of fact, these trunks contained thousands of dollars worth of dutiable goods.

DIFFERENT NOW.

Last spring, she says, was the last time she came over. A couple of days before landing almost everybody on board began discussing what they were bringing in. She says they racked their brains to be certain they overlooked nothing, and upon landing declared every single dutiable article and paid the tax upon it. She attributes this change of action to a change in the code of ethics. While sworn officers of the government thought nothing of smuggling in several thousand dollars worth of merchandise twenty years ago, the humblest [illegible] to fail to declare the most humble person aboard would have [illegible] inconsequential article last spring.

This woman tells an interesting tale regarding a certain Secretary of the Navy who was in office not so very long ago. At the time the affair occurred, she says, her husband, a naval officer, was naval attache at the United States Embassy in Paris. Well, the Secretary dropped in over there one day, and, of course, called at the Embassy. He was there for dinner, in fact, and later in the evening a United States treasury agent dropped around. During the course of the evening the Secretary and the treasury agent held a conversation which was overheard, unintentionally, by the naval attache's wife, the lady who told the story. Afterwards she extracted fuller details from her husband. The Secretary, while abroad, had become particularly fond of a certain brand of Russian cigarette. In the United States, they would cost about a cent apiece. The Secretary had asked the treasury agent what he should do about it. The treasury agent passed the buck to the naval attache. So the cigarettes were brought to the Embassy, thousands of them, and were sent by the naval attache, by mail in franked envelopes to the Secretary of the Navy at Washington, in small packages, until all [illegible].

WOMEN ADEPT.

Another interesting case was one which the naval attache's wife discovered herself. She had a woman friend in Paris who lives in quiet retirement with her daughter. They are of excellent family, but very poor. One summer, a letter came to the Paris woman from another woman who had been a schoolmate in the old days. The American woman wrote that she had become prosperous and wanted the Paris woman's daughter to come and visit here. She inclosed a check for passage. Just before leaving, the American friend wrote asking her to please bring some trunks with her. Of course she agreed and was given directions where to get the trunks. Grateful for the trip, she was glad to bring the trunks over for her American friend, and when she arrived on this side, she was permitted to bring the trunks in duty free, being a resident of Paris only in the United States on a visit. This happened twice a year. Either the mother or her daughter was invited to come to America for a few weeks, by the prosperous lady on this side and each time was asked to bring some trunks. Although, it developed in the investigation which followed, the Parisian woman and her daughter never had the slightest inkling of what was going on, the wily American woman had been using them as catspaws to import thousands of dollars worth of costly Parisian merchandise. She had accomplices in Paris, of course, who played into the hands of the women who came visiting and it was several years before the authorities made the discovery which resulted in exposure.

And again, my informant called upon her New York dressmaker not long ago. She was offered some blouses at a bargain. She told the modiste she could get them in Paris no cheaper. The modiste, with whom she was well acquainted, explained that she lived in Paris under her real name for three months a year, and that she traveled under that name. When she came to New York, she sailed under her real name, as a resident of Paris on a short visit, and her trunks were passed duty free. In them was the merchandise which she sold under her modiste's name.

Scores of other instances are related, all of which tend to show that there is a vast amount of smuggling going on constantly, not only by professional smugglers, but by society people and government officials, who would rather strain their honesty than their purses.

SINKS AND BACKACHES.

The Reason They Are Built so Low Traced to When Dishes Were Washed in Wooden Tubs.

[New Orleans Times-Democrat:] Near the close of the year 1912, it was discovered for the first time why kitchen sinks are built so low that all women who wash dishes must suffer three backaches a day, and nag their husbands to try boarding. The remedy was simple—raise the sinks. It was this way:

The housing reform movement gathered momentum and published reports and accomplished great things for some twenty years, under the direction of men and of women who had help in their kitchens. By that time, 1912, the men who had started it no longer made inspections (only speeches) and turned over the field work to women. One woman, Madge D. Headley, saw that the sink of the model tenement in the twentieth century is as low as the ancestral sink of the nineteenth, over which she had leaned and ached.

So Miss Headley went to a manufacturer of sinks.

"Why are sinks made so low that they give women backaches three times a day?" she asked him.

"I'm blessed if I know," he confessed.

Thereupon he set out to find the reason. Traced back to its beginning, the length of sink legs appears to have been set for a good reason and continued for none.

The old wooden sinks were built in the days when dishwashing and such tasks were done in wooden tubs and buckets with high sides, so that a low sink was comfortable to work over. Moreover, it was before the time of running water, the tubs and buckets were heavy, and the lower the sink the less the lift. When faucets and shallow vessels came in, the sink still scrooched down by the floor.

By the time he had figured all this out, the sink man was so interested that he designed a new sink, a sort of sink on stilts, or a daddy-long-legs of a sink, and in no time at all now it will be on the market. All of which is to the everlasting credit of Miss Headley.

SELENIUM DEPOSITS FOUND.

Immense Crystals of the Rare Mineral Found in Utah Will Promote the Electrical Business.

[Health:] In a moundlike elevation formed by the washing and wearing away of the clay and sand covering and surrounding it, there has been recently found in Utah, near the Fremont River, rich deposits of selenium.

Selenium is a non-metallic element, and its resistance is increased by exposure to the light. It is related to sulphur. The Utah deposits of this substance occur in crystals which astounded its discoverers, as it was unexpected and rare. Selenide crystals are formed from the rare element selenium, which was discovered by the celebrated chemist Berzelius, in 1818, from the refuse of a sulphuric acid factory. In its vitreous form selenium is sometimes employed for optical use, and years ago miniature portraits of Berzelius were obtainable cast in this rare substance which he had discovered. Selenium has been discovered in small quantities at Culebra, Mex., but up to the time of the Utah discovery, the crystals were small, being measured by inches and weighed by ounces. In Utah, however, crystals have been taken out that are actually four feet in length and with faces six inches broad. One immense specimen taken out had nineteen small ones projecting from it. So far as is known, the Utah deposit has no rival. As it is an excellent conductor of electricity, selenoid cells are beginning to play an important part in the automobile industry, being used in connection with the new electric gear shifts.

Mule Has His Limitations.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer:] "Down in Zanesville, where I used to live," relates Dr. Washington Yount, "there was an old colored man who owned a mule. He had more respect for that mule than for any man, white or black, on earth. Uncle Billy claimed that the animal could do anything but talk, and that he didn't talk because he understood the superior wisdom of keeping still.

"Well, one day that mule was lost, strayed or stolen. Uncle Billy nearly had a fit. He searched diligently all day long, and at the end of the day he was about ready to lie down and die. A friend tried to help him.

"'Uncle Billy,' he said, 'why don't you advertise for that mule?'

"'Whyn't ah what?'

"'Advertise. Put a piece in the paper saying that he's lost. That will bring him back if anything will.'

"Uncle Billy laughed for the first time that day.

"'White man,' he said, between chuckles, 'dat mule er a powahful smaht animile, he suah are—but Lawd bless you, he can't read de newspapahs.'"

A Final Reward.

[Indianapolis News:] Max Schneckenburger, an obscure Swabian merchant, who never published anything else, composed in 1840 some verse of which the burden was thus translated:

Dear fatherland, no danger thine,
Firm stand thy sons to watch the Rhine.

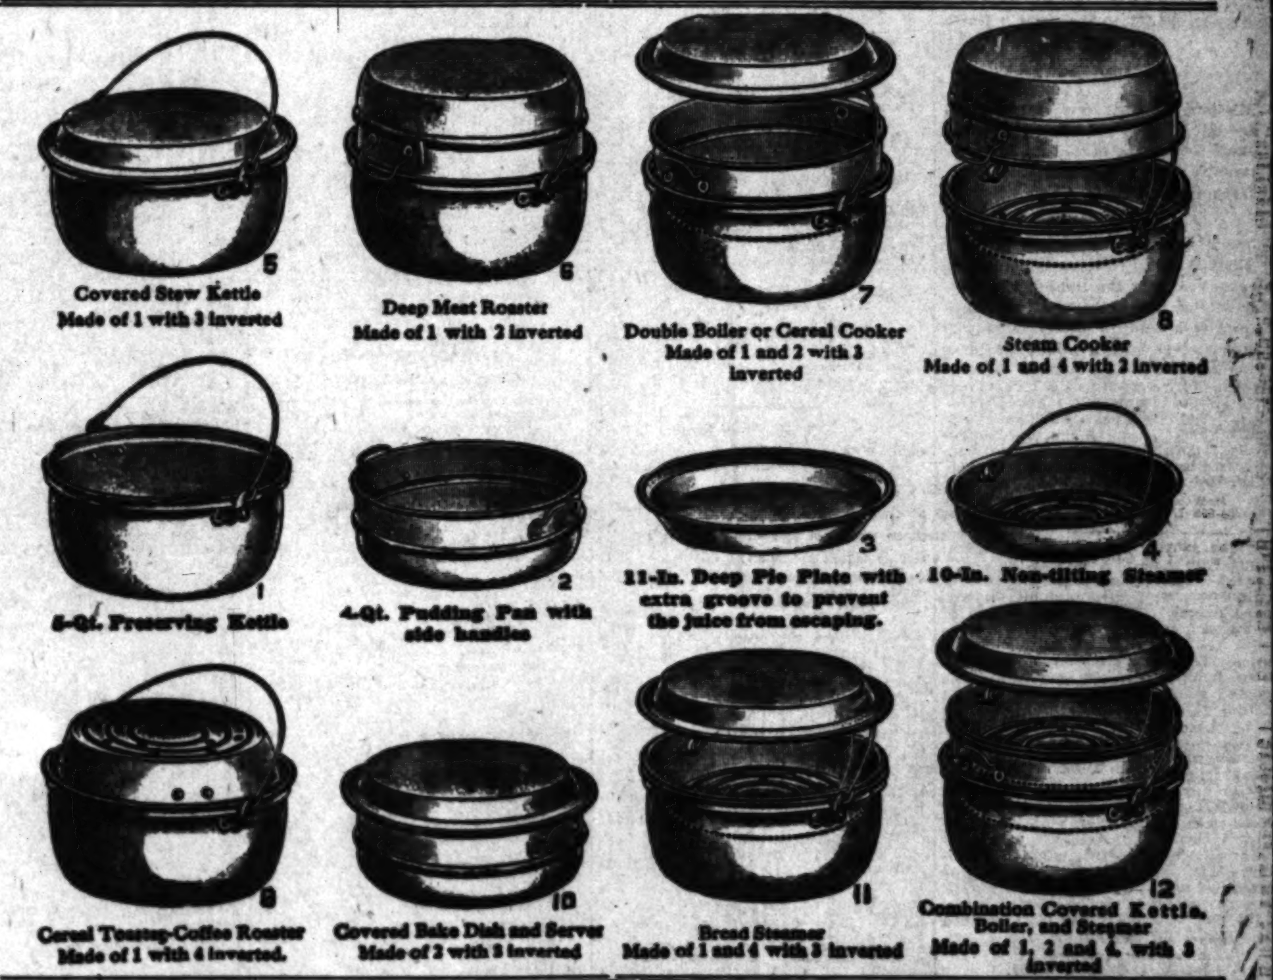
Little was heard of these until thirty years later, when the Franco-German war gave them an enormous vogue. They were then adopted as the national anthem of united Germany, and a pension was conferred on the composer of the tune to which they were set.

THE TIMES

QUALITY PREMIUM

Consists of 4 durable, high-grade and everlasting aluminum pieces, which can be converted into 12 separate and practical cooking utensils, as shown below. These aluminum pieces are absolutely sanitary. They contain no traces of iron or other base metals. They will not corrode or rust. This set will be placed with Times subscribers on a very liberal basis. For further particulars inquire of any Times Agent or communicate directly with The Times.

Absolutely Practical for Everyday Use



Covered Stew Kettle Made of 1 with 3 inverted

Deep Meat Roaster Made of 1 with 2 inverted

Double Boiler or Cereal Cooker Made of 1 and 2 with 3 inverted

Steam Cooker Made of 1 and 4 with 2 inverted

5-Qt. Preserving Kettle

4-Qt. Pudding Pan with side handles

11-In. Deep Pie Plate with extra groove to prevent the juice from escaping.

10-In. Non-tilting Steamer

Cereal Toaster-Coffee Roaster Made of 1 with 4 inverted.

Covered Bake Dish and Server Made of 2 with 3 inverted

Bread Steamer Made of 1 and 4 with 3 inverted

Combination Covered Kettle, Boiler, and Steamer Made of 1, 2 and 4, with 3 inverted

These TWELVE FULL SIZED PRACTICAL COMBINATIONS if bought separately would represent a retail value of MORE THAN $20.00.

The PERFECTION SET is even more desirable, as the pieces nest compactly and require but little pantry space—a decided advantage particularly in modern apartments where space is limited.

HARBOR ITEMS.

During the first fifteen days of November, over 26,000,000 feet of sawed lumber was received at the port, beside a large quantity of poles, piles, ties, shakes and shingles. A fleet of sixteen lumber steam schooners are en route to Los Angeles and many more are loading. All indications point to the almost certainty that this will be one of the busiest months in the lumber industry. Only three steam schooners arrived yesterday, with a combined cargo of 2,825,000 feet of lumber for various consignees. The Tallac, from Everett; the Mandalay, from Crescent City, and the Bee, from Tacoma. However, the passenger traffic was good, the Yale arrived from San Francisco with 170 passengers and 400 tons of freight for Los Angeles, took aboard 160 passengers and sailed for San Diego.

The Queen should have arrived Friday night, but did not reach port until 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The delay was due to head winds encountered during the first part of her voyage and to an unusually large amount of freight for Santa Barbara. She brought 180 passengers and 290 tons of general merchandise from San Francisco and way ports for this city, took aboard 132 passengers and sixty tons of freight and sailed for San Diego. The President arrived from Seattle and San Francisco with 240 passengers and 477 tons of cargo. The oil tank steamer Argyll brought 5000 barrels of refined oil for the Union Oil Company, took aboard 10,000 barrels of crude and sailed for San Diego. The little Mexican power schooner Bernardo Reyes finished discharging her cargo of kelp and left for San Diego. She may pick up a few passengers for Ensenada, her home port. Capt. Adolfo Reyes stated that all was quiet in Lower California when he left, but that Ensenada had a garrison of 400 soldiers, which seemed more than was needed for such a small town. No fine had been imposed on the Bernardo Reyes for running quarantine Wednesday, as the case has not been settled.

The steamer Henry T. Scott was fumigated in the outer harbor yesterday. She took aboard 2000 barrels of oil for fuel and 3500 barrels of cargo oil and sailed for Seattle.

The O. M. Clark left for Long Beach late Friday night.

The steamer Portland, that has been receiving a thorough overhauling at the Long Beach dry dock, arrived at the port yesterday morning, took aboard oil for fuel and sailed for a practice cruise. It is believed she will return here before going to Portland to load grain for this port.

The torpedo-boat destroyers Whipple, Paul Jones, Stewart, Perry and Truxton will hold torpedo practice off San Pedro Monday. During their last practice they lost five torpedoes, but as these are "dummy," or unloaded, they are of no danger to vessels that may run across them. The government offers a reward of $25 for every one that is returned.

The schooner Sadie sailed for Gardner to reload lumber early yesterday morning.

The new freighter Santa Clara will sail from Portland today with 400,000 feet of lumber for the west coast of South America and double that amount for New York. She is reported to be the finest ship flying the American flag that ever entered the Portland harbor and to have made the entrance quicker than almost any of the passenger liners.

The British tank steamer Luz Blanca is to be converted into an oil burner at San Francisco and enter the west coast South American trade.

The Standard Oil Company is contemplating erecting a large plant in or near San Pedro, but the exact location has not been determined. Many rumors have been afloat and several stories printed in certain newspapers, but it was learned yesterday from a reliable source that the Standard Oil Company had come to no decision in the matter and were simply on the lookout for a good location that could be procured at a reasonable figure. Officers of the company regret the newspaper notoriety that has been given the matter and hinted that if any attempt was made to raise the price of real estate the company might erect its plant elsewhere.

While there are two United States bonded warehouses in the center of the city, there is a growing need for one at the harbor. Large shippers say a bonded warehouse at the water front would be a great convenience at the present time and the lack of one will prove a serious handicap to business when the Panama Canal is open to traffic.

Towing a Subway Tunnel.

[Popular Mechanics:] The first section of the new four-tube tunnel which is to carry the Lexington-avenue subway under Harlem River, New York City, was towed down the river and sunk in place recently. The four steel tubes, 220 feet long, nineteen feet in height and made of 3-8-inch plates, were floated in a wooden box, 244 feet long, seventy feet wide and thirty-five feet high. They had been constructed on a temporary framework over the water in the slip at One Hundred Fifty-second street with bulkheads in the open ends, and a wooden float, in which some of the planks were nine inches thick, had been built about them. Nine flatboats, placed under the float at low tide, carried it free from the falsework and, after they had been scuttled, it rested on the water ready for its trip. With two tugs towing and one guiding from behind, it moved slowly down the river to One Hundred Thirty-first street. The trip of a little over a mile, made against the incoming tide to steady the float, required about two hours.

Missouri Pacific, New Haven and Lehigh Valley Continue Weak. Bank Statement Makes an Exceptionally Good Showing—Bonds Are Irregular and Slack.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Trading in stocks was light throughout the half-day session which brought the week to an end, and in most cases net changes were only nominal. After a firm opening the market became heavy, more because of a lack of demand than from any marked pressure. Various stocks, such as Missouri Pacific, New Haven and Lehigh Valley, continued weak. Losses were small, however, and they largely made up on scattered buying toward the close. Lehigh Valley was heavy throughout. New Haven duplicated its daily performance recently by making a low record at 75. Missouri Pacific at 24⅞ was at the year's lowest. There was a general disposition to await developments in regard to gas. The day was barren of news with influence on market values with the exception of further pessimistic reports from the steel trade. The bank statement made an expected good showing. There was an actual gain in currency of more than $12,000,000 and $7,953,000 was added to the surplus. The recent improvement in the position of the banks together with the easing of money rates indicates that autumn's demands upon the market have passed their high point and that in all probability fairly easy conditions will prevail during the remainder of the year. The bond market was irregular with heaviness in some well-known issues. Total sales par value, $590,000. United States 4's advanced ½ on call on the week.

New York Curb Stock.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury Bldg., Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Mining issues were neglected on the curb today. The principal activity was in United Cigar Stores, which was very strong on the renewal of rumors of a consolidation with the Riker-Hegeman Company. Oils were steady. The Boston market opened at last night's close, and displayed hardening tendencies. Dullness increased as the day progressed.

Boston Copper Market

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury Bldg., Los Angeles.]

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—The opening was strong. There was no increase in speculative activity, however, and the market dragged throughout the session. Strike conditions at the Lake are improving daily, and several of the properties are approaching normal production.

Purchases of metal are still light. The next big buying movement will probably occur when the price for copper is around 15½ to 15⅝.

New York Cotton Market.

[Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The market made a very stubborn stand in the early part of the session, but pressure of realizing sales and some short selling from the South proved too great a burden, and the close was about in keeping with bearish advices from Liverpool. Rumors that the National Ginner's estimate of ginning for the two weeks ending last Friday would show about 1,-500,000 bales, against the census figures of $1,430,-000 for the same period last year, was no doubt the leading cause of the softer tone, but telegraphic advice also told of a less active demand from American mills in the South. It was also reported that some of the more prominent local bulls had sold out on yesterdays advance.

New York Stock Market.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury Bldg., Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The market was dull and featureless on the Stock Exchanges. Price changes were mostly nominal. Mexican news was the chief topic of discussion and as usual reports were conflicting. Trade journals all say that the recession in general business is well under way and quite pronounced in iron and steel.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS

The first California rice is arriving in Los Angeles at the present time. The market on this cereal has been very firm, with a good demand for all grades, and fancy Honduras rice is bringing a particularly high figure. The California crop is the largest ever grown, the quality excellent, and the only drawback is the harvest, which is about forty days late, owing to recent rains in the north, which has prevented taking the rice from the fields and getting it through the mills, where it is cleaned, graded and polished. The total crop of rice this year in this State will amount to about 300,000 bags, of 100 pounds each, which will yield about 60 per cent. of the total in high-grade product, the remainder going into seconds, broken rice, bran and hulls. The greatest portion of the rice grown in this State is produced in Butte county, near Biggs, and all varieties are being experimented with. The United States Experimental farm, located at that place, is producing sufficient seed rice this year to plant about 20,000 acres next spring, and this will help to make California one of the greatest rice producing States in the nation. The texture and flavor of this rice is said to be superior to that grown in any part of the world, and wide market awaits it. Los Angeles dealers are pushing its sale in preference to outside rice.

The market was rather quiet yesterday on staples, and on other green products. There was no change in the egg situation. The price of 54 cents sticks, and is the highest recorded in Los Angeles since 1909. Receipts were only 85 cases.

Butter receipts were 44,520 pounds. The call for butter was fair. Oregon cheese was in very good demand, and a jobbing sale on triplets to arrive next week was reported at 16½. Total receipts were 1235 pounds.

Potato receipts were 4875 sacks. The call for spuds during the week has been very steady, despite heavy arrivals. A car of Lompoc is expected in this week, and these spuds will sell at about the same figure as that holding Idaho Burbanks. Receipts of onions were 300 sacks. The call was fair. Sweet potato arrivals were 148 sacks. The receipts are sufficiently heavy to keep the market down to $1.50. Apple arrivals were 2598 boxes.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Los Angeles Investment Makes New Low Record During Trading, but Closes Strong—Activity Diminishes.

The market was rather sluggish yesterday morning on the Stock Exchange. Los Angeles Investment and National Pacific were the principal active issues. The former made a new low record, touching $1.13½ for one transaction. The opening was at $1.15, a loss of 4 points from the previous day's close, and after a decline the stock reacted to $1.16. Only 1200 shares changed hands.

National Pacific was stronger. Union Oil was weak, although revealing a slightly improved tone at the close. Maricopa Northern showed an easy tendency, and closed without a bid or offering. One hundred and twenty shares of U. S. L. D. T. & T. were reported sold off board at $11. The stock closed with a shade firmer bid on the exchange. Two hundred and fifty shares of Union were reported sold off board.

BULLS IN WHEAT TAKE COURAGE.

DEMAND IN BALTIMORE GIVES LIFT TO MARKET.

Corn Finishes a Shade Up and Oats Also Gain—Reduced Crop Estimates but Argentina Wheat Yield at Lowest Figures Yet Mentioned and Cut Surplus.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Revival of export demand here and at Baltimore gave courage today to the bulls in wheat. Accordingly the market closed steady at 1-4 to 3-8@1-2c net advance. Corn finished 1-2 to 1@1 1-2c up and oats with a gain of 1-4 to 3-8@1-2c, but provisions were down 5 to 15c. Reduced crop estimates put the Argentine wheat yield at the lowest figures yet mentioned and cut down the exportable surplus of Argentine to 66,000,000 bushels. In the corn pit uneasiness of December shorts brought about a decided bulge. Provisions gave way because of receipts at the twelve leading packing centers being much more numerous than expected.

But of a great supply of now delivered at the brings a new factor that the city's limits and its include all the territory that supplied with water. annexation plan has been because it provides a satis- solution for all the problems with selling the surplus Owens Valley. It was years ago by Chief Engi- of the aqueduct and recommended by the board of advisory engineers.

At the suggestion of Mayor Rose an Annexation Commission was organized, with the Mayor as chairman. The work of this commission has resulted in a clearer and more definite understanding concerning the terms or conditions under which the outlying territory is to be taken in.

The commission has arrived at definite conclusion on almost every point under discussion. That its findings coincide with the opinion of the Chief Engineer, who has worked out the physical phases of the question, and meet with the approval of the people now in the city and most of those who will be taken in, insure its speedy culmination.

The commissioners aim that annexation shall be fully accomplished by 1915 and the greater city started on a new era of expansion and prosperity. They look for extensive settling of the agricultural districts and an increase in suburban population that will make the total population more than three-quarters of a million at that time.

WHAT'S COMING IN.

While there are some details yet to be worked out and special rules made to fit individual cases, the accompanying map shows in a general way the territory that is susceptible to annexation under the plan adopted and that it is believed will be the Los Angeles of 1915.

The total area is nearly 200,000 acres. That part now within the city limits will be served from the 2000 inches of water reserved for the purpose. About 135,000 acres can be irrigated from the surplus of 18,000 inches. Some districts already have an adequate and dependable supply and the remainder can be watered with the return flow from the underground reservoirs of the San Fernando Valley.

The estimate of 750,000 population is based on the present number of inhabitants, the increase to be expected, according to the ratio maintained in the past, the present population of the territory to be annexed and its increase.

BEATING OWN AVERAGE.

The average gain in population in this city since 1900 has been in excess of 12 per cent. a year. Recently, and more notably in 1913, the present year, the gain has been proportionately greater. According to accepted methods of computation the population is now 525,000 to 540,000. A gain of 10 to 12 per cent. in the next two years will increase the number of inhabitants within the present boundary lines of the city to 650,000, and there is every reason to believe that such a ratio of gain is a reasonably conservative estimate.

The territory that is to be annexed includes a number of thriving and

Los Angeles now and by exposition year.

The central picture covers the boundaries of the present municipality. The territory shown in colors is included in the plan just adopted by the Annexation Commission and comprises more than 150,000 acres, and various cities and towns. It is not proposed to take in all of the Redondo district nor all of Pasadena, but only the parts here shown. The first district to come in, in the opinion of the commissioners, will be about 100,000 acres of San Fernando Valley, including the Maclay, Mission, Fernando, Chatsworth and Providencia districts, shown in the picture lying to the northwest of the city. The Cahuenga district, whose people are taking steps to consolidate, includes Sherman, Beverly, Sawtelle, Santa Monica, Venice and other towns. South Pasadena and Alhambra people are waiting for further information now being secured for them regarding their connection with the outfall sewer. The people of Glendale are expected to act as soon as they receive a full report from a committee appointed by their Chamber of Commerce.

ANGEL CITY OF DESTINY AS IT LOOMS UP TODAY.

THESE are the figures that tell the story of the swift rise of Los Angeles from a pueblo to metropolitan greatness. The estimates for 1915 are based on ratio of increase to be expected and logical outcome of known conditions. Population, 1870, 5728; 1890, 50,395; 1910, 319,198; 1913, 525,000; 1915, 750,000.

Bank clearings in 1890 were $36,529,902; in 1910, $811,377,487; this year (estimated,) $1,200,000,000. Postoffice business in 1885 was $46,606; this year it will be in excess of $2,000,000.

The increase in buildings as shown by permits issued has been as follows: 1890, $1,194,939; 1895, $4,930,473; 1900, $2,517,966; 1905, $15,482,067; 1910, $21,684,100; this year (estimated,) $32,000,000.

Assessed valuation in 1880, $7,259,588; 1890, $49,320,670; 1900, $65,599,920; 1910, $332,489,169; this year $500,000,000. The assessed valuation of the county, most of which is included in the territory to be annexed, is $804,111,795. Assessed valuation of the city in 1915 (estimated,) $1,000,000,000.

--they must have land

Ever stop to figure what we are going to do with the thousands of people headed this way via the Panama Canal? The vast majority of these people are intensive farmers—men who can make a "farm" of the one or two-acre plot. Italy alone reports an army of 50,000 coming. Thousands are already buying tickets. Today the fastest growing market in the West, Los Angeles, is hungry for farm products. Thousands of tons are imported annually.

VALLEY DEALERS NOW ORGANIZED.

IMPERIAL SECTION BOASTS REALTY BOARD.

Officers and Directors Elected and Boosting Campaign Launched. Several Transfers Reported at Good Prices—Contract Let for El Centro Building.

EL CENTRO, Nov. 15.—The Imperial Valley Realty Board perfected its organization last week by electing the following officers: Ray Edgar, president; J. B. Parazette, vice-president, and L. P. Sargent, secretary. These men, with A. M. Shenk, W. H. Camplain, J. R. Strong and C. E. Sprouse, will comprise the board of directors.

Committees were appointed on appraisement, advertising, arbitration, publicity and entertainment, and a general boosting campaign was launched.

Real estate activity on the east side of the valley was given an impetus last week with the sale of the A. O. Buttler ranch of eighty acres to W. Kincaid for a given price of $110 an acre. The land is situated seven miles east of Imperial on the Alamo River. Another sale in the same locality was that of the C. F. Graves ranch of 100 acres to Frank English, for $105 an acre. Both of these deals were made through Pitts & Duncan, who are also building a number of modern bungalows in El Centro, between Fifth and Sixth streets on Woodward.

Follis, Allen and LaPorte recently closed a deal for eighty acres south of Silsbee, comprising the John Reichle ranch. The land was sold to G. Knudsen of Escondido, for a reported consideration of $11,000.

C. E. Sprouse and W. E. Johnson have bought what was known as the old Arthur Fuller ranch and which is composed of 320 acres of land, all in alfalfa, and situated four miles south of El Centro. The purchase price was in the neighborhood of $56,000. Sprouse also bought eighty acres, one mile south of El Centro, for a given consideration of over $200 an acre.

The contract for another brick building was let to J. L. Travers by Father Schmidt last week. Work is to be started immediately on the structure, which will be situated on Main street, near Seventh, and will make another of the series planned to fill the gap on Main between Sixth street and the Barbara Worth Hotel.

SELLS TO CANADIAN.

Santa Monica Business Site in New Hands—Several Residence District Sales Reported.

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 15.—H. C. Chappnan reports the sale of a business lot on Windward avenue to M. A. Hoover of Winnipeg. The site was owned by T. B. Hyndaman of Vancouver.

A. A. Peterson and Company of Santa Monica report the following sales for the week: Business lot on Electric avenue, near City Hall, J. R. H. Wagner to George Schaffer, who will build a flat, $900; quarter-acre plot near Ocean Park Heights, in Mesa la Ballona tract, to C. Milton Anderson for Mrs. J. R. Robertson; lot on Washington boulevard near Andalusia avenue to Jessie Pool, for Sophie Weldon; lot on Walnut avenue, in Walgrove, to George Schaffer for T. H. James; corner Short Line and Glencoe to G. Lantry for Isabella Lee, $750; lot on Superba avenue to Louise Jager for Emily McMahon, $650; corner at Modina and Ocean Front to Flora Smith for J. B. Pollock, $5000. A handsome residence will be erected on the last named property at once.

TWO PICTURE HOUSES.

Amusement Enterprises to Open Theaters in Van Nuys—Extensive Building Operations Reported.

VAN NUYS, Nov. 15.—Indications now are that Van Nuys is to have two moving picture theaters this winter. C. E. Varney has rented the quarters in the bank building occupied by Van Patten & Nelson, before the fire, and will put in a motion-picture house as soon as the repairs are completed. His machine is here now and additional appliances and fixtures are now on their way from the East.

Several individuals have been trying to close a lease on the showhouse that will occupy the north half of the new Whitson block, now under construction, and there is little doubt that someone will open that place as soon as the building is completed, which will be in about sixty days.

Building activity is marked, and new houses are being started almost every day. L. L. Whitson has started his two-story brick business block, John Johnson is putting up the frame of his ten-room double house on West E street, H. N. Titus is starting his new residence on West I street, C. B. Walker is building a four-room bungalow on West C street, and B. T. Burt is hauling the material for his new home on East Seventh street.

Moreover, the number of houses that will be constructed in the near future is increasing. A. A. Kunert will erect two more houses on his lots near the grammer school, and J. M. Frazer and Frank A. Jessee are both preparing to building soon.

PLANS FINE SCHOOL.

Arizona Mining City to Erect Up-to-date Educational Building Designed by Los Angeles Architect.

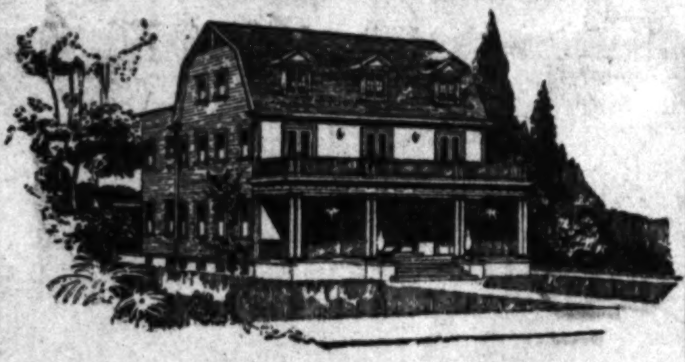
BISBEE (Ariz.) Nov. 15.—Plans for the handsome new high school to be erected at this place have just been completed by Architect Norman F. Marsh, of Los Angeles, and bids for the construction work are now being secured. The building, which will serve not only Bisbee proper, but Warren and other nearby communities, will be known as the Bisbee Union High School. Exclusive of its site, the structure will cost approximately $70,000.

The high school pupils of the district are now using a greater part of the large grammar school which stands on the knoll back of the local Y.M.C.A. building, an arrangement which has long been regarded as unsatisfactory. The new building will be used strictly for high school purposes and will be erected on Clauson avenue overlooking the whole of the lower part of the city.

The structure will be of an "L" shape and will follow the contour of the site, being part two and part three stories in height. The extreme dimensions will be 135x130 feet. The building will be of brick construction and of modified classic design.

In addition to the regular classrooms and an auditorium seating 500, the school will contain a manual training department, domestic science department and a large study hall. The auditorium will be so arranged that it may be used for gymnasium purposes.

For West Pico Site.



House for Dr. T. Leung, H. A. Kenton, designer.

FOR WEST PICO.

Construction has been begun upon a large residence planned by H. A. Kerton for Dr. T. Leung and having for its site a fifty-foot lot at No. 1619 West Pico street. The house will be three stories high in the front, with two stories and a roof garden at the rear. It will contain fifteen rooms. On the first floor provision is made for an office, reception-hall, parlor, dining-room, breakfast-room and kitchen. The second floor will contain a parlor, five bedrooms and a sleeping-porch. On the third floor will be a library and two bedrooms. The baths will be finished in tile. The downstairs will be in red birch, while the upper stories will be in white enamel.

SOUTHWARD MOVE.

The Albert H. Beach Company moved yesterday to 1022 Strong-Marsh building, Ninth and Spring streets. The company is specializing on Beachwood Park property, Hollywood.

FINE HOTEL LEASED.

Ocean Park Hostelry, Now Nearing Completion, Taken Over for Ten-Year Term—Is Thoroughly Modern.

OCEAN PARK, Nov. 15.—The modern, fireproof hotel now being erected by G. M. Jones on Marine street, has been leased to the Merritt-Jones Hotel Company, of which William W. Canon is president, for a term of ten years. The building, which will be completed and ready for occupancy about January 1, will be known as the Merritt Jones Hotel.

The structure was planned by the architectural firm of Russell & Slingluff, and is being built under their supervision. It will contain 145 rooms, with about 75 baths, and will be four stories in height. The building will contain three wings. The construction is of reinforced concrete.

In the basement will be a rathskeller and Turkish baths. The first floor will be given over to a lobby, cafe, bar and three stores. The three upper stories will be given over to guest rooms exclusively. The appointments and equipments will be thoroughly modern throughout.

TO FOURTH AND HILL.

The Ed E. Sweet Designing and Building Company has moved its offices from the Story building to 401 Black building. The company reports the following contracts under way: For Dr. Elmer A. Clark, No. 2012 Eighth avenue, six-room bungalow, to cost $3500; A. E. Keller, Holly drive, Hollywood, six-room bungalow, $2500; Harry Schoenborn, Glendale, six-room bungalow, $2500; Giovanni Fazzi, No. 1210 Brooklyn avenue, six rooms, $2750; F. W. Hatch, corner Bronson and Harold way, six rooms, $3500; J. R. McPherson, No. 5657 Fernwood avenue, Hollywood, six rooms, $2500; Charles R. Rapson, Elliott place, six rooms, $2500; Stanley Parker, Angeles Mesa, six rooms, $2500, and Angelo Bessolo, Eagle Rock, eleven rooms, $15,000.

CHURCH ASSURED.

Ground for New House of Worship to Be Broken Coming Week—Street Work Begun.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 15.—Ground will be broken for the First Methodist church the coming week. At a meeting of the trustees and congregation $2600 of the total of $10,000 needed was subscribed and it was announced that six lots at the corner of Eleventh and Orange had been secured. With the site and the amount of money already at hand, the church is practically financed. J. M. Miller is pastor of the congregation and Mayor Seeley heads the board of trustees.

A contract was let last Thursday for the construction of eight houses. These will be of the cottage type. In Garfield addition, Stephen Turley began the construction of farm buildings last Wednesday.

Grading began on Main and Twenty-third streets, Thursday. This work is preliminary to the paving of these thoroughfares. All preliminary arrangements for the bond issue which will pave Seventeenth street to its junction with Main and Twenty-third street, from Main to Garfield, Main street, and Delaware avenue from Seventeenth street to Hartford, and Hartford to Main have been completed and work will begin in time so that these streets may join the boulevard system under construction by the county.

ADOPTS ORDINANCE.

South Pasadena to Rush Improvements Voted in Recent Bond Issue. To Make Station Attractive.

SOUTH PASADENA, Nov. 15.—The City Council has adopted the ordinance creating bonds amounting to $250,000, voted on October 8, for a sewer system, municipal yard and the paving of the approach to the Arroyo Seco bridge near the Cawston Ostrich Farm. The sewer bonds amount to $200,000 and are placed in one issue, there being 400 bonds of $500 each, ten to be payable each year for a period of forty years. The second issue includes the bonds for fire protection, municipal yard and bridge approach paving, amounting to $50,000. Of these there are eighty for $500 each and forty for $250.

The trustees have ordered a number of improvements at the Lincoln Park Station on the Pacific Electric line, where the new short line from Los Angeles to this city will touch. A large number of palms, shrubs and ferns are to be set out around the station by the street and park departments. The running time will be greatly reduced between the two cities, and as far as possible a deep cut is to be avoided around Oak Hill.

A $10,000 Guarantee on West Sacramento Farm Lands

—Buy guaranteed farm lands.
—Land that has been tested and proven.
—That has been chemically analyzed by soil experts.
—That is positively known to contain the right proportion of organic and inorganic plant food.
—You can be sure that the land is all we claim it to be when you buy at—

West Sacramento

There is no guess-work—no depending on luck or unproved statements—we will show you in detail all the data necessary to accurately determine the excellent character of every acre of WEST SACRAMENTO FARM LANDS.

Data that was obtained through careful chemical analysis of the soil from every 100 acres of land—analysis made by a soil expert—a graduate of the famous University of Agriculture at Berne, Switzerland—a post graduate of the University of California.

It cost $10,000 to build and equip the soil laboratory where these tests were made. 250 acres of valuable land have been set aside and used as an experimental farm. The soil expert with his assistants are to remain on the land permanently at our expense, and may be consulted freely on any subject connected with farming.

All of this has been done to safeguard the interests of every buyer of West Sacramento Farm Lands—to protect them against misrepresentation—to prove the truth of our statement that these lands are unsurpassed by any in California.

Where else can you buy farm lands with a guarantee—with sub-irrigation, with electricity, telephones, good roads, and other city conveniences—with two electric interurban lines, three transcontinental steam lines and the big navigable Sacramento River at your door?

Any farm land that can claim so many advantages is worth investigating. Send in the coupon today or call at our offices.

Pellissier Square

In the Center of the Built-Up Part of the Wilshire

Extraordinary Circumstances Permit Extraordinary Prices in This High-Class Subdivision

Held for many years by the Pellissier family, this property has remained unsubdivided while the Wilshire section was being built up all around it. Now, large lots can be obtained by early buyers at astonishing figures, and the profits of several middlemen have not been added. As examples of the low prices asked, we quote lots 95x150 feet, on Hobart Boulevard, Serrano and Oxford Avenues, between Wilshire and Seventh, at $8000 each.

The art of the subdivider has been employed to the utmost in the planning and finishing of Pellissier Square. From rich top soil placed over the entire tract, to specially designed electroliers, nothing has been overlooked. Conduits for electric light and telephone wires; complete sewer and storm drain system; all connections inside of curbs. Protective restrictions which guarantee finest type of residential construction.

Motor out today or let us show you the property—corner Wilshire Boulevard and Western Avenue.

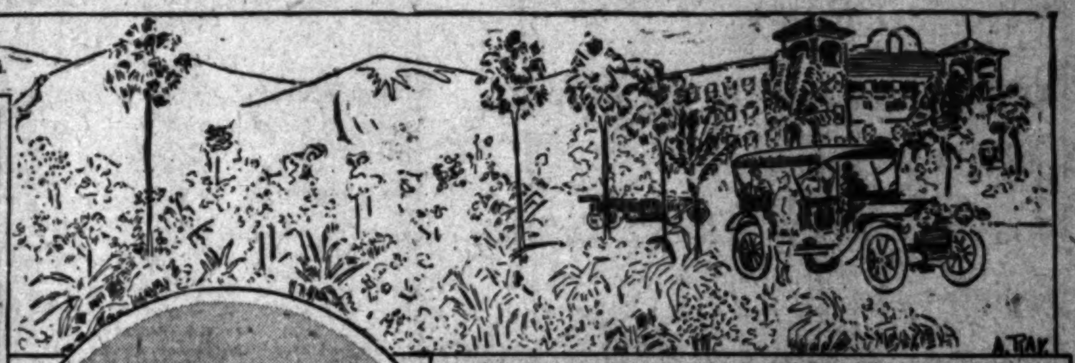
SANTA MONICA CHARMS WHEN OTHER BEACH AND PLEASURE RESORTS FAIL



"Hotel
Windermere
by the Sea"

Her Many Attractions Meet the Requirements of the Most Exacting.

Her Splendid Hostelries of Which "Windermere by the Sea" is the Most Prominent, Continually Boast of the Social Elite of the Continent as its Guests.

[illegible] the man or woman who has [illegible] the world many times over, [illegible] of new means and places of [illegible] or Health Resorts offering [illegible] attractions, the name of Santa [illegible] is many times presented to [illegible] as a place peculiarly [illegible] to the ennui and those who [illegible] more than an ordinary Health [illegible].

[illegible] such a traveler will tra[illegible] miles to enjoy the unrivaled [illegible] afforded by the world not[illegible] Bay City, crossing the sea [illegible] his or her endeavor to reach [illegible] of many charms, and will [illegible] exceeding the most bril[illegible] anticipations.

[illegible] is a very fragrance in the at[illegible] that tells of the unusual [illegible] growth which is found here, [illegible] tropical and the semi-tropi[illegible] bloom the year around out [illegible].

[illegible] is also a fascination in the [illegible] panoramic sweep of ocean, [illegible] the mountains kiss the sea, that gives a never ending joy to the spectator as he watches it in its various moods through the day and nightfall.

Early in the morning when many of the city business men are enjoying their accustomed morning dip in the sea before boarding their train for the city, there is a wild beauty in the scene about them so enthralling that many are tempted to outstay their allotted time for bathing by hours.

The great white-capped waves of the sea roll in to the shore with the power and the regularity of movement of a mighty army making its last triumphant attack upon its foe; their deep thundering tones as they dash high on the shore are indeed a fitting simile to the loud beat of the army drums upon such a momentous occasion.

Overhead flocks of seagulls flap their white wings with such continuity as they encircle about, now skimming downward and again fluttering upward to regain their previous height; that they lend even greater wonder to the scene.

All is one vast stretch of gray and white tones.

Later in the day only by a couple of hours or so, when the women and other members of the family start down to the strand to bask in the sunshine and perhaps to partake also of the salt sea dip, the scene has become as changed as if it had never assumed its former appearance. The high wind has calmed. The breakers splash as gently against the long stretch of strand as so many rose boughs being blown to and fro by gentle spring zephyrs. Only occasionly may be seen the graceful form of a gull silhouetted against the horizon.

Now the scene has lost its somber gray and has donned its peace robes of blue and white.

Still later in the day, perhaps just about the time that the business men are beginning to return to their homes the vast stretch of ocean has again changed its mood and has become so glorious that those who have come down to the beach for an evening's enjoyment, forget their pleasures for the time, and scatter themselves by thousands from one end of the strand to the other to drink deep of its marvellous beauty.

The waves are neither wild nor calm; but have assumed an intense restlessness that makes them more than fascinating. The sun has dropped so low on the western horizon that all the world seems to have become for the moment a vapor of gold, while the waves bear great streamers of the deepest gold from the sun to shore.

Only for a little while the sun resumes this position and then it finally slips altogether out of sight leaving the whole landscape from ocean to mountains and from one great canyon to another, crimsoned with its blood red tones.

Beautiful "Hotel Windermere By The Sea," the largest and the most prominent hosteiry in this world noted beauty spot, commands perhaps one of the most inspiring views of this wonderful, ever changing scene possible to be had on the coast, situated as it is high up on the bluffs.

It is little wonder that for this reason, many of the easterners who have been accustomed heretofore to confine their visits when in California to the mountain cities alone, or to the other beach cities, are flocking to "Hotel Windermere By The Sea" in such numbers now, that it is many times difficult to get accomodations at this strictly high-class hotel, without engaging quarters for some time ahead.

"Hotel Windermere By The Sea" is a huge, structure of snowy concrete, planned in the charming Mission style, with high mission towers and graceful arches, finished with a scarlet roof of Spanish tile.

The rooms are arranged throughout the entire hotel, so that they may be used single or en suite with or without private bath; and practically every guest room in the hotel commands a superb view of the sea.

The spacious and exquisitely beautiful ball-room which is the scene each week of some charming affair held by some of the social e'ite of Santa Monica or any other of the prominent Southern California cities, has just recently been dedicated to the city of Santa Monica as a gallery for the famed amateur photographs of Mode Wineman; whose wonderful work has made him decidedly prominent in art and social circles, throughout the United States.

These rare art gems are hung on the walls and are mounted upon easels throughout the Windermere ball-room for the inspection of the public of Santa Monica.

There is a well appointed billiard and pool room for the guests of the hotel, almost adjoining the ball-room and a charming, out-door Japanese Garden just outside of the ball-room, the latter of which is especially in demand during the evenings in which there is being held some social affair in the ball-room, at which time it is profusely hung with Japanese lanterns and set with tables and affords a charming place to partake of the refreshments.

Every night of the calendar an orchestra affording the best music plays in the large lobby of "Hotel Windermere By The Sea".

OLD-TIME AUCTION.

[New York Sun:] The following interesting notice of an auction sale of Manhattan real estate appeared in the New York Gazette in February, 1748. The property was "to be sold at Publick Vendue, on the first day of March, next." "The House and Ground now in the Possession of Agnes Minott, known by the Sign of the White-Swan, situated near the Ferry-Stairs; as also one Water Lot fronting the same. Any Person inclining to purchase, may, before the Day of Sale, by applying to Nicholas Van Dam of William Cockcroft, be informed of the Title, which is indisputable. Likewise to be Sold by the above said Person, the House and Ground now in the Possession of Mrs. Elizabeth Breese, situated near the Old Slip Market: Any Person inclining to purchase (conditionally) may, by applying to above-said Persons, agree for the same."

Growing City.

populous towns, but most of it is included in the agricultural districts.

"All this land should soon be devoted to intensive farming," said Mayor Rose yesterday. "It is too valuable to remain in unwieldy ranches, and will produce more and be worth more when every inch is put to work. Ultimately it will nearly all be cut into small holdings, each of the five or ten acre ranches being worth more in actual value and from an income producing standpoint than are the big ranches of today.

"If the 135,000 acres were to be divided into tracts of five acres each and one family of five persons living on each ranch, there would be 135,000 population in that part of Los Angeles alone. Such a situation can hardly be brought about by 1915, but subdivision and settlement will have been brought about to so great an extent that 135,000 inhabitants in the annexed territory does not seem to me over optimistic. This, of course, takes into consideration that the more dense population of the annexed towns will offset that part of the agricultural districts that will remain sparsely settled.

"Los Angeles with a population of 750,000 in exposition year is no visionary prediction. It is based on common sense and a business-like survey of the conditions that we know exist."

READY FOR ACTION.

The commission, having held many meetings and conferences with people of outlying communities, and arrived at definite conclusions as to the conditions of consolidation, regards its actual work as now terminated. The Mayor said yesterday that the body will not be dissolved but the members will hold themselves ready to meet whenever their services are required. Upon request of representatives of any community they will convene and be prepared to discuss features of annexation and to assist in every way they can the speedy accomplishment of the consolidation plan.

The territory to be annexed and served with water is divided as follows: Maclay district, 6200 acres; Mission district, 3800 acres; Fernando district, 19,000 acres; Chatsworth district, 27,300 acres; Providencia district, 17,200 acres; Glendale, 17,400 acres; Cahuenga, 30,000 acres; Inglewood, 15,500 acres; Redondo, 22,000 acres.

The Maclay district, which will include land of exceptional value because of its suitability for raising citrus fruit, will have to be supplied by one or two high lines taking water directly from the aqueduct above the lower power drop. It is not contemplated by the commission that all of the Redondo district nor all of Pasadena will be included in the annexation plan.

In their final conclusion embodied in their report to the City Council, the commissioners say that annexation is the only safe and satisfactory method by which the city can sell its water profitably, and the land owners who must have it can secure a permanent right to its use.

ADMINISTRATIVE ECONOMY.

That the consolidation will be an important step in administrative economy appears certain from the investigation of the committee. When the Council voted to establish an efficiency bureau it acted on a report by efficiency experts that the city is wasting $500,000 a year in administration. The same report declared that the division of work between city and county in assessing and collecting taxes is costing a vast sum needlessly. Consolidation of interests and administration, the commission reports, will save the people hundreds of thousands of dollars in taxes. This advantage will accrue both to the residents of the present city, and those to be annexed.

The commission has done its work and now expects the people of the various communities involved in the plan to hold elections and arrange to come into the fold soon enough to take prompt advantage of the distribution of the water.

In a report covering the distribution of aqueduct water, Mulholland has covered fully the physical side of the question. That his conclusions were in no material point in conflict with the political aspects presented to the commission has, in the opinion of the annexation advocates, made the general plan almost certain of accomplishment.

AMPLE FOR ALL.

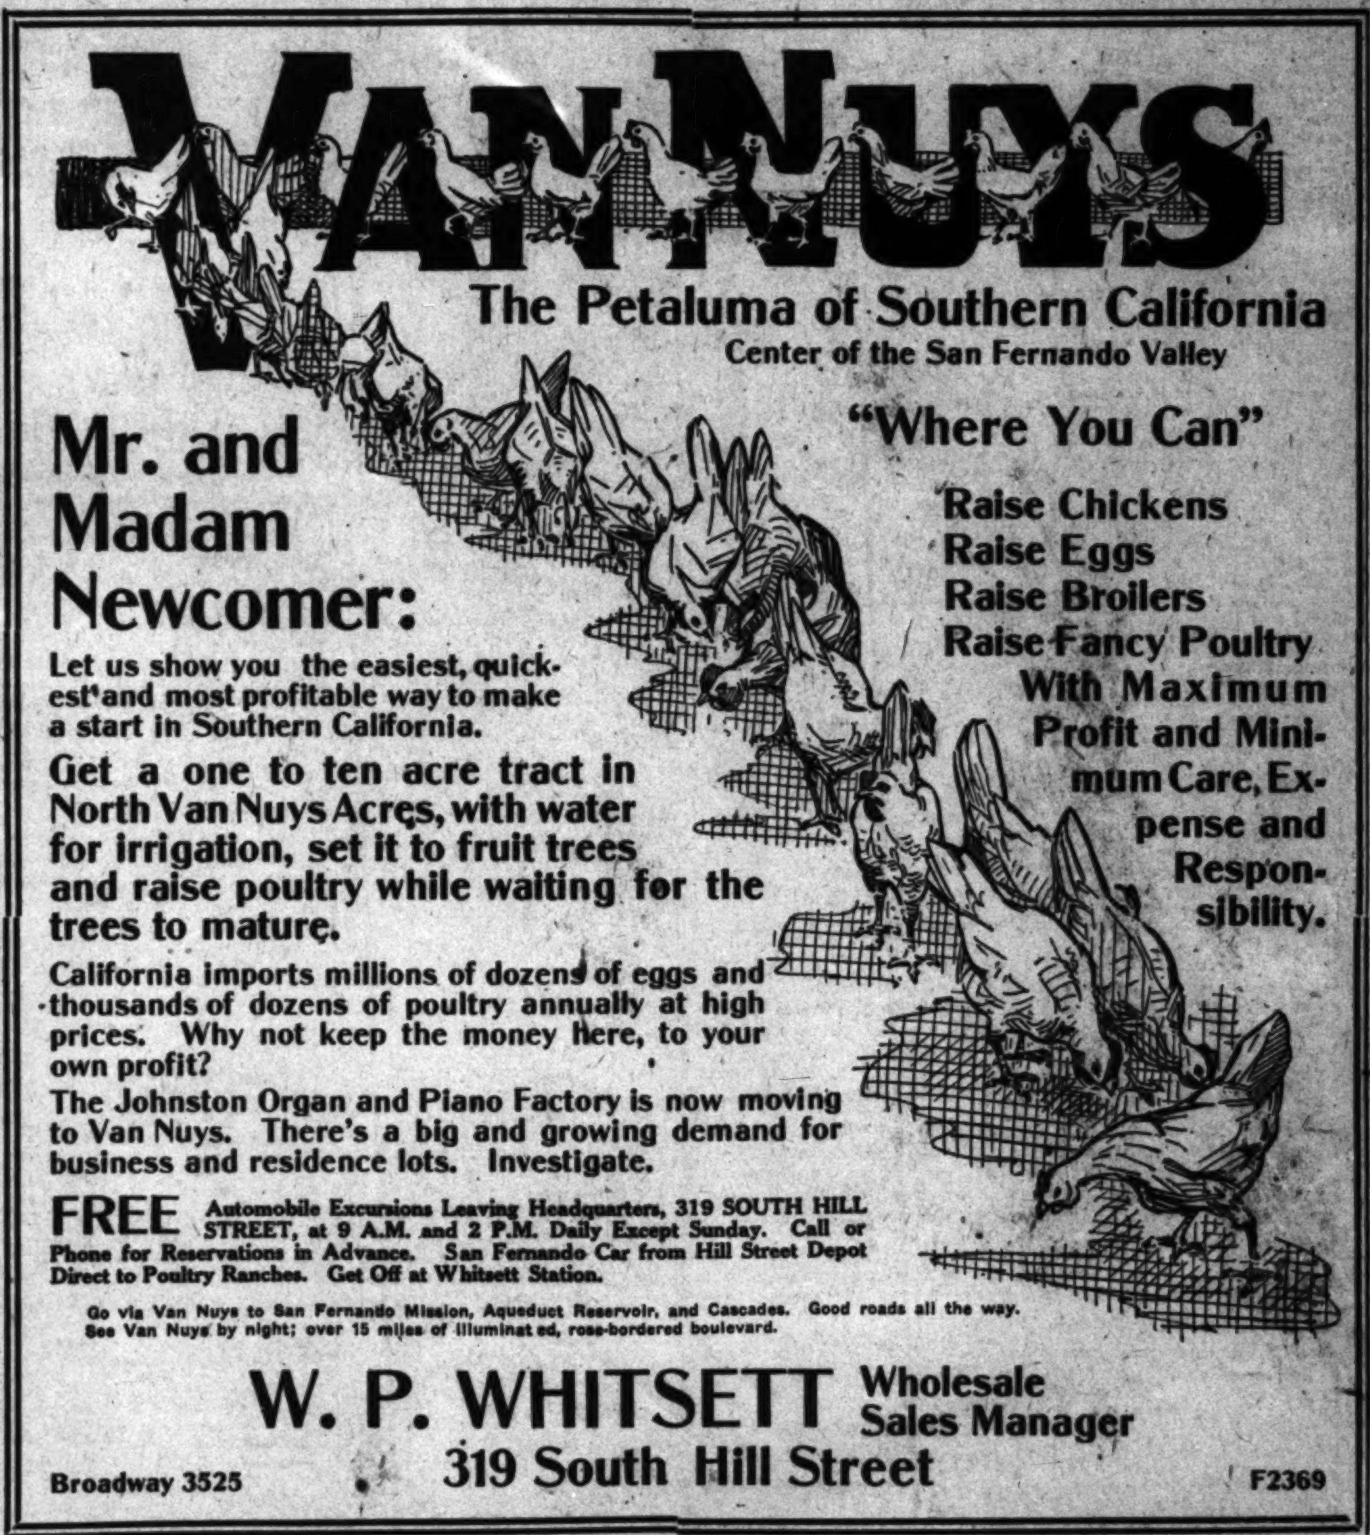
"A thorough study of all the hydrographic conditions of the country to be served," says Mulholland, "leads me to the firm conclusion that with judicious management and intelligent direction, under one head, of the application of this water, all the territory to be described can be amply supplied by having recourse to the return waters which will, beyond a doubt, appear within a few years after the Owens River water shall have been put to universal use, providing the water is used in watersheds to whose basins the city would have access for purpose of recovery.

"This district would be bounded on the north by the Sierra Madre range of mountains, on the east by the easterly boundary of Pasadena prolonged from the base of the mountains southerly to the southerly boundary of the San Antonio ranch, thence westerly to follow the southerly boundary of the ranch and the line of Manhattan avenue, thence southerly and westerly following the south city limits to their intersection with the Shoestring Strip, thence westerly to the Pacific Ocean.

"This area contains about 195,000 acres, not including the area of the city which already will be provided with an ample supply when the 2000 inches allotted is added to that at present available and also when it is remembered that a considerable portion of the area thus embraced has now at least a partial supply.

"Of this area of 195,000 acres, about 170,000 acres is arable. Eighteen thousand inches of water will serve 135,000 acres, so 35,000 acres will have to be supplied by the return waters and I feel quite confident that that amount will be recoverable within a few years after the aqueduct water is put to general and complete use, provided the area selected for this purpose is wisely chosen.

"The limits of the territory to the southeast of the city on which aqueduct water may be spread are sharply defined by reason of the fact that all the country lying in that direction and outside the limits of the described boundaries already has an abundant supply reasonably close to the surface."



VAN NUYS
The Petaluma of Southern California
Center of the San Fernando Valley

Mr. and Madam Newcomer:

Let us show you the easiest, quickest and most profitable way to make a start in Southern California.

Get a one to ten acre tract in North Van Nuys Acres, with water for irrigation, set it to fruit trees and raise poultry while waiting for the trees to mature.

California imports millions of dozens of eggs and thousands of dozens of poultry annually at high prices. Why not keep the money here, to your own profit?

The Johnston Organ and Piano Factory is now moving to Van Nuys. There's a big and growing demand for business and residence lots. Investigate.

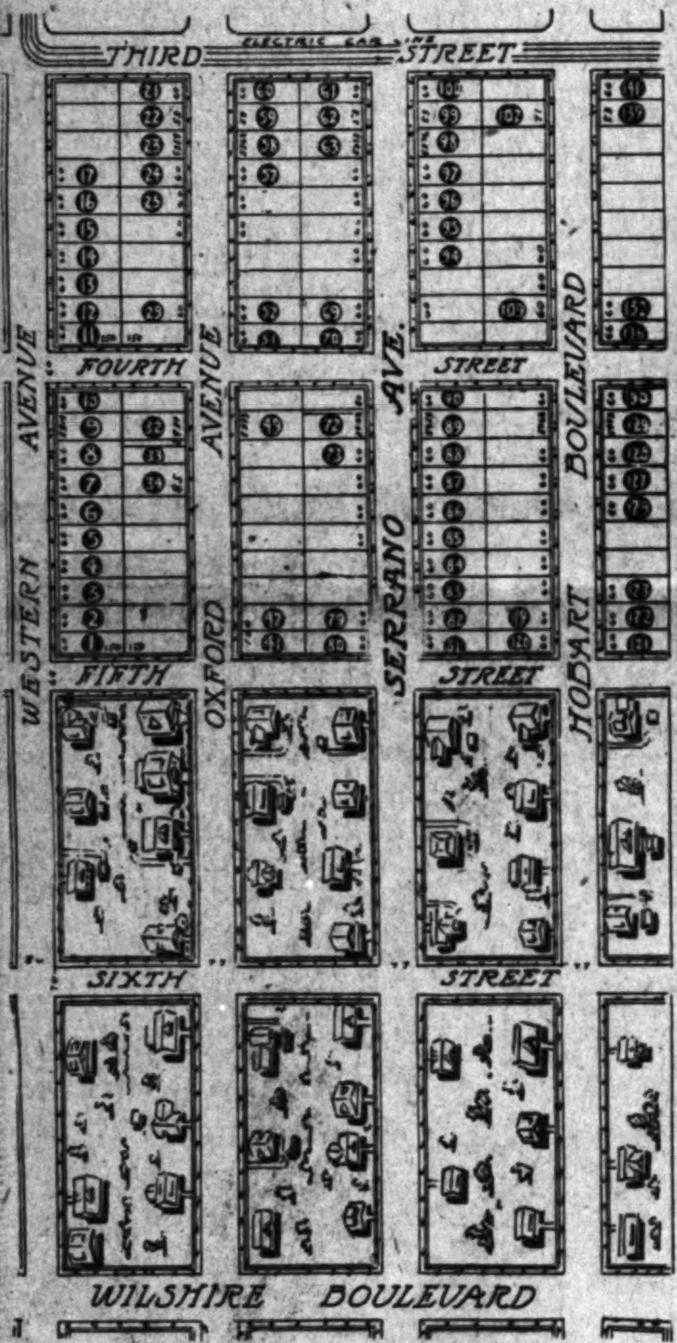
FRANCISCA PARK

Rattling good buy,
A splendid location,
Nothing as cheap in the city.
Cash or terms,
It is in center of Wilshire District,
Selling fast,
Come see it today.
A dandy place to live.

Plan to buy at once.
A sure profit for you.
Right on two car lines.
Keep this in mind.



Everyone who has read the newspapers during the past four weeks well knows that beautiful FRANCISCA PARK is located in the Wilshire District, away from the heat and noise of the busy center of Los Angeles. Every thoughtful reader has also noticed the rapidity with which the lots in FRANCISCA PARK have been sold and has come to the conclusion that there must be genuine merit in the proposition offered to the home-seeker.

It has been our purpose to present to the public the plain, uncolored facts about FRANCISCA PARK. It is true that we are enthusiastic about the matter, but so are the purchasers of nearly 100 lots purchased in the last few months, many of which have houses already built and many more are being built upon at the present time.

One client, a man well up in professional circles, said: "FRANCISCA PARK is certainly the talk of the town." He bought two lots.

A woman of great refinement said: "I will take one and a half lots upon which to build a house and two lots for investment."

Every lot in FRANCISCA PARK is level and within a few inches of the street grade.

It has all improvements, including sewer, city water, gas, electric lights and paved streets. All connections are made to the curb line.

Our terms are of the easiest, our price is the cheapest, our location is the best.

A reasonable discount will be allowed for cash.

In order to reach FRANCISCA PARK, take Western Avenue car line, stop at Third and Oxford, where you will find our branch office and salesman in attendance.

Goldfield.

STEADY STRIDE IN ACTIVITIES.

Record of Developments at Leading Mines.

Consolidated Estimate Is for Good Record.

October Work Hampered by Flood Water.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

GOLDFIELD, Nov. 14.—Operations throughout the Goldfield district have continued along the customary lines and at a number of points where ore has been exposed during the past few weeks the showing is still highly encouraging and the properties are in better condition than ever before. Discoveries have been made at points widely separated, and in four instances at least these new developments are regarded by mining men as of great importance.

The real significance of these developments has apparently not been fully realized outside of the district and has by no means been reflected by market quotations. In the present lethargic condition of the mining-stock market this fact has caused no great surprise, but at almost any other period in the camp's history the properties involved would have attracted much attention and the stocks would have registered strong advances, with a marked upward influence on a number of other local issues.

Despite the lack of attention accorded Goldfield stocks, it is realized by experienced mining men that the mining industry in the Goldfield district has never been upon as sound a basis as now, and it has never, since the boom leasing days, revealed as substantial promise of again assuming the foremost rank in the United States as a producer of gold bullion. One of the favorable signs of the times is to be found in the increase in leasing operations, as well as in the plans of the operating companies to carry their work to great depth and block out large tonnages of milling ore.

A normal production is maintained by the Goldfield Consolidated Company. Preliminary estimates for the month of October show that the tonnage mined in that month was nearly up to the high record. The output is estimated at 30,483 tons, containing approximately $337,000, with a net realization of $154,000.

The report of the manager setting forth the production and earnings in September stated that all of the flood water that flowed into the mine workings was not removed until toward the middle of October and hence it was not possible to maintain a normal production from some of the best stopes in the mine. Everything is said to be upon a regular producing basis again, however, and it is improbable that the company will suffer any further interruptions in its work.

On the 1750-foot level of the St. Ives mine of the Goldfield Merger Company the southwest crosscut is nearing the boundary line of the Union Jack claim of the Atlanta Mines Company and when this point is reached the latter company will proceed to develop and explore its own territory, the objective point being the continuation of the great Consolidated ledge, on its dip into Atlanta territory.

The Merger company will then start work on its own account and the manager has already been instructed by the directors to proceed at once to open a drift from the crosscut on the 1750-foot level. This will be for the purpose of exploring on this level the fissured ground through which the shaft passed at about 1700 feet. Some work has been carried on lately on the 1330-foot level, where seams of good ore were exposed in driving to connect with the Grizzly Bear workings to the west.

Development continues in the Florence Goldfield mine along the usual lines and it is reported that this work has met with good results in opening up a large tonnage of milling ore. The company has ceased shipping ore to the Bonnie Clare mill and will soon make a clean-up of the zinc boxes and cyanide tanks used in the treatment of its ore.

Development continues on two levels of the Blue Bull mine and ore of excellent grade has been exposed in the vein through which the shaft passed at about 500 feet. A crosscut is driven to penetrate this vein on the 700-foot level and has but a short distance to go. On the 700-foot level the southwest crosscut has penetrated the main Victor vein, which is shown to be of large proportions, and drifts are now being extended to explore this vein for an ore shoot.

GOOD SHOWING.

The ore exposed on the 500-foot level of the Sandstorm-Kendall Consolidated has continued to make a strong showing, and the east crosscut has passed through the big vein and reached the hanging wall, showing the ledge to be forty feet wide, with seams of pay ore on both walls and a wide section of the vein composed of quartz that yields encouraging assays.

Shipments from the Jumbo Extension mine to the leased mill at Bonnie Clare are continuously made at the rate of about forty-five tons daily, and it is reported that excellent results have been had in the treatment of this product, although the ore is of comparatively low grade. No ore of shipping grade has been mined recently, but the concentrate from the mill is shipped to the Utah smelters and the last carload, containing over fifty tons, yielded $106 per ton net. Development continues in the mine and new deep levels will be opened up shortly. The Jumbo Extension Company will proceed to explore the portion of the adjoining Velvet claim, which it has acquired under lease from the Merger Mines Company.

Better progress will be made in the future in the work of sinking the enlarged shaft of the Goldfield Oro, as the management has engaged three shifts of miners and will be enabled to avoid any difficulties arising from water entering the shaft. The formation now showing in the bottom of the shaft is regarded as encouragin and the property is in excellent condition.

Drifts are being driven north and south from the main cross-cut on the 500-foot level of the Booth, and the vein, which is of large size, shows quantities of good-looking quartz. This vein was explored for some distance on the 350-foot level, at which point some good assays were obtained. On the Crackerjack property, north of the Oro, rich ore has been found in surface croppings. It is apparent that this vein, in which pay ore has been discovered for a long distance, continues north, traversing the Adams and Conquerer Consolidated properties.

PENETRATES BIG VEIN.

Three shifts of men are to sink the main shaft of the Silver Pick, and with the improved pumping plant in operation good progress is assured. The shaft will be sunk to the 1000-foot level as rapidly as possible. Water has caused some difficulty here and it is apparent that the shaft has penetrated the big vein opened on upper levels by the Golden Pick lease workings. The Lone Star Consolidated is developing a new vein on the 320-foot level, and pay ore is exposed in lease workings at the east end of the group.

Development continues on the C.O.D. Consolidated, where, at depths of 200 and 300 feet, ore of good milling grade, together with a large tonnage of low-grade material that can ultimately be treated profitably, has been exposed in development by the Goldfield Mines Operating Company, which is operating a five-year lease on the Gold Bar and Victor claims. It is the plan of the leasing company—if sufficient pay ore can be blocked out—to erect a mill of about fifty tons daily capacity on the ground, and a millsite has already been surveyed adjoining the collar of the Gold Bar shaft.

The New Jersey Mines Company has been quietly proceeding with its development work at two points in the eastern-central part of this district, on its Excelsior group, and on the property of the Goldfield Imperial Company, which it holds under a long-term lease, and which adjoins the Blue Bull property on the east. On the Excelsior property the shaft is down over 400 feet and quartz has been exposed that has yielded excellent assays. Manager Harry Ernest of the New Jersey Mines Company has gone to New York to confer with the men at the head of the company, but will return before the end of the month.

On the Diamondfield Black Butte property the Millard lease has continued operations and is driving along the line of the fault plane that has apparently thrown the extension at the north of the big Quartzite ore body far to the west. This ore body produced over $400,000 in rich shipping ore in the early days of the camp, and the present work is expected to result in finding the faulted portion of the deposit. The work is in pursuance of the advice of one of the foremost mining engineers who has operated here.

Shipments of ore from the property of the Nevada Eagle Company, situated four miles west of camp, have been interrupted, owing to the condition of the roads between the mine and the railroad, but will be resumed before long. The Nancy Donaldson Company has been doing some development work and prospecting and will continue its work on a broader scale at a point where some rich ore has been found near the surface.

SMELTER TO COST SIX MILLIONS.

UNITED VERDE BUILDS GREAT PLANT AT CLARKDALE.

Description of Big Construction. Mining Company Loses in Suit for Damages Under Workmen's Compensation Act, but Appeals to Supreme Court.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Nov. 14.—The new smelter at Clarkdale will cost the United Verde Mining Company more than $6,000,000, when transportation equipment is included. It will have more than twice the capacity of the present plant at Jerome, and its automatic facilities will permit treatment of ores of much lower grade than now handled, as well as a material broadening of the mineralogical field of operations.

The plant will comprise six roasters, three reverberatory furnaces, 19x100 feet in size; four blast furnaces, each 48x320 inches at the base, and four twelve-foot upright basic converter stands. Work on the new plant was started May 26, 1912, but was delayed awaiting completion of the new railroad.

It is expected the works will be in operation July 1, 1914. One smokestack will be 300 feet high, the tallest in Arizona. Much of the power will be electric, furnished by the Arizona Power Company from its generating works on Fossil Creek. Despite this, the power-house will be 60x331 feet in size. The site chosen for the works is on an elevated shelf, affording plenty of dumping ground. At the mine and around the new works the company is now employing about 1500 men.

During a recent session of the Legislature a workmen's compulsory compensation law was passed prescribing the manner in which corporations should pay claims for injuries. A few months ago John Ujack was given a verdict of $8000 against the Consolidated Arizona Mining and Smelting Company for the loss of a leg. The company's attorneys have appealed from the decision to the Supreme Court, maintaining that the compensation act should have been resorted to by the employee.

The well-known Henrietta mine in Big Bug section has been sold by the Braganza company to an English syndicate, the deal having been closed in Chicago lately. The mine has been well developed and is favorably situated on a spur of the Poland railroad. No information has been secured concerning the financial conditions of the transfer.

B. C. Bedlow has sold the White Spar group of six patented claims in Hassayampa district. The claims have high values in lead and silver and considerable tonnage of good ore is on the dumps. The reason given by the seller for disposing of the property is that he has reached the age of 95 years and thinks it about time to retire from active business.

FINISH BIG DAM ACROSS FEATHER

Will Provide Water Pow[illegible] for Steifer Mine.

Angeleno Takes Option [illegible] Plumas Holdings.

Fume-Control Plant [illegible] Completion.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

OROVILLE (Cal.) Nov. [illegible]—[illegible] Steifer Mining Company has completed the great dam across the [illegible] branch of the Feather River, and has commenced work on the new [illegible] which will be a mile long. Construction of the dam has been [illegible] for three months and is designed to provide ample water power for the mine and plant. It is built of concrete and rock strongly [illegible] with steel, and is the most [illegible] piece of engineering ever [illegible] in this section.

The dam is located in an [illegible] inaccessible box canyon and all the material employed in its making [illegible] lowered in a car operated by a [illegible] line hoist. The barrier is [illegible] high, eight feet thick at the [illegible] and four feet at top of [illegible] new flume will connect with the [illegible] flume running to the [illegible] from the former dam.

In the mine a large body of [illegible] lent-grade gravel has been [illegible] out, and with the completion of [illegible] new work the management [illegible] to commence heavy production. [illegible] property is located in a rich [illegible] of the Magalia district, for [illegible] of the most important [illegible] fields in the State. The company [illegible] been handicapped in the past by [illegible] tion among stockholders, and [illegible] troubles, but the outlook is [illegible] for a profitable future.

William H. Loftus of Los Ang[illegible] understood to be representing [illegible] capitalists of the Angel City [illegible] taken an option on the [illegible] tain Consolidated, Plumas [illegible] ment, and other properties [illegible] Porte, in the southern [illegible] Plumas county. The price [illegible] in the option was $500,000, [illegible] $25,000 was to be paid [illegible] and an additional $[illegible] ninety days.

The balance of $450,000 [illegible] paid out of the net proceeds [illegible] from operations, after deducting [illegible] costs of operation, development [illegible] explorations, or in acquiring [illegible] timber lands, etc. The [illegible] further specifies that Loftus [illegible] sociates are to start work [illegible] thirty days from acceptance [illegible] tion, that the work is to be [illegible] ly prosecuted thereafter, [illegible] and dollars per month [illegible] pended in development until [illegible] of $50,000 has been disbursed.

The company controlling [illegible] process of desulphurizing [illegible] fumes has practically completed [illegible] experimental smelter at [illegible] initial trials will commence [illegible] the end of November. All [illegible] chinery is in place and the [illegible] flue is being riveted [illegible] air-hammers, operated by [illegible] ly-installed air-compressor.

The fumes from the [illegible] nace will first pass through [illegible] which is 300 feet long. [illegible] is supplied with thirty-[illegible] and the top is jacketed [illegible] erated air to cool, the [illegible] It is expected that [illegible] fumes come in contact [illegible] tensely cold jackets, the [illegible] other elements will drop [illegible] into the hoppers below, [illegible] various substances can [illegible] lected. Fumes escaping [illegible] erating system will be [illegible] treated to eliminate [illegible] other elements.

A special condensing [illegible] ating machine will be [illegible] early tests to drive the [illegible] over the flue, but later [illegible] to use liquid sulphur [illegible] agent of intense refrigeration. [illegible] This will be manufactured [illegible] sulphur dioxide gas, [illegible] expected to eliminate [illegible] destructive agencies [illegible] and become a highly [illegible] product.

The management [illegible] the first run about [illegible] a shipment of highly [illegible] from the Balaklala mine, [illegible] delegation of mining [illegible] lurgists have signified [illegible] of being present. [illegible] ers have alike become [illegible] nancially in the process, [illegible] said to be the first time [illegible] tory of California copper [illegible] the warring factions have [illegible] common ground.

MONTANANS AFTER [illegible]

Negotiations are under way [illegible] transfer of the [illegible] mine, on Lafayette ridge, [illegible] ghany, to a company of [illegible] ists. The mine is owned by [illegible] George Fossler of Los Angeles [illegible] a north extension of the [illegible] sus mine, one of the [illegible] in Sierra county. It has [illegible] worked in a small way, [illegible] duced much rich ore. The [illegible] capitalists desire to work [illegible] under bond and lease, [illegible] chase price is reported [illegible] mate $100,000.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY.

INQUIRIES FROM AND ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Flos Ferri.

SALT LAKE CITY (Utah) Oct. 18.—Q.: I am sending to your office two samples of ore or mineral which I desire named. The grayish kidney is the most peculiar thing that I ever examined, and it was found by me in a small deposit of iron ore in Whisky Canyon over the Colorado line. The black sample I hope is ozocerite. It is from a new locality about twelve miles southeast of Castle Gate. Please name these ores, and describe them. Kindly oblige. "FIVE PROSPECTORS."

A.: Glad to hear from you one and all. The gray-brown specimen is a very handsome form of "flower of iron," it is mineralogically named at the sub-heading, and is a coralloid form of the mineral aragonite (a variety of calcium carbonate.)

This variety of lime carbonate occurs in certain caves as a coating on the roofs, sides and bottoms. It is of value for collections of mineral in colleges, and so forth.

The brownish-black sample is asphaltum.

Pyrolusite.

SAN DIMAS, Oct. 19.—Q.: This rock comes from about twenty-one miles north of San Dimas. Does it carry manganese or graphite? What is the cause of the shape of it? Has this kind of rock any value. What is it used for? E. C. S.

A.: The sample is in the form of a reniform mass, and when broken shows a radiating, fibrous structure. It is steel-gray in color, opaque, streak black and soiling to the fingers, brittle, of metallic luster, sp. gr. [illegible] hardness, 4.65. The sample carries over 60 per cent. manganese; it is soluble in hydrochloric acid and during the process chlorine is evolved which is recognized by the odor. In strong blowpipe heat (in the outer flame) the substance becomes brownish-red, but does not fuse. With borax effervesces strongly, and gives a bead of amethystine color in the outer flame (manganese reaction.)

Pyrolusite is the most valuable ore of manganese, and it is of especial value in the glass industry, and, owing to its over 35 per cent. oxygen content, it is of great value in the manufacture of chlorine and its by-products.

Pyrolusite is often confused with magnetite, limonite, hematite, specular iron and patronite, and antimony ores are frequently taken to be ores of manganese, but, mark you, antimony ores are fusible in the flame of a candle, while those of manganese are nearly all infusible.

Nature is responsible for "the shape of it," and by the shape mineralogists, very often, recognize the mineral at sight.

Epidote.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19.—Q.: You find in this sack a sample that looks like sulphur, vanadium, yellow lead carbonate, and I don't know what else. Will you test the sample and give me the name of it? It was taken from a stringer on my copper claim about four miles from Parker, G. R. F.

A.: Glad to hear from you. Epidote is a mineral that occurs in so many forms and varieties that at first it is most confusing to detect it without being familiar therewith.

The lime-iron epidote includes arendalite, bucklandite and pistacite, and the last-named is "epidote proper." [illegible] is one more lime-iron epidote. Then appears in mineralogy the lime epidote, such as zoisite (lime [illegible]) and there is a manganese [illegible]. The cerium minerals also [illegible] as epidote. Allanite, thulite and [illegible] are also epidotes.

Epidote is fusible before the blowpipe, in powder, after ignition or fusion, is soluble in hydrochloric acid, and forms a gelatinous silica.

Epidote crystals are frequently attached to slates; it occurs also in [illegible], and it is found in igneous rocks. It occurs very often in [illegible], granular, and in columnar forms, including forms of the [illegible] varieties (acicular.) Epidote is very often of a green color; it also occurs in yellow, gray, red and black. All epidote is transparent to subtransparent at the edges, and it has a vitreous luster, pearly on cleavage planes. Streak gray, with the exception of the manganese variety, which is red; it is brittle, of an uneven fracture, 6 to 7 in the scale of hardness, and of sp. gr. [illegible]3.5.

Your sample is lime-iron epidote; [illegible] 3.3; hardness 7, scratches glass. Material represented by the sample is sought for by mineral collectors.

Silicate.

[illegible]SIDE, Oct. 20.—Q.: Kindly [illegible] of the several products to [illegible] from the enclosed material, and their percentage, if you [illegible]. R. J. B.

A.: Peculiar stuff! Chemically it [illegible], aluminum silicate, [illegible] of lime, magnesia, and potash, 1.12 per cent. sodium chloride, [illegible] over 20 per cent. water in [illegible], and it acts like Fuller's [illegible] of mineralogy when placed in [illegible] by forming an impalpable powder, [illegible] to pieces, as it were. Mineralogically and chemically the sample is a ferruginous Fuller's earth.

Ferruginous Quartz.

[illegible] ANGELES, Oct. 20.—Q.: This [illegible] is from the Verdugo Mountains, near Glendale. Please advise [illegible] any value worthy of [illegible]. R. M. E.

[illegible] The rock is a very doubtful one [illegible] high assay features from [illegible] at the subheading; it is [illegible] granular form, and [illegible] pyrite with mica is [illegible] sparingly.

Manganese Dioxide.

[illegible], Oct. 20.—Q.: Am sending two samples by parcel post. [illegible] and the other a black [illegible]. [illegible] them both assayed [illegible] and lead, but got no trace [illegible] metal. Samples come from [illegible] miles east of Keeler. [illegible] me through your [illegible] column what minerals and [illegible] they contain. Both samples [illegible] one foot below surface of [illegible]. J. S.

[illegible] Glad to hear from you, and [illegible] also. The blackish [illegible] evolves chlorine when in contact [illegible] hydrochloric acid; it stains [illegible], and the sample is named [illegible] subheading. The quartz is "off [illegible]," is vitreous and greasy; [illegible] "bull quartz," and the [illegible] low values in zinc, [illegible] and antimony. Pretty poor

[illegible] and Aragonite.

[illegible] (Nev.) Oct. 20.—Q.: [illegible] please let me know what [illegible] these two samples [illegible] for borax, potash and zinc. I am a subscriber for your paper for a number of years. W. M. D.

A.: Glad to hear from you. No. 1 consists of two specimens which are chiefly aragonite (variety of lime carbonate;) zinc and manganese, a trace of each. No. 2 is a variety of polishing powder. Boron not present in any sample. Potash trace only.

Hatchettine.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—Q.: Kindly let me know through your minerals column of The Times what this is? J. A. S.

A.: There are traces of hatchettine (mineral tallow) in the saponite samples with traces of potash. Fuller's earth present. Hatchettine (when pure) is a mineral tallow consisting of 85 per cent. carbon with 15 per cent. hydrogen (approximately.) The samples are, however, of no commercial value.

Silver Present.

GOLCANDA (Nev.) Oct. 22.—Q.: Will you please give me the names of the metals these samples contain? This property is situated twelve miles south of Golconda on the east side of the Sonoma range. The vein is from two to four feet wide and crops on the surface or a distance of 2000 feet. There has been some lead ore, carrying good values in silver, shipped from this property. The formation is lime and porphyry. Sample No. 1 is from the bottom of a thirty-foot shaft, and No. 2 is from an open cut about 1000 feet south of the shaft on the same vein. No. 3 is from the same vein, between the cut and the shaft. I see by your paper that you test samples for the different metals. I think these samples are tungsten and uranium. With best wishes for The Times. T. M. (Prospector.)

A.: Accept thanks for your good wishes. Uranium and tungsten not present in any sample. No. 1, iron oxides, manganese and traces of lead; silver present. No. 2, quartz, lime present: iron oxides, lead and silver sparingly present, with manganese a trace. No. 3, the yellowish matter in this sample is not carnotite, it is simply a mixture of ferrous and ferric oxides. Did you pan this material for gold?

Magnetite.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22—Q.: Please test sample for tungsten. This was taken from a lead cutting across an iron vein at a point fifteen miles northwest of Cajon, and the stringer crossing lead almost at right angles is about eighteen inches wide. A. J. R.

A.: The sample is a handsome, crystalized variety of magnetite. Tungsten not present in the mass.

Variety of Soot.

OXNARD, Oct. 23.—Q.: Under separate cover I am sending a piece of substance picked up on the beach, and no one here seems to know what it is or whether there is any value to it? I send it to you to find out. If any expense let me know. W.E.M.

A.: Glad to hear from you. No "expense." The sample is of the chemical composition of carbonaceous soot obtained from "oil stacks" and other matter occurring from incomplete combustion. The value of such material is low.

Altered Dolomite.

JOHANNESBURG, Oct. 23.—Q.: I am sending you by mail a sample of a large deposit near Searles, Cal. Owing to the peculiar formation and location I would very much appreciate all information concerning same, and if it is of commercial value? Thanking you for past favors. T.

A.: Glad to hear from you. The sample carries carbonate of lime with silica. It is chiefly lime carbonate with magnesium and aluminum present in the mass, and it is probably pseudomorphic after Dolomite.

The commerical value of the deposit can only be determined by thorough sampling; commerical tests; distance from transportation with tests on other material of the deposit in the plaster mixtures for wall coating, cement, brick, and so forth. No practical advice can be given on minute samples from a deposit that will vary at every foot of development.

Aluminous Mud.

LANCASTER, Oct. 24.—Q.: Sample in glass jar from the undersigned. M. J. W.

A.: The sample is a mass of sticky clay, and would answer for brick manufacture. There is a trace of microscopical iron disulphide with traces of iron sulphate in the mass. Correspondents should make their wishes known in letters showing what is desired.

Quartz.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—Q.: Is there any thing of value in the sample enclosed? It was picked up near Goff's, Cal. H. F.

A.: The quartz carries pseudomorphic matter after pyrite in low percentages, with trace of microscopical pyrite still in the mass. Iron oxides and traces of lime are the chief impurities in the mass, and material represented by the sample is of no value unless assay returns show gold.

Quartz and Granite.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—Q.: The enclosed two samples come from the San Gabriel canyon. Would be pleased to know if of commercial value, and request information on the rocks. J. A. S.

A.: Sample in white sack is a mass of quartz and porphyritic rock: carrying lime traces, pyrite, and lead a trace. In blue sack we find altered pegmatite (graphic granite) with iron, manganese, and lime sparingly present. Not much "values," commercially.

White Jasper.

PASADENA, Oct. 25.—Q.: Would you through your Sunday paper inform me regarding the rock enclosed. It is from San Luis Obispo county, Cal. What is it?

Is it of any value in the mineral industries? J. M. W.

A.: The sample is a white, very impure jasper. In the mass, and running throughout the sample, with incrustations are: manganese dioxide, iron oxide, opal silica and aluminum silicate. Of no commercial value.

Pure Kaolin Inquiry.

WHITTIER, Oct. 25.—Q.: Will you give me the name of the gentleman living in Kern county who has found Kaolin. I happen to know of a ready market for pure Kaolin. Do you happen to know of absolutely pure Kaolin in California? O. H.

A.: Among other samples we received from W .H., of Edison, Cal., a small sample of altered feldspar with Kaolin present in the mass, and the result was duly published in this column.

We keep letters of correspondents long enough to transfer matter therein contained to this column, and then "burn 'em up."

If this should meet the "gaze" of W. H., Edison, Cal., he will please send his address to the editor of this department.

It places us in an awkward position when communications from ore buyers are received requesting names of correspondents, and offering shares, profits, etc. Such work is foreign to the objects of this column, and not in ten years have we ever mixed personal business therewith.

Ore buyers can "smoke out" the names of correspondents by advertising only.

Answering your inquiry relating to "absolutely" pure Kaolin deposits in California: we do not know of any such locations.

STRENGTHENING ITS SUPREMACY.

ARIZONA GAINS POWER AS KING OF COPPER STATES.

Inspiration Mill and New Miami to Cause Big Forward Stride to Be Made in Production of Red Metal. Location Suit Is Arousing Much Interest.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

GLOBE (Ariz.) Nov. 14.—The supremacy of Arizona as a copper-producing State will soon be increased by the operation in this district of the new Inspiration mill, and of the new smelter near Miami. It is a notable fact that the mining industry generally throughout the United States is decreasing in output and importance, save in this State, where the prospects were never brighter than at present.

The new sixth unit of the Miami concentrator has been placed in operation and is securing several pounds of copper to the ton better extraction than the other units, which now are to be altered to correspond with the later system. East section is to be enlarged as well, until the mill shall have a capacity for the treatment of 4000 tons of ore a day, as compared with the present capacity of 3000 tons.

The company is about to start an experimental mill for the accurate testing of many features in concentration, with a view to a greater degree of efficiency in the main mill. Extraction now runs about 70 per cent., and the cost of copper production has been something over 9 cents a pound for a production of nearly 3,000,000 pounds during October. This output was secured by the milling of 91,613 tons of ore.

Grading is well under way on a railroad to the site of the new smelter and plans are being made for the installation of an aerial tramway from a point in Lost Gulch, where limestone will be secured for fluxing.

There seems no doubt that the Calumet and Arizona has made an extremely rich strike of silver ore in its workings on property lately bonded at Superior. The utmost secrecy has prevailed concerning the strike. The ore has been sacked and shipped under copper, ores for treatment to the company's smelter at Douglas. The C. & A. workings have reached a depth necessitating the installation of air compressors for ventilation and drill work.

Keen interest is being locally taken in a suit of the government against the location of a number of claims of the Barney Copper Company on the ground of no proper showing of mineral on the surface. If the contention of the government is sustained in the courts, it will probably be necessary in the future to sink a diamond drill hole to a considerable depth in order to hold ground in the event it is demonstrated to be mineral bearing. It is a fact that many of the best mines of this district are under barren-surface ground.

Publicity has been given the location of a mineral find lately made by Pete Moraga and assumed to be the famous Lost Dutchman mine. It is in the Pinto Creek district, across the Wheatfields range from Globe. Investigation has failed to discover anything but float, picked up from the bottom of a narrow cleft in the limestone, which runs into an unattractive cavern that can be followed for about 400 feet.

NEW TOWN STARTED.

First Unit of City to Be Built Across River From Sacramento Now Being Laid Out.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 15.—At last, and after forty years, a city at West Sacramento is to be a reality. Engineers began work this morning laying out "Unit No. 1" in the new city site across the river. Twelve hundred residence lots will comprise the first subdivision, which will be placed on the market inside the next thirty days. Announcement is made that street car service between Sacramento and West Sacramento will be inaugurated upon the opening of the new city, supplementing the service of the Oakland and Antioch trains from Sacramento to San Francisco. It is said that a 5-cent fare between Sacramento and West Sacramento will be adopted. A good highway is also provided for automobiles, bicycles and other vehicles, the county road from the west end of the M-street bridge having recently been macadamized. It is now intended to put in cement sidewalks from the bridge to the new city site, a distance of less than one mile. A boulevard is now being constructed, which makes a junction with the county road at a point in "Unit No. 1" and which will connect with Jefferson boulevard, a reinforced concrete highway extending southwest through the entire district.

Contracts have been let for the construction of several new buildings in the new city. Work on the West Sacramento Company's $10,000 administration building starts this week. The most modern utilities and improvements, it is said, will be installed west of the river.

-NIGHT on the Van-Nuys Lankershim Boulevard

For fifteen miles this magnificent double roadway boulevard is illuminated. Handsome electroliers border both sides, forming one of the most splendid auto driveways in the United States. At sundown each evening the lights flash on, literally turning night into day, and remain until 1 a.m.

Contracts have been let for 15 additional miles along West Sherman Way and the State Highway, which will make a thirty-mile lighted way unsurpassed in the entire world.

This boulevard is part of the giant improvement plans of these VAN NUYS-LANKERSHIM LANDS, and but suggest the future in store for these acres. Here will be the suburban homes, the orchards and gardens of Greater Los Angeles.

Think what these little farms will be worth upon the completion of these improvements and under the enormous immigration coming via the Panama Canal. Farms will be the profit makers. Five and ten-acre tracts near this boulevard and electric car with finest soil and suburban advantages. Now as low as $325 on terms extended over three years. Do not delay. Do not overlook this last opportunity in these great close-in lands. Own a country home, a fruit orchard or for subdivision. Our machines make several trips daily.

Hello, There!

WILL GOVERNMENT GET ALL TALKING LINES?

The Administration of President Wilson, It Is Said, Purposes, if Possible, to Attach the Telegraph and Telephone Lines of the Country to the Postoffice—Congressman Lewis Has Been Chosen to Investigate the Subject and Will Write a Bill Providing for Purchase of the Property.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—If the plans of David John Lewis go through, all the telegraph and telephone lines in the United States soon will be owned and operated by the national government.

Rates, he says, will come down and the service will be improved. Mr. Lewis is the legislative father of the parcel post. His bill, passed by the House of Representatives, was amended in the Senate, but credit is given him for initiating the law, though the idea, of course, was old.

Men may say that Mr. Lewis is a Socialist, and he will reply that he is a Democrat. Whatever is said of him will be no answer to his arguments, nor will it stop his efforts to attach the telegraph and telephone business of the country to the postoffice.

"I am no one-fingered man," he told me. "I believe in working with both hands. And this is not a one-fingered nation. Single ideas, ridden regardless of common sense, have carried men and countries to destruction. The Bourbons played on one disabled string, and the people, growing weary of the music, drove them out of Europe.

"'Thank God,' we say, 'the United States is not communistic.' Not wholly, I admit. But we tax property for roads and bridges and all the people—the tramp on foot and the rich man in an automobile—use the roads and bridges and pay no toll.

'Our public schools are communistic. The children of those who pay no taxes sit among the children of those who pay nearly all the taxes. Who would dare assail our public schools?

"'But,' we answer, having been argued down on the first point, 'the United States is not socialistic and never will be.' We forget, however, that the greatest and most successful socialistic enterprise in the world is our postoffice. Every large city supplies its inhabitants with water at a price. That is socialism pure and simple.

"Conservative men, hating communism and socialism, would not close our roads, bridges, schools, or postoffices. All of these agencies of civilization are now a natural part of our daily life and thought.

SOCIALISM DOES NOT SCARE HIM.

"Doctrinally, I am not a Socialist, but the word socialism does not keep me awake at night. If a thing is good, I believe in that thing no matter whence it comes. Our farms, as I see the future, will always be owned by individuals. So will our retail business. The industries and enterprises, however, which can be operated better by the people as a whole will be taken over, perhaps, by the people."

"Including the railroads?" I asked.

"I shall not discuss that subject at this time. I am no thick and thin advocate of any governmental policy, but, like the physician who belongs to what is called the 'regular' school of medicine, I hold that any idea which promotes the general welfare, any method or practice which cures the ills of mankind, even if it originates with the 'quacks,' ought to be adopted. Society is feeling its way. Don't ask me to be a prophet. My interest is entirely with the present."

"That being so," I said, "tell me what you mean to do with the telegraph and telephone companies of the country?"

"Buy them out and turn their property and business over to the Postoffice Department. Neither am I ready to talk with particularity on that subject. I am getting the facts together. My investigations began last March. I hope, however, to give the country a great deal of information before the close of the year."

"Can a bill, providing for and authorizing the purchase of the property of the telegraph and telephone companies, pass the House of Representatives?"

"I am sure of it. I cannot speak with certainty about the Senate. Still I feel safe in predicting that the measure on which I am working will become a law. The bill will be introduced in the House at the next session, which begins in December."

"The government," I said, in an attempt to gain a hint about the financing of the project, "will be called on to spend a lot of money if it goes into the telegraph and telephone business."

Congressman David John Lewis,

Who proposes to attach the telephone and telegraph lines of the country to the postoffice.

"The property to be taken," Mr. Lewis answered, "is worth a lot of money. My idea is to buy out both telegraph companies—the Western Union and the Postal—the Bell Telephone interests and the independent telephone exchanges and long distance lines. There are many short lines owned by farmers. It is not our intention to disturb them. They are cheaply operated and government control of such lines would be of no benefit to the present owners.

"Logically, the telegraph and telephone belong to the postoffice. Each is an instrumentality for the transmission of intelligence. The government takes our written communications and sends them short and long distances with wonderful speed and accuracy and at a low price. It is in the communication business and has for that service the most remarkable and efficient organization in the world.

"But letters constitute only a part of the daily communications of the people. There are millions of telephones in the country which are being used day and night for business and social purposes. The same is true with respect to the telegraph. There is a profit in sending letters for 2 cents apiece. If our postoffices were owned and operated by a corporation of business men, letter postage, I venture to say, would be 5 cents instead of 2 cents.

"The telephone people have no fee that is less than a nickle. That is the common price for messages inside of villages and cities, on this side, at least, of the Mississippi. A letter, on the other hand, is collected in New York, sent to San Francisco and delivered to the person addressed for 2 cents and the government makes money on the transaction.

"I am sure that when the national government owns all the telegraph and telephone lines the prices of both kinds of service can be and will be reduced. The great organization which now operates our postoffices with extraordinary economy and efficiency will be extended to cover the telegraph and telephone business and the people will be better served than ever before and for less money. There would be no object, of course, in spending many millions of dollars for property unless the investment gave every promise of success, not alone in methods of management but in actual money, either earned or saved.

SAYS IT IS A GOLD MINE.

"The postoffice is an old institution with us. We don't think of it very often except superficially. We drop a letter in the box at the street corner and then go about our own affairs, feeling sure that it will reach the person to whom it is written. And it does reach that person. The price for transportation, whether the letter is carried to Maine or Alaska, is 2 cents. A big privately owned corporation, as I have said, would not bother itself with a transaction so utterly insignificant. Why, it costs 5 cents to ride a block on a street car.

"What the postoffice has recently accomplished with the parcel post can be accomplished in the new business which we now propose to undertake. Predictions were made that the government would lose money if it attempted to engage in the business of carrying small packages by mail. It could not compete with the express companies, we were told. Besides, we were warned not to encourage socialism and discourage private enterprise.

"Now let us see what the financial result has been. I have been keeping tabs on the situation. On June 30, 1914, the end of the government year, the parcel post will show a surplus over expenses of $10,000,000. It is a gold mine. The express companies have been damaged, of course, but in all civilized countries the interests of the few must not weigh against the interests of the people as a whole. A machine comes into a factory and displaces twenty men. The twenty men must find their living in some other direction. It is hard on them, but it is good for the rest of the people in that the machine cuts the cost of production.

"There was a gap in the retail transportation of commodities. The railroads wouldn't carry anything for any distance at less than their usual charge on a shipment weighing 100 pounds. They were doing what might be called a wholesale business in freights, hauling trainloads and carloads and broken consignments of a minimum weight. If a barrel weighed fifty pounds, the transportation charge was figured on a basis of 100 pounds.

WHY EXPRESS RATES ARE HIGH.

"The ultimate consumer, as he is called, never needed 100 pounds of eggs, butter, ham or country sausage at one order, and so he never used the railroads for such freight. If he had gone to an express company he would have paid many times the normal rate, because of the contract it had with the railroad company, by which the express company was bound to pay the railroad company one-half of each specific rate that it collected from the person sending or receiving the shipment.

"Furthermore, the express companies do not go any further than cities and villages. Unlike the postoffice, they do not reach the farmer's door. There are 1,000,000 miles of rural delivery routes in the United States. Until the establishment of the parcel post the postal wagons traveling these routes were practically empty. Now they are carrying produce away from the farms and merchandise ordered by mail or telephone out to the farms. So the wagons are loaded going and coming.

"There are 75,000 postoffices in our postal establishment and 300,000 men are given employment. All of these offices and all of these men are constantly available for such work as is required by the parcel post. No express company, even though its capital broke all the records of private investment, could successfully compete with the postoffice organization of the United States.

"Then, again, the postoffice can do business on a cheaper basis than can a corporation made up of business men. The acts of attention and the accounting processes of a railroad which receives, transports, and delivers a carload of freight are no greater in number than are the accounting processes of an express company which receives, ships, and delivers a package that one can easily carry in his hand.

"There are eleven items in the accounting methods of an express company, whether the article transported weighs two pounds or more, which are eliminated by a postage stamp when a similar transaction is carried on by the parcel post. I speak of these various matters because they show why a privately owned and operated express company cannot compete with the government.

POTATOES TO GO BY MAIL.

"As I see the future, all retail transportation, as I term it, will be done by the postoffice. Consumers in cities will be brought in direct relations with producers in the country. A barrel of potatoes will go by parcel post from the farmer's front gate to the city man's kitchen door. The parcel post is a proved success, though it was started but a short time ago. I am certain the postoffice organization will run the telegraph and telephone business cheaper and better than it was ever run before. Then, too, it is a waste of energy to make two bites of a cherry. The government is now transmitting the written and printed communications of the people. It should send their telegrams and give them telephones for their oral messages."

It will not do to regard David John Lewis lightly. He is an [illegible] man. Few Americans in or out of Washington can excel him as a [illegible] of interesting documents or as a public speaker. His English is [illegible] and clear. He is forceful, [illegible] and thoughtful. It is said that he has been working fourteen hours a day for nearly a year. He is about five feet and two inches tall, but he has the shoulders and back of a burly six-footer. After serving in the Senate of Maryland he came to Congress and is now chairman of the Committee on Labor. He practiced law at Cumberland for twenty-one years. In his youth he was a coal miner.

"The Lewis family, or the branch to which I belong," he told me, "has been digging coal ever since the industry started. My grandfather began working in the mines of Wales when he was 5½ years of age. In those days slack was left in the mines. He, though but a child, picked the small lumps of coal out of the slack. His hands were big enough for that particular task.

"But civilization was marching on, and my father did not go into the mines until he was six years old. In my case, civilization had gone forward by leaps and bounds, because I didn't begin work until I was 9 years old. My father bought me a small shovel and pick and between us, when the mines were busy, we pulled down about four tons of coal every day. That was in Pennsylvania, where I was born in 1869.

WAS TO GET 10 CENTS A MONTH.

"But such work as we had was very irregular. Four tons a day at 40 cents a ton would have made us comfortable had our employment been continuous. My father agreed to pay me 10 cents a month in cash, but the company store got all that was coming to him and I never received the money or any part of it. When the price of mining went to half a dollar a ton he promised to pay me 25 cents a month. The company store, however, was still running him a neck and neck race and he couldn't even carry out that contract.

"When did I go to school? Well, I took my books to the schoolhouse the day we went out on one of our customary strikes. When the strike was over I went after my books. Between the first day and the last day I hung around the edges of the strikers and listened while they discussed the case. In short, I never attended school a day in my life.

"Strangely enough, I cannot remember when I learned to read. I must have been reading short words when I was 4 years old. My mother was the daughter of a cabinet-maker in Wales. Her family, therefore, was in better circumstances than was the family of my father. I suppose she taught me to read, but I am inclined to think that I took to reading instinctively. My father tried to improve himself, but each time that he collected a few books, our house would burn down.

"Every Lewis I have known or heard about could speak two languages, but a good many of them were unable to read or write. My parents were Baptists and my advanced lessons in reading were taken at Sunday-school. I learned to write when I was 11. Two years later I mastered long division.

BANISHED FROM THE MINES.

"I was seized with an attack of wanderlust when I was [illegible] and left home one morning without breakfast or a penny in my pocket, and made my way to the anthracite coal fields in the eastern part of the State. My maternal grandfather ran away from home. So did my mother, when she was only a girl. She came to the United States, where she met my father, and was married. Running away seems to be in our blood.

"I joined the Miners' Union and became a check weigher while still young. The miners station a man at the scales to see that the operators don't cheat them when the coal is weighed. That, as I say, was my job. Naturally, I wasn't popular with the operators. And then I was rather revolutionary in those days. As I look back, I am free to say that I did too much for my own good.

"Miners in my boyhood days had many just grounds for complaint. Powder was dear—$[illegible] a keg—wages were low and prices at company stores were extortionate. There were numerous strikes and there was much distress in the coal regions. I suppose I was an agitator. At any rate I became a marked boy. I came back home by and by, but was denied employment and had to go to [illegible] Maryland and work in a clay mine. [illegible] young man with whom I became acquainted, learned that I wanted to study law. That ambition had been in my mind for a long time. It was the only pleasant thought I had. Poverty and hard work had been my lot so far. And now, even the mines were closed against me. There is no bitterness, however, in my [illegible]. Life has turned out much better than I ever planned.

"Old John Stuart Mill was right when he said that the men who serve the largest pay [illegible] the hardest and most [illegible] get the smallest wages doled out by society. I would rather serve in Congress and be paid a coal miner's [illegible] than dig coal for $7500 a year, [illegible] is the salary given to a Congressman.

GREAT DAY FOR DAVID J. LEWIS.

"Well, the young friend whom I mentioned spoke of me to [illegible] A. Richmond, then a lawyer at Cumberland, and now the general counsel for the Western Maryland Railroad. Mr. Richmond asked me to call at his office.

"'Do you know any Latin?' he asked, as I stood, hat in hand, and much abashed at the side of his desk.

"'No,' I reluctantly answered, looking down at the clay on my shoes.

"'Any French?'

"'No,' I sorrowfully [illegible] then a happy, though [illegible] inspiration came into my head, [illegible] I said, hurrying to my own [illegible] hope and confidence, 'I know Welsh.'

"Mr. Richmond did not laugh. He quizzed me further and then [illegible] Kent's Commentaries on [illegible] Law into my eager hands. [illegible] happiest little Welsh-American in the United States. Moses, when he received the tables of stone, [illegible] have been more impressed [illegible] back to the clay mines [illegible]

"During the next four years [illegible] clay during the daytime and [illegible] law at night. Whenever I [illegible] book I would go to Cumberland [illegible] amined by Mr. Richmond [illegible] other book. In the [illegible] lessons in Latin from [illegible] Nott. These were [illegible] David John Lewis [illegible] to the bar at the age of [illegible] mediately opened an office [illegible] My cash capital amounted [illegible] had earned it and saved it [illegible] ing clay.

"My practice paid me [illegible] first year I was at the [illegible] could have earned [illegible] or clay. I had [illegible] had to be settled in the [illegible] Supreme Court, which [illegible] for myself and my [illegible] busy and very [illegible] ing year I was [illegible]

Yucaipa Valley Apple Land

The recent Yucaipa Valley Apple Show demonstrated that the finest red winter apples grow in Yucaipa. The owner gets $1.50 a box for his crop, or $500 to $1000 an acre a year.

Very fine cherries and pears are grown in Yucaipa, and all deciduous fruits grow to perfection here and bring the grower much higher prices than the same fruits grown at lower elevations.

In a short time all the fine irrigated apple lands we are offering now, will be sold and set to apple trees. Soon after the orchards will sell at $1000 to $2500 an acre, and will be good investments at those prices. Buy this land with water ownership NOW at $285 an acre on very easy terms. Have it planted to apple trees early this season at $20 an acre, and after a few years get the big profits every year.

Join our next excursion to Yucaipa and be convinced. Free trips to buyers. Leave Los Angeles 8:30 a.m., return here 6:10 p.m. Make your selection now and get started. Call or write for literature.

What Has Union Labor Gained from the Closed Shop?

WHAT has union labor ever gained by establishing the closed shop anywhere? What has it not lost by futile efforts to establish it?

San Francisco presents an instance of its successful efforts in that direction. In San Francisco it has established the closed shop sure enough, for in McCarthy town there are hundreds of "closed shops" that have been closed for years. The earthquake and fire necessitated the rebuilding of a great city. The opportunity for mechanics in the building trades and in the making of building materials was great. There was a larger and more imperative demand for skilled labor than could be supplied. Workmen were required at any price. The labor unions put up the rate of wages. They demanded and obtained the closed shop, and they refused to admit to membership in the unions mechanics from the East who were not labor union members in their former homes.

Against this one instance of successful closed shop dominance may be placed dozens or maybe hundreds of instances of the failure of closed shop strikes—failures which have cost the workers of the country many millions of dollars. The seven months' strike of the Buffalo moulders alone cost those who participated in it and the unions who supported them with strike benefits more than $250,000, and then the strikers ignominiously surrendered and failed to get their jobs back.

After San Francisco was rebuilt employers had become so accustomed to labor union domination that its yoke rested lightly upon them, and they made no concerted effort to relieve themselves from it. The blow to industrial prosperity of the Bay City was felt not so much in the discontinuance of existing industries as in the omission to establish new ones. Capitalists at home and capitalists from abroad who contemplated establishing factories and foundries were not unwilling to pay California wages, for they could obtain California prices from consumers for the product of their looms and furnaces. But when it came to submitting the conduct of their business to their workmen, when it came to allowing a labor union to select who should be employed and who should be discharged, the independence and manhood of the capitalist revolted at such tyranny and he declined to invest in any enterprise in a city where he would be subject to such domination.

As time passed on some employers who had started manufacturing establishments during the building boom found it necessary to reduce the cost of making the goods they were producing. They were paying, for instance, $5 per day for work that was done in Chicago for $3.50. The labor unions in San Francisco had a hard and fast rule that $5 should be the rate. Then the employer hired non-union men at $4 per day. Then the union men struck, not because their wages were reduced to $4, for in many instances the employer retained or tried to retain half or more of the old force at the old figures. They struck because they would not suffer non-union men to work, and would not permit an employer to hire them under any circumstances or at any rate of compensation.

The result today is, says the Pacific Coast Mechanic, "San Francisco should have a thousand factory stacks where it has fifty. Its pay roll should be one hundred times bigger than it is. San Francisco cannot run along prosperously as a jobbing town. It cannot maintain its supremacy. The base of the social pyramid is the workingman. Is it a workingman's town?"

"Have the unions," continues the Coast Mechanic, "made it possible for more men and women to earn a living in San Francisco? Has their absolute sway benefited the union members at all? Has the cost of living decreased, or have their union laws, rigidly enforced as they have been, encouraged others to come here? Has the principle of the closed shop and the attendant closed charter, and all of the other evils the anarchistic false doctrines have grafted on unionism done the unions any good? Has the teaching of envy and malice and hate and class prejudice advanced the union man any or helped the community any?"

Compare the industrial life and industrial growth of Los Angeles with that of San Francisco. Here every week some new furnace flames—there some furnace fire is extinguished. Here labor rings its diapason on some new anvil—there its hammers are dropped and its cheery song is hushed to silence. Here industrial freedom prevails and union men and non-union men work side by side—there industrial despotism rules and no mechanic will be allowed to earn bread for his wife and little ones without a permit from Boss McCarthy, or Convict Tveitmoe, or Cockney Gompers, or some auto-riding, champagne-drinking, grafting, blood-sucking leech upon the body of labor.

The closed shop is built upon the elementary error that a worker has a property interest in his job and that he has the same right to forcibly resist anybody who attempts to take it from him that he would have to resist anybody who attempted to take his horse or his watch from him. In the days of slavery the man was the property of the master. The closed shop would make the employer the property of the employee.

There is an economic law that overrides and dominates all the written laws ever framed by man and all the resolutions ever adopted by labor unions. It is the law of supply and demand. It rules commerce, manufactures, letters and art. It is irrepealable and eternal. No combination of men in labor unions or otherwise is powerful enough to disregard it or cunning enough to circumvent it. Its simple code is the right of every man to sell whatever he has to sell, whether it is a skyscraper, a horse or a day's labor, to whomsoever he chooses to sell it, at whatever price he is willing to accept, with a corresponding right of the purchaser to buy from whom he pleases, when and where he pleases and for such price as may be agreed upon.

NGLAND FACES GENERAL STRIKE

Situation at Dublin Casts Shadow Over Kingdom.

Labor Leaders Say Situation Is Extremely Grave.

Fear They Will Be Unable to Hold Men Back.

[BY A. P. DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] LONDON, Nov. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Labor leaders connected with the principal industries of Great Britain met in London yesterday afternoon to discuss the Dublin strike. The conference was marked by intense feeling. The majority of the speeches was brief and cautious, but [illegible] was vehement to the point of [illegible].

The consensus of opinion was that the visit of James Larkin to Great Britain, if it takes place, and covers the whole country as the liberated leader says it will, is likely to produce a profound commotion and possibly give the English, Scotch and Welsh leaders more than they can do [illegible] their men.

"We are probably nearer a national [illegible]," said a representative of the railway men to the correspondent of the Los Angeles Times, "than at any other time, including the period of great disturbances among transportation workers, miners and railway employees. The condition of the workers in Dublin is in[illegible]. The masters of industry [illegible] on the poorest patriots in the [illegible] kingdoms. If they want a [illegible] compared to which the [illegible] trouble in Ulster would be [illegible], they are going the right way to get it."

LARKIN WAR CRY.

"They draw attention to Larkin's [illegible] —— —— with contracts;' [illegible] were enough to silence all [illegible] of themselves. 'How can [illegible],' they ask, 'without con[illegible]? Of course, Larkin will re[illegible] society can not exist under [illegible] and oppression, and [illegible] feature of the case is that [illegible] of the workers in the na[illegible] agree with him. The con[illegible] in Dublin are indefensible. [illegible] crushing the life out of the [illegible]. Only just contracts can save [illegible]."

"Will you railway men vote for a [illegible] strike to raise the so-called [illegible] Dublin?" the correspondent [illegible].

"It is too early to say, but the danger is great. Formerly we could hold [illegible] by pointing out to them that [illegible] goods were handled by members of Larkin's own union. Now that has ceased entirely in the [illegible] Dublin and we are deprived [illegible] argument. Already 100,000 of [illegible] are demanding through [illegible] that we join the miners [illegible] transport workers to end the [illegible]."

MEETINGS SIGNIFICANT.

"The diabolical wrongs of the Dublin industrial world must be righted," [illegible] Williams, general secretary of the Transport Workers' Federation. "The liberal government [illegible] lift a finger in support [illegible] employees. Meetings all over [illegible] next Sunday will show [illegible] the temper of the [illegible]. A national conference of the trade-union congress will [illegible] consider the whole question."

[illegible] of the demand for altered [illegible] conditions in Dublin [illegible], though some of [illegible] support of the liberal labor [illegible] is ascribable to a desire to [illegible] the government. The [illegible] Social and Political Union [illegible] to the difficulties of the [illegible] by holding meetings at which [illegible] emphasized that while the [illegible] of the government pretend [illegible] votes to women be[illegible] militancy of women, they [illegible] to yield to the militancy [illegible]

[illegible] Wages in Belgium.

[illegible], Belgium, employs [illegible] miners, who earn $28,- [illegible]. The province of [illegible] 8,878, who are paid [illegible] for 11,686,830 days of [illegible] of only 91 cents per [illegible].

PANAMA AND SOCIALISM.

[EDITORIAL.]

SOCIALISTS, with their customary lack of judgment, are pointing to the Canal Zone as an illustration of their arguments and calling attention to what the government can do after "adopting" several cities full of people.

It is true that conditions in Panama are about as ideal as is possible with an unpleasant climate. The government has taken all of its several thousand employees, their families and relatives under its wing and exerted itself to see that they are given all of the comforts, accommodations and pleasures possible at low cost. The government runs a hotel, keeps a commissary where goods may be purchased at wholesale prices. Free amusement places are maintained, and some that are not free, but for which the price of admission is exceptionally low. Houses are constructed and given away rent free.

The Socialists would have us believe that the same thing could be accomplished in the United States.

To begin with, there is perhaps no place outside of Russia that is more widely separated from a Socialistic form of government than the Canal Zone. One man—Col. Goethals—is dictator. He is the court of last resort, he settles all disputes, gives all orders and makes sure that they are carried out. The labor unions perhaps do not care to recall how he treated their demands. When the engineers threatened to strike he posted notices that every man who was not at work by 9 o'clock on the morning the strike was to come off would be deported at noon. Every man was at work.

Had a less intelligent man been in charge it is highly possible that the Socialists would be using Panama as a sample of what evils arise when people are not allowed to govern themselves. Another thing, also, they have overlooked in choosing to select the Canal Zone as an illustration of Socialistic benefits. Panama is supplied by the United States; those persons who get their houses rent free have the same paid by the United States government; the free amusement places are not maintained by revenue derived from the people at Panama, but by revenue from the taxpayers of the United States. Panama, if left to its own resources, would be a miserable sort of place at best. Its ideal condition has been established because one individual of wonderful intelligence and ability was left in complete control and had unlimited financial resources to draw on. He saw that the first problem confronting him was to make his employees contented. Toward that end he spared no expense in making life agreeable; he saw that all necessary products and foods were supplied to them in the best condition and at low cost; he knew that by affording them free amusements and houses, free rent, they would feel grateful to the government and take more interest in their work Those things he did—and the citizens of the United States were glad to pay the cost.

Labor's Unrest.

THE STRIKE NEWS OF THIS UNEASY WORLD.

THE strike of laborers in the steel works of Armstrong, Whitworth & Co., Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, has collapsed after a run of eleven weeks. The men ceased work to enforce their demand for higher wages, and refused all offers made by the firm. They have now all returned to work without any concessions whatever being made to them, besides losing eleven weeks' wages. Did it pay?

The strike, food and fuel distress in union-labor (the bad kind) cursed New Zealand is still very severe.

Peace now reigns in the British cotton goods trade, all hours and wages and fool strike disputes having been settled by the men finally acting somewhat reasonably. Twenty mills had been stopped for various periods, some as long as seven months. The wage loss has been very heavy.

Last week the taxicab chauffeurs of New York started a big strike, against the wishes of the officers of their union. Eight of the fourteen concerns are completely tied up. The demand is for a ten-hour day (instead of twelve hours,) with the present wages of $2.50 a day. For touring trips and limousines they want $3 a day and $1 a day for expenses when driving out of town. They also want free uniforms. Philadelphia has a similar strike, 287 of its 522 taxicabs being idle. In New York the employers are offering to meet the men half way, but the radicals among the men are preventing any compromise. A vote of the men on the subject is being taken.

The dispute of the Pennsylvania Railroad with its firemen over certain rules as to promotion to engineer is amicably ended. Federal and State commissions were not satisfied with the educational qualifications of engineers and firemen on the Pennsylvania and certain other roads. The companies were not in any way to blame for the new rules thus rendered necessary. The New Haven system has had the same trouble.

Matters are still extremely bad, if not worse, in the coal-strike situation in Colorado; indeed, it is no longer a strike, but (as was West Virginia) an armed insurrection. The soldiers are taking away the strikers' rifles and revolvers as fast as hands can be laid on them. There is no prospect whatever of early settlement of the strike, says the vice-president of the United Mine Workers of America. The soldiers occupy the principal coal camps. Postoffices are being burned.

Ohio has 5000 workers idle in its potteries in the East Liverpool district because of the strike of only 200 clay makers. It's the first suspension in Ohio's pottery industry for twenty years.

The strike of 300 men and women of the Fulton Bag and Cotton mills of Atlanta, Ga., gives rise to one of the few strikes that have occurred in southern mills. It is a fact that southern mills have been noticeably free from misunderstandings and dissensions between employers and employees. This has been frequently commented on as illustrative of the efficacy of the working systems employed in southern mills.

Drink is to blame for the strike of trainmen, engineers and firemen on the Sumpter Valley Railroad, Oregon. Several trainmen were properly discharged for drunkenness and others struck. A strike organized from Cleveland is directing the strike. Sheriff's deputies are guarding the property.

Gompers's partner, John Mitchell, the rejected New York Labor Commissioner, has been in Butte trying to raise money for the Michigan striking copper miners.

The 100,000 eastern trainmen and conductors get $6,000,000 a year more pay, an average increase of 7 per cent., half what they asked before arbitration. The award is final, affecting forty-one railroads. The railroads claim that under the full-crew law they pay $4,000,000 a year more wages, besides this arbitration increase. That great possible strike calamity is now out of the way. The men's original demand was for $18,000,000 a year more

Considerable spasmodic fighting is attending the New York strike of mail truck chauffeurs, but it looks as if a settlement is in sight.

Because of the Colorado strike the people of Denver (and it's cold weather up there) are now paying $7.25 a ton for $5 coal. It is said that fifteen other unions have voluntarily agreed to strike in sympathy with the miners.

The I.W.W. have started a strike of 1700 men who were grading the Pacific Great Eastern Railway in British Columbia. The strikers demand $4 pay for an eight-hour day. The I.W.W. claims a membership of 10,400 in the railroad camps.

REPORTS ON WAGES AND CONDITIONS.

Timely Bulletins from All Parts of the World.

A great struggle takes place constantly in nearly every American manufacturing plant for increase of production. This is not the result of natural growth alone, but also of an effort based on the economic argument that the greater the production from a given plant, the lower the unit cost, and, of course, the greater the profit. And so in a healthy factory a friendly rivalry takes place between the sales force and the factory force—the one to keep the plant full of orders, the other to increase the production.

Such a rivalry shortly brings the plant to that condition where, at least in some departments, its capabilities and facilities of production seem to be taxed to the limit. It becomes then a necessity either to build increased facilities, or to discover some method of increasing its capabilities within the facilities it possesses. The latter accomplishment is frequently attained very satisfactorily by an increase in efficiency.

Now, since production involves nearly all the plant forces, material and human, its increase without added facility is not always simple, nor brought about by improvement in one direction alone. There may be many weaknesses of operation, but it has been made very plain in a great many cases that inefficiency (or, let us say, lack of highest efficiency in the matter of production) is nearly always a fault chargeable to the plant organization and not to the producers. And indeed it may be set down as a general rule that lack of efficiency in any plant is, in the main, chargeable to the executive organization rather than to the workmen, exception being made only when labor organization interferes, as it unfortunately does at times, in the matter of restriction of output, opposition to the introduction of incentives, and restriction of the member of apprentices. More often than not, and always to its own eventual loss, union labor prevents the increase of wages-producing factory outputs.

Welfare Work at Lynn, Mass.

At Lynn, Mass., where more than 12,000 workers are employed in the huge plant of the General Electric Company, a new emergency hospital has just been completed. This new hospital is equipped with all the modern appliances for the care of accident cases such as are inevitable in such a large plant, in spite of all the safety appliances installed. There is a separate room for minor injuries, a room for the treatment of infectious wounds, and a third room, where those suffering from injuries to the eyes, are cared for. There are also a waiting-room and a special office for the attendants in charge.

Welfare Work at Dayton, O.

The National Cash Register Company, at Dayton, O., has long been a synonym for employers' welfare work for employees. Since the company began in 1893 it has had a special welfare department, and has been one of the pioneers in the United States in such work.

The office building is a model of light and ventilation. The officers' lunchroom, seating 250 persons, is situated here. Luncheon is served to the office force at a cost sufficient only to cover the actual price of the food.

In the factories light, airy and sanitary workrooms are everywhere the rule, and everything is kept spotlessly clean by the uniformed janitors. The lavatories are in the constant charge of janitors and janitresses. Fresh towels and soap are provided free, and there are bathtubs in each lavatory and shower baths for the men. The employees may bathe once a week at the expense of the company, their wages for twenty-five minutes going on.

Special attention is paid to the welfare of the many women employed in the shops. They are provided with freshly laundered aprons and sleevelets twice a week, free. In whatever building the women are employed there is a beautiful restroom, equipped more like the sun parlor of a luxurious hotel than the resting place for employees of a factory. Here a piano, easy chairs, couches and plants add to the attractiveness. During the forenoon, at 10 o'clock, the women are given a ten minutes' rest and again in the afternoon they have a ten-minute recess. Simple food at low cost is served the women employees in the shops. Soup costs 3 cents a bowl, and coffee 1 cent a cup. The cooks and help are paid by the company.

The health of all the employees receives especial attention. There is a handsomely equipped hygiene department of four rooms, in charge of a physician who comes for one hour a day. A nurse and attendant are in attendance constantly. The physician examines all candidates for employment before they are employed, thus keeping out tuberculosis and infectious diseases. This department renders first aid to the injured.

This company's welfare work also includes club activities, classes of all sorts, dancing and sewing classes, school training and athletics for apprentices (175 of them,) library of 26,000 volumes, the Boys' Gardens, large relief association, and a long list of other benefits.

New York Waiters Stick to Tips.

The waiters of New York the other day began a crusade for more wages and no tips, but have weakened on the proposition. The proposed big petition is not forthcoming. The proposed mass meeting was suddenly called off. The men declined to follow the leaders of the International Hotel Workers' Union. Their last strike was such a fiasco that they now prefer "the quiet life"—and tips, even though their regular wage is not as high as they would like it to be. The night tips of the Great White Way beat all wages.

Oriental Rugs Wages in Turkey.

In Harput district, Turkey, in Asia, many oriental rugs are made. The operatives are almost entirely young girls. By working hard they can earn but 10 cents a day. Think of that, when you are asked to pay $300 or more for an oriental rug.

Work for Capable Workers in New York.

All capables can get work in New York says the joint application bureau of the Charity Organization Society, in its report for the year ended September 30, last. The gist of the report is that the labor market is so much improved that capable men who want work are having less trouble getting it than in 1912, and the charity organizations are left with the unfit and those who will not work if they get the chance. The latter are the fellows who try to stir up trouble in Los Angeles, false saying, "I can't get a job," "The bosses are destroying labor," and so on.

Menaced.

GOVERNMENT ON GUARD AGAINST DYNAMITE PLOT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The Federal government is rounding up union chauffeurs charged with conspiracy to retard the operation of United States mails in connection with the recent strike. W. J. Simpson and T. D. Kennedy, arrested in Long Island City, makes nine arrests and more are expected. The prisoners were taken yesterday in connection with Patrick Johnson, president of the union.

Investigators for the government said they had learned the strikers had threatened to use dynamite in their efforts to thwart mail transportation by non-union men. The strike was broken by the prompt employment of other men and those who walked out were not taken back.

NO EIGHT-HOUR LAW FOR OLD SANTA CLAUS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Although deprecating the necessity for overworking its employees, the Postoffice Department today announced it would be compelled to close its eyes to the Federal eight-hour law during the Christmas rush of mail matter. Carriers and clerks, it was declared, would have to face the necessity of losing beauty sleep and of putting in long hours in order that a congestion of mail matter might be avoided.

"While it is not desired to work undue hardships on the employees of the service," said First Assistant Postmaster-General Roper today, "yet it must be kept in mind that the Christmas season is an emergency recognized by the department as justifying the employment of clerks and carriers for more than eight hours daily."

Postmasters are urged to appeal to their patrons to aid in preventing the congestion that usually takes place just before December 25 and during Christmas week.

Christmas gift-givers are invited to send their packages earlier than usual, putting on the outside wrappers the inscription, "not to be opened until Christmas." This precaution, the postoffice authorities declare, will insure better delivery and make much lighter the labors of the system.

PLEASED WITH NEW LAW.

West Virginia Workmen's Compensation Act Takes Care of Twenty-five Widows and Mothers.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) Nov. 8.—Gov. Hatfield and other officials are pleased with the showing of the workmen's compensation act, the figures for the first month of which were available Thursday. As the result of fatalities in West Virginia in October, twenty-five widows or mothers are to be provided for. Temporary disabilities during the month cost the State $13,000. The report says the total indemnity for the first quarter, based on the first month, will reach $45,000. This will insure $20 a month to each widow or mother and $5 a month to each child.

President Ripley of Santa Fe Gets Lesson for 5 Cents.

Women Fed Hog Peaches He Saw Bring Good Price.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Nov. 10.—E. P. Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company, while on an inspection trip over the Kansas lines of the company, stopped at the little city of Carbondale, in the eastern part of the State. A woman with a wagon partly filled with peaches, drove along the road near where Mr. Ripley's business car stood, and Koontz, the Santa Fe's general freight agent, asked her what peaches were worth.

"These are not worth anything," the woman replied. "I can't give them away in Carbondale, for the local market is supplied. I am going to feed them to my hogs."

In the morning of that same day, President Ripley had paid a nickel apiece for peaches in Kansas City!

The incident made a deep impression on the mind of President Ripley, and within a few hours an investigation was begun which revealed some startling facts, and resulted in the inauguration of a policy to correct in the Santa Fe territory economic evils such as that recorded at Carbondale.

Agents of the Santa Fe found upon careful inquiry that millions of dollars' worth of vegetables and fruit annually go to waste in the United States for want of a market. The farmers who raise a carload of stuff can dispose of it without difficulty, but the producer with less than a carload often suffers loss, for the home market likely is glutted, as the woman with the peaches found the Carbondale market, and the hauling charge to distant markets, with the expense of selling in small quantities, consumes the difference between the cost of production and the selling price. That is why great quantities of fruit and vegetables rot on and in the ground every year; it is the reason thousands of farmers give for not raising any fruit and vegetables for the markets. Nearly every community has prosperous farmers who do not even raise vegetables for their own tables.

The investigation also showed that for several years the cities of the United States have been short thousands of carloads of vegetables and fruit, notwithstanding the fact the producing power of soils in this country is equal to that of any nation on earth. The rush from farm to city is responsible for the constantly increasing number of consumers and a corresponding decrease in the number of producers, making an economic problem worthy of the most careful consideration.

President Ripley, believing that the railroads are in position to assist materially in the adjustment of the difficulty pointed out, is sending a message to the farmers in his territory to the effect that if they will continue to include garden truck and fruit in the scheme of crop diversification, and increase their acreage, the Santa Fe will install a special refrigerator service for the purpose of picking up their products in small quantities and transporting them to profitable markets.

President Ripley's message is carried direct to the farmers by officials of the railroad who arranged to meet them in conference at convenient places, in the town commercial clubrooms, in country schoolhouses, and in farm houses. These officials give the farmers detailed information about the supply of and demand for vegetables and fruit, the location of available markets, and the character of the service proposed. The farmers are taking a lively interest in the campaign, and promise an increased acreage of garden truck for next year.

The campaign will extend throughout the agricultural sections of the Santa Fe system in thirteen States. The work will cover a period of about three months. All the details of the new service cannot be worked out till next year's crop acreage is known, but the general plan will be similar to that adopted for handling small shipments of products of the poultry yard and the dairy—a business which has grown to enormous proportions in the last few years. Refrigerator cars will on stated days be sent over the lines that traverse agricultural territory to pick up small shipments of fruit and vegetables, in addition to the present regular refrigerator train service. At terminal points these small shipments probably will be transferred, and each kind of shipment go in carload lots to available markets. The Santa Fe also will assist the farmers to find good markets for the produce thus gathered up in order that distribution may be made to the best advantage of the shipper. This will be done by the maintenance of a bulletin service by which the farmers, through the station agents, will be advised of market conditions.

"The science of commerce is collecting things when they grow, or are manufactured, and taking them to places where people need them," President Ripley said. "By the plan of co-operation suggested, we believe it is possible for the farmers to sell all the garden stuff and fruit that can be produced, and sell it at a satisfactory profit. We ask the farmers to consider the proposition carefully, and in arranging for the diversification of their crops next spring, to include the garden stuff, which has not in the past been regarded as paying produce because of the obstacles in the way of disposing of it in small quantities. The Santa Fe will undertake to remove these obstacles, thus adding materially to the annual income of the community, and aiding in the conservation of its resources to the highest degree."

LOS ANGELES DOES THINGS.

[Indianapolis News:] Los Angeles has just demonstrated what a city can accomplish when the proper spirit of public service and enterprise is shown. Eight years ago, when Los Angeles had a population considerably under 200,000, the municipal water supply was insufficient and was deficient in quality. Its daily flow was scarcely enough for current needs—and the demands on it were increasing month by month. Something had to be done quickly, and to appreciate fully what was done, one must take a look at the map of California. The great coast State is a commonwealth of anomalies. Its immediate coast region and certain of the favored interior regions, such as the Santa Clara Valley, have an abundant water supply. But other parts of the State, such as the vast San Joaquin Valley and the interior territory south of the Tehachepi, have a precarious supply.

Los Angeles lies south of the Tehachepi, and ten or fifteen miles inland. The nearest mountains are those of the verdant Coast Range, and farther back lie the snow-bearing Sierras. In order to reach pure water of sufficient flow the engineers had to plan an aqueduct 260 miles long. Fred Eaton, formerly City Engineer, and later Mayor of Los Angeles, was one of the earliest proponents of the vast undertaking. Later there appeared another engineer of ability and vigor—William Mulholland. The city did most of the work itself. It constructed the aqueduct, bored tunnels, erected syphons, built dams, created reservoirs, bridged canyons, passed over deserts and through mountains. The great work has just been completed. Today the people of Los Angeles are celebrating the turning on of the water. The project cost $26,000,000, but from now on—unless the fountains of the Lower Sierra dry up—the city is assured of a water supply of 260,000,000 gallons every twenty-four hours.

Los Angeles has set a worthy example for San Francisco. The larger California city is now engaged—and has been for more than ten years—in bewailing its lack of pure water. But instead of going ahead as Los Angeles did it has not ceased to petition Congress to turn over to the municipality the tremendously valuable water rights of the Hetch Hetchy Valley. San Francisco, in going elsewhere, would have to go no farther than Los Angeles went to get an unlimited supply—for snow always falls in the upper mountains. But San Francisco wants the Hetch Hetchy: it wants not only water—but water power. San Francisco could well go to school to Los Angeles. But this, of course, is impossible, for San Francisco, in the might and glory of its position as a seaport—and as the possessor of the Panama fair—has long been inclined to belittle Los Angeles and its works. But Los Angeles does things.

PYRAMID ADDS A PRODUCER.

REDRILLED WELL IS LOOKING PROMISING.

Appears Good for Several Hundred Barrels Daily—New Company Is Incorporated by Wilkes Brothers. Record of Developments in Midway Field.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

TAFT, Nov. 13.—Well No. 1 of the Pyramid Oil Company on section 28, 32-24, Midway, which was redrilled, has been put on the pump and is making between 400 and 500 barrels a day. Some water and mud are coming out with the oil, but this is believed to be drilling water that was forced into the oil formation while the well was being redrilled. The oil is separated without difficulty in the sump hole. There is a strong gas pressure which causes the well to flow by heads.

When the water has been removed from the oil sands it is the belief that the well will have a steady production of 300 barrels a day. The product is high gravity and brings 55 cents per barrel at the well.

Wilkes Bros. have incorporated under the head of the Wilkes-Head Oil Company, with a capital stock of $300,000, shares at $1 par value. The directors of the new company, which is the one that recently took over the Midway Columbian lease from Canadian owners, are Thomas Wilkes, W. D. Head, Frederick Augustine, Alfred D. Wilkes and A. B. Kast. The property is located on section 4, 32-23.

The Alaska Pioneer, in the North Midway, is preparing to redrill well No. 6 on section 32, 31-23.

The California Pipe and Steel Company has the contract to erect a 1500-barrel gauge tank on property of the Fulton Fuel and Road Company in Sunset field.

The Indian and Colonial Development Company has contracted with Mosher & Montgomery for the erection of a rig on section 22, 32-23 for well No. 24.

Well No. 2 of the Boston-Pacific on section 32, 31-3 is ready to bring in.

The Hardison Perforating Company has perforated well No. 6 of the M. J. and M. and M. on section 36, 12-24 and when the tools were removed the flow was about 225 barrels per day. The expectation is that the flow will be doubled when the well has been cleaned out. The sixteen-inch stovepipe casing in well No. 5 of the same company has been landed by Supt. Jim White at a depth of 800 feet instead of at 1000 feet as planned.

The St. Lawrence Oil Company is preparing to rig up to drill well No. 6, section 5, 32-23. The derrick is finished and active drilling will soon be under way.

The derrick for well No. 20 of the United Oil Company, section 20, 31-23, is being built under the supervision of Mosher & Montgomery. As soon as the well is rigged up drilling will commence under contract with the American Contracting and Drilling Company. The work will be done with a rotary.

The California Well Drilling Company is working on well No. 4 of the Pacific Crude Oil Company on section 32, 31-23.

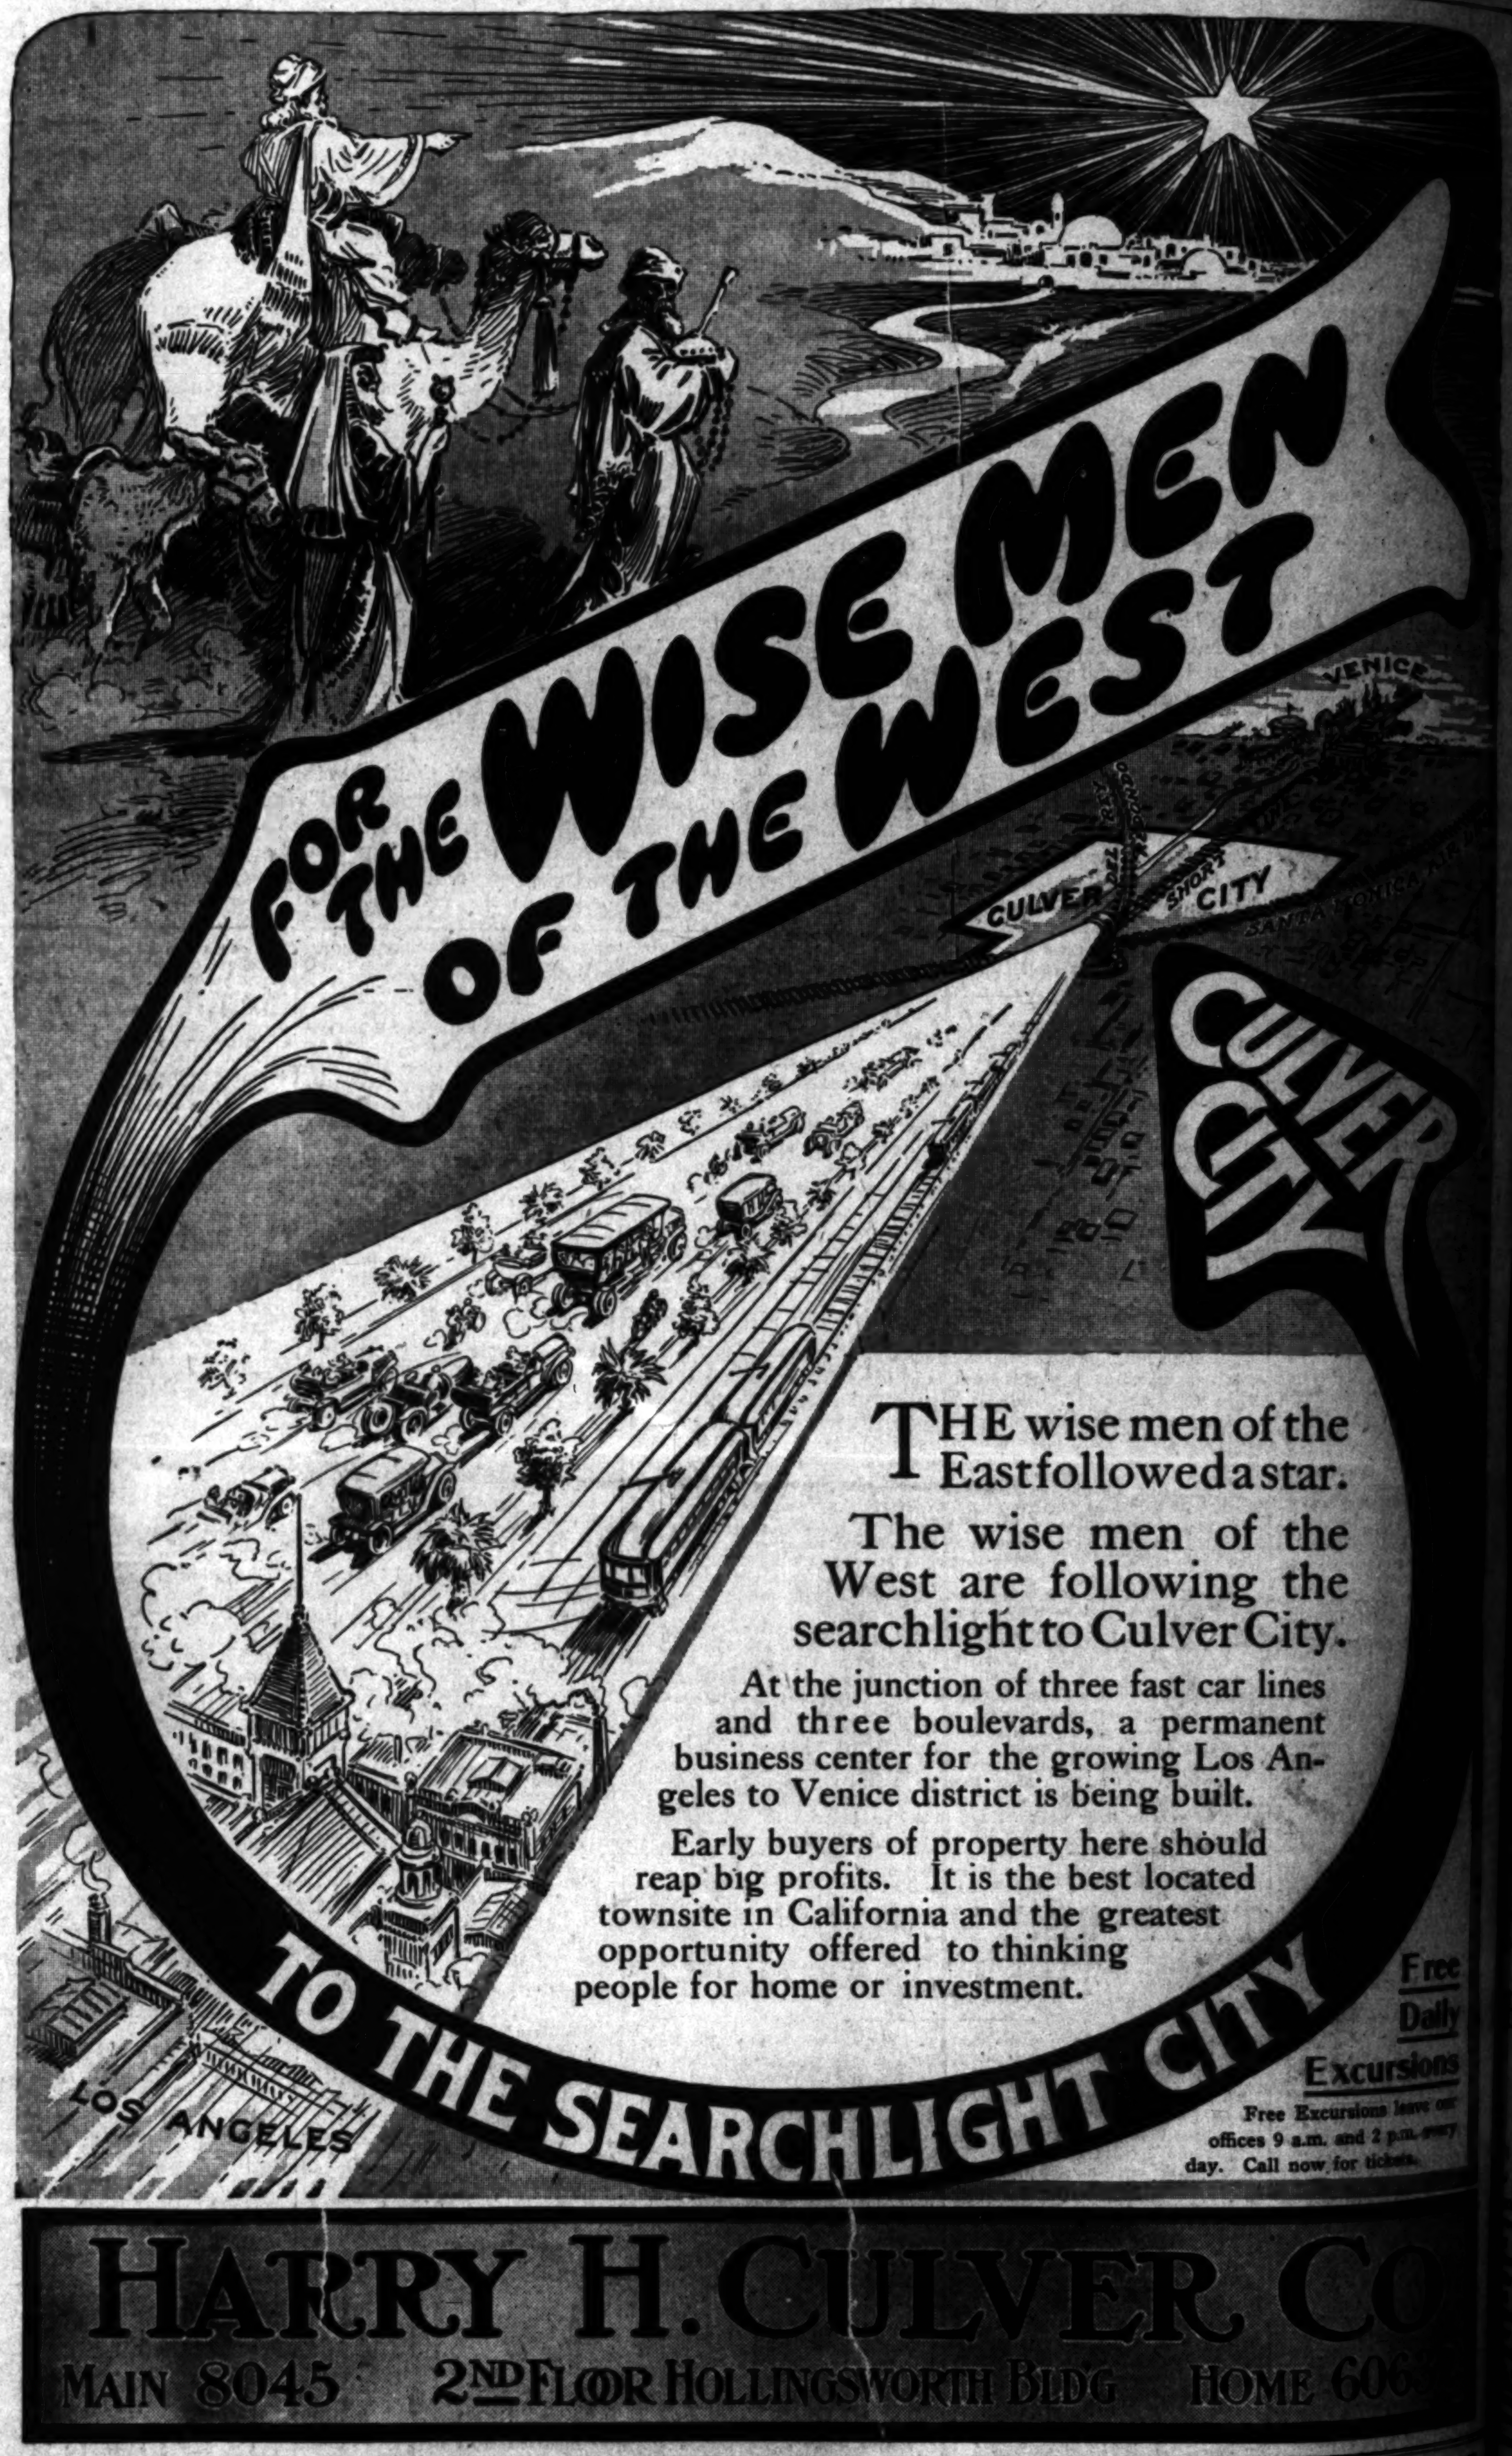
The old Lakeview gusher is making about thirty barrels a day on the beam. The Lakeview well No. 12 has been cemented at a depth of 1975 feet with the twelve-and-one-half-inch casing at the bottom of the hole. Drilling will be resumed in a few days when the cement has hardened.

Lakeview No. 11 was on the beam for a short time and made a fair showing. It is expected that further agitation will increase the output.

The General Petroleum Company is making ready to drill three wells recently cemented on the Maricopa flat.

The Section Twenty-five Hill Company on Twenty-five Hill, section 25, 32-23, has dynamited well No. 36 in order that the seven-and-five-eighths-inch casing might be pulled and the well redrilled. The shot was placed at a depth of 1200 feet.

Well No. 3 of the Lakeview No. 2 Oil Company on section 4, 11-23 went into the big Kinsey sand last week at a depth of 2607 feet. The sand was not expected for nearly another 100 feet. The oil strata was found to be six feet through, but water pressure prevented the oil from showing up. Supt. Walter Barnhart will land the eight-and-one-fourth-inch casing at a depth of 2575 feet, where a hard formation was encountered, and cement off. The company's No. 2 well has been flowing from the Kinsey sand for nine months at the rate of from 800 to 1200 barrels of about 26 gravity oil daily. This well came in with a 4000-barrel flow which continued for some days.



THE wise men of the East followed a star.

The wise men of the West are following the searchlight to Culver City.

At the junction of three fast car lines and three boulevards, a permanent business center for the growing Los Angeles to Venice district is being built.

Early buyers of property here should reap big profits. It is the best located townsite in California and the greatest opportunity offered to thinking people for home or investment.

STRIKE RICH STREAK.

Mojave Consolidated Runs Into Chrystalline Gold Formation, With Values Running High.

In the old Expose Treasure mine, three miles southwest of Mojave, the Mojave Consolidated Gold Mines Company has made a strike which promises to be one of the most important in California. On the ninth level of the mine, which is one of a group of three owned by the company, a rich streak of ore has been encountered containing much free gold of rare chrystalline character.

The company, which acquired the mine some eighteen months ago, had just finished unwatering the property, and had drifted only a short distance on the ninth level when the discovery was made. They have now been in the rich stuff about three weeks and have advanced for a distance of seventy feet.

The rich streak is between the hanging and foot wall veins and is in place with five feet of lower grade ore on either side. Estimates of the values in the streak vary from $700 to $1500 per ton, and it appears to be steadily improving with development.

High-grade concentrates from the company's mill have run about $700 per ton; the low-grade concentrates about $50, when the ore from the ninth level is treated. More definite knowledge of the values will be had when the clean-up is made the end of this month.

The Exposed Treasure mine was first developed in 1897, and was in continuous operation until 1905. During the period a 100-ton mill was built and about 200,000 tons of ore were milled, the average returns being $10 to $12 per ton. This ore was taken from higher levels.

The old operators also built, at a cost of $46,000, a water system by which water is brought eighteen miles across the desert to the mine. The expense also included the water rights.

Since acquiring the mine the Mojave Consolidated has expended about $27,000, principally in unwatering the mine and preliminary development and prospecting. It is now proposed to double the capacity of the mill to 200 tons. The company will also make arrangements to drain the water from all the workings through the shaft in the Desert mine. This mine and the Yellow Rover constitute the other two properties of the group.

The Mojave Consolidated is a close corporation, headed by John W. Sharpe, an experienced mining man. He holds the position of president and treasurer. Other officers and directors are C. B. Campbell, vice-president; W. H. Taylor, secretary; E. R. Millar and R. P. Sharpe.

MAY BUILD BANK.

SEAL BEACH, Nov. 15.—Several capitalists are planning to open a bank in a prominent location on Main street in this place around the first of the year, with a capitalization of $25,000. The institution will be located in a two-story white pressed brick building, which will be erected for it. On the site of the old pavilion is to be erected a grocery and meat market building. The pavilion is shortly to be moved again to the beach front on the cement promenade, and will be occupied by a number of concessions.

LEASES TRANSFERRED.

The Woodruff-Griffith Company reports the following sales of leases and furniture of hotels and apartment-houses: Orange apartments, No. 1532 Orange street, to E. [illegible] Welles, eight-year lease involving total rental of $40,000, with $12,000 for furnishings; Crowe apartments, No. 115 South Bunker Hill avenue, to Mrs. Charles Hubbard, consideration $4000; Amity apartments, No. 943 Winfield street, to Ida B. Rutland, nine-year lease, total rental $35,000, Clara B. Anderson being the lessor; Marlboro Hotel, Nos. 549-551 South Grand avenue, to Mrs. Annie M. Crane, for a consideration of $8000, P. S. and K. A. Lott taking in exchange a country home at Monrovia.

NAME NEW MANAGER.

C. E. Jordan, for nearly two years a salesman of the subdivision department of Robert Marsh & Co., has been appointed manager of that department, following the resignation of H. Gordon Badger, who, it is understood, shortly will engage in the real estate business for himself. Jordan will assume his new duties tomorrow in the handsome new quarters of the Marsh firm, in the Marsh-Strong building, at Ninth, Spring and Main streets. Jordan will have charge of the selling activities of West Adams Park, National Boulevard Heights, Ethelwyn Manor and Ethelwyn Manor Heights, four important Marsh subdivisions.

HOMES PLANNED.

WEST NEWPORT, Nov. 15.—Quite a number of the recent purchasers of property on Newport Heights are planning the building of summer homes, according to the Dam-Rousselle Company, owners of this property. A $2500 residence has just been started by Henry Swale. Other purchasers who are planning immediate building operations are Miss Flora J. Fuller and C. Little, who recently bought an attractively-located lot.

OXY TIGERS BEAT UTAH; ALL-BLACKS TRIM PICKED RUGBY STARS.

Oxy Victory.

TIGERS CRUSH MORMONS IN SMASHING CONFLICT.

[illegible] Have the Best of the First Part of Game, but "Battle" Shipkey Comes Through and Smashes Utah Defense and Turns Tide of Victory — Many Good Plays Shown by Tigers in Last Half.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

THE Tiger football team went through acid test yesterday, the University of Utah being the [illegible]. It took all the Tigers had to pull up the hill, but they came through in glorious style, with the score 14 to 6 against them in the middle of the third quarter of a thrilling but bitter struggle the Occidental team found itself with defeat staring the men in the face like a gaunt specter, and began to play brilliant football. Three times the grim old Tiger battle front [illegible] over the Utah goal line, and when time was called the count stood [illegible] for Occidental. It stood for victory, but more than this for [illegible] and fighting ability.

During the first half and the first part of the second, it seemed to be anybody's game, with the odds slightly in favor of the Mormons due to splendid dashing play on the part of Travers, Southerland and [illegible] in the back field. Each team struggled for the possession of the ball, as it meant yards and victory to the team holding the ball.

In the first part of each half the Utah men came to life and were [illegible]; then the Oxy men would come back and hold the line until the end of time would be battling toward the goal. But each time the whistle blew, stopping a possession, Utah remained out in front, first by one point and then by a touchdown.

THE "SHIP" SAILS.

Then the Tiger rooters cheered [illegible] and in the same spirit [illegible] on the field settled to work. Suddenly there was a change in the complexion of the affair. "Battleship" had been turned loose. The big Oxy tackle was given the [illegible] to smash his way down the field and carry the brunt of a battle that won the game, if it was ever won.

[illegible] of old, fighting for [illegible] native heath, he came down the field, time after time he plowed through the now [illegible] defense, first for two yards, then for five and at last for [illegible] at a clip.

With the change of affairs the tide turned; the rest of the team found its toes; the tackling [illegible] the defense a stone wall. [illegible] the score stood 14 to 6 [illegible] it was evident that the Tigers would win, if there was enough time left. There was, [illegible]

HEFTY UTAH MEN.

To go back to the beginning. The Utah team came on the field [illegible] terribly big and fast in their bright red suits, as they ran through practice. Before the game was on, the Tiger band, [illegible] from Hollywood High School, [illegible] and played us a nice tune. Out of the door came the rather [illegible] bunch of men that were to uphold the honor of the South. Their [illegible] signs of battle and hard [illegible], but all were stepping [illegible] and handsome.

[illegible] the usual amount of discussion, Wieman piled up his little hill for the kick-off and a few seconds later sent the ball whirling on its way. The red-shirted left half came tearing back twenty-five yards, Foster finally getting him after he had run through at least two-thirds of the Oxy team. Utah was unable to make its yards in the first four downs and McIntyre was called on for a boot. He kicked fifty yards and Foster was downed in his tracks.

This put the ball on the Tiger's 5-yard line and forced McClung to punt. He kicked to the center of the field and Travers came to life with a beautiful run to the goal line for a touchdown. He passed up the entire Tiger squad and, due to splendid interference, was able to score. Hamilton kicked the goal and the score was 7 to 0. It took two minutes to make the play, and it looked as though the Tigers were due for a trimming.

KIRKPATRICK'S RUN.

Utah kicked off to Kirkpatrick, who came in thirty yards before being downed. It was Oxy's first real chance with the ball. Foster netted two yards on a criss-cross play; then he pulled off a fifteen-yard forward pass to Kirkpatrick, which put the ball on Utah's 30-yard line.

Three times the Oxy backs rammed the Mormon line for no gain. Foster and Kirkpatrick pulled another forward pass for twelve yards, putting the battle on Utah's 10-yard line. On the next play McClung fumbled and McIntyre kicked out of bounds on his 30-yard line. Foster made a yard, then Pete Lenz called another forward pass, sending the ball spinning to Kirkpatrick thirty yards down the field. Kirk, who is the veteran of the Tiger team, rose to the occasion and after making a great leap for the ball, smashed over the line for a score. The punt out was missed and the score stood 7 to 6 for Utah.

The second quarter developed no scoring thrills, although Utah got dangerous at times. It was at this point that the Oxy tackling looked bad and there was quite a bit of fumbling.

SECOND HALF.

At half time, Utah remained on the field, while the Tigers went into the quarters. At the whistle the teams lined up. Utah looked the spirit of confidence, while Oxy looked desperate. Utah kicked off and Kirk came in thirty yards. Oxy could not gain and were forced to kick, Southerland was downed in his tracks, then Utah started the rush that brought their last score.

Travers, Gardner and Hamilton made first down in three plays, then Travers got around his left end for a 30-yard run. Two line plunges netted nothing, but a fake forward pass by Travers brought home twelve and the ball was on Oxy's 10-yard line. Two more plays and no gain, then Southerland ran around the end, planting the ball square between the posts. Hamilton kicked goal. Score: Utah, 14; Oxy, 6.

Utah kicked off and Foster returned twenty-five yards up the field. It was at this point that they took the wraps off the "battle-ship" and he began to make yards.

The whole Tiger team went wild.

HARVARD BEATS BROWN MERELY FOR EXERCISE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Nov. 15.—The Harvard football team, ready in preparation for the game [illegible], was tried out against [illegible] and found in fine working [illegible]. The Crimson totaled 37 [illegible] nothing. Harvard practically [illegible] three elevens into play [illegible] first string players, Logan, [illegible] and Trumbull, who went to [illegible] with Coach Haughton to [illegible] in action against Princeton, [illegible] missed.

The Crimson team played only [illegible] the first two periods, making seventeen points on touchdowns by Brickley and Hardwick and on Brickley's goal from placement at thirty-eight yards. Brilliant end running by Mahan made the first Crimson touchdown possible. The Crimson scoring ambitions seemed increased rather than diminished with the appearance of substitutes. Bittle and Willetts were towers of plunging strength in the new Crimson back-field.

Harvard's last score was a sensational one. Mills, substitute guard, caught the ball after fumbling it on a Brown kick-off and raced eighty-two yards to the Brown goal. Brown was never dangerous.

GOAL KICKING FEATURED YALE-PRINCETON TIE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YALE FIELD, NEW HAVEN, Nov. 15.—For the second time in two years the Yale-Princeton game ended in a tie score, in which goal kicking was the feature. Yale scored their three points on a 30-yard kicked by Guernsey in the second period.

In the third period Capt. Baker saved Princeton from defeat by dropping a pretty goal from the field from the 32-yard line. As Princeton was a pronounced favorite before the game, the contest was more satisfactory from a Yale standpoint than from the opponents and gave the FLOWER-FILLED MOTOR CAR BRINGS JOY TO TINY TOTS.

Oldsmobile Filled With Flowers Is Welcomed by Wards of County Hospital and Capt. H. D. Ryus Makes Friends of the Babies—Secretary S. C. Geary, of Automobile Club, Distributes Armfuls of Blooms.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

AN AUTOMOBILE load of flowers—all for the kiddies at the County Hospital. This was made possible by Harmon D. Ryus, manager of the local branch of the Olds Motor Works, who spent an entire morning gathering the posies to make the babies happy.

With a fully-equipped Oldsmobile, Model 45, "Cap" Ryus with the aid of S. C. Geary, secretary of the Automobile Club of Southern California, drove to the home of Marshall D. Taylor, where chrysanthemums by the thousand are now in bloom. The handsome car was literally covered with the blossoms.

At the County Hospital we were told that the patients would be only too glad to get the flowers. With the car covered with blooms the Oldsmobile was admitted, the gates were raised and joy and gladness was carried to those who are compelled to remain in bed and to the babies who do not know what it is to enjoy the delights and luxuries of life.

It was a benediction to see those faces. They could not have looked happier if we had brought them gold, frankincense and myrrh. It was a gala day for them as the car was driven up by the winner of the Mt. Baldy road race. What matter to them if they were being entertained by the greatest of all local drivers. It was the flowers they wanted.

Eagerly the little ones reached up their tiny hands for the blossoms. We had enough and to spare. Not one of the tiny tots was slighted. The entire tonneau was filled and it takes some blossoms to fill that Oldsmobile, which is the latest 1914 model.

ARMFULS OF FLOWERS.

Secretary Geary entered into the spirit of the occasion. Reaching out her armfuls of flowers the bright-faced kiddies received them with both arms outstretched. It was the first time they had ever been given such beautiful blooms and they showed their appreciation as they stood in their homespun uniforms with the flowers heaped in their tiny arms.

One of the little tots, "Tee-wee," could not walk and if she had been old enough her bandaged foot would have prevented her toddling feet from straying far. She seemed to be the favorite of the older ones, and each vied with the other in trying to present "Tee-wee" with the choicest flowers. The baby face was glad. She buried her chubby nose in the posies. It was something new. I believe it was the first time in her tiny life that she had ever seen so many flowers and then they were all her very own. That baby was as happy as if she had been given a brand new toy.

Came little Ralph, who has recently undergone an operation for mastoid of the bone of his ear. He was well enough to make the trip all the way out to the machine. He was given a generous bunch of flowers and he quickly hurried off to the wards of the children's department to show his new-found treasures.

RICKETTS HAPPY.

Another little one, troubled with the "ricketts," but who is being cured, was given flowers that you would pay a tidy sum for if you purchased them at a florist's this morning. That boy seemed to know their worth. He carried them as tenderly as possible. He seemed afraid to crush them. Little Ricketts was happy and his expression of joy made glad the hearts of everyone in that Oldsmobile.

For the first time in the history of the automobile industry, a dealer had spent an entire morning trying to make babies who have few of the sweets of this life happy. Capt. Ryus had struck the right chord. He had played on the sympathies of each one of us and it was hard to keep back the tears as we saw the pathetic gladness of the little ones who so seldom are given a touch of the brighter side of life.

From the active life of the Automobile Club of Southern California to the wards of the Children's Hospital is a far cry, but not too far for Secretary Geary. Though 4500 members of the largest automobile club in this country, and I suppose in the world, needed her every minute, Secretary Geary determined to spend one morning in the laudable task of making someone happy.

The tiny tads at the County Hospital will never forget her. They saw her with arms full of chrysanthemums and will always remember her for those flowers. She will always remember them for the joy and happiness that shone in their eyes that morning as they received the blooms.

"Here is a chance," said Secretary

ALL-STAR TEAM HAD NO CHANCE WITH ALL-BLACKS.

The Great New Zealand Football Players Bid Farewell to America by Humiliating the Team Made Up of the Best Rugby Players in California — Mow Mitchell Made the Only Score.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERKELEY (Cal.) Nov. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] American ruggers should salaam to the invincible New Zealanders. Against the picked footballers of the Pacific Coast these wonderful players from the Antipodes this afternoon rolled up a parting score of 51-3. Sad to relate, but true, the result breaks all high score records for international games both here and in England.

"Mow" Mitchell of Los Angeles is responsible for the sole All-American score. Following a dribbling rush started by McKim, Blase and King, which got the play into neutral ground from a line out, Mitchell intercepted a pass and was off like a rocket. Dodging, swerving and leaping he tore a clear forty yards before he was downed. So quick was his start that support was unable to reach him before he was downed by an offside New Zealander. America was awarded a penalty kick. Peart took one look at the situation and decided to try for a goal. The ball passed neatly over the bar and the first All-American score was made.

Technique is what won the game. No team could fight harder than the All-American aggregation. But willingness to fight is no match for the educated toes and the team technique that the All-Blacks possess.

It is the intuitive grasping of opportunity that piles up the New Zealand scores. The ball flows toward holes in the defense like water running down a hill. Even the semblance of a weak spot was attacked this afternoon by a wall of jumping, toeing All-Black forwards that swept aside opposition and rolled the ball toward goal.

The second the forwards faltered, a writhing live wire line of backs whirled into action. The pigskin jumped from hand to hand fast as an electric spark, at times fairly blinding onlookers with its brilliant rapidity. The New Zealand backfield twisted and leaped like a broken trolley wire on a wet pavement and with every sparkling movement it advanced the oval toward All-American territory.

THE BLACK RUSH.

A new word for ruggers was made today. It is "black rush," and it means a rush that spells peril for goal lines.

But the great superiority of the New Zealanders over the Americans is in the forward division. In hooking the ball and in smearing through scrums the All Blacks have us outclassed immeasurably. In line-outs, invariably, it was the All-Black forwards that got the ball. Once they had it, they kept it close by, dribbling down the field five abreast. Every effort was made to hold play tight until a back-field opportunity presented itself. Then the ball would fly out to a line of backs and fast action commenced. When American players learn to meet and oppose that tight dribbling forward proposition they will have gone a long way towards solving the question of how New Zealanders get the ball away and why it is that we seem unable to stop their forward rushes.

FIRST HALF.

First half—In the toss-up for kick-off the All-Blacks won. McDonald kicked off. Mitchell caught the oval and returned. A free kick from the American 25-yard line found touch, and from the line-out the All-Black forwards rushed the ball down for a five-yard scrum. Taylor got the ball, passed to Graham to Roberts, who ambled over for the first try. But three minutes had elapsed. Graham failed to convert. Score, 3-0.

The first American rush into All-Black territory followed the kick-off. King got off a skimming ground kick, which McKim charged. New Zealand rallied, and, after an exchange of boots between backfielders, play settled in neutral ground. All-Black forwards worked the ball slowly down until a scrum was called at five yards. Dewar got the ball and crossed over. No conversion. Score, 6-0.

In the loose play following the kick-off, in which Rammage failed to show all that was expected of him,

PITCHERS TO BE VACCINATED.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—The touring ball players of the New York National and Chicago American League clubs learned with dismay today that because of an epidemic of smallpox in Australia they must be all vaccinated before they are permitted to land there. Ball players, and especially pitchers, dread the needles and sore arms that follow.

Your Rauch & Lang Electric Backed by Two Established Houses Right Here in Los Angeles.

Satisfaction in Electrics must be based upon two things—first, the car itself, then its service through subsequent years.

The Rauch & Lang Electric is primarily a mighty good investment—you get the utmost in mechanical refinements—you get a car that has been the American woman's favorite for a score of years—you get the car one hundred per cent perfect.

Here in Los Angeles a double guarantee of satisfaction goes with the envied R. & L. Probably no other city in the United States is so admirably and efficiently served.

It is, indeed, an added incentive to favor the popular Rauch & Lang Electric.

MOTOR TRUCKS FOR DRESS REHEARSAL THIS WEEK.

Doors of Commercial Car Salon to Open Tomorrow With Handsome Exhibit Tastefully Arranged—Every Inch of Space Taken With High and Low-Powered Creations Holding Sway for an Entire Week.

BY BERT SMITH.

DOORS of the motor truck show will be opened tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The Broadway Rink building at Main street near Tenth now houses a handsome exhibit of commercial cars. For the first time in the history of the motor car industry, an exclusive motor truck show is to be held in the West.

Time and space have been necessary to make this exhibit worth seeing. Manager Walter Hempel, with the aid of the leading truck dealers of Los Angeles, will stage a show tomorrow for which no excuses need be made. The line of trucks shown and the different exhibits which will be made, together with the ornate decorations, make this show ideal.

The highest-powered trucks in the history of the motor industry, together with the smallest delivery cars, are to be grouped on the one floor, and it will be possible to take in at a glance the growth of the motor industry in the past decade. Every conceivable truck, the best-known cars on the market, together with some that are not so well known, are to be placed on dress parade.

Merchants and others who are particularly interested in the moving of large quantities of goods will be given an object lesson at the Los Angeles truck show. The best methods employed in the East for moving freight will be shown here this week. The latest devices for moving this freight will be exhibited. The factories have vied with each other to make this display fitting.

PACKARD THERE.

Prominent among the exhibitors will be the Packard hydraulic truck. This big five-tonner, with its patented hoisting and unloading device, which is entirely novel, will be shown here for the first time. This same truck is to be one of the big features of the eastern shows, but will be exhibited here first. This division of the show is to be made interesting by the local Packard agent, who will so arrange the display that the Packard truck will be the one big centerpiece of the entire booth.

There will be a Pierce-Arrow truck display. This was determined when W. E. Bush decided to show his latest 1914 models in a space large enough to display them to advantage. The Pierce trucks have just arrived and will be shown in the models which already have made such a decided hit in the East.

The "Three P's" will be the feature exhibit of the show, as the Peerless will also be seen to advantage. W. F. Wood of the Smith Bros.' agency has arranged to show the Peerless five-ton truck, one of the highest-powered cars on the commercial market. This motor is equipped with the latest devices for loading and unloading, and several new features are incorporated in the 1914 Peerless.

While the Peerless, Pierce-Arrow and Packard will occupy the heavy artillery space of the show the Saurer is also to be exhibited and this, perhaps, is the highest-powered truck on the market as well as the highest in price. The Saurer is one of the big guns that will bear a close examination, as the record of this big fellow which was sent across the continent on a long jaunt is worth investigation.

FEDERALS, ALSO.

The Federal trucks will be grouped with the Kissel offering. These are in the medium-priced division. In the Federal something new and novel is promised. A. B. Robinson expects to place Truckman Kelly in charge of the large exhibit to be made by the Pacific Kissel Kar Company, where a complete line of both the Federal and the Kissel will be displayed.

M. S. Bulkley plans to make a complete exhibit of his full line of Autocar trucks together with the Perfex light truck. These are to be shown in all of the Autocar models and the Perfex, which is to be made in only the one model, will be given ample space. The Bulkley exhibits will be one of the largest made by any dealer who has taken space at the present show.

It is impossible to enumerate the different cars that will be on display this week. Every inch of space has been taken and in addition to the trucks the latest in the accessory line will also be shown. The show will command the attention of a large number of truck purchasers and the dealers propose to make this exhibit something to be remembered.

STANDARD LINE.

The complete line of Standard trucks will be shown by the Hawley-King Company. This will be the first time that the Standard has been shown in the West. This exhibit is to be made in a space that is commanding and the booth chosen by the Standard people is in such a location that it can be enjoyed by all those who parade the main aisles of the show tomorrow evening.

George R. Kirkwood will exhibit the one-and-a-half-ton Universal and the big three-ton Universal. The Eastern Motor Car Company has chosen enough space to make an interesting exhibit of these well-known commercial cars. Kirkwood has succeeded in bringing his small motor truck out here and this commercial creation will also be exhibited for the first time in the West.

The Little Giant, the Wagenhals, the latest models of the light and heavy goods, will all be ready for a careful inspection. The show is to be unique and the exhibit well worth seeing. The salon will last from Monday until Saturday of this week and moving picture exhibitions and lectures will be given each night.

We Thought So.

WRECKING AUTOMOBILES A BUSINESS IN LOS ANGELES.

ONE phase of the automobile industry which has received very little publicity, although it is a really important factor in the motor world, is the business of wrecking and dis-assembling old cars and disposing of the parts. There are at least three firms in Los Angeles, one of which has branches in San Francisco and San Diego, which deal solely in cars which for one reason or another have outlived their usefulness.

These firms buy cars which have been smashed on the road so badly that the owners do not care to have them repaired, cars which are apparently destroyed by fire, and cars which can no longer be coaxed to run, and take them apart to the last bolt and screw. Such parts as are too badly worn to be of further service are thrown away, the rest are put into stock, and the engines and transmissions are sold as units. Occasionally a car can be rebuilt, but the expense is seldom justified.

The question often comes up "what becomes of the old cars?" and a visit to one of these emporiums will help answer it. Some of the old wagons are kept running at the expense of their less fortunate brethren. Often a factory goes out of business, leaving a lot of cars for which no parts can be obtained. It may be that the car is really a very good one, but the owner, disgusted with the expense of repairs, sells it for a song, and the wrecker tears it down and puts the parts in stock. Then, when another of the same make goes to the bad, there is a stock of parts waiting for it, and it can be kept on the road.

Another market for the parts is found among the heaven-born mechanics, who would rather build cars than buy them. These ingenious persons usually have invented a new (?) system of transmission or a different clutch, and wish to build a car for the purpose of experiment. They shop around and pick up an engine here, a frame there and a pair of axles somewhere else, and assemble the whole outfit around the invention. Usually they get a remarkably fine line of experience, but it makes business good for the wrecker.

Then there is the man who wants a small, cheap motor to run a little pumping plant, maybe in an inaccessible place, where the weight of an ordinary stationary engine would forbid its transportation. He buys an old automobile motor at a low figure, and puts it to work. There are hundreds of such isolated plants giving good service in all parts of Southern California. The motors are so light and the parts are so small and comparatively inexpensive that they can be maintained at a very low cost, and the labor of repair is not so arduous as in the big stationary engines.

The amount of business done in this line may be estimated from the fact that one firm alone sells over 200 motors a year, and other parts in proportion. The buyers come from as far away as some of the Arizona and Nevada towns, and it is rare indeed when an order cannot be filled, even for parts of cars that have not existed as a factor in the manufacturing game for several years.

Up to Snuff.

BEST POSTED CAR BUYERS FOUND IN LOS ANGELES.

ANGELENOS are given credit for being the best informed car buyers in the country by Harry Lord, who proceeds to prove his case:

"They look a car over and immediately they know just how good that car is, from carburetor to tires. They can invariably tell you which is the best standard make of accessory, and unless your car has the features they want, you might as well give up trying to make the sale.

"I actually believe that the Los Angeles buyer of a motor car knows more about motor cars in general than most automobile agents. I had a man come in the other day, looked over the twenty-five Maxwell, and immediately he commenced talking about Mr. Flanders, the president of the Maxwell company. Said he could see the value in the car, that it was just what Mr. Flanders had promised. Now, I would like for anyone to show me another city where the people are as well acquainted with the different cars as they are here."

"And no one knows this any better, nor appreciates it any more than the manufacturers themselves. When the new Maxwell line was put on the market the sales manager of the Maxwell company told us that if it went well in Los Angeles he knew it would go well in other cities. And he also said that the Maxwell company was making absolutely certain that every Maxwell car would satisfy the Los Angeles public. And that's why we haven't been able to fill orders to date. The cars themselves have created a demand that is very unusual, simply because they have proven to be 'Los Angeles high' in quality."

It is practically assured that seven or eight countries will try to win the Davis cup emblematic of the world's lawn tennis championship, from this country, next year. Until March, the date for challenging the exact challengers will not be known. Australia, Germany, France and England are sure to enter the competition, while Belgium, South Africa and Canada may also try again. After all challenges are in, the holding country makes the draw and then the countries decide where to play. If they cannot agree the holding country decides.

QUALITY PROVEN IN SIMPLEX CARS.

George Bentel of the Simplex-Mercer Coast agency, points to the late victories of Simplex cars in the El Paso-Phoenix and Los Angeles-Phoenix races as conclusive demonstrations of the quality of material used in their construction, stating that the El Paso winner had been used for five years by a mining company at Chihuahua, Mex.

Bentel characterizes the Los Angeles-Phoenix race as a purely sporting event, in which owners of cars enter for love of the game.

Good Stuff.

MATERIAL USED MOST IMPORTANT.

WINTON MAN COMMENTS UPON CAR QUALITY.

Guarantee of Manufacturer Based on Experience and Use of Best Products Obtainable in Market. Financial Resources Aid in Securing Highest Production.

W. D. Howard, local Winton agent, states that in his estimation, service and guarantee of product, enter into every motor car purchase.

"Every reputable motor car is backed by the maker's guarantee that the materials used in the construction and the design of the product, are as represented in the specifications. And under that guarantee he is prepared to make good in every difficulty. Leading manufacturers have found out that it is cheaper to make use of the highest-grade materials than to undergo the continual expense incident to the replacement of parts made of inferior materials.

"For the above reasons, it is safe to say that the products of the better class of manufacturers are built of the best materials.

"Likewise, it stands to reason, that the manufacturer of longest experience is the one who has the soundest judgment. Financial resources will also be a great factor in the production of high-grade cars, as it permits the selection of the best materials in the market, while the concern whose credit is limited must take what it can get; materials purchased under such a handicap are not always the most desirable.

"Producers of raw materials are not eagerly seeking for the business of mushroom motor car manufacturers, if their goods are of good quality. So the problem of what car to buy resolves itself into a very simple question, which can be as easily answered by investigation."

GETATABLE PARTS IN NEW LOZIER.

Reachable adjuncts form the keynote of new Lozier construction.

Froman Speers of the Beekin-Speers Motor Company, points to the accessible positions of magneto, carburetor, gas strainer and battery, as well as to secure hood fastenings, which render easy of adjustment and secure from intrusion all important members of the motor plant.

Speers describes the Coronado model, with semi-foredoor limousine body, as the most attractive enclosed car that is offered this year.

NEW CARBURETERS NOW SHIPPED EAST

The first shipment of the new Master carbureters to be sent East left the local factory last week, to be tried out by one of the largest truck manufacturers. The Master was brought to their attention by the performance of the Kissel Kar that went to San Francisco on oil toppings.

Harry Miller, the Los Angeles inventor, has already won a standing in the East on account of his previous inventions in the carbureter line.

Since the local plant started operations there have been many inquiries from the East, but on account of the Coast demand it has not been possible to give much attention to the eastern market.

Arrangements are now being made for the enlargement of the local factory. Additional room will be secured and more machinery added.

HUDSON MOTOR CARS

True Streamline Body
Left-Side Drive
Right-Hand Control

No Ifs or Ands or Buts About a Hudson Six 54

YOU seldom need to shift gears. The motor flexibility takes care of the different speed and road conditions.

To ride in a six is a delight. The car starts as smoothly as a yacht. It develops speed smoothly and steadily. It glides over the road. It gives the sensation of flying. It rides like constant coasting.

It will run smoothly—on high gear—at the pace of a man's walk. This is ideal in congested traffic. It will "pick up" almost instantly to the speed of an express train.

This without changing a gear—without touching a lever. Just a slight pressure of the foot on the accelerator pedal is required.

There is no jerkiness. There is no annoying and tiring vibration.

See These New Features

THE HUDSON Six 54 has the true streamline body that comfortably seats four, five, six or seven passengers—four-speed transmission—left-side drive—right-hand (center) control—new, fast type Delco electric cranking and lighting system, patented—entrance to driver's seat from both sides of car—gasoline tank in dash—new "dimming" electric headlights—135-inch wheel base.

Come, see for yourself the true Streamline Body and examine the smoothness and flexibility of a real six-cylinder car.

"YOU CAN'T GET 6-CYLINDER SMOOTHNESS IN A FOUR"

FOUR CARS A DAY

There are but two logical methods of building motor cars.

One method is to produce cars in enormous quantities so as to bring the price down as low as possible.

The other method is to produce cars in limited quantities so that each car will be of the highest quality.

Each system has but one real exponent. In a middle western city, "mass production" enables a good small car to be made and sold at a low figure. In a New England city, "The Best Built Car in America" is produced practically car by car, by the finest mechanics in the world.

One car carries out one ideal, the other a total different ideal. Both are right. Both are built, not assembled. One company makes 1000 cars a day, the other company Four Cars a day. The idea back of one car is to give the most for the money; the idea back of the other is to give the best regardless of price.

The smaller car is turned out like the well-known and worth-while "dollar watch." The greater car is built like a chronometer. Any other car—is a compromise.

The Locomobile now occupies a peculiar position. It is the only high-grade car whose sales have increased during the past two years. The success of the Locomobile is due to the policy of building not more than four cars a day. All of the power and the experience has been concentrated on a limited production. Years ago we concluded that just so surely as the best cheap car could only be produced in very large number, just so surely could the car of highest quality be produced only in limited quantities.

Our policy from the very start was to build cars in small lots so that each car could have the most intimate attention. When others were increasing their plants and building more cars, we were increasing our quality, striving to make the Locomobile "The Best Built Car in America."

Every Locomobile has been built like every other Locomobile. Every Locomobile has been built with the utmost care. Every Locomobile has been built to carry out the ideal of quality, not a commonplace commercial idea. The Locomobile will be made as it always has been made, in limited quantity—and with special care. (Despite the present demand for the Locomobile and despite any rumor to the contrary, we will not increase our production and make more cars.)

There will always be a demand for the limited number of cars we make. Because we have been building for the future, our plant will always run at capacity, without reducing the quality of our product or price.

SURPRISE IN NATIONAL.

Y. Boothe Prepares to Tell Real Secret.

cial Report Shows Concern Is Solid.

Rumors Settled by Local National Man.

of a financial slump, which floating around automo- reached Earle Y. Boothe, agent, last week. Even had been mentioned as a "bad way," though just meant no one seemed pre- date. That the rumor quieted or at least nailed the National man started investigation of his was interesting. It is not necessary for him to make a hurried journey to Indianapolis. The National factory will last. In fact, it will last so long that before the first of the year a surprise is to be sprung that will certainly make every one of the autoists sit up and take particular notice.

Just what that surprise is Agent Boothe is not now prepared to state. It will be something real in the automobile line and it will have the right name and the correct price. More than this cannot be sprung just at this time, as Agent Boothe was more interested in the funny rumors that were floating around than in anything else. These rumors have been settled in just this way. Here is the statement from the National factory.

A. C. Newby, the man who made the National famous in racing annals, will take another vacation, lasting a year. The capital stock of the company is $250,000 and the National factory directors have just declared a dividend of $140,000 on that stock. The only indebtedness the factory now has is a matter of $30,000 in current bills.

PLENTY OF CASH.

This clear and concise statement makes no mention of the $3,000,000 back of the factory. The officials are now planning an extensive campaign for 1914 and the surprise that will be given within the next few weeks will show that the National people have been constantly in touch with the automobile market.

The entire amount of bills the National factory owes is open to cash discount and is so small as to be not worth consideration. The finances of the big plant at Indianapolis are in splendid shape and the statement was only made by Agent Boothe on a special request, following the silly report that "something or other was the matter."

Fred Samuels Rutledge, National factory representative, is expected here this week. He spent a few days in Los Angeles last week and is now in San Francisco. While here he closed a contract with Earle Boothe which means that the National will be handled for the next three years by the present agency.

Boothe has the entire Southern California and Arizona territory. He expects to branch out into the new State this coming year. His contract is ironclad and within a short time the National man will announce his policy, which is to be clear-cut and decisive.

Boxing Promoter Delaney of Denver believes he has hit on a plan that will show the pugilistic supporters and the promoters, as well, that the boxers who are to appear at his club do road work in their training. He is going to build a fourteen-lap track on the top of the clubhouse on which the boxers will do their running. To get the hill advantage, the track will be built in chutes over skylights.

COLE

"The Standardized Car"

THE BIG TRUTH

HERE'S THE TRUTH WHICH IS STARTLING LOS ANGELES---This Six-Cylinder "Cole" Touring Car will duplicate any stunt that any automobile ---at any price---will perform. The Cole "Six" sells for only $2750, the Cole "Four" for only $2050—thanks to STANDARDIZATION.

WHENEVER you find a man or a motor car—it makes no difference which—whenever you find either one of them SUCCEEDING in a big way, you can wager your dearest earthly possession that this successful man or motor car is founded on a big fundamental truth.

This little sermon is about THE STANDARDIZED CAR. It's a TRUE sermon—that's why it's going home to all of YOU—you people of LOS ANGELES who believe in TRUTH and who are looking for the truth in both men and motor cars.

First, let's take the little truths:

To begin with, the Automobile has gotten out of the luxury class into the NECESSITY class.

The moment any commodity makes this switch, people quit paying LUXURY PRICES for it.

PEOPLE have quit paying LUXURY PRICES for Automobiles—all but the millionaires, and many millionaires are driving Cole motor cars—at that. Your average millionaire has a pretty good head on him—that's why he's a millionaire.

If you're going to buy an automobile, the thing for you to determine is—WHAT CONSTITUTES the actual NECESSITY PRICE on the best automobile it is possible to build?

Take this big Series Nine Cole for example.

Here's a Car built from the tested Best of EVERYTHING—but it's built under a more ADVANCED manufacturing system—that's why it can be bought for only $2750.

If we have figured out a new way of building automobiles which will give you the best possible car at a price far below what you have been accustomed to pay for cars which approach its quality—you're INTERESTED in saving this THOUSAND or TWO THOUSAND dollars—aren't you?

CERTAINLY!

All right—we've DONE that very thing.

We say—here's a car for $2750 just as good as any automobile ever built at ANY PRICE.

We say—here's an automobile which WILL duplicate any work that ANY AUTOMOBILE EVER BUILT can do, regardless of price—and then we'll TELL you WHY this Cole "Six" can do it—and will make our arguments STICK.

Take hills for example—you've got a lot of good big hills around Los Angeles.

How slowly can the best automobile you know start in at the bottom of the Sixth street hill, with its control in High—and how Fast can that Best Automobile you have in mind be DOING AT THE TOP of the hill?

We'll duplicate the stunt with the Cole—and maybe go them ONE BETTER.

Or, let's take Altadena hill for example.

THE COLE CAN TAKE THIS HILL ON HIGH so easily that it makes the owners of the old LUXURY PRICED cars sit up and—THINK.

If you can find any car that can show more mettle on these trying hills—BUY the other car.

If the Cole does the work better than the other fellow's car—BUY the Cole.

Doesn't that sound like we KNOW where we stand?

By the way—how does that proposition strike you—right NOW.

When you come to think of it—if we have the car you'd want, providing you REALIZED it, you'd sort of chastise yourself if you acted on anybody's personal say-so and BOUGHT—without making this Cole show its REAL SELF to you.

We're going to sell a lot more of these Coles in Los Angeles.

Your neighbors who buy Coles are going to ask you—"What Ever Did You Mean—not considering THE STANDARDIZED CAR!"

Today's the day.

We've made our Statement.

Make us PROVE it.

MOTORISTS please take notice. This means you.

Chief of Police Sebastian, at a conference held last week with Secretary S. G. Geary of the Automobile Club of Southern California, decided to rigidly enforce the city ordinance regarding the stopping of automobiles ten feet from standing street cars. Chief Sebastian urged Secretary Geary to inform club members of the determination of the city police regarding this special ordinance.

FROM THE FACTORIES

AFTER months of planning and experiment Packard engineers have perfected a noiseless type of final drive. They have evolved what is called the worm bevel, in which the teeth of the gear are curved instead of straight, thus doing away with the annoying backlash and the whine of the old form of gear.

Thomas A. Edison says that the horse is the most inefficient motor in the world, recent tests showing that the average horse gives back in work only about 2 per cent. of the energy contained in the food that he eats. The "horse habit" is so firmly fixed, however, that many still continue to pay this tremendous price for power.

The Cole Motor Company has recently increased its capital stock from $500,000 to $1,000,000, and erected a new addition to the factory at an expense of $200,000. The business of the company shows an increase which is a gratifying tribute to the popularity of the "Standardized Car."

Ferdinand Blick, a fruit grower of Lansing, Mich., finding that the gas engine used to supply power to his cider mill had served its time and become worthless, jacked up his Regal car, removed a rear tire, threw the belt onto the rim, and started up. No new engine for him while he owns the Regal, which seems fully capable of doing double duty.

Gov. George H. Hodges of Kansas, J. R. Edwards of Chicago, representing the Automobile Blue Book, D. E. Watkins, secretary of the Kansas Automobile Association, and A. G. Miller, secretary-treasurer of the Rock Island Highway Association, have just completed an inspection of the new Rock Island highway between St. Joseph, Mo., and Denver.

Good roads meetings were held along the way and at Denver the party was entertained by the Chamber of Commerce. The trip was made in a KisselKar.

John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland Company, has purchased the plant, license rights, stock and equipment of the Edwards-Knight Motor Car Company of Hartford. H. J. Edwards, designer of the car, will go to Elyria, O., as chief engineer of Mr. Willys's plant there, where the new car will be built. The car will be marketed as the Garford-Knight, and will be high grade in every feature as becoming a car equipped

ROADS LINED WITH PAL VISION OF TOUR

A LITTLE more money for ornamentation and a little less on the roads themselves is the suggestion to Californians offered by M. W. Chambers of Ardmore, Pa., who arrived in Los Angeles Friday with his wife, after a tour across country in his Mitchell Little Six.

The easterner's ornamentation scheme is suggested by the fine roads he encountered almost as soon as he struck this State. "I certainly was pleased with the highways themselves," said Chambers. "But I believe California is overlooking a great chance to make her

WE have said repeatedly—the 1914 "Oldsmobile" is the greatest six-cylinder car ever produced.

But the really important fact is that thousands of motorists, including owners of other cars—even designers and manufacturers of other cars—have repeated our estimate of this wonderful car.

And the real proof—the final proof—lies in the rapidity with which 1914 cars are leaving our factory, scarcely able to keep pace with the demand.

We want you to see this car. It will then become your ideal of all that makes a motor car desirable.

GASOLINE ROW GOSSIP.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

GEORGE PURDY BULLARD, father of the Phoenix road race, was in town Thursday on his way to San Francisco. Purdy is attending the Federal Court sessions in the Bay City and will be there for about ten days. He says the last Phoenix race was the best. But, then, that's what he always says, so we must take it for what it's worth.

Ralph Hamlin and Don Lee started an argument on the Howdy Special which may never be settled. Don was strong for the four-cylinder. Remember, the Cadillac factory builds only four-cylinders. Don says the four-cylinder is the ultimate car. Ralph was strong for the six-cylinder. Remember, the Franklin people build only the six. Ralph says the six-cylinder is the ultimate car. Which shall we believe? Which was right? Answers may be sent in by mail to the automobile editor.

Reginald Gernon, who has been ill for some time, but who is now completely recovered, is once more in charge of the actual management of the Pacific Coast Motor Car Company. Reggie has been at Monrovia recovering from an affection of the lungs, but now looks like a beef-fed Englishman ready for most anything. Business at the Fiat agency is good, and with the new blood of the Gernon family, should be far better. We are all with you Reggie, as we know you will do well.

Frank A. Garbutt and Glenn Martin can be seen together most any old time. It's not hard to guess what they are both planning. Some sort of new conquest of the air. Both have charmed lives and when it comes to aeroplaning, I would choose to ride with such men as Garbutt and Martin most anywhere.

Earle Y. Boothe made a real home run last week when he slammed out that liner that settled forever that rumor concerning the finances of the National factory. It's the way I would go at anything if I had the backing of that Indianapolis factory.

This week, of course, the topic of special interest will be the Motor Truck Show. Every dealer will be represented there and every truck, that is, almost every truck, sold in Los Angeles, will be exhibited. The show is well placed, the decorations are choice, and Baron von Hempel seems to have come into his own again.

Harold L. Arnold smiled three times in succession on Tuesday. Once, when he saw a customer drive up to the National Supply Station at Washington and Grand avenue; the second time when Earle C. Anthony tried to crack a joke he had heard the year before, and the third time when Don Lee tried to look natural as the camera man was snapping him.

This is to be your steady diet for a while. As far as I can learn, L. T. Shettler is the only man who does not really enjoy being joshed. Well, we'll agree to be lenient with "Snish," as he is a jolly good fellow whom we all hope will do well. Outside of his associates Shettler is a fine fellow, and I'm one of those associates.

How many of you are planning to leave for the factory in a hurry? Don't all speak at once. Rumors and counter-rumors have been floating about all week, but do you ever remember a time when you could not hear almost anything on automobile row?

HAND-PAINTED STANDS BEST.

Old fashions in some car processes are best, notably in the matter of painting, according to the statement of the Jackson makers.

On every Jackson car body there are nineteen separate and distinct operations in the paint shop. It is a case of putting on the paint and rubbing down over and over again, and then the final careful coats of varnish. This method probably costs the Jackson Company a little more than the contract method, but it certainly gives a very deep, rich finish that stays on and stays beautiful, unaffected by heat, cold and washing. We never worry how our Jackson cars are going to look when they come through to us, and we never worry either about how they are goin- to look a year or two after we sell them. We are mighty glad the Jackson factory is a little old-fashioned in this matter of body finish.

—A collection of demonstrations and exhibits gathered together in order that autoists may see the magnitude of home industry. There are items here that possibly you did not know were made in Los Angeles. You owe it to yourself and your city to get acquainted.

—There are also on display two automobiles, one manufactured in 1901 and the other an advanced 1914 model, showing the progress made since the advent of the "horseless carriage. Come and see this extraordinary display.

A Demonstration

Fairy Auto Polish

—There is nothing on the American market today which will give a more brilliant luster to auto bodies than Fairy Polish. And Fairy Polish is made right here in Los Angeles.

—It removes stain, scratches and finger marks from bodies without scratching the most highly polished surface.

—During this demonstration a beautiful cloth pennant will be given free with each $1.00 can of polish.

—Fairy Polish sells at 50c and $1.00.

A Demonstration

Western Dry Cells

—Showing the construction of another Los Angeles product, manufactured by the Standard Carbon Company.

—Nothing is superior to Western dry cells for high ignition, electric horns or electric tail lights.

—The fact that dry cells should be used within 60 days after their manufacture makes this home product specially desirable. Get better acquainted with them next week at the Great White Store.

Western Dry Cells sell at 25c each.

Use the South Broadway Entrance for the Auto Accessories Exhibit on the Main Floor.

A Demonstration

Ford's Nu-lether

—Made by the Oriental Enamel Company at Long Beach, California, and sold everywhere.

—See how this magic liquid transforms old cushions and tops into beautifully finished ones in the demonstration this week. It is an article you should know more about.

—Nu-lether is a faultless leather dressing that will adhere to any kind of material and will not rub off or crack. It is easily applied and dries in 15 minutes.

The Price of Ford's Auto Nu-lether is $1.00 and $1.50.

A Demonstration

Pacific Storage Batteries

—The product of the Pacific Storage Battery Company
—A firm that unquestionably guarantees its products.

—Plates and general construction of these batteries will be shown and explained at this demonstration. You can gain valuable information about the care of storage batteries and how to make them work to best advantage.

—Pacific batteries are kept charged for one year after purchase at no expense to the owner.

—The price of Pacific Storage Batteries ranges from $15.00 to $30.00.

An Exhibit

A Booth of Sponges and Chamois

—An exceedingly interesting display including sponges in their natural state as well as some rare specimens of coral and other marine life.

—Sponges and chamois necessities for every autoist. You should determine from exhibit those best adapted to your use.

Sponges from 15c to $1.25. Chamois from 25c to $1.50.

A Demonstration

Famous Zeroline Oil for All Cars

—Our demonstrator will be glad to answer all questions regarding lubrication problems and there will be an interesting display of all grades of this famous oil.

—You'll find Zeroline an economical oil, giving the greatest amount of lubrication with a minimum deposit of carbon.

Zeroline is $2.50 in 5 gallon cans.

A Demonstration

Entorf Gasoline Filter—A Wonder!

—If you would know just how much water you are getting in the average gasoline you buy, see this demonstration.

—By simply pouring gasoline through this filter all the water and impurities are removed. It is certainly a money saving device. See it in use here tomorrow.

Entorf Gasoline Filters $2.50.

An Exhibit

Western Automobile Accessories

—Including the latest designs of trunks, tire trunks, tire covers, auto pillows, magneto covers, starting crank holders, leather straps, etc.

—Made in Los Angeles by R. B. Bailey Co. and representing the highest grade goods of this class. You'll find a mighty large per cent of Los Angeles autoists using Western auto accessories.

A Demonstration

Randall's—Automobile—Gloss

—A booth in charge of H. J. Randall and Son of Long Beach, California.

—No matter how oily and greasy the body, tires, upholstery or top of your car may get, Randall's Auto Gloss will clean it without injury. See what an excellent preparation this is in the demonstration this week.

—Randall's Auto Gloss is not a body polish. It is preservative and cleanser. You won't need to have your car painted nearly so soon if you use it.

Randall's Auto Gloss sells at 50c and $1.00.

A Demonstration

Famous Amalie Oils and Greases

—There is not an autoist in the city who does not have lubricating problems—problems the solution of which mean the cutting down of expense bills. You should know more of these famous greases. Be sure to see this demonstration.

—Complete transmission and differential gears will be on display, running in Amalie oils and greases, laying before you a solution that will go a great way toward solving your problems.

An Exhibit

Prest-O-Lite Tanks—and Tire Tubes

—Showing the interior construction of Prest-O-Lite Tanks and Tire Tubes.

—We want this exhibit to do one thing and that is to impress upon you that Hamburger's have a Prest-O-Lite recharge service and that tire tubes are always carried in stock.

A Demonstration

Money-Saving Perfection Gas Savers

—So excellent that Hamburger's made special effort to get them exclusively for Hamburger customers. You can buy Perfection Gas Savers at this popular auto supply store, and nowhere else.

—Come this week and see why Perfection Gas Savers will save 25 per cent on gasoline bills and why it will not give you trouble by jarring loose as other gas savers do.

Perfection Gas Savers $2.00.

A Complete Stock of Weed Chains

—There was rain this week and the pavements were slippery. Many machines on the street had chains. If you were one of the few who did not—don't take chances any longer. Buy Weed chains tomorrow.

Prices range from $4.00 to $15.00.

Royal Award.

GREATEST ADVANCE IN ENGINEERING BY CADILLAC

THE Royal Automobile Club of Great Britain and Ireland has just announced the details governing the recent award of the Dewar trophy. This test was the most severe test that has ever been held under the auspices of the A.C.G.I. or any other governing automobile body.

In this test everything was taken into consideration, the design of the car, its construction and the materials entering into it; the operation, with due consideration to its economy, dependability, flexibility and the ease of operation.

A one thousand-mile road test over the roads of England and Scotland was also a part of the contest. This road test preceded a most rigid inspection of the competent parts of the entry.

Once before this test, an American-built car, the Cadillac, was awarded this highest honor in motordom. The Cadillac won that previous contest on maximum efficiency in standardization. This last award was also won by the Cadillac, giving it the proud distinction of being the only American car that has ever won this coveted trophy and the only car in the world that has won it twice.

The award was made this year to the car showing the greatest engineering advance in the whole industry. The award of this pre-eminent honor to an American product by a European body, marks an epoch in the motor industry. It is the open acknowledgement of the world's leading engineers that American-built cars, at least one of them, lead the world.

The conditions governing the award of the Dewar trophy change from year to year although they always include a most thorough test of a car's efficiency and continuous high grade service.

The second victory of the Cadillac, was based on a test even more comprehensive than that of complete standardization. A thousand miles of "give and take" roads, to quote the phrasing of the cablegram, a most minute test of fuel and oil consumption, and in addition, a record of the number of times the electric self-starter was used. The duration of the lighting current, during and after the run was also noted. These points, and numerous other practical matters that govern the reliability and efficiency of motor car service were the principal points covered in the contest.

The contest was conducted with a compulsory average speed of 19.5 miles per hour. Several facts in the Cadillac's record stand out dominantly. The gasoline consumption, for example was 17.17 miles per gallon; the oil consumption, 7.4 pints (more than 1000 miles per gallon) which any motorist would recognize as extraordinary.

Although the electric cranking device was used 180 times during the trial, the engine was turned over 1000 compression strokes at the end of the trial; and, although all the electric lights were on continuously during the road trial for sixty-six hours and seventeen minutes, yet after the 1000 compression test at the conclusion of the road run, the side, rear and speedometer lights continued to burn for twenty hours. It was observed and noted that the ignition was perfect throughout the trial.

Even of greater significance, was the achivement of the 1914 Cadillac's exclusive two-speed direct drive rear axle. One test of this revolutionary development which means so much in the efficiency economy and luxury of motor cars, involved the shifting of the rear axle gears from high to low and vice versa 520 times by means of the electrical shifting device, yet a perfect record was shown.

Thus were tried out, all the tests of motor car features which make for successful give and take service, specially as to the practical application of those peculiar modern factors which secure luxury, flexibility of operation, and, above all, dependability. Therefore the awarding of the trophy to the Cadillac makes the officials of that company feel that once and for all the American-made car has proved its superiority to the foreign car of any class.

PACKARD COMPANY HAS BIG DIVIDEND.

Packard Motor Company stockholders are to receive a stock dividend of $2,000,000 from the $6,000,000 increase voted last week at the annual meeting. The remainder is to be held in the treasury, available for any general capital requirements.

F. R. Robinson, chief accountant, has been appointed comptroller of the company, and assistant to Manager Alvan Macauley. Henry W. Nuckols has resigned the presidency of the Columbia Motor Car Company to accept a position as general assistant to Milton J. Budlong of the New York, Chicago and Philadelphia Packard companies.

WITTER SPRINGS CUP FOR OWESNEY.

H. L. Owesney, manager of the San Francisco Winton branch, was surprised by the receipt of a silver cup, presented by Mrs. O. E. Morris of Witter Springs for the best time made by any car during the season for the run from Sausalito to Witter Springs, Owesney having made it in six and a half hours.

The fact that such good time was made by Owesney speaks well for the condition of Lake county's roads.

The Birmingham (Ala.) squad of motorcycle policemen will soon appear in their new uniforms of brown corduroy suits with caps to match.

5-Passenger Touring Car

First— The Paige Company stands as the one big automobile manufacturing concern in the country that is operating with a nominal capitalization—with absolutely no bonded indebtedness and without a dollar's worth of preferred stock.

Compare this with the scores of other enormously capitalized companies with a bonded indebtedness running into the millions, the interest on which must be paid by every man buying one of their cars.

Every dollar you pay for a Paige buys CAR, not coupons from bondholders.

Second— The Paige Company is the first of the great automobile makers to get down onto a safe, sound manufacturing basis, such as exists in the other old established lines of manufacture. The stockholders in the Paige Company are satisfied with the ordinary rates of interest on their investment. They have given instructions that any extra profits that may be made—any savings that may be effected by the manufacturing department, shall go back into the car—not into dividends. There are no huge melons cut in the Paige organization at the expense of men who buy cars.

Third—The Paige Company has the benefit of the advice and direction of a board of directors probably not equalled by any other automobile concern in the country. The board comprises such men as H. M. Jewett, President; E. H. Jewett, Vice-President; Gilbert W. Lee, Treasurer; Wm. B. Cady, Secretary; C. B. Warren, Charles H. Hodges, E. D. Stair, Sherman L. DePew, Willis E. Buhl, Alexander McPherson—all of them connected with the biggest successful manufacturing concerns in Detroit—concerns that have a national reputation. Not one of them has ever been connected with a commercial failure.

Each one of these men by their advice and suggestions have made Paige manufacturing methods more efficient and have made the Paige car a better car for the money.

In view of these conditions is it any wonder that the Paige Company has been able to put into its cars a value that has not been equalled by any other manufacturer at within $300 to $500 of the price.

See if you can find at $975.00 a car that at all compares with the Paige "25." This is the lowest priced car on the market equipped with an and electric starting system.

Then come back and look at the Paige.

You will see a quality of materials and workmanship in the Paige car that other manufacturers cannot possibly use and still sell their cars at Paige The handicap of financial incumbrances and extravagant manufacturing policies which they are under must be made up somewhere. The Expert Says:

HAMPIONS HAVE NO RIGHT TO CHANGE WEIGHT LIMITS

[illegible] All of the Old-Timers Won Their Championships at the Old Limits and No New Title-Holder Should Be Allowed to Change the Poundage to Suit Himself.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

[illegible] time-worn arguments [illegible] weights are just as [illegible] in the mouths of the fans [illegible].

[illegible] match in New York between [illegible] and Willie Ritchie [illegible] things again.

[illegible] that the champion has [illegible] to set the weight as he [illegible] best for himself. Others [illegible] that the weights are the same [illegible] the rules were formed.

I, for one, agree with these latter [illegible]. The original weights [illegible] for bantams, 122 for feather-[illegible] 133 light, 142 welter, 154 [illegible] and over that for heavy-[illegible].

FIRST CHANGE.

[illegible] recollection, the first time [illegible] were changed to suit a [illegible] was when George (Kid) Lavigne went to England to meet Jim [illegible] the English champion. Berge [illegible] to meet Lavigne at any [illegible] except 128 pounds. Lavigne [illegible] on and beat him after one [illegible] hardest fights ever seen in [illegible] and was declared the light-[illegible] champion of that country.

[illegible] return he met and defeated [illegible] at 142 pounds then [illegible] Joe at 133, but [illegible] considered a fake fight on [illegible] part and was not accepted [illegible] championship affair, although [illegible] on the level and had [illegible] to do with the fake, if it was [illegible].

[illegible] Frankie Neil won the cham-[illegible] from Harry Forbes as a [illegible] and immediately raised the [illegible] to 116 pounds. Then later [illegible] to the English champion at [illegible] weight.

[illegible] Erne and Joe Gans fought [illegible] lightweight title at 135 pounds [illegible] beat Erne at the same [illegible].

[illegible] had the Joe Gans-Battling [illegible] fight at 133 pounds ringside [illegible], a trick of Billy Nolan [illegible] never worked before or [illegible].

CORBETT'S WEIGHT.

[illegible] Corbett, who posed as a [illegible], won, or claimed to [illegible] the title from Terry Mc-[illegible] at 128 pounds, which was [illegible] over the limit. Still [illegible] Britt met and took a [illegible] decision from Corbett [illegible] pounds and Corbett claimed [illegible] championship at [illegible], but never would agree to [illegible] pounds.

[illegible] was later presented with a [illegible] gold watch studded with [illegible], rubies and sapphires with [illegible] on it that he was the [illegible] champion, nine pounds [illegible] the weight.

[illegible] won the middle-[illegible] title from Jack Dempsey at [illegible] limit (the original [illegible] in that class.)

[illegible] Ryan later won the title [illegible] same weight. When Ryan re-[illegible] from the game, someone (and it is hard to say who) raised the weight to 158 pounds, and championships are now generally recognized at that weight.

Jack McAuliffe beat Jimmy Carroll at 133 pounds years ago in the old California Club in San Francisco, and it was generally recognized as a lightweight championship. Stanley Ketchell also claimed the middleweight title at 158 pounds.

ANOTHER CHANGE.

Later, another weight was taken from the amateur weights and added to the professional list. This was the light-heavyweight class, 168 pounds, and was won by George Gardner and he was supposed to be the champion of that class. But for some reason it was later dropped and there is no such class at the present time.

As a matter of fact the weights stand today as they were originally set. They have never been universally changed. England, Australia, France and the New York boxing commission have the same weights. Any American boxer going to these places must box for championships at their weights. No champion has any more right to change the weight to suit his convenience than he has to claim it if he is an ounce overweight.

The instant a boxer enters a ring over the set weights he is in the class above and ceases to be what he claims, if it be an ounce or nine pounds.

UP TO THE FANS.

Boxing fans are too prone to accept any weight a champion may claim. A boxer may be able to box in two classes and make good, as several have done. But no legitimate champion has ever done so.

If Willie Ritchie, Leach Cross or any other man cannot make the lightweight limit, he is a welter and nothing else.

There is just as much sense to these arguments about weights as there would be to say that Christy Mathewson has a right to make a balk when pitching a ball (because he is the champion) and deny others the same right.

I agree the weights may be changed to better advantage, but until it becomes a universal rule they must stand as they have since their inception.

Joe Rivers met Willie Ritchie at 134 pounds and it was advertised as a lightweight championship; they were welterweights at that time.

Had Ritchie defeated Freddy Welsh in their intended match at Vancouver, B. C., several months ago, he would have won nothing but the championship of England and Australia, and being the champion of America, would be the champion of the world.

Had Welsh won he would have won no title whatever. They were to box at 135 pounds, which made Ritchie a welterweight.

Until the weights are changed and agreed to by all, they stand and no fighter has the right to claim anything else.

Heave! Ho!

CK HARKNESS FIRST MATE ON A STEAMBOAT.

[illegible] (Ore.) Nov. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Speck Harkness, the former Portland hurler, [illegible] holding down a berth which [illegible] pitching a no-hit, no-[illegible]. Speck is a real, life-sized [illegible], not in the army or militia, [illegible] steamboat.

[illegible] Hackett, a wealthy river operator and an intimate friend of [illegible], was informed recently that [illegible] mate on the Paloma, one of the boats he owns, had been taken ill suddenly and that a sub would have to be provided.

While considering the matter of a sub, Speck, who was with him at the time, applied for the position.

"What do you know about a boat?" was the query.

"Nothing," was the comeback, "but I can learn."

The upshot was that Speck was sent down to go out on the next trip, working under Hackett's son, the captain of the boat. He says he likes it.

LER TIRES' FINE RECORD.

[illegible], who returned from [illegible] Friday, was enthusiastic over [illegible] made by Miller tires in [illegible] last week.

[illegible] from El Paso to [illegible] a victory for Millers. [illegible], a Los Angeles boy, drove [illegible] and stated upon his arrival [illegible] had not changed a tire on [illegible].

[illegible] dust-covered Sim-[illegible] into the fair grounds New-[illegible] called for "Bill" [illegible] "That's the greatest tire I [illegible]," said the winner. "Just [illegible] all that distance at [illegible] without changing a tire."

The Marmon that finished second in the Los Angeles-to-Phoenix race used Millers and Ball gives much credit to the tires. The Cadillacs, driven by Soules and Ham, did not change a tire in the whole race. The winning Locomobile carried Millers for an emergency and finished with one on.

All the drivers who rode on Millers could not say enough for the tires. Harry Ham said he would refuse to ever drive a car that was not equipped with that make.

A pedigree expert has discovered that for the first time in thirty-two years a 2-year-old trotting champion has appeared (Peter Volo, 2:04½,) without a drop of Electioneer blood in its veins.

JOE RIVERS PLANS A WORLD'S TOUR.

Joe Levy has received a cablegram from Eugent Corri, the famous referee and sportsman of London, England, asking if Levy would consent to match Rivers with Freddie Welsh and Matt Wells for June and July of 1914. Rivers is to get both matches regardless of the outcome of his first match. Manager Levy is figuring on a world tour for Rivers after boxing Leach Cross Thanksgiving Day and Champion Ritchie New Year's Day if he wins from both Cross and Ritchie upon the days mentioned.

Joe Rivers is to box six rounds Sunday afternoon at Jack Doyle's camp with Solly Burns and Babe Picato, going three rounds with each. This will be the first of the real work that Rivers has done for his match with Leach Cross.

Leach Cross is expected to arrive here Monday afternoon and he will be greeted by a small colony of his friends and admirers here. Out at Jack Doyle's camp Monday afternoon the sport writers of the city, headed by Uncle Tom McCarey, promoter of the Rivers-Cross match, will look Cross over and get his version of the Ritchie-Cross bout.

HENDERSON CAR BURNS KEROSENE.

The Henderson Motor Car Company announces a new car with a kerosene burner for the next year. Ray Harroun drove a Henderson burning coal oil from Indianapolis to Los Angeles for $7 per passenger last month.

The ever increasing cost of gasoline is causing automobile owners throughout the country to demand a cheaper fuel. Gasoline prices average from 20 to 22 cents per gallon; coal oil or kerosene is obtainable at 8 or 9 cents. It also has been proved that kerosene is not only locomotive, but lubricative. It oils the motor as well as runs it, thus affecting a saving in oil consumption. There is a positive demand for low priced cars that will operate on cheap fuel, and the low priced Henderson seems to answer that demand to the letter.

FORD COMPANY HAD A BIG YEAR.

During the recent road congress held in Detroit, hundreds of the delegates visited the plant of the Ford Motor Car Company to see Ford cars in the making.

"In any prosperous farming region," declared one prominent delegate from the Middle West, "you will find a majority of the farmers driving Ford cars. As soon as a man gets a motor car he begins to boost for good roads and this crystallized sentiment for better roads has led to big appropriations for the cause."

When the Ford company closed its year on September 30, approximately 325,000 model T Fords were in use throughout the world, which means that if all the machines were owned in this country that there would be one Ford to every 275 people in the nation.

MATTY PITCHED SOX TO DEFEAT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Before a crowd of 12,000 fans the New York Giants downed the Chicago White Sox today by a score of 6 to 3. Pitcher Mathewson was in rare form except in the eighth inning when the Sox made four hits that netted two runs. The score:

Chicago, 3; hits, 10; errors, 2.
New York, 6; hits, 11; errors, 0.

Batteries—Scott and Daley; Mathewson and Meyers.

RIVERSIDE VICTORY.

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Long passing rushes by Riverside backs and dribbling at the scrub, featured Riverside Polytechnic Ruggers' winning streak against San Bernardino High School, the latter losing, 19 to 3. Spectacularly long kicks for touch were executed by Pedley and Patterson of Riverside, while Horton Contreras and Hockney were stellar backs. Riverside will endeavor to cross Pomona's goal for the first time this season next Saturday.

WEST POINTERS WIN.

WEST POINT (N. Y.) Nov. 15.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Playing guilt-edged ball throughout, the Army eleven had no trouble in defeating Villa Nova today by 55 to 0. The cadets showed much improvement in offensive tactics. Right End Morrillat, who played a star game, twice scored touchdowns on long forward passes. Right Half-back Hobbs's fine running with the ball and spectacular kicking was a big factor in the army's victory. Hobbs once intercepted a forward pass and ran sixty yards for a touchdown.

The State of Missouri has started a school for chauffeurs. The trustees of the Lincoln Institute, a State school for negroes at Jefferson City, has purchased an automobile in St. Louis, and the machine will be used to train the students in driving and repair work.

Thanksgiving Race.

KERN COUNTY TRACK EVENTS.

Lower Records Being Sought by Oldfield.

"Dare Devil" Derkum Managing All Details.

Steel Railing Protects Public from Accidents.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 15.—The oil metropolis of the State is again to come into the limelight in the automobile racing game. Last October Barney Oldfield established a new world's record for one mile on a dirt track. On Thanksgiving Day he will again attempt to lower the present record of 46 2-5 seconds. Barney has said that he is soon to retire from the racing game, and he will try to break his former record and establish a record so low that it will be many moons before any other driver will have the honor of holding the world championship in this line.

The Kern County Fair Association track was finished last April and the meet in which Oldfield smashed the record was the first racing event that had been held on the track. The track was built at a cost of $100,000 and was designed and constructed under the personal supervision of "Dare-Devil" Paul J. C. Derkum, who managed the previous meet for the fair association and is now under contract to manage all future meets to be held on this track.

Derkum arrived in Bakersfield this week from Phoenix, where he finished first in the San Diego-to-Phoenix motorcycle race, and beat the fastest time of the winner in the automobile race from Los Angeles to Phoenix. Derkum has a force of men at work getting the track into the finest possible shape for the big speed kings to get busy.

The track itself has had plenty of time to settle and get packed in a way that will not be easily torn up when the big cars whiz around the corners. The approach to the outside of the track connecting with the State highway has been oiled and is now in fine condition with no dust to mar the pleasure of driving.

Many innovations to safeguard the drivers and the public have been installed at the tracks, one of the features being double-steel railing between the track and the spectators. On the parking side a like railing is being built so that there will be no danger to the autos when they are in the parking places.

The Thanksgiving racing events are expected to draw a much larger crowd than was in attendance at the opening meet. At that time nearly 50,000 persons attended the two-days' meet. The railroad companies have already come to an understanding with the fair association, and a low fare will be in effect from San Francisco to Los Angeles, and at least six specials will be run to Bakersfield from valley points.

The races, as usual, will be run under the sanction of the Automobile Association of America.

MANY JACKSONS ARE ON THE WAY.

Charles H. Thompson, the well-known Jackson agent, expects to receive a carload of new machines the first of next week, and just as soon as they are unloaded, they will be placed on exhibition at the Jackson salesroom.

Included in the shipment are Majestic and Olympic models, a roadster and touring car comprising the latter allotment. The Olympic model has proven to be one of the most popular cars of the past season, and Thompson stated yesterday that he expected to place a large number of these cars during the coming season.

While in the East on his recent trip, Thompson made arrangements with the Jackson factory for the filling of all of his orders upon their arrival so that the local trade will not have to be disappointed on early deliveries.

Winner of the Glidden Tour

The Gearless Car—No Clutch to Slip—No Gears to Strip.

The METZ "22" travels from 28 to 32 miles on ONE gallon of gasoline, 100 miles on ONE pint of lubricating oil, and from 10,000 to 12,000 miles on a single set of tires. It makes from 5 to 50 miles per hour on the high speed, and climbs hills as fast as any regular stock car made.

Competing with cars costing from five to ten times as much, the METZ team of three regular stock cars won the 1300-mile Glidden Tour from Minneapolis to Glacier National Park, and they were the only cars in the tour that held a PERFECT SCORE, without additional allowance or time extension of any kind, during the entire eight days of the contest.

The METZ "22" is a fully guaranteed car, fitted with standard equipment throughout, including 4-cylinder 22½-H.P. water-cooled motor, Bosch magneto, 30-inch artillery wheels, best quality Goodrich clincher tires, etc. Single or double rumble seat supplied, if ordered special. Its gearless transmission entirely does away with gear troubles.

Splendid Report.

GOODYEAR BUSINESS SHOWS INCREASE FOR NEW YEAR.

"THE regular cash dividend of 12 per cent. on common stock was declared at a meeting of the directors of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company at Akron," said Eddie Lingenfelder yesterday.

"Goodyear officials are receiving congratulations on their excellent showing for 1913, a year that has witnessed a fiercely-contested strike conducted by the I.W.W.'s and disastrous floods that completely closed the Goodyear factory for more than a week. Water invaded the whole ground floor of the factory at that time, put out the fires under the boilers and turned the lower floor into a raging mill race. The factory was silent and the chimneys smokeless for the first time since Goodyear organized in 1898.

"The annual factory inventory is now complete and manufacturing operations in full force have been resumed for the 1914 run.

"During the past year Goodyear has added a strong mechanical goods department to its line, which was formerly confined mostly to tires. The mechanical department is already showing a fine profit and it is promised that it will shortly become one of the largest of its kind in the entire country.

"In automobile tires the Goodyear factory capacity is now 10,000 each day, besides the immense quantity of motor truck tires, carriage tires, motorcycle and bicycle tires, that are regularly turned out. Nineteen-thirteen saw Goodyear output increase from $26,000,000 to $32,000,000, despite the handicap of strike and flood.

"President Seiberling, in connection with the dividend meeting just held, predicts still further substantial increase of output and general business for 1914. Mr. Seiberling also makes clear that in spite of all rumors of mergers, etc., that have been going the rounds, Goodyear has and has had absolutely no negotiation of any kind with any other company—is well satisfied with its present position of independence, and proposes to continue as it has done in the past."

The showing made by motor cars at the recent State fair in Dallas, Tex., surprised even the exhibitors, to say nothing of the spectators. It was the first time a separate building has been given over to motor car display. Last year sales of cars made through Dallas agencies were placed at $12,000,000.

Liquid tire fillers are proving highly popular in Canada. Most of the products are manufactured in the United States.

HAYNES PUTS OUT NEW CATALOGUE.

"The Complete Motorist" is the title bestowed upon the 1914 catalogue of the Haynes manufacturers.

Chapter 1 describes at length experiments and ultimate success in building the "horseless carriage," the original Haynes car, during the years 1893-1894, which vehicle is now a government exhibit in the United States National Museum, Washington, D. C.

Chapter 2 is devoted to the Haynes latest models and is profusely illustrated.

Chapter 3 contains complete instructions for the operation and care of the car, and includes a very lucid explanation of the Vulcan electric gear-shifting device, with which the latest Haynes models are equipped.

Chapter 4, the closing chapter, dwells chiefly on the merits of the Haynes car.

Out of twelve machines entered by American and foreign makers in the annual contest for tractors in Argentine Republic, American motors won first, second, third and fourth places. France won the fifth place. Last year an American tractor captured the first prize.

A reliability run is planned by the Toledo Automobile Club. The contest will be run under the sanction of the American Automobile Association, and its rules will govern the scores and penalties. Trophies will be hung for those making perfect scores. The event will cover two days' time.

A Solution.

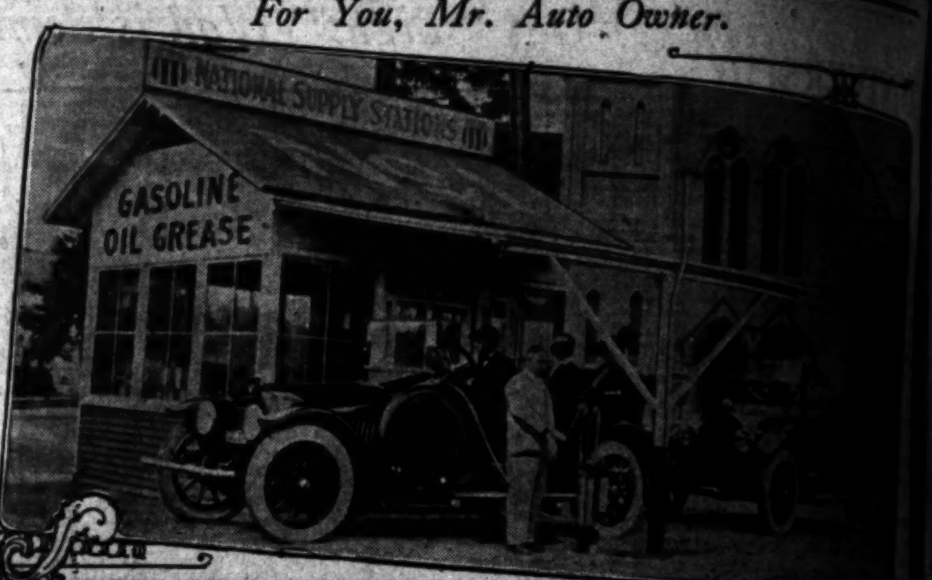
FINEST FUEL FOR ALL AUTOS.

National Supply Station Offers Us First Aid.

Automobile Club Investigation Brings Real Results.

Dealers Form Corporate Body to Handle Situation.

For You, Mr. Auto Owner.



Pure gasoline at cost price sold to you by leading automobile dealers.

National Supply Station, one of thirty depots, now being erected in the four corners of Los Angeles. Below from left to right, H. L. Hudson man; Don Lee, Cadillac agent, and Earle C. Anthony, the Packard dealer, talking things over. On the left a big Packard tank.

Following closely on the heels of the investigation made by the Automobile Club of Southern California into the conditions governing the sale of gasoline, oil and greases in Los Angeles a corporation has been formed by several dealers. This corporation is to be know nas the National Supply Station Company, and is backed by Earle C. Anthony of the California Motor Company; Don Lee, Cadillac agent; H. L. Arnold, agent for the Hudson; Cuyler Lee, Packard agent of San Francisco, and Phil Praether San Francisco manager of the Don Lee Company.

Sixty-five per cent. gasoline at 16 cents a gallon is to be sold at thirty stations in Los Angeles, eight of which are now in operation. These stations, gaily painted, are being placed on well-known corners where the traffic is dense, and where it is possible to drive in quickly and procure supplies and drive out speedily on the opposite side.

Three men are to be in charge of each station. These attendants will see to it that your gas tank is filled, that your grease cups are given attention, and that the engine is given enough oil from the replenished oil tank. The public is to be served in a manner never before possible, and only the highest gravity gasoline is to be kept in stock.

One thousand-gallon gasoline tanks are to be placed in each station. The stations are to be open from 7 o'clock in the morning until 9:30 o'clock at night. This will give all those anxious to use the supply stations an opportunity to replenish gas and oil tanks on the way home at night and should mean a boon to the general public.

AUTO CLUB ACTS.

Complaint has been made to the Automobile Club of Southern California that gasoline of an inferior quality has been and is being sold to consumers in Los Angeles. When this was brought to the attention of Earle C. Anthony and other dealers, the project was at once sprung and the National Supply Station came into being. As a result an opportunity has been granted those who are anxious to run the wildcatters out of business.

Cheap gasoline and oil has worked a considerable hardship on a number of automobile owners. The fact that it has been so difficult to get the right kind of supplies makes the question of fuel particularly acute at this time. All gasoline used at the supply station is tested as to its gravity, and only the best is kept constantly on hand.

The margin of profit is so small that this new proposition can be looked on in almost a philanthropic manner. The public needs just the service that can be given at these supply stations which are now in operation. One test of the service offered should answer the question as to the serviceability of these little depots which are situated so conveniently.

RED AND WHITE.

At Washington street and Grand avenue, the red and white station, attendants were kept hustling yesterday. It was interesting to watch the stream of machines being driven into and out of the station, where the operators were busy with the gasoline pump.

An inspection of the station at Vermont avenue and Washington streets disclosed the same hustling trio at work on the cars. All of the grease is labeled with the "National Supply Station" brand, and everything sold in these depots has the guarantee of such men as Anthony Lee, Arnold, Praether and Cuyler Lee. This is enough to insure the right kind of treatment.

"We have studied this problem for some time," said Earle Anthony yesterday. "After having suffered long from the operations of the unscrupulous we decided to form a corporation and handle the supplies ourselves. It looks to me as if we can fill a much-needed want. The proposition is no longer an experiment.

"The public has taken hold of the project. Its stamp of approval means the success of this undertaking. Only the best of everything will be kept on hand constantly. It means plenty of work. It also means that each one of us must give much of the time we would devote to our business. However, if we can drive out these men who have been in the habit of supplying us with inferior goods we will have accomplished something."

THIRTY STATIONS.

"Looks good to me," said Don Lee. "We expect to place thirty of these stations in Los Angeles, and a like number in San Francisco. There is certainly a great need for just such a proposition as we have planned. I find that the users of Cadillac cars are general in the complaint as to the goods they are being supplied with. Now we propose to remedy these conditions.

"The stations are galy colored so as to attract the attention of the motorist. It will not be hard to locate any of them. The goods supplied there will have the right kind of a guarantee as we could not afford to supply anything but the best. Can't see why this will not mean the elimination of the man who is willing to sell you something that is not worth half you pay for it."

"After having studied the matter carefully," said H. L. Arnold, "we decided to jump into this thing on a broad scale. We will cover the city thoroughly. Every busy corner in the outlying districts will be graced with one of the neat-appearing supply stations. We will have enough gasoline on hand to supply thousands of cars.

"This project is big enough to suit the autoists. We need to run the men out of business who have been supplying us with a cheap grade of half distillate and calling it gasoline. Now we have the goods and the auto owner will get what he pays for when he secures his supplies from these supply stations, which are to be placed in every city and town of our big State."

Flower-filled Autos.

Geary, "for our club members to bring joy into many sad lives. I know many who have flowers to spare who could spend a morning just as we have spent it. If we had more of this spirit in our midst we could afford to meet the problems that face us with much more fortitude.

"Many of us who think we have difficulties would do well to visit the children in our hospitals and learn how much they must bear. My heart goes out to the babies who see so little of the brighter side of life. It was worth the journey and well worth the time to see those faces lighted with real joy. They certainly know how to appreciate what you are doing for them, even though it is so little. For my part, I intend to tell many of our club members how much they are missing by neglecting to help those who are compelled to spend their lives away from the busy mart of life."

The idea of helping the babies came to Capt. Ryus after he had noticed the interest his baby girl takes in the flowers blossoming at his home. He conceived the idea of helping other babies and was more than willing to give his 1914 Oldsmobile for the trip to the flower gardens where the new blooms could be secured and carried to the wards of the county who could not afford to purchase them.

"That was a capital idea," said Ryus on his way home. "We were able to carry some real joys of the outside world to the little shut-ins. My, but they were happy. There's one thing about it, they do not know enough to jolly a fellow. You can be sure they are satisfied when they show their teeth in such a real smile as we were privileged to witness. Made me feel good to see them.

"Any time that I have a chance to carry so much happiness to the tiny tots of the County Hospital I'm willing to spend a morning from my work. It did me so much good that I'm going to tell some of the Oldsmobile owners what a chance they are missing to bring happiness to the children who so seldom see the brighter side of a life that is somewhat dull behind those big gray walls, even of that clean, spick and span County Hospital."

When the matter was brought to the attention of several prominent automobile club members by Secretary Geary, each determined to make this one of their regular tasks. A movement was started to interest autoists in the children who need sympathy and help. As a result of this, Capt Ryus's first trip in his Oldsmobile loaded with flowers promises to be the forerunner of many such journeys in many other machines.

The first dual cross-country meet between Western universities will be held at Evanston just outside of Chicago between the Chicago and Northwestern teams on November 8. The race will be over a three and one-half-mile course. It is planned to make it an annual event.

Russell made first down off left tackle and on a fake kick Norgren sprinted to the Gophers' 40-yard line. On two plays Russell made 22 yards and Norgren made it first down on Minnesota's 17-yard line.

A Maroon forward pass went wrong and the ball was Minnesota's on its own 20-yard line. Minnesota kicked the oval to the Chicago 25-yard line and Russell dodged back 10 yards with it. The period ended with the ball on Chicago's 27-yard line.

Chicago, 6; Minnesota, 0.

Third quarter: Chicago kicked off. Shaughnessy got the ball and punted, Russell being downed on the Maroon 35-yard line. Chicago could not gain and Norgren punted to Law on the Minnesota 44-yard line.

Bierman gained five yards on a forward pass after McAlmon had plunged in three yards. Shaughnessy then punted and Russell was downed with the ball on the Chicago 27-yard line.

The Maroons could not advance and on Norgren's punt Lawyer was downed twenty yards from the Gopher.

Good gains by Solon and McAlmon were offset by failure of Mattern, who had returned to the game, and Shaughnessy to gain. Inconsequential plays followed on both sides until the quarter ended.

Score: Chicago, 6; Minnesota, 0.

Fourth quarter: Chicago got the ball on a fumble on their own 21-yard line. Norgren punted to Minnesota's 46-yard line. Here Minnesota was penalized for holding and Shaughnessy punted. Russell caught the ball on the Maroon 46-yard line and dodged his way to the Minnesota 41-yard mark. A line plunge and forward passes put the ball on the Gopher 3-yard line. Norgren jammed i's way through for the second Chicago touchdown and then kicked goal. Score: Chicago 13; Minnesota, 0.

A long run by Shaughnessy and plunges brought the ball to the Chicago 7-yard line. Then the big fullback, in two dives, crossed the goal l'e and Solon kicked goal. Score: Chicago, 13; Minnesota, 7.

Time was called a few minutes later and Chicago had won the game, 13 to 7.

SANTA ANA NO. 2 BEATS PASADENA.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PASADENA, Nov. 15.—Though the Pasadena High School first team defeated the first team of the Santa Ana High School on the Pasadena gridiron yesterday, Santa Ana's second team wrested a game from the second team of the Pasadena High. The score in the first-team game was 18 to 0 in favor of Pasadena; the second, 10 to 7 in favor of Santa Ana.

The principal game was the fiercest battle that the local team has played this year, despite the score. Conn, left end for the Pasadenans, made another sensational play in catching a Santa Ana fumble and after a 20-yard run, made a touchdown. McAdam, captain of the Pasadena team; Blanche, left half-back, and Clark right end, all distinguished themselves. M. Morrison, Santa Ana's right half-back, was that team's strongest man.

The game was well attended. Many Santa Ana people came to the city in automobiles. However, the crowd of Santa Ana rooters was not as large as the crowd that Pasadena sent to Santa Ana a year ago.

The line-up for the first team game follows:

Pasadena.		Santa Ana.
Conn	left end	Timmons
S. Horrell	center	Worren (c)
McAlpine	right tackle	Petz

FEDERAL LEAGUE ELECTS OFFICERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The election of officers was the big happening at the Federal League meeting held today at the La Salle Hotel. James A. Gilmore, stockholder in the Chicago club and who has been acting head of the league since the middle of the season, was elected president for a term of one year.

Three other officers were elected by the delegates. Lloyd H. Rickey, former secretary of the St. Louis Browns, was retained as league secretary, his new title being assistant secretary and assistant treasurer. M. F. Bramley of Cleveland was named as vice-president and John A. George of Cincinnati was appointed treasurer. One thing announced was that each club had posted a guarantee. This mark of good faith represents an outlay of $25,000. The information was also offered that the present outlay represents about a million dollars.

George Horine, holder of the world's record for the running high jump, has been elected to captain the track team of the Olympic Club of San Francisco.

Yale—Princeton.

Blues plenty of encouragement for next Saturday's contest against Harvard. Throughout the contest Yale was much superior to Princeton in the rushing game and three times missed goals from the field by a few yards. Only once during the game was Princeton within twenty-five yards on the Yale goal line and there a forward pass was intercepted.

The punting duel between Law of Princeton and Knowles of Yale, who was afterward relieved by Guernsey, was about even. There were few muffs and nearly all of these were in the Yale back field.

Before the game began it was announced that Yale soccer team had defeated Princeton 3 to 1. Princeton won the toss, choosing to defend the north goal.

Yale kicked off in the face of a brisk wind. On the first line up Law punted high and far, the ball rolling out on Yale's 38-yard line. Yale made six yards on a fake and then punted, Princeton having the ball on its 44-yard line.

The pass for a kick was poor and Law lost five yards. Yale threw back a wing shift and Law managed to get the next kick away to Yale's 32-yard line, from where Ainsworth ran eight yards around end. Knowles punted to Baker and an exchange of kicks left the ball on Yale's 30-yard line where the blue was set back fifteen yards for holding. The period ended with the ball in Yale's possession in the center of the field.

PUNT IS NULLIFIED.

Yale kicked to Princeton's 5-yard line and standing behind his goal Law returned the ball to the Blues' 35-yard mark. The punt was nullified by holding by Yale, Princeton having the ball on its 20-yard mark. Glyck turned Yale's left end and went twenty-eight yards to the center of the field. Wilson returned Princeton's punt eighteen yards to the Blue 40-yard mark and Knowles punted again.

A penalty gave Yale the ball on the Princeton 32-yard line. Dunn hit center for two yards and Ainsworth made first down on a Minnesota shift formation.

Guernsey, Yale's drop kicker, went in for Knowles and scored a field goal from the 30-yard mark. Score: Yale, 3; Princeton, 0.

Yale was penalized fifteen yards for illegal tackling and it was the Tigers' ball on the Bulldogs' 34-yard line. Streit gained three yards through center and Glyck made five more. Then Guernsey intercepted a forward pass and punted out of danger.

PRINCETON PLAYERS GLUM.

It was a glum looking lot of Princeton players that went after the Blue in the third period. Yale kicked off to Law, who came back to his 30-yard mark and then punted, Wilson returning the kick twelve yards to Yale's 30-yard mark. Brown took S. Baker's place at Princeton's right end. Guernsey's next punt was a touch back.

Law punted 55 yards, but Wilson ran back twenty of them, the Princeton ends overrunning their man again. In the second play the big quarterback fooled the Tigers and ran to their 40-yard line. The Tigers got the ball thirty-two yards from the line. A forward pass was incomplete and H. Baker then drop kicked a goal from the 42-yard mark, tieing the score. Score: Yale, 3; Princeton, 3.

NEBRASKA AND KANSAS.

LAWRENCE (Kan.) Nov. 15.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The University of Nebraska football team defeated the University of Kansas here today by 9 to 0, in a game mostly straight old-fashioned football, played on a field ankle-deep in mud, under a drizzle of rain. Nebraska's work at crucial points in the game was the better.

An Expert.

MRS. SEVERANCE TRAINS HORSES.

Pegasus Is Her Latest Try in This Line.

Changing Her from Trotter to a Pacer.

May Be a Big Winner in a Few Years.

Mrs. Mark Sibley Severance of Valencia farm, who owns Pegasus, the most-talk-of horse in California this year, is the woman pioneer in the horse business in California.

Mrs. Severance came to California thirty years ago. About twenty years ago she became ill and her physician advised that she take up some interest that would keep her out of doors. She at once thought of horses because she had always loved them.

When she was 5 years old a guest of her father's left a horse and buggy in front of the house. When he came out it was gone. She had climbed in and driven away.

When Mrs. Severance was 6, her people went to Switzerland. There it was absolutely impossible to keep her away from the stables. She would go to the stalls and get up on the horses and play around them for hours. She never had an accident and never ceased to love horses.

FIRST HORSE.

Her first horse was Bet Mattison. When she was a 2-year-old she beat every horse in her class. As a 3-year-old she beat every horse but one. She had an unusual amount of intelligence. Her groom loved her devotedly and used to sleep in the stall with her. One day he told Mrs. Severance that he had to stay up until Bet had gone to bed because she insisted upon sleeping with her head on his chest. As Bet was 16.2, this performance didn't please the groom.

Bet Mattison was grand dam to Amado, whose record was 2:07; Conqueror, who won a $5000 stake at Portland, three years ago, in 2:08 3-4; Direct Benefit, Copperking, Copper de 'Arc, who is racing in the East this year; La Belle, the dam of Pegasus, and many other famous horses.

Mrs. Severance has never bought a horse with a record. She gets them green and makes them win their records. She pays more attention to the brood mare than to the sire, believing that good sires are plentiful and that not enough attention is paid to the brood mare.

La Belle, the dam of Pegasus, is one of the famous Sidney horses. She was the best pacer in the country until she broke her foot. She won all her stakes and when an accident closed her racing career she made up for it by producing some wonderful colts.

HOW SHE WAS SAVED.

Shortly after La Belle was hurt and while she was still slung, the doctor told Mrs. Severance that she had contracted pneumonia and couldn't possibly get well. Mrs. Severance said that every effort must be made to save her. They took a pint of whisky and a lot of quinine to the stable and gave it to La Belle. Then to keep an even temperature in the stall they brought out a beautiful Turkish rug from Mrs. Severance's own room and put it over the top of the stall. La Belle looked the preparations over and evidently decided that she had better lie down. On account of her foot, that seemed impossible. However, she carefully measured the distance to the side of the stall, slid over against it and dropped to the floor.

She finally got well, but when she was in foal she took great care of herself. The groom would lead her out doors and she would go directly back into the barn and lie down. She kept this up for weeks.

Pegasus was the result. Because La Belle had been such a wonderful pacer it seemed natural that Pegasus should be one, too. But she was trained for a trotter. When she was a 3-year-old Mrs. Severance sent her to Portland for the races. The track was muddy, to say the least. Pegasus was so exhausted from the effort of pulling her legs out of the mud that when she got back Mrs. Severance didn't recognize her.

NOW PACING.

Pegasus hasn't been to Portland since. But she is being trained now for a pacer. Mrs. Severance hasn't decided as yet what she will do in the future with her. She is determined, however, that Pegasus must follow the traditions of the Severance horses and win her laurels in some way. Perhaps they will keep her in the background until 1915 and then take her to San Francisco for the exposition meet.

Pegasus has only been in training about four months and her best record so far is 2:07½.

On her thousand-acre ranch near San Bernardino, Mrs. Severance not only raises race horses, but carriage and saddle horses as well. Then she has a wonderful lot of dogs, chickens, pigeons and some Jersey cows. And there are blue ribboners among them all.

Mrs. Severance belongs to the same school of racing as Monroe Salisbury, Gov. Stanford, who brought out the famous Electioneer horses; William Corbett, the owner of Guy Wilkes; Nell Jerose, who owned Stamboul, the champion stallion, who was sold to E. H. Harriman, and L. J. Rose, who brought the first horses into the San Gabriel Valley.

FARMER BURNS DARES ROLLER.

Winner Tuesday Night to Tackle Burns.

Match Possible Between Dan McLeod and Burns.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

"OMAHA (Neb.) Nov. 14.
"James J. Jeffries, Los Angeles.
"I will wrestle Roller for $1000 to $5000 and winner take all. If Roller accepts, put up forfeit. Let me know. I will attend to the rest.
[Signed] "FARMER BURNS."

This was a telegram received by Jim Jeffries yesterday afternoon from Burns, the former champion catch-as-catch-can wrestler of America.

Farmer Burns trained Jeffries for his fight with Jack Johnson and they are good friends.

Dr. Roller will arrive this morning about 10 o'clock and the proposition will be put up to him by Dan McLeod, wrestling instructor of the L.A.A.C., and Geo. Towle, the amusement director of the club. There has been some feeling between Roller and Burns for several years and they have been wanting to get together to settle their differences.

Both were wrestling for Jeffries while the big fellow was on the road before he met Jack Johnson, and while Jim is very friendly to both, he thinks it would be a good match.

Roller is to meet Demetral next Tuesday night at the L.A.A.C. and Demetral is confident of winning, as long as the toe hold is barred. But Dan McLeod says that Demetral will meet Burns if he wins from Roller, so it looks very much like the famous Farmer will soon be seen in action here in Los Angeles, no matter who wins.

Dan McLeod said, when asked his opinion of the match: "Roller has been improving right along and is a far better man than he was two years ago. The Farmer is also one of the greatest men of his day and is still there.

"Roller would have a lot of weight on the Farmer, but this does not count in wrestling like it does in the boxing game. I will admit that the Farmer is one of the most scientific men I have ever met and it was he who turned out Frank Gotch, the present champion. I believe that Gotch will back the Farmer against Roller and it will do a lot to create an interest in the wrestling game that is so little thought of by many sports."

When I asked Dan if he would meet the Farmer, he said: "Sure I will meet him."

This would be the most scientific match between the two greatest exponents of the catch-as-catch-can wrestling, as they are about the same age, and would be the greatest demonstration that could be ever seen in this country. They are both well past 50 years of age, but are still there with the science and knowledge of the game.

Next Tuesday night's match will be watched with great interest.

Jim Jeffries said, "I believe that the Farmer is sincere when he says he will bet that much money. But while he might not have that amount himself, there are a lot of friends of his that will raise it and will put it up."

Go to it, Farmer, Roller, Demetral and McLeod. This is the kind of stuff that makes wrestling good.

MICHIGAN SMEARS PENNSYLVANIA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ANN ARBOR (Mich.) Nov. 15.—Michigan beat Pennsylvania here today, 13 to 0.

Sprinkles of rain fell as the teams faced each other. Young kicked off to Lyons and Michigan tried Pennsylvania's line with success. Five plays netted the Wolverines twenty yards before Michigan was penalized for holding. Avery intercepted a forward pass and Pennsylvania punted. Back came Michigan, five, eight, ten and twelve yards on each play. Then Hughitt gained thirty-one yards. Galt hit the line for thirteen yards, and the ball rested ten yards from Pennsylvania's goal. On the third play Craig scored a touchdown. Patterson kicked goal. Score at end of first period: Michigan, 7; Pennsylvania, 0.

Pennsylvania commenced the second period by sending Avery around Lyons and he gained three yards. Then Pennsylvania punted and Galt, catching the ball on Michigan's 34-yard line, returned it ten yards. Craig made four yards through Harris. After gaining consistently through the line, Torbet attempted a forward pass and he overthrew the ball. A second play of the same kind failed and it was Pennsylvania's line again and again, until Craig made another touchdown. Patterson failed to kick goal. End of first half: Michigan, 13, Pennsylvania, 0.

THIRD PERIOD.

Michigan's whirlwind attack could not be denied. Five line plunges were all that was necessary to carry the ball to Pennsylvania. Turbull gained thirty yards on a criss-cross play. The ball then went to Hughitt, who ran thirty-five yards and crossed Pennsylvania's goal. The score was not allowed. The ball was brought back and Michigan penalized fifteen yards for holding. The easterners had the ball on their 30-yard line when the period ended.

The score ... was even more one-sided ... indicate, for ... all were due to ... Dartmouth scored ... the field and a forward ... caught and carried over ... The Indians made five ... after they had battered ... line into helplessness. Most of their gains came from plunges through guard and tackle.

The game was played on the Polo Grounds. Dartmouth played its usual open game, but the Indians depended on battering ram play that several times carried them half the length of the field without losing the ball. Dartmouth tried the forward pass seven times and in the second period it enabled London to carry the ball over for his team's only touchdown. Capt. Hogsett, at end, played a dashing game and made the only field goal.

SOCCER SCHEDULE.

Following is a schedule of the Southern California Soccer Football Association who will play a series of soccer games on the city playgrounds: Rangers vs. United, November 16, December 28, February 8; Sons of St. George vs. Rovers, November 23, January 4, February 15; Rangers vs. Sons of St. George, November 30, January 11, February 28; United vs. Rovers, December 7, January 18, March 1; Rangers vs. Rovers, December 14, January 25, March 8; United vs. Sons of St. George, December 21, February 1, March 15.

First game by the Rangers and Uniteds will be played at Echo Park, Sunday, November 16, 2:30 p.m.

Upon conclusion of this series of games there will be a national contest by the Englands and Scotlands.

DOHERTY GOING BACK TO TENNIS.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Hugh Lawrence Doherty, the former lawn tennis champion, chagrined over the loss of the Davis cup and the lack of promising talent among British players, intends to re-enter the game as one of England's hopes in the attempt to win back the cup next year. Since Doherty gave up the title of champion in 1907 he has been seen only infrequently in public, but his game is said still to entitle him to be regarded as in the front rank.

DEL HOWARD GETS NEW PLAYERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Manager "Del" Howard of the San Francisco Coast League team announced here today the purchase of Charles O'Leary, the former Detroit shortstop, and Pitcher Geyer from the St. Louis Nationals.

The Car of the American Family

Hupmobile "32" Touring Car, $1125. With electric starter, oversize tires, and other additional equipment, $1275, f. o. b., Los Angeles.

This Beautiful New Hupmobile

is now on display at our showrooms. The new Hupmobile is, we believe, better than anything that has ever before come to us from the factory.

And this is no slight praise—for this new Hupmobile is far, far from being an ordinary car. It is an extraordinary car. A car whose intrinsic value and inherent quality are not expressed in the Hupmobile price.

Bluntly, it is an infinitely better car than the price implies. It is a car of characteristics unusual at the price. You have heard us say: We believe the Hupmobile to be the best car in its class in the world. We mean that sincerely and strongly.

Every man in our organization is imbued with the conviction that it has no equal of its type and at its price. We stand ready to demonstrate as much to you.

We are prepared to dissect the car for your benefit—to justify the faith that we have by pointing out the precise particulars in which the Hupmobile excels.

We will explain to you that its construction embodies a larger use of aluminum than any other car—at any price in the world.

We will show you that a larger volume of costly steel is engaged in its production than in the construction of any car of like price.

See us today. We want the opportunity to prove what we say is true. No cost or obligation.

BON COURAGE TIES RECORD.

Clark's Gelding Equals Best Time of Year.

Alerick, Dick W. and May Mack Winners.

Stray Hound Insists on Entering 2:20 Pace.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

The sporting blood of Los Angeles asserted itself yesterday, with the result that the record crowd of the harness horse meet saw the "hay motors" circulate at Exposition Park.

While darkness, that inexorable foe of overgrown fall programmes, necessitated canceling the free-for-all pace, it was really not missed, there being so much else that was good to look upon.

Bon Courage, W. A. Clark, Jr.'s phenomenal chestnut gelding, paced by a running horse and driven by Ted Hayes, went the fastest mile stepped by a 2-year-old on the Coast this season, circling the track in 2:12¾. This also ties the best time made on any track this year by a 2-year-old gelding.

For a young man, who has not yet cut all his teeth, Bon Courage sure is some persimmon.

HOUND BUTTS IN.

In the first heat of the 2:20 pace, a stray greyhound with sporting proclivities, took it into his head to outrun the entire field. He chased them around the track, and jumped into the lead as they swung into the stretch. He then made several unsuccessful attempts to bite a piece or two out of Holly Brand's nose. Holly Brand was leading, but this scared him into a break and cost him the heat. All this was purely impromptu and not on the programme. It made Starter McNair wild, and he ordered the dog shot on the spot. He having no gun, and none of the others present having the heart to do so, it is believed that the hound is still alive.

AEROPLANE SMASHED.

Another thrill not down on the timetable was provided when Aviator Hill struck a stake in making an abrupt descent in his Bleriot monoplane near the north end of the oval. For about three seconds the air was full of flying propeller blades and other important parts of the machine. The thing took a second hop after striking the stake, and attempted to emulate a Studebaker plow, winding up with its prow jammed into the ground. Mr. Hill was about the only thing connected with the machine which did not seem to be in need of repair.

Alerick, driven by W. G. Durfee, took the trotting event in the 2:19 class in straight heats. He did the last heat in 2:14½, the best time of the race.

S. C. Walton sent Dick W. across first in every heat of the 2:20 class pacing, his time of 2:08 1-4 being the swiftest stepping of the day.

MAY GETS THE MONEY.

The R. C. Gillis stake, the 2:12 trotting class, and the big money event of the day, was won by May Mack, with C. L. DeRyder driving, the speedy little matron taking the second and third heats. By winning this stake, May Mack became fifth among the money-getters of the country for 1913.

Chango, W. G. Durfee's brown colt, won the Canfield stake No. 4 for foals of 1911, taking both heats from Alta Barnato in handy fashion.

In the first heat of the 2:19 trotting, Alerick broke at the eighth and trailed most of the way, with F. S. Whitney leading. Durfee urged the bay gelding into a half-length win over John Gwynne. Alerick got away last in the second heat, but displayed a great gust of speed in the last quarter and nosed out F. S. Whitney. Alerick got away in front in the third heat, and staid there to the finish.

DOG MESSES RACE.

The first heat of the 2:20 class pacing, for the Hotel Van Nuys stake was marred by the aforementioned episode of the "dawg." Dick W. took advantage of this to annex first place.

The field got away to a poor start in the second heat, but the finish made the crowd forget this.

Little Bernice, who was well back at the seven-eighths, showed a great flash of speed in the home stretch, crowding Dick W. and Holly Brand for the greatest finish of the day. A desk ruler would have been sufficient to measure the distance between the three as they crossed the line. Holly Brand was awarded second place, and Little Bernice third, but the crowd was not sure that Dick W. won until the judges had handed down their opinion. The third heat was marked by another great finish between Dick W., Lock Lomond and Little Bernice, the trio winding up in the order named.

The R. C. Gillis stake brought out a field of six, five of the entries having been scratched.

DURFEE FAMILY ROW.

Zulu Belle started out like she intended to win the first heat, but had to be satisfied with second, Albaloma, driven by W. G. Durfee, beating her out by a head. This peeved the elder Durfee, who was driving Zulu Belle, and he offered to bet $20 that he would beat his offspring in the second heat. He did so, Zulu Belle finishing second, with Albaloma fourth. May Mack won this heat, and cinched the race by taking third.

The results:

To beat 2:30 pacing, Max Marion, b.f., W. G. Durfee, owner and driver. Time 2:24½.

To beat 2:25 pacing, Contention, b.c., W. G. Durfee, owner and driver. Time 2:24½.

FREE-FOR-ALL IS ON CARD TODAY.

The greatest day's events that have been staged during the entire meeting of the Los Angeles Harness Horse Association will be this afternoon at Exposition Park, when the great free-for-all pace occurs.

In this event Joe Patchen II, the famous stallion that paced a mile here last year in 2:00¼, will meet the one horse that is considered able to carry him to his limit, Leata J., the champion pacing mare of the world, that won over $27,000 on the Grand Circuit last summer. This mare was not entered in the free-for-all that was called off yesterday, owing to the entries for this event having closed last July, but when yesterday's event was called off owing to the official closing of the meeting under the National Trotting Association rules, the great horse immediately became eligible for the special free-for-all affair, and her entry was one of the first received.

It will be remembered that Leata J. won the free-for-all pac at Phoenix a few weeks ago. In this event Joe Patchen and Don Pronto were also entered. Joe Patchen was scratched owing to his condition, and Leata J. won the event after Don Pronto took the first heat.

It is freely estimated by well-informed horsemen that the pacing event this afternoon should result in a mile within a fraction of a second of the magic two-minute mark. In King Daphne there will be a mighty contender, and the horse that took one heat from Leata J. in the Friday races at Exposition Park. King Daphne is owned by Sydney Goldman of Los Angeles, and has a record of 2:04.

HARVARD BEATEN BY SANTA BARBARA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Santa Barbara High School team defeated Harvard Military School by the score of 11 to 3 this afternoon. By playing better Rugby, Santa Barbara won from the start and against a team that averaged fifteen pounds more to the man.

Their instructions were to play a snappy game and the first touchdown was made by Pierce in a few minutes. A little later Woods went over and Clark kicked goal. That was all the scoring done in the first half, which ended 8 to 0 for Santa Barbara.

Each team scored in the second half, but neither kicked goal. Spurrier brought the ball over for Santa Barbara. From the spectators' viewpoint the contest was interesting. The boys played with snap and spirit throughout and the game was never stopped because of injuries.

ABANDONED SNOWS TO WINTER HERE.

W. H. Munsey, a Winton Six owner, arrived here this last week with the intention of spending the winter in Southern California. Munsey, after an extensive tour throughout the East, had intended to make a transcontinental run to Southern California.

Starting on his run, he came as far west as Denver, where he found himself unable to proceed on account of the deep snows. This motoring through four feet of snow was decidedly strenuous, even for a Winton.

Munsey does not intend to be cheated out of this part of the tour, so, after spending the winter here, he is going to drive back East.

Another Winton Six owner, who is fond of touring, is Capt. J. L. Byron. In his touring he has traveled to every portion of the State. Only last week he ran to Riverside in two and a half hours, running easily, and returned from there in two hours seven minutes.

COMPTON IN FRONT.

Compton defeated Gardena High School Rugby team yesterday afternoon on the former's grounds by the score of 6-0 in a well-played, hard-fought game.

Kingly Sport.

Easy and Remarkable Tour for Tourists.

One of the most remarkable tours offered autoists in America will be the route into the Yosemite Valley proposed by the Automobile Club of Southern California, according to the report of Engineer O. K. Parker, who has just returned from a survey of the club's thirty-two-mile connecting link between Mariposa and El Portal.

The club section will connect with the government portion from El Portal to Yosemite, fifteen miles in length, and with the westerly link of forty miles to be constructed by the State, reaching from Merced to Mariposa.

Grades of less than 6 per cent. maximum to less than 2 per cent. for most of the eighty-seven miles will furnish a road practicable for all motors through mountains and valleys.

TRUE PROPHECY BY COL. REBER.

Victory by the balloon "Goodyear" was claimed by Col. Samuel Reber, head of the government Signal Corps in Washington in charge of the aeronautical department, twelve hours before announcement of the results in the recent international balloon races in Europe. Though informed that the "Goodyear" had drifted out to sea and was thought to be lost, he asserted that Upson and Preston would keep going until they met a favorable current which would carry them back over the British Isles, probably landing them in Northern England.

This correct assumption of the highest aeronautical authority in this country was based upon knowledge of the material and workmanship used in the balloon, and of the two men operating the American entry.

Stiff Fight.

WILL BERGER STICK AT SECOND FOR THE SOX?

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—A battle royal is expected on the White Sox infield next spring when Callahan puts his gang through its preliminary work-out in California. No, it will not be that Jacques Fournier will try to oust Hal Chase from the initial corner, for that appears impossible. Neither does it mean that Buck Weaver will fail to show the proper stuff to cinch his shortstop position, and neither do we wish to give the impression that Capt. Harry Lord will be relieved of duty at the far corner.

We have now mentioned first base, shortstop and third base, haven't we? Well, that quite naturally leaves second base as the scene of the battle. During the recent baseball season the Sox used a couple of men at the keystone corner. Rath first cavorted around the center station, but Morris's light hitting soon resulted in his being driven back to the minors.

With the canning of Rath came an opportunity for Joe Berger to get into the game as a regular. Joe, according to the carefully preserved records in Comiskey's office, had been a regular whale on the Pacific Coast. He played shortstop out there and hit above the .300 mark. Any man who can hit around that mark always looks good to the White Sox management, as .300 clouters are generally few and far between when you look over the roster of the South Side aggregation.

Berger finished the season at second base for the Sox. But Berger was not near the whale that he was on the Coast. A pretty fielder, yes. But as a hitter Joe fails to shine. Of course, Joe was not alone in that respect, for there were no .300 hitters in the Sox camp of 1913.

Who will battle with Berger for second base next season? That's an awful easy question to answer. Russell Blackburne, the sensational shortstop of the Milwaukee champions during the past season, is the man who will fight it out with Joe, and, furthermore, Russell says the job is already as good as copped by him. Berger says not.

How did Russ hit down in Milwaukee? Well, he was no sensation as a hitter, but at the same time he finished the season hitting .268. That's pretty good hitting for an infielder coming from the American Association, where some good, smart pitchers reside during the summer months.

One of Berger's chief faults during the past season was his lack of aggressiveness. Aggressiveness is one of Blackburne's strongest points.

Of course, Blackburne will have no cinch in ousting Berger from the keystone sack. He certainly will have to show, and show a lot, as Joe's work during the city series was of a high caliber. The fielding of Berger during that always thrilling clash bordered on the sensational. He also hit fairly well against the Cub pitchers.

AUTO RACES TO BE RESTORED AGAIN.

The fact that the Vanderbilt cup and the grand prize races have been abandoned by the Savannah Automobile Club after the Mercer Company had entered two cars in each event is looked upon with no little dissatisfaction by the Mercer people, who anticipate the full restoration of road and track racing.

"We were all prepared to demonstrate the speed and durability of our cars in the two famous contests held on this side of the Atlantic, when the Savannah races suddenly were abandoned," said an officer of the company. "That we are greatly disappointed by the action of the Savannah club goes without saying, but it will have no effect on our determination to enter Mercer cars in any event that is likely to bring about a competition in which the relative merits of the competing cars are brought to light."

NAVY HAS [illegible] TIME.

ANNAPOLIS (Md.) Nov. 15.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Pennsylvania State held the Navy to a 10-to-0 score here today and the game was not one in which Navy supporters can find much comfort. Pennsylvania State was the first eleven this season nearly to equal the midshipmen. In the fourth period the visitors five times held for downs inside their own one-yard line.

All Blacks vs. Stars.

McKenzie caught the ball from a short cross-kick and in a neat end run put the ball over the goal. Graham converted. Score, 11-0.

An indiscriminate mix from the ruck brought three more points to the New Zealanders. Graham failed to convert. Score, 14-0.

A free kick for sixty yards to touch gave America another chance at the goal. Austin failed to find touch in a 40-yard kick which Cuthill returned with New Zealand advantage. Cass opened up an American rally, in which Peart and Rammage figured, and play stopped at center with a free kick for New Zealand. From the loose, McDonald dodged through ten yards of defense, and laid the ball over the line. Score, 17 to 0.

The next tally came from Taylor's work, who found a hole, dribbled the ball to Roberts, who reached over with two men on his feet, for the sixth try. Downing converted. Score, 22 to 0.

MITCHELL'S GREAT PLAY.

A line out and an American forward rush, opened things up for Mitchell, who intercepted a pass for his run, instrumental in getting the All-American score. Peart kicked a goal from the penalty awarded by the New Zealand offside play. Score, 22 to 3.

From the drop-out, McKim's speedy footwork took the ball back, but only for an instant. The All-Black forwards rushed the oval down again into American territory. Murray got busy in the loose, scooped up the pigskin and scored a try. Roberts converted. Score, 27 to 3.

Peart saved the ball after the gun by falling on it at the goal line.

Second half: In the last period Austin opened hostilities by a 30-yard boot into New Zealand ground. A dribbling rush, followed by loose play at American's 14-yard line, resulted in Roberts grabbing the ball and scoring a try in the first two minutes of play. Graham converted. Score, 32 to 3.

Neither side gained much after the kick-off until Rammage marked a boot and then failed miserably in gaining ground at touch. From the line-out, the New Zealanders worked the ball down until a five-handed passing rush, Taylor, Grey, McGregor, Roberts, and Wiley, who made the try. No conversion. Score, 35 to 3.

Mitchell was injured in the rush and was taken out for Knowles. A series of scrums followed. New Zealand got a penalty kick and tried for goal, but failed. At this juncture, Rammage was taken out, Peart put at full and Stolz placed in Peart's place at wing. Another of the deadly forward dribbling rushes took

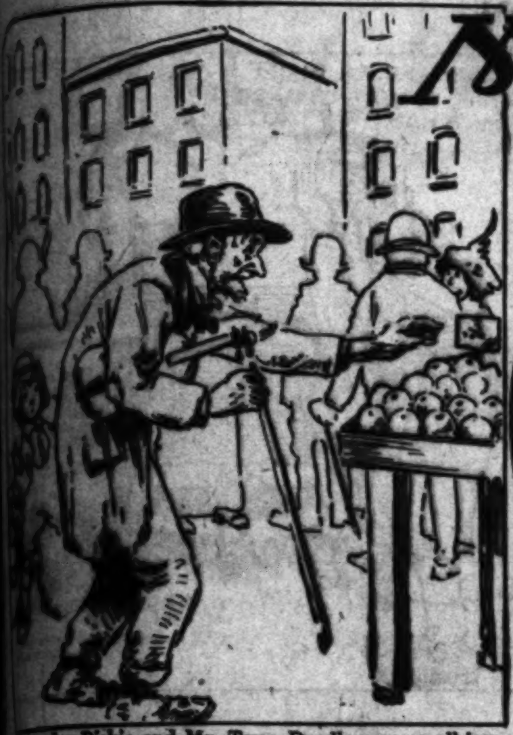
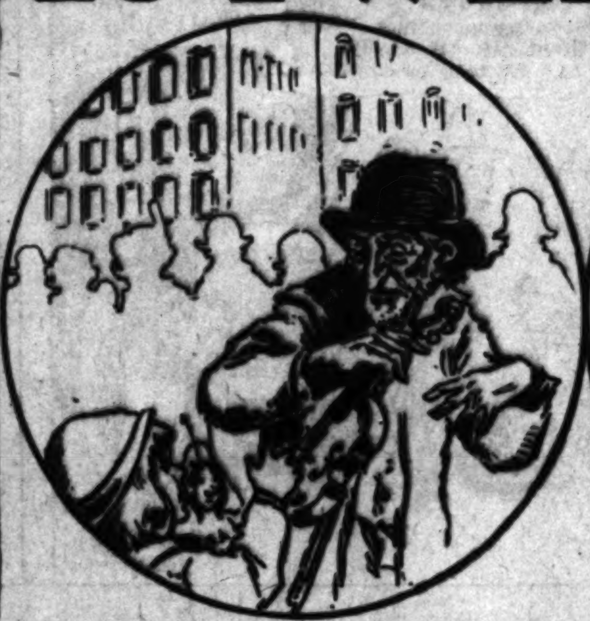
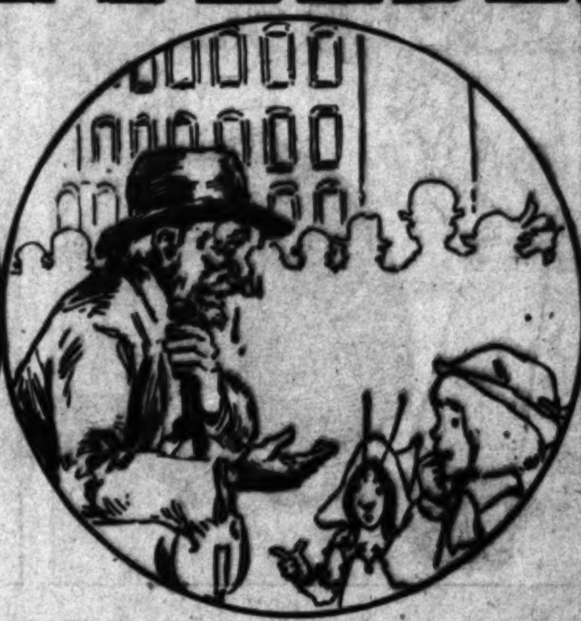
MR. TWEE DEEDLE



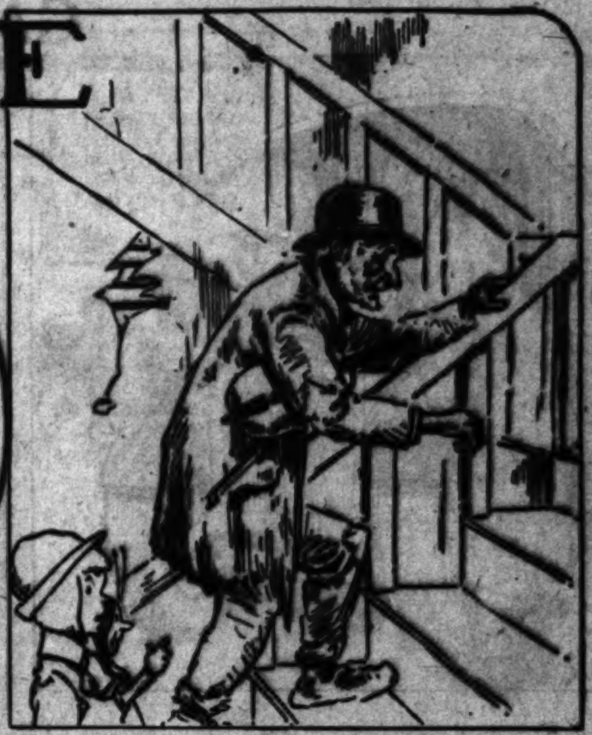
1—One day Dickie and Mr. Twee Deedle were walking down the street, when they saw a poor, aged man reaching for an apple when the owner of the fruit stand was not looking.



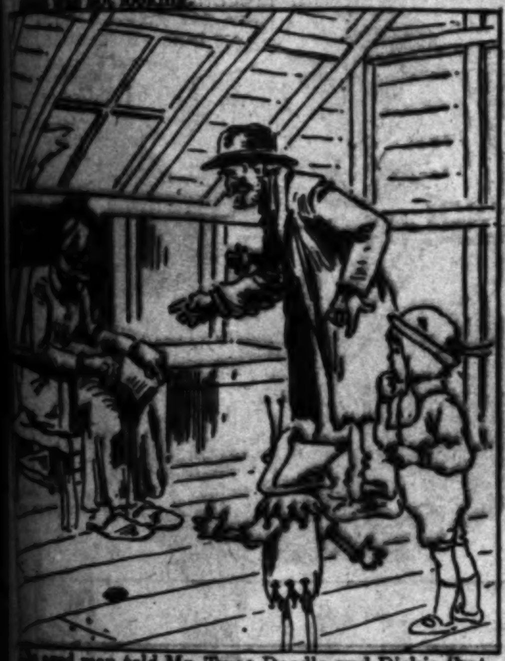
2—Dickie and Mr. Twee Deedle stepped up to him and said, "Oh, Mister, it's wrong to steal things!"



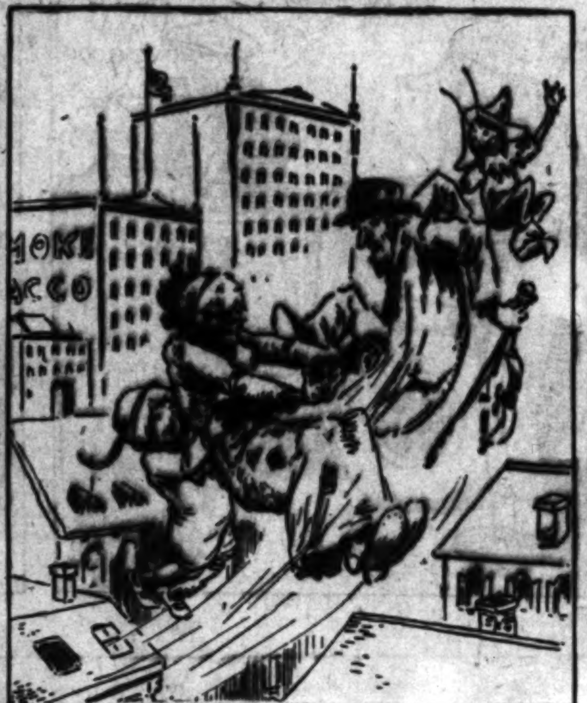
3—"I know it is," the aged man answered, as his eyes filled with tears. "But my sister has wished for an apple and I could not make the money to pay for it, so I thought perhaps the man would not miss just one apple!"



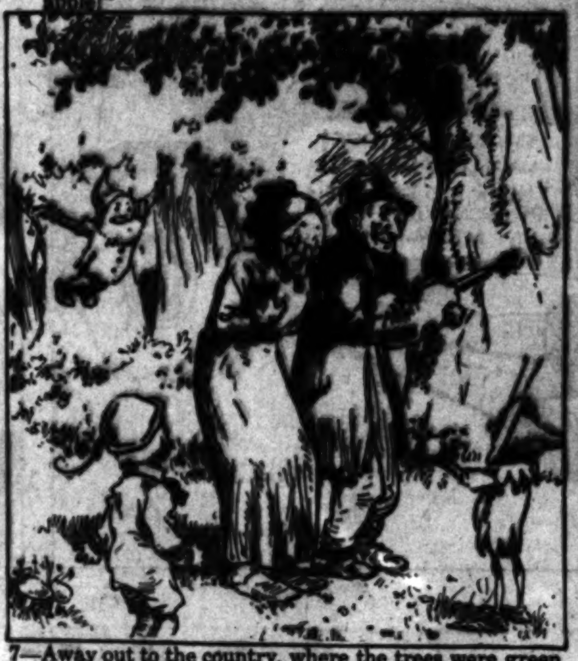
4—Mr. Twee Deedle asked him where he lived, and the man, asking them to follow, led them up many flights of stairs to where his sister was waiting for him.



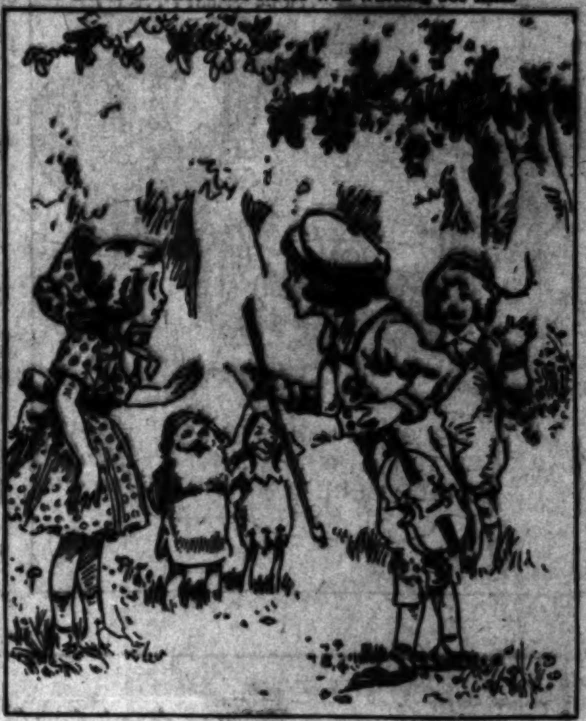
5—The aged man told Mr. Twee Deedle and Dickie that he was a violinist and that he had come to the city many years ago to make his living playing, but since he had grown old he could not play so well and had to play at street corners to keep the two from starving.



6—Mr. Twee Deedle felt sorry for the brother and sister, and he and Dickie caught hold of the two and flew up over the buildings and—



7—Away out to the country, where the trees were green and there would be no one to disturb them. "For," said Mr. Twee Deedle, "we wish to hear you play the violin as you used to play it, so I will make both of you young again."



8—The brother and sister were delighted to be young again and thanked Mr. Twee Deedle.

9—Then the brother began playing a very beautiful piece. The little sprites and fairies, hearing the music, came flying to the spot, and all joined in a dance through the air, which they called the fairy ring. So when you are walking through the woods and think you hear soft music you may be sure that you hear the brother playing for the fairies and his sister to dance.

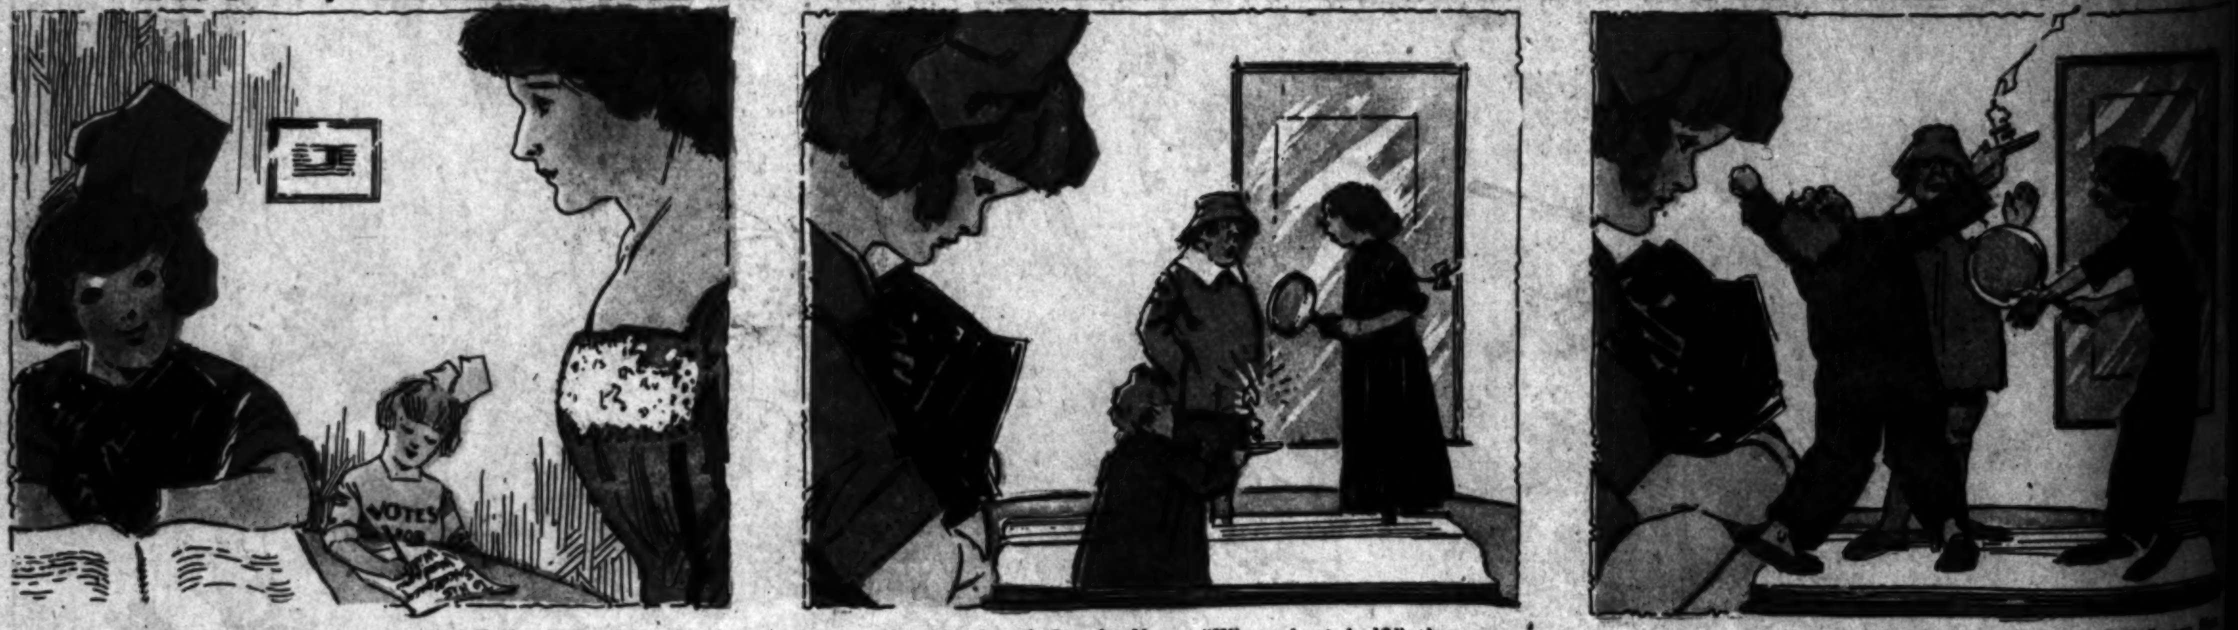
SLOW, SLEEPYHEAD AND GREEDY NAN RISE FROM THE BOOK



Says Dolly's mother, "Bedtime, Dot." And Dolly thinks, "Oh, dear! I wish I didn't have to go!" Three friends of hers appear—

Slow, Sleepyhead and Greedy Nan. "What about bed?" they say. And on the three, quite plain to see, are threatening signs of fray.

"Let's go to bed," says Sleepyhead. "Tarry a while," "Put on the pan," says Greedy Nan; "we'll sup before we go."

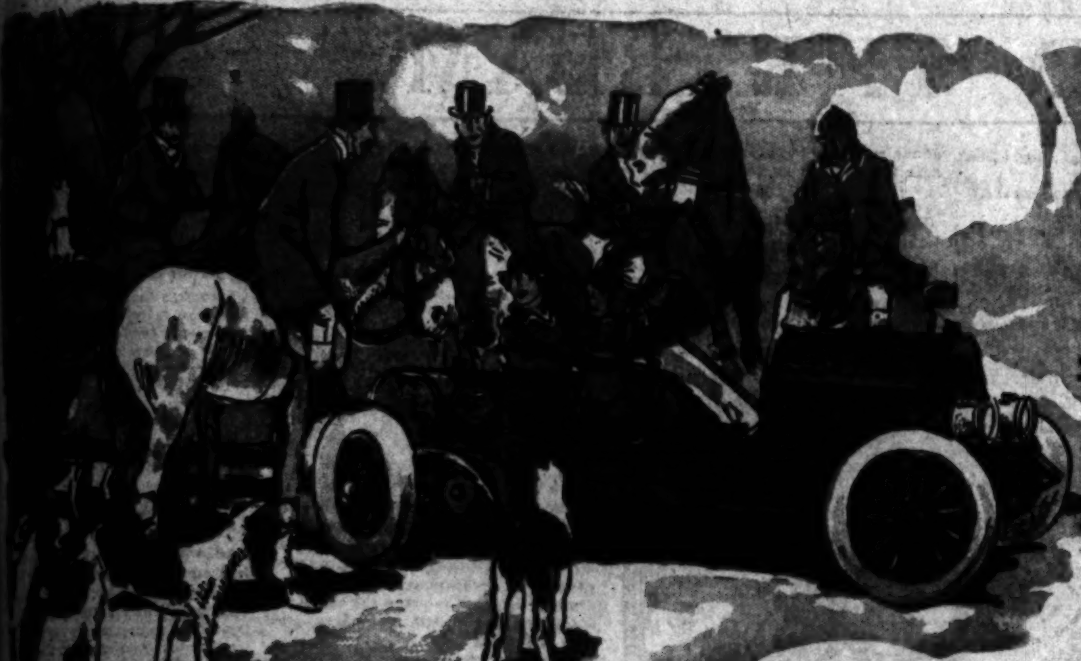
MAZIE THE MOTOR MAID

Verses by Paul West ⊠ Illustrations by J. Norman Lynd

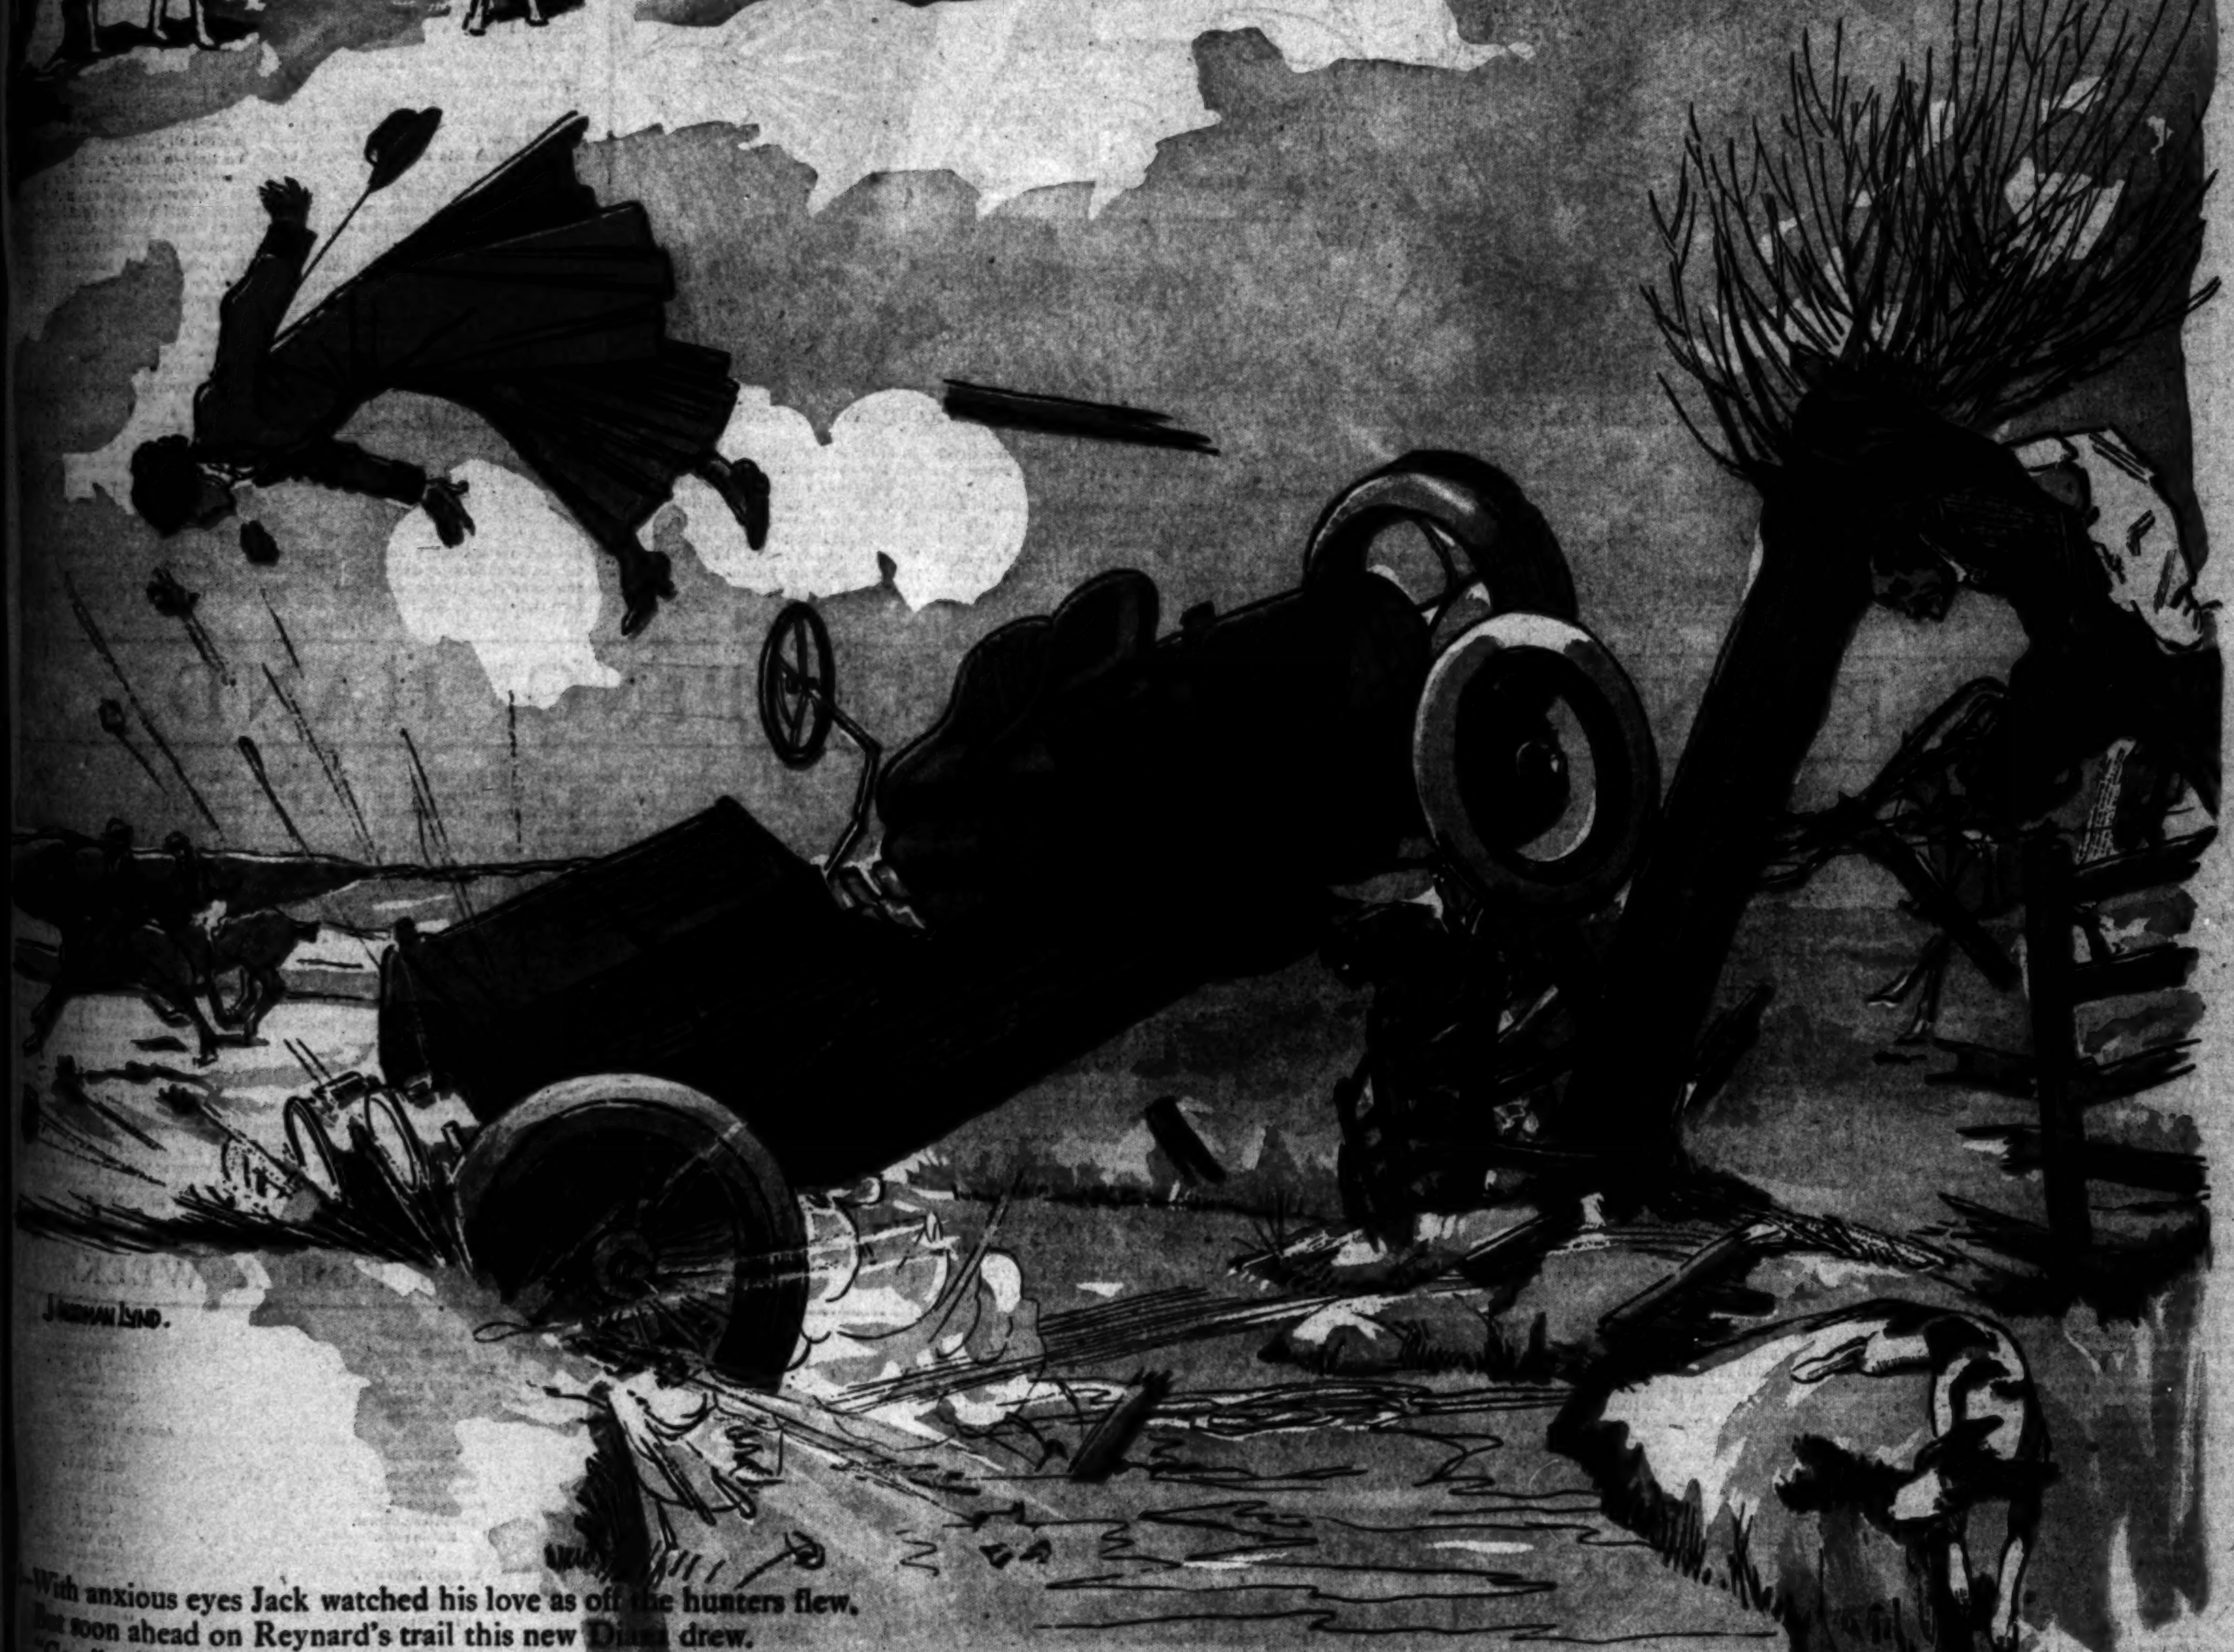


—Now, Jack Van Zandt an int'rest keen in hunting always took,
And when they chose him M. F. H. that year at Valleybrook
His joy was tinged with one regret—that Mazie still declined
To ride a horse, for motoring yet was upmost in her mind.

2—"Oh, Mazie, think!" Jack pleaded. "You have no idea what fun
To mount a nag and gallop off 'cross country for a run!
Halloo! halloo! The pack's keen bay! O'er fields and fences far!
It's great!" "No doubt," said Mazie, "if the horse were but a car!

3—"I'll tell you, Jack, I'll join the hunt, but I shan't ride a horse.
I'll show you that my motor car can beat you o'er the course!"
"All right!" laughed Jack. "The hunt's next week." Said Mazie, "I'll be there,
And you might say to Mr. Fox of me he'd best beware!"

4—At Valleybrook, the hunting morn, there was a gorgeous sight.
The pretty girls and handsome men in scarlet coats bedight;
The prancing steeds, the baying hounds, the huntsman's horn afar—
And, 'mid them all, fair Mazie, in a low-slung racing car!



J. NORMAN LYND.

—With anxious eyes Jack watched his love as off the hunters flew,
But soon ahead on Reynard's trail this new Diana drew.
"Goodby," she laughed and sped ahead. "Don't fret about me, Jack!
I'll run poor Mr. Fox to earth and bring his brush right back!"

—Jack and the huntsmen sped their nags to beat her to the "kill."
"Come on," laughed Mazie, as her car rushed wild o'er vale and hill.
'Twas neck and neck 'tween car and horse—both at their topmost pitch—
When just ahead a five bar fence, and—Ah, a ten foot ditch!

"Here's where we win!" the hunters cried, and gathered for the leap.
"Not yet!" said Mazie. Bang! She struck the fence! A tangled heap!
The car went through, but oh, the ditch! Splash! Screams and lingerie!
And Mazie of the hunting car—alas! oh, where is she?

—They fished her out and spread their coats about her form to dry her.
At last at Jack she looked and blushed—her shamed face red as fire.
Then out she took her little book and wrote ere she forgot to:—
"THERE ARE SOME PLACES WHERE A HORSE STILL HAS IT ON THE AUTO!"

COMMON SENSE in the HOME

EDITED by MARION HARLAND

THE MOTE AND THE BEAM.

"ENDEAVOR to be patient in bearing with the defects and infirmities of others, of what sort soever they be; for that thyself also hast many failings which must be borne with by others. If thou canst not make thyself such an one as thou wouldest, how canst thou expect to have another in all things to thy liking?"

Does this sound as though I were about to preach a sermon? I am not—the text is sufficient in itself for any one to live up to without discourse of mine. But when I came across the counsel in the course of my daily reading it occurred to me that perhaps the best scope for its application lay not in the field of religion or of temptations to evil as they are generally understood, but right in the home—in your home and mine.

Harriet Beecher Stowe has said somewhere that if a woman would once look at her domestic trials as a means of discipline, smile and be quiet, patient, and loving under them, the discipline of scourges, haircloth skirts, and beds of ashes could teach her no more—she would be a victorious saint.

Perhaps she referred to the crosses we have to bear in connection with the annoyance of incompetent help, the total perversity of inanimate things as shown in the fire that won't burn, the stove that will smoke, the bread that won't rise and other vexations of the same kind. To my mind all these, irritating as they undoubtedly are, seem as nothing compared with the test put upon the temper and tongue by other members of the household, well meaning often, but none the less trying on that account.

Temptations to Quick Speech.

We all of us know the temptations to quick speech supplied by those we love best. Their name is legion—the temptations, I mean. The member of the family who is always late at meals; the one who has a capricious appetite and is fussy about his food; the other who never remembers to put anything away; those who are given to making positive statements which we know to be incorrect, and who dislike to be set right, or the critics who are always finding fault about something—some representative of each class is pretty sure to be in the household of every one of us.

As a matter of course we all look with most severity upon the failings which try us most. If you are the housekeeper you cannot help wishing the others would be in time at meals, would eat what was set before them without complaint, would not leave their possessions lying about for some one else to gather up. But you don't have to hold any special position in the family to be fretted by the mistakes or the inaccuracies of others and to be eager to correct them. One of the hardest things I know to do is to permit others to be mistaken without leaping in and trying to show them where they are wrong.

Do you recall the story of the witness who when he was summoned to court to testify as to where a certain accident had taken place stated that the carriage was turned over just five feet four and a half inches from the car track?

"I suppose you went and measured it!" sneered the attorney for the other side.

"I did!" returned the witness. "I knew some fool lawyer would be sure to ask about it!"

* *

Arguing About Nothing.

Sometimes a positive statement is essential. More frequently it is unimportant. If a member of the family says it is two weeks since So-and-So called, what is gained by your speaking and saying it will not be two weeks until day after tomorrow? Why not let him be mistaken? What difference does it make?

"We went to the farm the first day of August and stayed until just after Labor day," a woman told me the other day.

Her husband interrupted her: "You are wrong, my dear! We did not get there until the 2d and we remained until four days after Labor day—the 5th of September."

"I was sure it was Aug. 1," persisted the wife.

"It was not! The month came in on Sunday and we left home Monday morning."

"O, no, John. We left on Saturday and spent all day Sunday unpacking. Don't you recollect?"

"It was Monday!" said the husband.

"Saturday," said the wife.

"What difference does it make?" I pleaded.

"It makes just this much difference—that my wife is given to loose statements of this sort and she ought to break herself of them. The month came in on Sunday and we went to the farm on Monday."

The wife turned to a calendar and silently, with tightened lips, laid it before her husband.

"Well, it came in on Friday, then! Then I was right—we did get there on the 2d."

"You said Monday!" retorted the wife. And there was much more along the same lines, during which, as I heard a young man say he had done on a similar occasion in a family fracas, I looked the other side of the room and tried to act as if I did not hear what was going on.

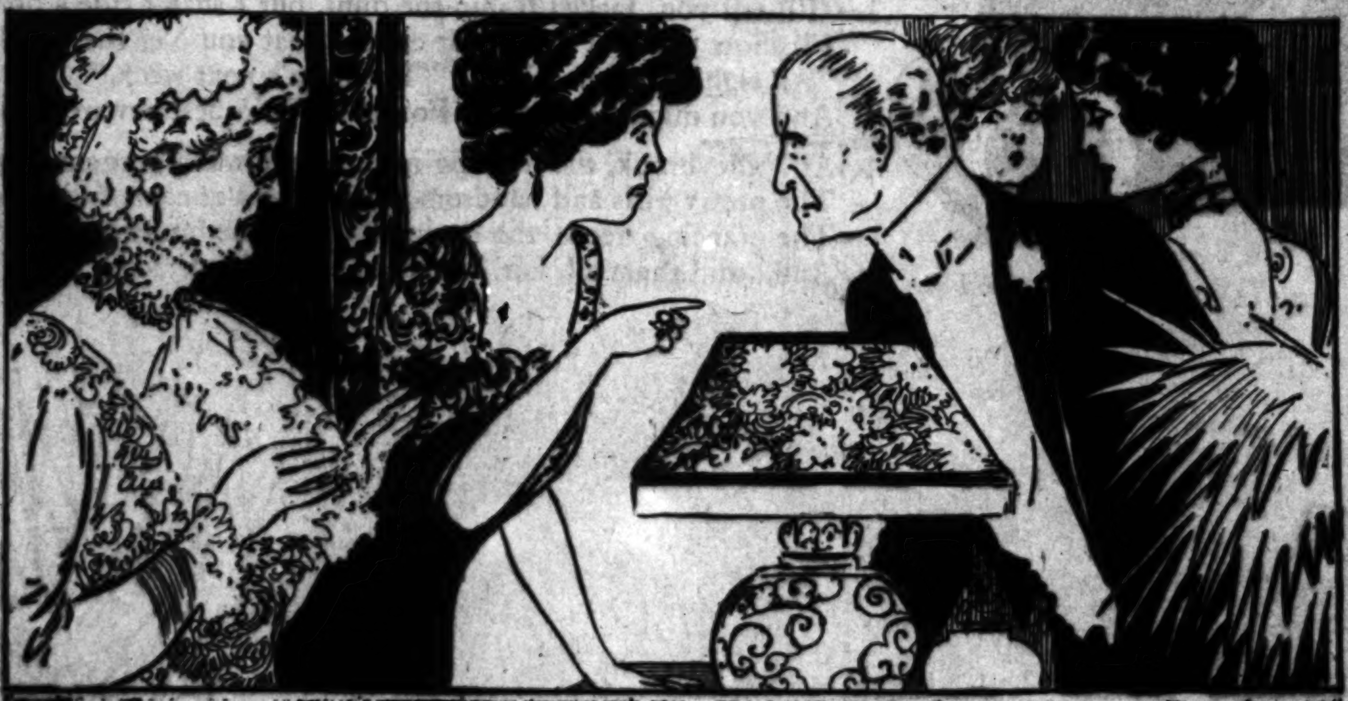
Men Given to Dispute.

Undoubtedly the "defect and infirmity" of the man was a passion for accuracy and his wife found difficulty in bearing with it patiently. So they had squandered time and thought, rasped one another's tempers, and made a guest supremely uncomfortable in order to prove a point which was not of the least importance. It would have made no difference except in the cause of amiability if either one had permitted the other to hold to a mistake in a date.



"So They Squandered Time, Rasped One Anothers Tempers and Made Guests Supremely Uncomfortable."

The home is full of such instances as this. With no disposition to be critical of our big brother, man, I think we will all concede he is given to argument, not to say disputation, and it goes against the grain with him not to differ with any one in his company when there is the least chance for a divergence of opinion. I have stayed in the same house and eaten at the same table with men who in conversation went on the principle said to be the rule in a fight at Donnybrook fair—"Wherever you see a head, hit!" If any statement was made, no matter how innocent and unimportant it might be, the question was put at once, "I don't believe that is the case." "You are mistaken about that," and then—they were off! The subject had to be threshed out, the arguments advanced for and against the position, and when it was all over what had been gained? What difference had it made?

Judging by Ourselves.

I have said it is hard to permit others to be mistaken even when the point under discussion is of no importance. Not only abstract matters supply opportunities for the exercise of forbearance. Have you ever thought how we measure the tastes, the digestions, and the habits of others by our own measuring rod?

"Surely you don't let that child eat chocolate!" I heard a matron say to a young mother whose 5 year old child was enjoying a piece of plain sweet chocolate. "It is very unwholesome."

"Do you think so?" asked the younger woman, anxiously. "The doctor told me I could give the baby plain sweets, and I thought chocolate simple and easy to digest."

"It makes me deadly sick!" asserted the other. "If I were to eat half the amount you have given him I would be ill all night."

What harmed her stomach could not be harmless to others. Every day we see such cases as this—the well meaning friend who declares the unwholesomeness of some food, the danger of some course, the inadvisability of some opinion with which she cannot agree or which cannot agree with her. Even if she cannot make of herself such an one as she would she expects to have others, in some things at least, to her liking.

Perhaps the virtues of others are harder to bear with sometimes than their defects. The woman who always gets up early and the man who makes a conscience of a cold bath are possibly more trying to us who are not prompt risers and who prefer hot tub baths than we are to them. They have the comfort of being sustained by their own righteousness and of having this shine with peculiar radiance by [illegible] our shortcomings. But the [illegible] constitutionally late to [illegible] much to stand from the [illegible] faction of the friend who is [illegible] on time and who shows a [illegible] ness after being kept waiting [illegible] corner for fifteen minutes.

I confess that sometimes my [illegible] is drawn more to the culprit than to the just one, as I understand better the feelings of the person who hurries madly to get to the breakfast table and comes in apologetic and unhappy than the cold satisfaction of the [illegible] prompt. [illegible] I find it an effort to display the [illegible] would like any one to learn [illegible] from grace in these ways.

Learn to Discriminate.

You must make up your mind to [illegible] those with whom you live to be [illegible] in their own fashion if you want [illegible] peace in the family. I don't mean [illegible] should give up all attempts to [illegible] household to conform to certain [illegible] are for the good of all or that you [illegible] let the children for whom you [illegible] slide drift into careless habits of [illegible] conduct or speech. What you should [illegible] to do is to discriminate between the [illegible] tant and the unimportant, and not make a fetish of the latter.

For example, you have a theory [illegible] should all gather about the breakfast [illegible] on time—a theory and practice [illegible] myself approve. Yet when the [illegible] is "cramming for exams," when the school girl has been out late at [illegible] nity dance, when the man of the house has been kept at his office until midnight [illegible] ing over a trial balance or an [illegible] you do well if you hold your theory [illegible] or suspend the penalties for the time. [illegible] sleep to the tired children or [illegible] worth a good deal more than [illegible] pearance at the breakfast table, [illegible] feeling that their need is appreciated [illegible] met by your thoughtfulness [illegible] still.

Your sacrifice may cost you a [illegible] but depend upon it you have [illegible] are as hard for your family to [illegible] are to you. You may have a [illegible] or of manner, a habit of conduct [illegible] which they find it difficult to [illegible] tiently. Don't for a moment [illegible] are not supplying them with their [illegible] of discipline. Try instead to [illegible] you are granting their defects [illegible] ance you covet for your own.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND.

"WILL you kindly inform me how to get rid of small red ants? I have tried red pepper, alum, cucumber, ammonia, tansy, and borax, but nothing helps. I will appreciate anything you can recommend. J. G. W."

Personally I know of nothing better than a sirup of sugar and water to which has been added a little tartar emetic, put into saucers on the pantry shelves or anywhere else that the ants may gather. They will eat the mixture greedily and it proves fatal. Be careful to put the saucers where children are not likely to get at them.

Let me say in connection with this plague of ants that you cannot hope to get rid of them as long as they have any food to encourage them. Crumbs, drippings from dishes, anything of this sort will attract them and you must be rigorously careful to keep all food out of their reach, even if you have to set the feet of your safe and table into pans of water to guard them from the attacks of the enemy.

Wants to Raise Chickens.

"I am not able to buy an incubator and if any one has a good one, 60 or 120 egg capacity, or a davenport bed in good condition I would be glad to get either. In exchange I would give a hand embroidered set of underwear, unmade, done in punch work and solid, done on a nice quality of long cloth. There are five pieces, gown, petticoat, chemise, corset cover, and drawers. The work is well done and I value the set at $15. I want to raise some chickens for the market and hope you can assist me in getting the incubator or even the davenport bed. I have a number of cape jasmine cuttings to sell. Can you tell me how to dispose of them? O. M."

Has any one the ability to meet the wishes of this correspondent and make the exchange she suggests? Pardon my remarking that if any one has a bed to offer she must be careful that it is in perfect condition. I know by bitter experience the tendency of vermin to find a lodgment in davenport beds and the difficulty there is dislodging them and it would be a most unprofitable transaction to get these as well as the bed! Your best plan about the jasmine cuttings is to communicate with a florist and see if he will purchase them from you.

How to Can Pumpkin.

"I read that some one is interested in canning pumpkin and I will tell you how I do mine. I made the recipe for myself at one time when some one gave us two fine cheese pumpkins. It was too much for us to eat at once, so I cut them open, took out all seeds, and peeled the pumpkin thin. I stewed all, putting no water with it, and stirring and watching it closely to keep it from scorching. When it was soft and tender I mashed it and put it through a vegetable press or potato ricer, so that there were no lumps left. I had my jars sterilized, both the glasses and the tops made hot, and with new rubbers, and filled the jars to the top with the pumpkin and sealed it while hot. It kept perfectly. I have followed the habit ever since and I find it saves me half the trouble in making pies.

"Mrs. E. C. L. says she uses gasoline to clean her bath tubs, etc. I use kerosene and I find it is just as good and perhaps less dangerous. It is also good to clean iron and galvanized iron sinks. It does not polish, but it takes all the grease and dirt off. I use old bottle brushes to clean garbage and chamber pails with the kerosene and in winter I think it keeps the garbage from freezing.

"One of our favorite dishes is to put a hamburg roast, carrots, potatoes, onions, and turnips all in a double roaster and cook them together. Have you ever tried baked lima beans and pork chops? They are delicious. Mrs. C. L."

Thank you for the directions for canning pumpkin. I agree with you in the opinion that preparing it in advance cuts in half the work of making the pies. Your suggestions about cleaning and cooking are also helpful and I am glad to print them.

Good Root Beer.

"For the benefit of your correspondents who wish to know how to make good root beer I send my recipe. I make it all the year round for my family. For each quart of warm water allow two heaped tablespoons of sugar, add the extract in the proportion of a small tablespoonful to five quarts and half a cake of compressed yeast dissolved in warm water. Bottle through a strainer and stand in a pan of warm water or in the sun for twenty-four hours. (I usually allow thirty-six.) Then cool in the ice box. The stoppers of the bottles must be kept tight by putting in strips of rubber when they loosen. The directions on the bottles of extract call for too small a quantity of yeast. Failure may result, as with bread, from the water in which the yeast is dissolved being hot instead of warm. I sent to the Corner some time ago an offer from my husband of iris bulbs, of which he has many varieties. This is the time to put them in the ground. L. J. P."

This recipe will be welcomed by the lovers of root beer, and I am glad to be able to supply the correspondents who have asked for the directions. The flower lovers will note the advice about the bulbs.

* *

Question of Etiquette.

"Will you please tell me if it is good manners to shake hands with the left hand and is it manners to whisper in company? I have been told it was not, but have seen leaders of society doing it at polo games. "Mrs. D."

It is a melancholy fact that the leaders of society, so called, are not always conspicuous for good manners. Assuredly it is not conventional to offer the left hand in shaking hands unless when you give your left hand to an intimate friend when you are using the right to shake hands with some one else. Even then the action should be accompanied with an apology and it is never well bred to whisper in company.

Cars Make Her Sick.

"Can you aid me in trying to find some kind person who has a bicycle to give away? My mother has to work for a living and cannot afford to buy one, and I have to go on errands very often. The cars make me sick and two and a half miles is quite a bit to walk and then get home in time to get the children ready for school. I can ride a wheel quite well and enjoy it, too. If there is any way I can help in exchange it would please me to do so. B. I. C."

The requests for bicycles are regular and prompt, but I always hope there may be an answer to each plea. Can any one help this girl and let her have a wheel and also grant her the privilege of doing something in return?

Stamps Given Away.

"I see in the Corner that some one is offering to give away some foreign stamps and I would like to have some of them. My father gave me a stamp album and I have about 400 different stamps, but most of them are American, and I would be glad to have some others. I am a schoolgirl, 14 years old, and I take good care of the stamps. G. V."

I am sorry that the stamps offered have been bestowed elsewhere, but I hope that this appeal may bring a response. I hold your address.

"May I please have the address of the person who has foreign stamps to give away? I want some so much for the boys of my neighborhood who belong on the street most of the time. I wish you could have seen the group of six that were pressing around me one hot day wanting me to help them 'stick in' their feeble efforts during the summer. I have them every week one day after school, and I must say we have done, as one boy said, 'a heap sight.' I am glad he thought so, for sometimes I feel as if I labor in vain, but my shrubs have not been destroyed or my screen torn since I have taken up their cause for betterment. I have never asked for anything before. E. M. H."

I confess this plea appeals to me more than the request of an individual. If this woman can teach street boys to feel that some one is interested in them and wishes to help them to make better men and citizens of themselves I feel she should be helped in every possible way. Yet there should be stamps enough to supply more needs than one, and I look for a prompt and generous appeal which will aid E. M. H. to feel that her labor is not vain and will give the boys the knowledge that others besides herself are interested in their pleasures and progress. I will gladly furnish her address on request.

Home Made Vinegar.

"I note that Mrs. E. M. makes a request for home made vinegar and W. A. V. for something that will remove vermin from children's heads. When I can peaches I boil the peelings in enough water to cover them well, drain them through a jelly bag, add a half cup of sugar to every quart drained off, put it in a stone jar with a cloth tied over the top, and set it in a warm place. In a few weeks it will be good vinegar. Almost any fruit can be used in the same way, provided there is not too much water added.

"For vermin in the head saturate the hair with bay rum, and it will prove a complete remedy. A second application is seldom necessary.

"I would like to exchange California curios with eastern Cornerites for anything I can use, or exchange optical work for a second hand typewriter with some one who lives in Los Angeles. P. C."

Thank you for the advice about the vinegar and for the vermin remedy. I have no doubt you will find some one who will be glad to make any exchange with you, but the answers to your suggestion would be more prompt and plentiful, I fancy, if you would name some of the curios you are willing to exchange and give a little further information as to what you mean by "optical work."

Offers a Washing Machine.

"A few weeks ago some one inquired if any one had a washing machine that was not wanted. Did she get one? If not, I would like her address as I have one that is in good condition. I am not strong enough to run a washing machine by hand, so my husband bought me one that runs by water power and I am glad to pass my former machine on to help some one else. Can you please tell me how to make chile gravy from the chile peppers? "Mrs. L. A. S."

I am sorry to say that as you did not give the signature appended to the application for the washing machine I am unable to locate the writer of the letter. I hope she may see your offer and write for your address. I am sorry I cannot give you the recipe you wish, but I have none for making chile sauce or gravy from the chile peppers. The directions I have give tomatoes as the main ingredient. Can any of our Cornerites help with this recipe?

Gifts and Needs.

"I have a dresser scarf, the pattern in Battenburg, two infants' shirts, for a child aged 4 months, a few books, embroidery patterns, and used postcards to pass along to some one who needs them. I would like to know if any one has a baby buggy that is no longer in use and that I could have. I would appreciate it much. Mrs. L. T. H., who offered a machine, had given it away before she received my letter, so if another one is offered please remember that I need one badly. Mrs. C. C. S."

I foresee prompt applications for the articles offered by Mrs. C. C. S. and I hope an offer of a baby carriage or of a machine or both may be equally ready.

Wants Some Carpet Rags.

"I would like to ask through your Corner for some carpet rags I could use in making a carpet before cold weather. We have a poor floor and will need a carpet badly for the little children. We have three babies and our crops were poor this year, so we would be glad to be saved the expense of getting rags to finish our carpet. I have a dear little girl who would be made happy by castoff toys. My health is not good and bad crops keep us poor. Mrs. L. M. S."

At this time of the year when last winter's garments are looked over and repaired there are many pieces of no value except for carpet rags. Will some of the Cornerites who find such remnants lay them aside for this applicant and send to me for her address? And if there should be some castoff toys that would delight the heart of the "dear little girl," can they not go with the rags?

Infested with Vermin.

"Our maid's room was lately infested with the cimex lectularius (bedbug). Will you let us know the most efficacious and quickest way to get rid of this pest? "A Subscriber."

Never do I receive an appeal of this sort without recollecting the answer made to me with entire gravity by a friend of whom I made a similar inquiry years ago. "Burn the house down" was the reply. Without going to this length let me assure you that you cannot hope for freedom without heroic methods. In the first place, if the room is papered the paper must be taken from the walls and not a vestige of it left. The picture molding must come down, the molding at the top of the baseboard also. In every crack and crevice must be blown or poured exterminators of various sorts—quicksilver and white of egg, corrosive sublimate, any destroyer which you know to be good for the purpose. Then the crevices must be closed either with putty or with varnish or paint.

The picture molding must be banished permanently and you are safer in painting or in calcimining the wall than in putting paper on it again. Nail another molding at the foot of the baseboard if there is any space between this and the floor. If you have faith in sulphur candles burn these for twelve hours in the room, keeping it closely shut up and with paper pasted over the cracks around the doors and windows.

Give all the furniture a thorough overhauling and if the vermin are in the bed or bureau banish it permanently and get new. It will cost less pain and plague in the end.

Then when everything is clean keep close watch for weeks that the pests do not return and renew your vigilance next spring when the warm weather comes again. You can get rid of the nuisance, but it will be at the price of hard work and constant attention.

Sick and Needy.

"I am an interested reader of the Corner and write to you now in behalf of a member of my family out in the west trying to fight and master a dread disease. We are poor, and it takes all our spare funds to provide him with money for food, and as we are unable to do more than [illegible] many comforts we cannot [illegible] greatly needs a warm [illegible] derwear, and [illegible] His size is 36 chest, [illegible] 15. I hope some of your [illegible] such articles to spare, [illegible] more than appreciated. I [illegible] postage. A [illegible]"

For the INDUSTRIOUS NEEDLEWOMAN

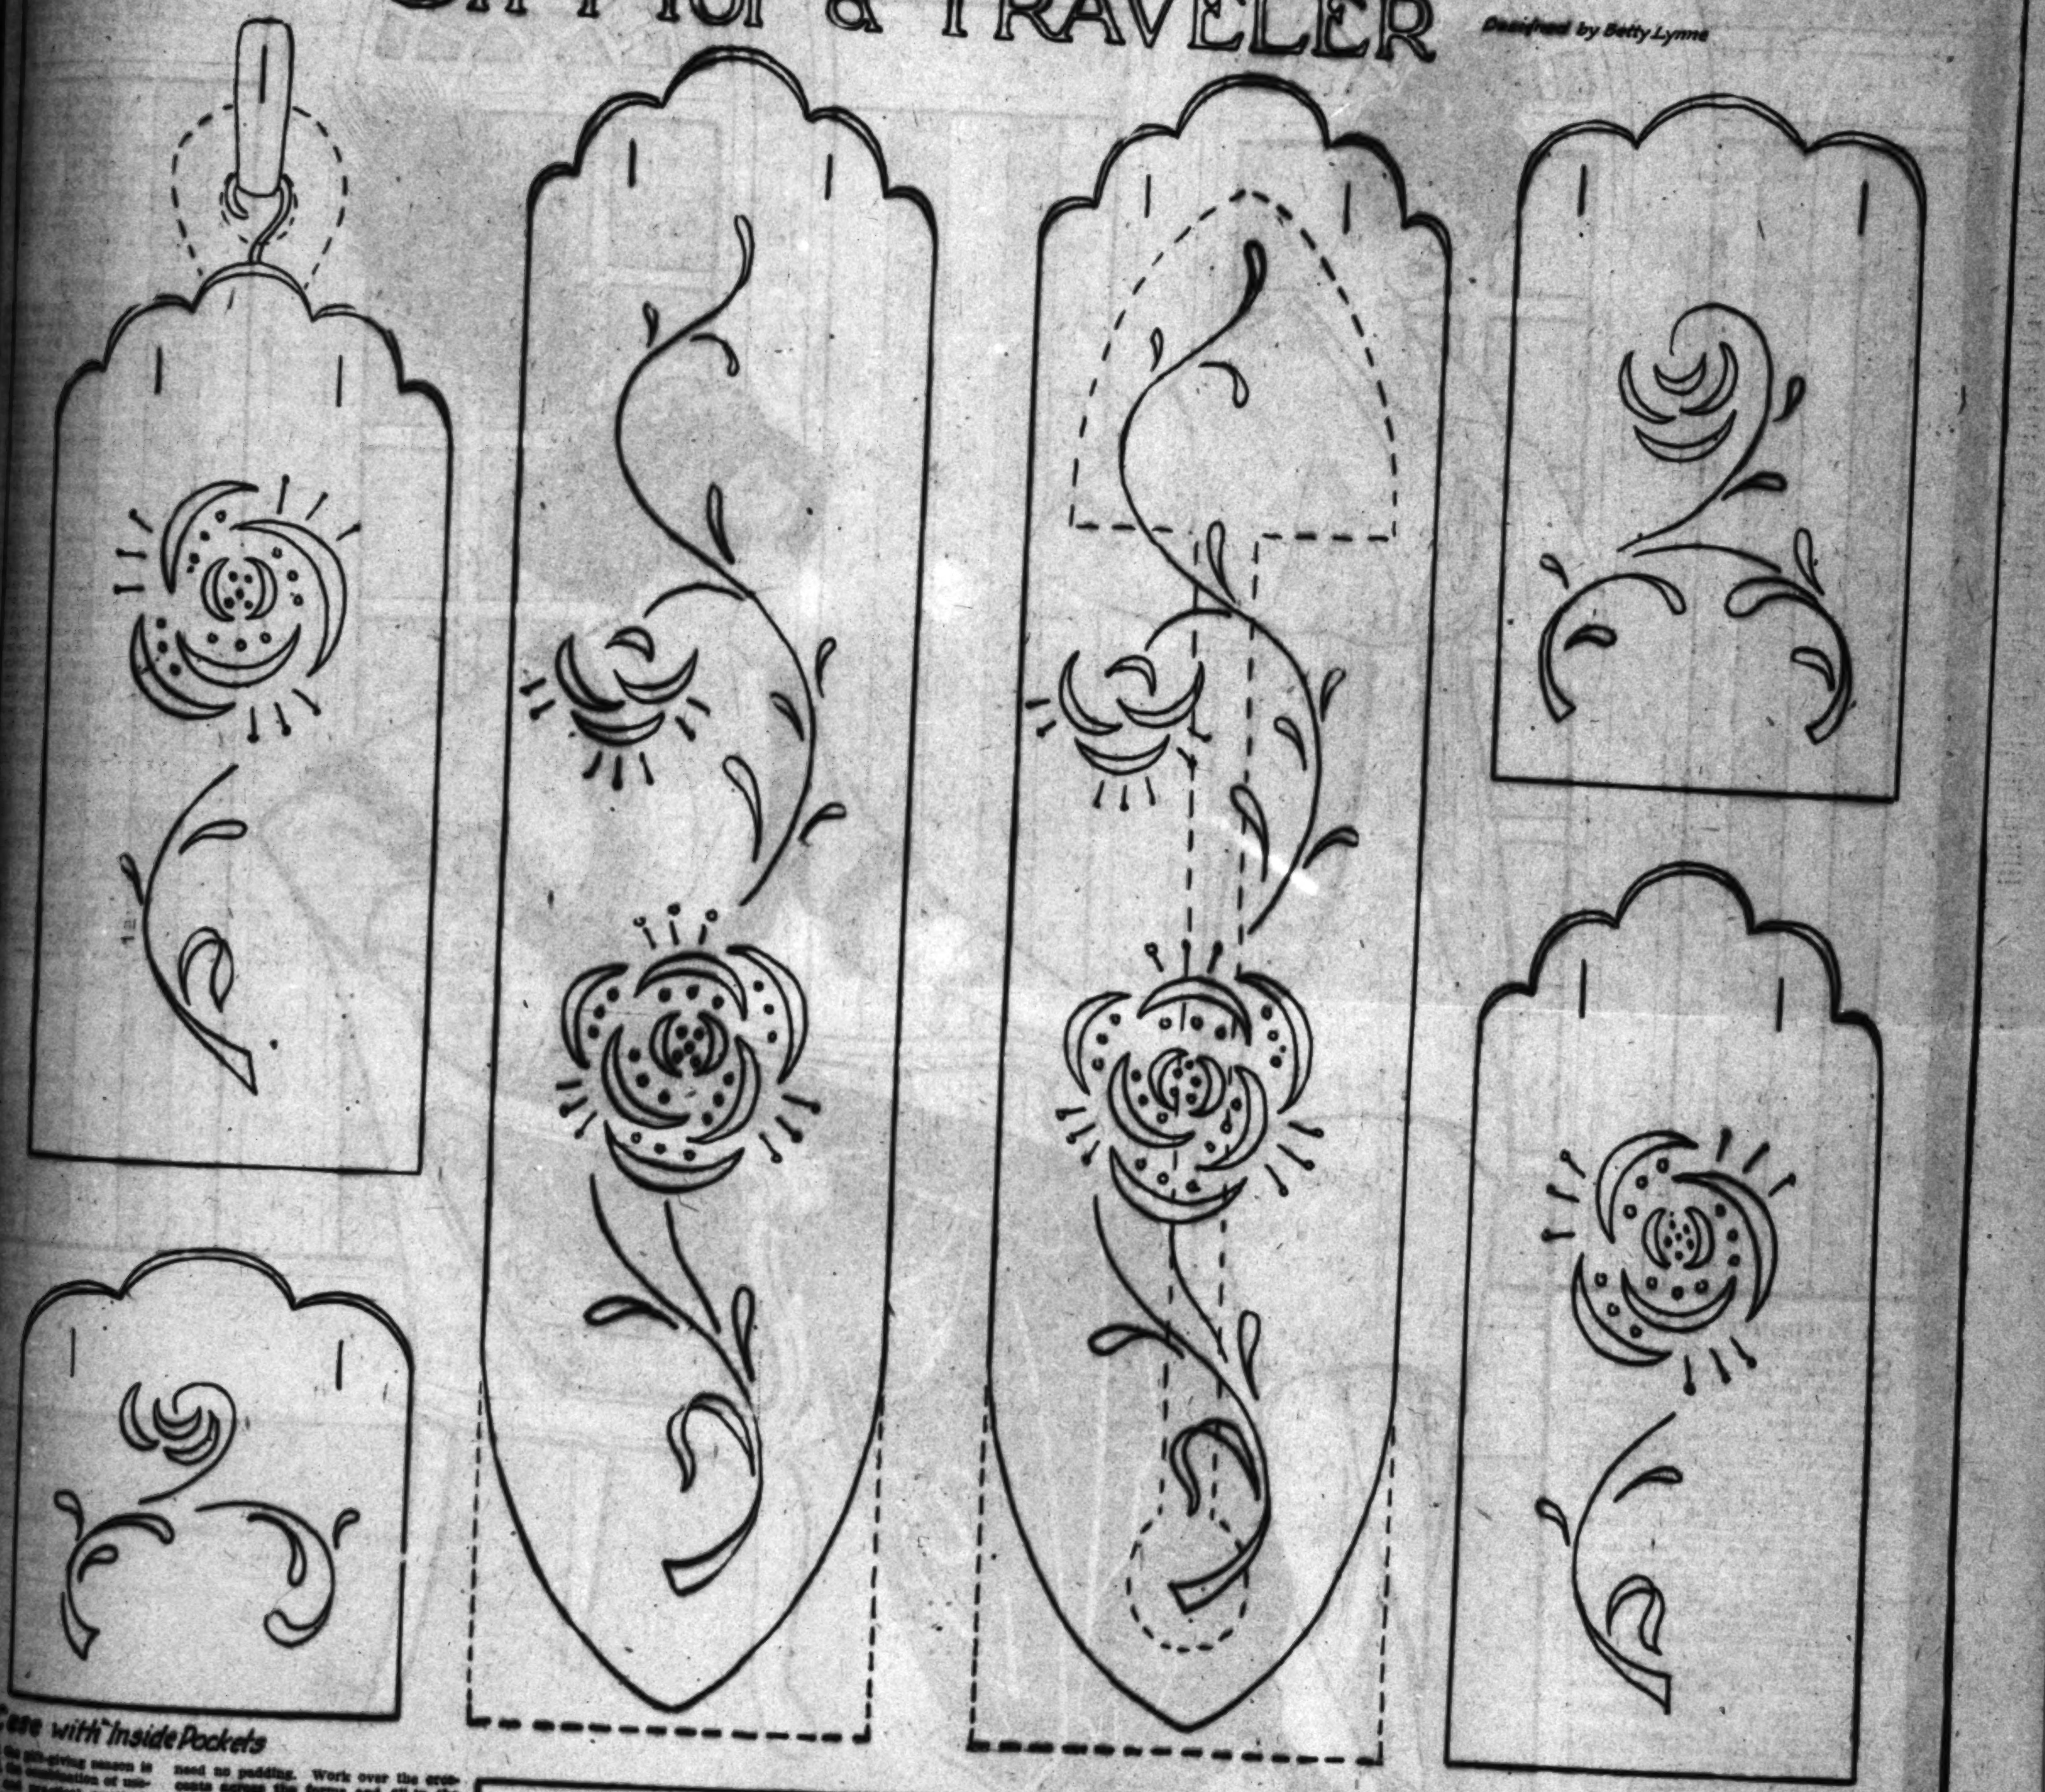
GIFT for a TRAVELER

Designed by Betty Lynne



The Case with "Inside Pockets"

[illegible] that the gift-giving season is at hand, the combination of usefulness and practical worth is not to be ignored. I am very [illegible] to offer a gift for the [illegible] which is a case for a wash-[illegible], shoe horn or any [illegible] that a journey seems to [illegible] without which it is difficult to get along. This case has another [illegible] when not accompanying a [illegible] on a journey. It can be [illegible] by means of two loops, [illegible] an attractive receptacle in [illegible] or a boudoir.

[illegible] tan linen is my first [illegible]. This is inexpensive, durable [illegible] excellent background for color [illegible], which is going to raise this [illegible] unusual article and make you [illegible] in the giving as the re-[illegible] is in the owning of it. Any [illegible] can be used if it is capable [illegible] embroidered. Poplin, [illegible] a plain rep, are good. Any [illegible] and the choice of embroidery [illegible] will depend largely [illegible] of the owner and the [illegible] in which you are going to.

[illegible] that the several cases are [illegible] the flat piece is cut and [illegible] marking off this piece, [illegible] on each side of the [illegible] down or baste before [illegible] around in colored [illegible] separate little case or [illegible] be cut with an allowance [illegible] on the three sides. [illegible] can be turned in [illegible] on the square foundation [illegible] for the shoe forms [illegible] suggested in a [illegible] allows for a gather-[illegible] form, and the [illegible] necessary for the holding [illegible] forms.

[illegible] the embroidering of the [illegible] with a soft mercerized [illegible] coarse enough to do need no padding. Work over the crescents across the forms and fill in the dots between with French knots and straight lines, as shown in the drawing. The rest of the design is very easily worked, for you will see that it is simply outlining and the same kind of work that I have suggested for the central motif. The upper line should be padded and buttonholed, so that a firm finish can be given. At the two slots at the top there should be buttonholes through which the little buttons can be caught that are necessary to fasten the pockets securely over their contents.

This case when placed in a trunk or suitcase should be tied with tapes or ribbons in the same color as the embroidery. A binding of the same will give a fine finish to the outer edge and make it durable, as well as attractive to the eye. On the outside you can make a monogram or an initial in the same color so that there will be no mistake about its owner.

When I suggest that Merry Christmas is a little more than a month away, and that there is no time like the present, I feel that you will appreciate the hint that is here, and add at least one of these things that make traveling easy to your collection of hand-embroidered presents.

If I were you, I would find out the favorite dark color of my friends, and in two shades of this I would prove to them how far from frivolity a needlewoman's gift can be.

How to Transfer

PLACE a sheet of impression carbon paper between your fabric and the newspaper design, the latter on top.

With a sharp pencil or a glass-pointed pen go over the outline. The design will be transferred to the material and will last until worked.

Keep your designs and, with spe-

FOR HER TROUSSEAU

HAVE you a girl friend who is about to be married? Of course you have, so begin immediately to make something for her trousseau. There are countless small accessories which are necessary to the complete outfit, and the clever sewer can fashion many of the dainty novelties for which the shops demand exorbitant prices.

The stole and muff made of fabric is an excellent substitute for a fur set, and will prove a most acceptable gift to any prospective bride.

Select velvet, or satin or chiffon, lined with silk in a rich tone of blue, purple, taupe, brown, green or black.

Suppose you decide upon taupe-colored velvet, with a lining of blue brocaded silk. Make the scarf eighteen inches wide and two and a half or three yards long. Sew the lining to the velvet, neatly whipstitching it in position. Gather the ends together and finish them with large taupe-colored silk tassels. Purchase a foundation for the muff—and these are to be found in any large department store—and over this fit the velvet smoothly. Line the muff with the brocaded silk. The beauty of the scarf and muff is greatly enhanced if they are trimmed with bands of moleskin, opossum, skunk or fox, if expense is no consideration.

Smart neckwear is always an attractive addition to the trousseau, and the handsome flat collars of embroidered net are particularly lovely.

Purchase a quantity of net—select the best quality—and a well-fitting collar pattern. Draw the design you wish to embroider with mercerized cotton of a medium fineness. When the design is completed, tear away the paper and finish the edge of the collar with a narrow pleated frill of the net.

The evening coiffure is incomplete without a hair ornament, and a dainty addition to the trousseau is made in this manner:

The materials required are silver wire, pearl beads and a spray of aigrettes, paradise plumage or marabou. String the beads on a wire and braid three strands loosely to form a bandeau. At the joining point—at the side or directly in front—attach the spray of paradise or marabou.

Several pairs of bedroom slippers are required in a bride's trousseau, and many designs are easily duplicated.

To fashion a dainty pair of "mules," select a pair of soles the correct size and to the front stitch vamps formed of brocaded satin, ribbon or embroidered linen.

Another pair can be made by taking a sufficient quantity of ribbon to encircle the soles. Join the ends firmly and whipstitch the ribbon to the soles. An inch from the top edge stitch a fold of silk or a band of half-inch ribbon and thread a piece of elastic between the ribbon and the band. Draw this snugly about the instep and ornament the tops with bows of ribbon.

The petticoat of white crepe de chine deserves place in each hope chest, and it is a fascinating article to make. First purchase a reliable pattern and place it over the material, carefully cutting ten inches in width. This is perfectly plain, for the gathered flounce has long since ceased to reign. Bind the placket and finish the waistband with a bias fold of the material. Fasten the petticoat with a button and buttonhole or with strips of white ribbon. Adorn the flounce with a flat bow of ribbon, a garland formed of tiny silk roses or a flight of small pink or blue bows, placed one above the other.

A group of girls who are planning a shower for the engaged friend could each make one of the articles here described for her trousseau. Profit by these suggestions.

Pillow Suggestions

THE art-needlework shop showed such a pretty array of pillows the other day, and it did seem that all of them were either tan or in one or another of the various shades of brown. Particularly beautiful was a tan linen with a dragonfly in cutwork in each of the four corners. The center was plain. Showing under each dragonfly was a background of tan silk of the same shade as the linen. The edge of the pillow was without ornament of any kind. Yet another tan linen pillow was worked in a leaf-brown conventional design, outlined in a darker shade of brown.

A burlap oblong pillow in very dark brown was embroidered in brilliant red poinsettias. A green silk bengaline pillow that deserved a more

Baby's Outer Garments

THE average needlewoman enjoys sewing on the fairylike garments designed for baby, and grasps every possible occasion as an excuse for making some new article.

First of all, there are the exquisite little bonnets fashioned of lace, chiffon silk or sheer linen, heavily interlined with canton flannel, to provide the necessary warmth.

Irish crochet lace is extensively used for infants' garments at present, and on account of its excellent laundering qualities is most satisfactory.

Purchase a circular medallion of baby Irish for the center back and to this join bands of insertion from an inch and a half to two inches in width. The cap will be more effective if insertion of two varieties is used alternately. The plain mesh can be used with a figured design, and the edges are joined by whipstitching them together. To obtain the exact size without trying the cap on the baby, baste the lace to a paper pattern, which can be removed after the lace is permanently stitched together. Finish the edge about the face with a scalloped edging of the lace and the portion about the neck with a narrow picot edging.

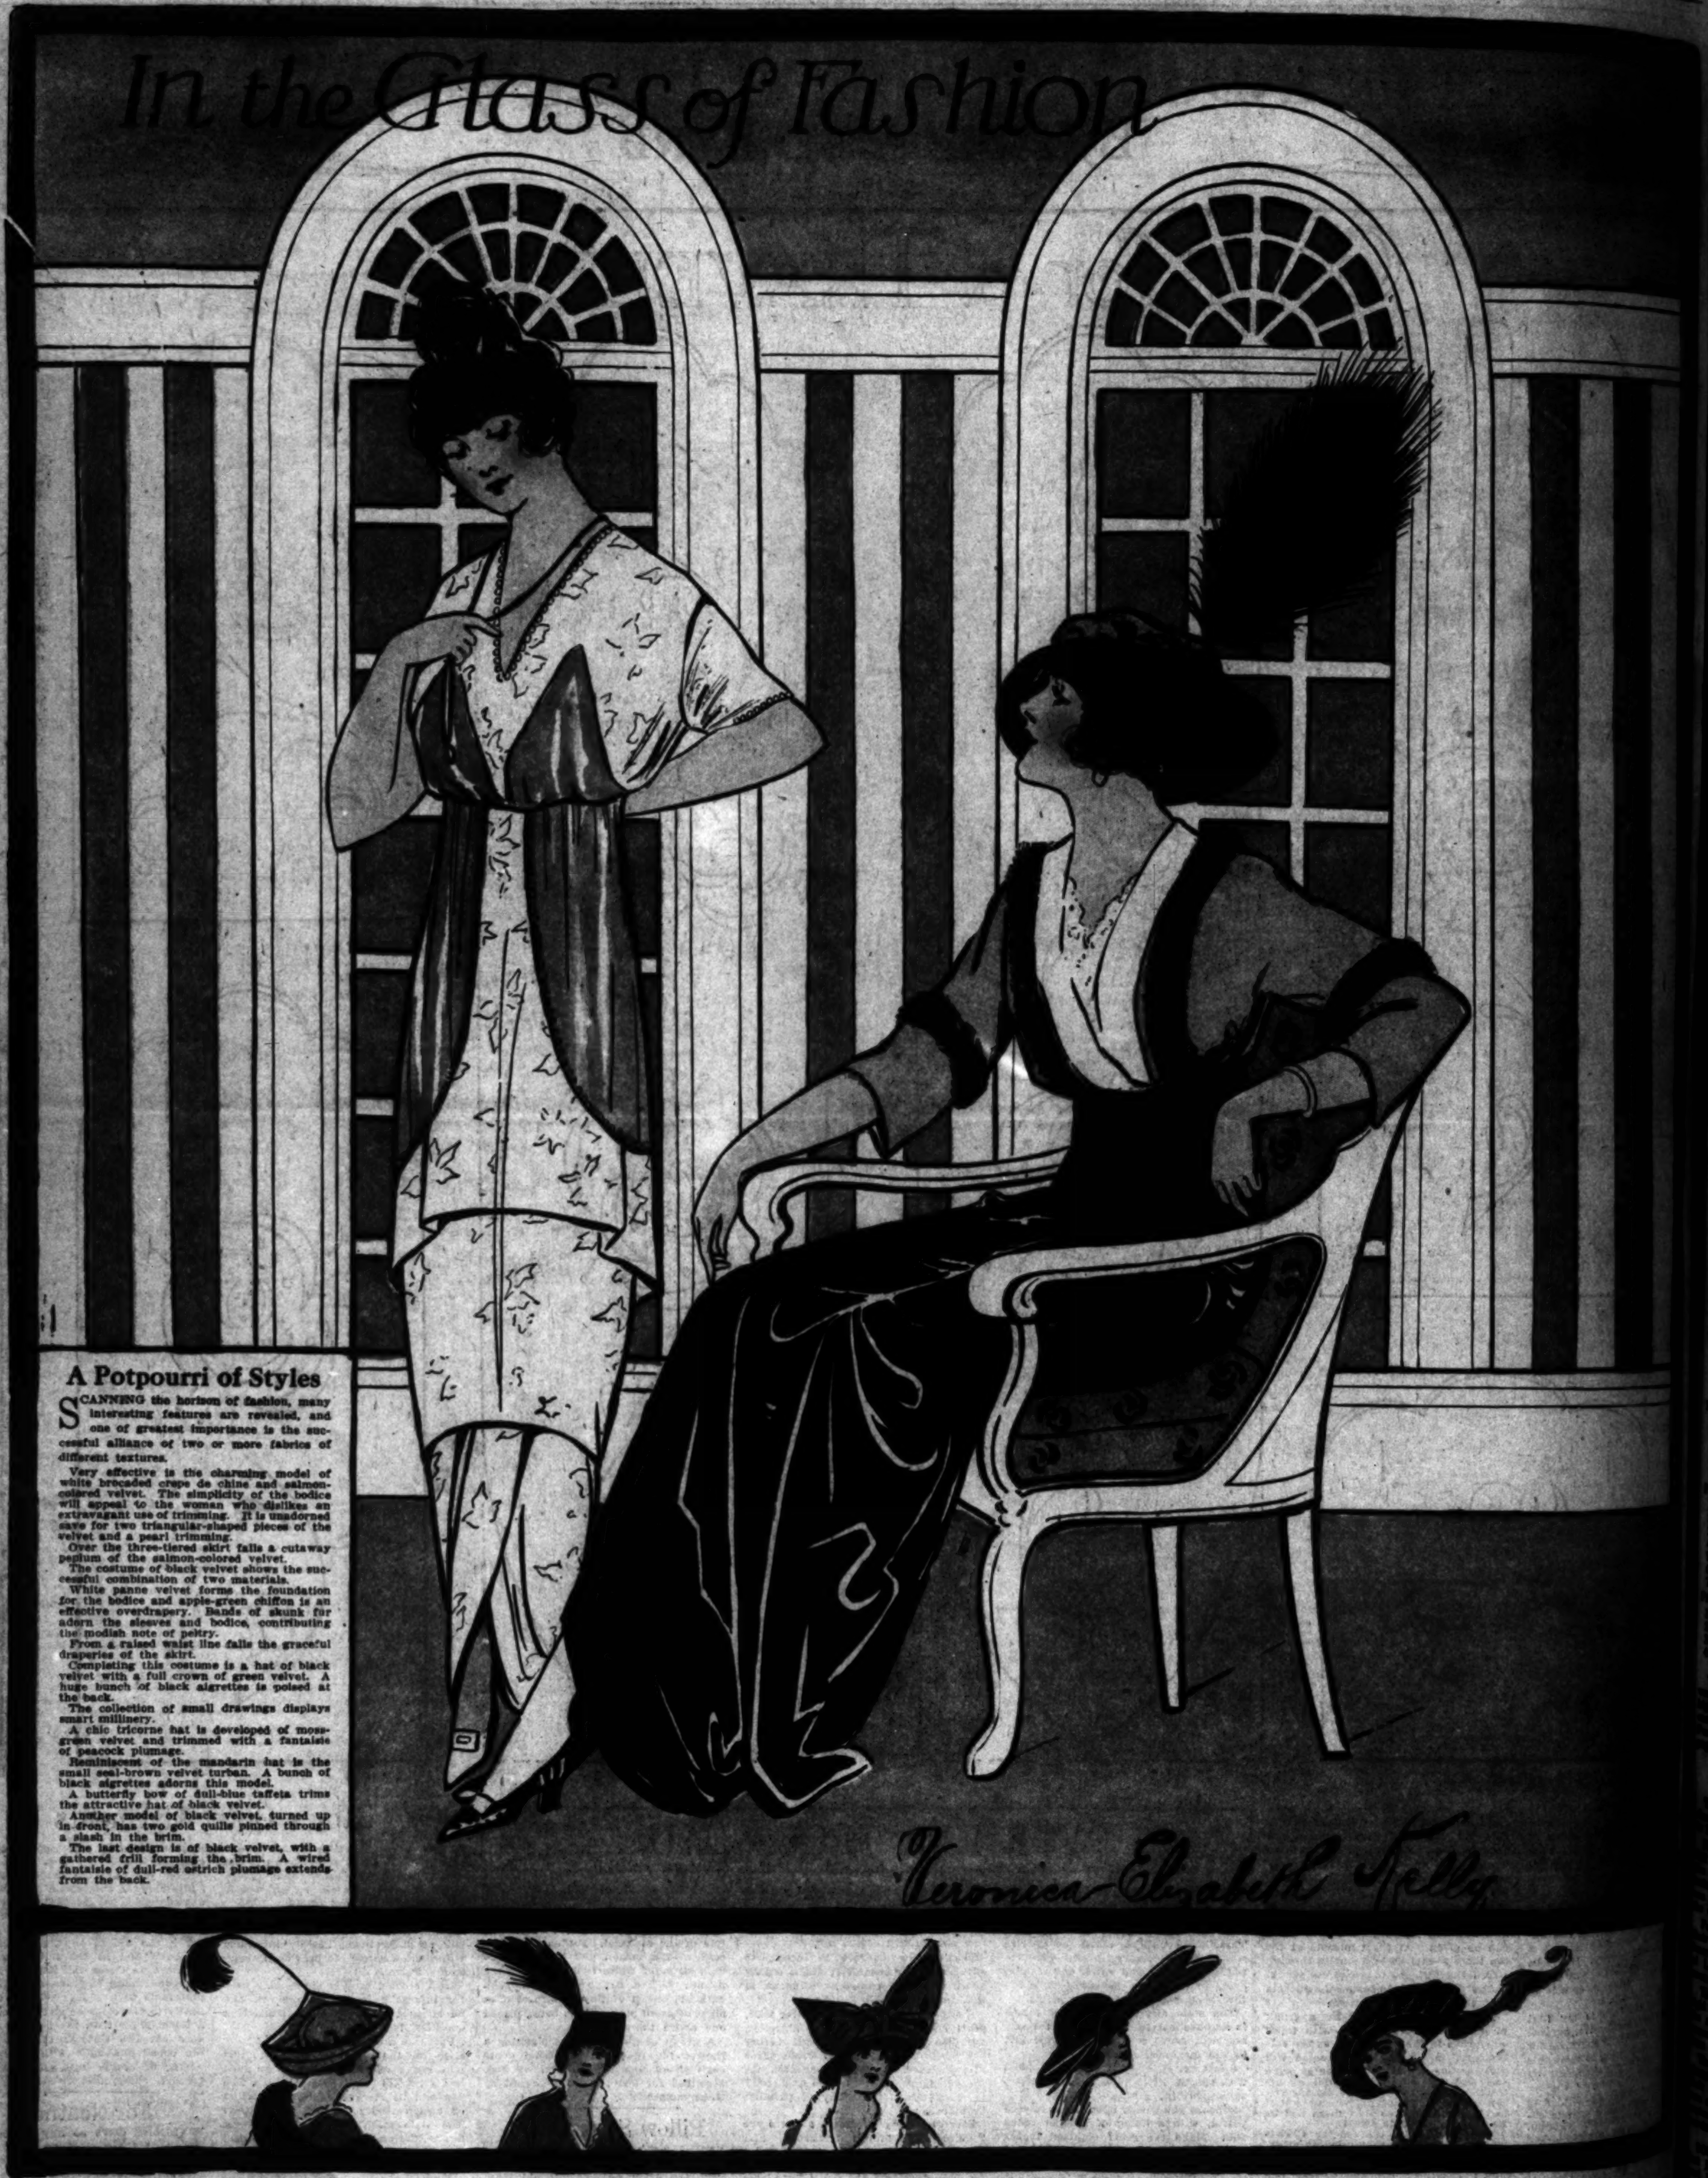
The foundation cap is made of a single thickness of canton flannel covered with pale blue, pink or white china silk. About the edge stitch a narrow frill of valenciennes lace, and baste the lace cap to this so that it can be easily removed when laundering is necessary.

Baby's coat is of utmost importance and the shops display a varied assortment of lovely designs. White or cream bengaline, bedford cord, serge, broadcloth and crepe de chine are the materials more frequently used for these coats. The amount required to [illegible] lengths required will appear on the envelope.

After you have cut out the sections, cut others to correspond from canton flannel, which serves as an interlining. Baste the sections of the topcoat together and then those of the lining. Stitch the seams on the machine or by hand and fit the lining smoothly to the top. Cover the interlining with a second lining of china silk; white is preferable to a color. Whipstitch this neatly to the cloth or silk and make it a trifle larger than the coat so that it does not rub through quickly. Edge the collar and cuffs with a scalloped edging of coarse lace such as Irish crochet, cluny, filet or Arabian point.

For Neatness

PLEASE don't go any longer with that frayed lace on your corset. You wouldn't dream of having it on your petticoat, so why on your corset? It's just one of the little inconsistencies we women have. But, supposing—just supposing, remember—that we should be partially flattened out by the tires of an automobile some day. We wouldn't be overjoyed when the attendants at the hospital saw that dilapidated lace, would we? A rather gruesome way of putting it, but let's hurry and put a new piece of lace on that corset while we're thinking about neatness and hospitals and things. It's quite simple. Measure about the top of your corset to see how much lace or swiss embroidery you need. Buy that amount in edging three inches in width, and proceed to baste it upon the corset, small stitches on the right side and large stitches on the wrong side. A new bow of white ribbon on the front, at the top of the joining, will make the corset look as though it had



A Potpourri of Styles

SCANNING the horizon of fashion, many interesting features are revealed, and one of greatest importance is the successful alliance of two or more fabrics of different textures.

Very effective is the charming model of white brocaded crepe de chine and salmon-colored velvet. The simplicity of the bodice will appeal to the woman who dislikes an extravagant use of trimming. It is unadorned save for two triangular-shaped pieces of the velvet and a pearl trimming.

Over the three-tiered skirt falls a cutaway peplum of the salmon-colored velvet.

The costume of black velvet shows the successful combination of two materials.

White panne velvet forms the foundation for the bodice and apple-green chiffon is an effective overdrapery. Bands of skunk fur adorn the sleeves and bodice, contributing the modish note of peltry.

From a raised waist line falls the graceful draperies of the skirt.

Completing this costume is a hat of black velvet with a full crown of green velvet. A huge bunch of black aigrettes is poised at the back.

The collection of small drawings displays smart millinery.

A chic tricorne hat is developed of moss-green velvet and trimmed with a fantaisie of peacock plumage.

Reminiscent of the mandarin hat is the small seal-brown velvet turban. A bunch of black aigrettes adorns this model.

A butterfly bow of dull-blue taffeta trims the attractive hat of black velvet.

Another model of black velvet, turned up in front, has two gold quills pinned through a slash in the brim.

The last design is of black velvet, with a gathered frill forming the brim. A wired fantaisie of dull-red ostrich plumage extends from the back.
